State Police investigate after geese, ducks found wasted

Oregon State Police's Fish and Wildlife Division asked for the public's help locating who was responsible for the unlawful wasting of several ducks and geese in Tillamook County.

On Thursday, Dec. 26, Fish and Wildlife troopers responded to a report of three garbage bags full of birds found by a person while walking their dog. The bags were located near the Nestucca River in the area of the Cloverdale Boat Launch and the Cloverdale Water District building.

A total of eight geese and five ducks were found within the three garbage bags. Three of the geese had the breast meat removed and the rest were left to waste.

Shortly after requesting assistance, OSP issued a statement thanking the media and the public for helping with the case. A suspect reportedly contacted the police and an investigation is ongoing.

Police asked anyone who was in the area or anyone who may have information on who is responsible to call the TIP line at 1-800-452-7888, or dial *OSP and refer information to Sergeant Greg Plummer. Information can also be sent by email to TIP@state.or.us.

Tillamook woman killed in crash near Beaver

A Tillamook woman died after she drove off the road and hit a tree north of Beaver.

Oregon State Police (OSP) troopers and emergency personnel responded to the report of a single-vehicle crash at 4:31 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 29, on U.S. Route 101 near milepost 80.

OSP said a red Pontiac Grand Am driven by Dorene Anderson of Tillamook was northbound when for unknown reasons she left the road, hit a tree and came to rest in Beaver Creek.

Anderson sustained fatal injuries in the crash.

OSP was assisted by Tillamook County Sheriff's Office and Nestucca Fire and Rescue.

Sheriff Horton addresses mental health crisis, new Mental Health Court

Hilary Dorsey
headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

Sheriff Jim Horton talked about the mental health crisis, and what Tillamook County and the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office are doing to address some of the issues facing our community, in a video posted on social media Dec. 26.

Horton said people suffering from a mental health crisis often end up in the criminal justice system. The criminal justice system has limited resources and someone who is suffering from a crisis needs care that they cannot receive in a custody situation.

"The Sheriff's Office is committed to public safety and committed to helping our community partners solve this problem," Horton said.

Horton said Tillamook County is developing a behavioral health court. This is designed to identify and respond to individuals who are suffering from a mental health crisis or some type of disorder.

The Sheriff's Office Community Corrections Division, District Attorney's Office, Circuit Court, members of the local defense bar, Tillamook Family Counseling Center, and Adventist Health are collaborating on the program to provide insight and strategies on acquiring treatment, acute care or outpatient programs, and interventions for those suffering from a crisis.

Horton said the mental health crisis is a real issue for Tillamook County. The Mental Health Court is a great example of how the community has come together to solve a common problem.

"I'm very, very pleased with the progress we've made," Horton said.

The Tillamook County Sheriff's Office has developed a grant application, which was submitted to the Criminal Justice Commission. They have recently received a grant from the Criminal Justice Commission of $77,000 that will be used to partially fund this program.

That money will be used to finance a community corrections deputy to monitor the caseload and work with the local defense bar and district attorney's office, and circuit court on alternatives that remove people from the criminal justice system and into treatment programs.

"Our startup date for this program is January 2020," Horton said.

Horton said they plan to have logistics in place, programs online, and working a caseload at that time. They will continue to work with community partners in a collaborative effort to identify and help those in need.

Drug team busts two in Tillamook

Evidence collected by law enforcement during the raid.

Two Tillamook men were in jail after the county drug team executed a warrant in Tillamook.

At around 3:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 23, Tillamook Narcotics Team (TNT) detectives, Tillamook County Sheriff's Office patrol deputies, Tillamook Police Department officers, and an Oregon State Police K-9 unit served a drug-related search warrant in the 7000 block of South Prairie Road in Tillamook.

Detectives contacted multiple subjects at the location. During the search, methamphetamine, cash, evidence of drug sales, and firearms including a TEC-9 pistol (an NFA class III automatic weapon), were allegedly found.

TNT detectives arrested Duane

Edward Bradish, 53, for two counts of possession of methamphetamine, two counts of delivery of methamphetamine, unlawful possession of a machine gun, and possession of heroin. Also arrested was Warren Scott Hunter, 54, for possession of methamphetamine.

"One of our office's goals is to aggressively combat the drug

Statewide plastic bag ban effective January 2020

Hilary Dorsey
headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

Effective January 1, 2020, single-use plastic bags will no longer be an option for retailers and restaurants in the state of Oregon. During the last legislative session, the Oregon Legislature passed the "Sustainable Shopping Initiative" banning single use plastic bags by retail outlets and restaurants. This new law was supported by Oregon senators, representatives, Safeway, as well as other local small businesses and restaurants in Clatsop and Tillamook counties. Manzanita and Wheeler have already stopped using plastic bags in their stores. Fresh Foods, both in Manzanita and Cannon Beach, has been plastic-less since opening. The Cannon Beach City Council has not made any plans as of now for the ban. Theresa Family Market stopped using plastic bags last June and say they won't be affected by the ban. "This will be our first winter with only paper bags," said an employee of the market, Thomas Schaffer. The market currently doesn't sell reusable bags but the owner is wanting to get some in the near future. They do not charge for their paper bags. Included in the ban are single use check out bags at grocery and other retail stores, including farmers markets, and single use carry out bags at restaurants. Not included in the ban are: bags provided for produce, nuts, grain, greeting cards, and small hardware items; bags for unwrapped prepared food or bakery goods; bags containing frozen meat or fish, flowers, or other items to address dampness or sanitation; bags for prescription drugs; bags for garments or dry cleanings; bags sold in packages containing multiple bags for food storage, garbage, or pet waste. To encourage using reusable bags, the new law requires that retail businesses and restaurants charge a five-cent fee for paper bags made from at least 40 percent post-consumer recycled paper, and durable plastic or fabric reusable bags. The reasons for the fees are to offset the cost of paper, which are more expensive than the plastic carryout bags, and because the goal is not to increase the use of paper bags but to encourage people to bring their own reusable bags. According to the Oregon Public Health Authority, plastic absorbs dangerous toxins from the environment. Wildlife mistakes plastic for food and eats it. Studies have shown that wildlife can't digest plastics, and that toxins from plastics are absorbed into animal and marine wildlife tissues. "When fish and other animals mistake the plastic as food - and they frequently do - the toxic chemicals work their way up the food chain," read a statement from the Surfrider Foundation. "This is not only potentially devastating to fish and wildlife, but to human health too." According to an article from the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ), data from various communities shows that a fee will lead many consumers to reduce their use of new bags. DEQ states that a fee (if equal to the cost of the bag) is fair to all consumers - only those consumers who choose to use new bags pay for them, rather than forcing all consumers (including those who choose to reuse) to pay for new bags. City Sanitary Service reported that 479 people were surveyed in September of 2018. Responding to the question of support for a ban, 74 percent approved, 19 percent opposed, and 7 percent said maybe. On the question of using paper and reusable bags in lieu of plastics, 83 percent said yes, 8 percent said no, and 9 percent said maybe. Asked by City Sanitary Service if people were willing to pay for a paper bag, 45 percent said no, 35 percent were willing to pay 5 cents, and 20 percent were willing to pay a dime. On the question of reusable bags, 53 percent said they bring reusable bags to the store most of the time (at least 75 percent of shopping trips), while 47 percent said they do not.

Tillamook County partners complete opioid use needs assessment

A consortium of local partners working together over the past three months recently completed a countywide needs assessment that shows a clearer picture of the gaps and opportunities for opioid use and misuse in Tillamook County. Funded by a federal Rural Communities Opioid Response Program (RCORP) planning grant, the consortium - dubbed RCORP Tillamook - worked with consultants and community stakeholders to collect and evaluate data relevant to Tillamook County. Evaluating data-based estimates, the workgroup has determined that around 1,700 to 1,800 people in Tillamook County currently misuse opioids. This number includes three subgroups: those with opioid use disorder (OUD), whether diagnosed or not; those with opioid dependence and who are at-risk for developing the disorder; and those without dependence who occasionally take opioids for non-medical reasons.

The needs assessment document provides brief Tillamook County health and demographic data. It then estimates how many people are misusing opioids in the county, based on data from National Survey on Drug Use and Health, the Oregon Health Authority, and the U.S. Census Bureau. The document then distills the qualitative findings from community interviews into three themes: pain management and prescribing practices; addiction, treatment and recovery; and harm reduction and education. The document describes resources, challenges and potential solutions for each theme as it pertains to Tillamook County. Identifying these main themes will provide a strong outline for the strategic plan that will be completed by the consortium in February. The final needs assessment document is available online on Adventist Health Tillamook website at AdventistHealthTillamook.org. Upcoming RCORP Tillamook updates between now and the project end in May 2020 will include a strategic plan, a workforce plan, an implementation plan and a sustainability plan. For questions about the needs assessment document or the RCORP Tillamook project, please call 503-815-2308.

TILLAMOOK CO. FIREFIGHTER OF THE MONTH

Brad Marugg

The Tillamook County Fire Defense Board's Firefighter of the month is Garibaldi Firefighter Brad Marugg. Brad joined the Garibaldi Fire Department as a cadet firefighter in 2014. He has worked his way up and is a certified firefighter 1 and a medical first responder. His rank in the fire department is, Firefighter/First Responder. Brad is 20-years-old, single and lives in Garibaldi. Brad was raised up the Miami River at Foley Creek. Currently, he is a warehouseman at the Tillamook Country smoker. Brad is a high school graduate from Neah Kah Nie High School. In his spare time, Brad likes to hang out with friends, play basketball, go camping and he also enjoys mechanical projects. Brad became a firefighter because it's in his blood. Brad's father is Garibaldi Fire Chief Jay Marugg. Brad says the most rewarding thing about being a firefighter is helping people. "You see people at their lowest of lows and you get to help them out," he said. His father is quick to point out, Brad has earned this honor by his service to the district. "As his fire chief and his father, I want to let everyone know, Brad was voted as firefighter of the month by his peers and not just me," Chief Marugg said. "Brad deserves this honor for his effort, sacrifices and passion for the fire service. He is an intelligent, passionate and hard working firefighter." Brad once demonstrated super human strength at a structure fire we had in Barview. A ladder was needed to access the second floor of a burning building that had two occupants and the second floor engulfed in fire. Brad recognized this and grabbed the only ladder he could which was the 35' extension ladder weighing approximately 250 pounds. At a minimum, this ladder takes two big guys but should be handled by four people. With all his turnout gear and SCBA adding weight to his own body, Brad grabbed the ladder, put it over his shoulder and carried it 80' then placed it to climb to the second floor. He then resumed fire suppression efforts with his fire crew. Congratulations Brad on a job well done and for making our community safer by your efforts.

Two-vehicle crash in Nehalem leaves one injured

A two-vehicle crash in Nehalem left one person injured and resulted in citations for both drivers.

The crash occurred around 12:20 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 16 on U.S. Route 101 and 10th Street. It was called in by a Nehalem Bay Fire and Rescue officer who happened upon the incident immediately afterwards. Fire officials confirmed one person was taken to the hospital with non-life-threatening injuries, adding that the crash was pretty minor overall.

According to Oregon State Police, a blue Subaru Impreza was traveling northbound as a blue Honda Civic was turning southbound from a parking lot on the northside of the road. The Honda collided with the Subaru as it emerged from the parking lot into the northbound lane.

The Subaru driver, who was identified by police as 70-year-old Kathleen Sue Kelley of Garibaldi, was taken to the hospital. Her damaged car was towed by Scovel's Towing, and she was cited for driving uninsured.

The Honda driver, who was identified by police as 67-year-old Kendall Wayne Scudder, was not reported as injured, though his car was damaged. He was cited for careless driving.

City of Manzanita moving forward on public works

Cody Mann
headlightnews@
Countrymedia.net

The City of Manzanita has three major water-related projects on the table. A memo from the Public Works Department discussed updates on those projects. The memo was written by Public Works Director Dan Weitzel and addressed to City Manager Cynthia Alamillo.

The second phase of a water main replacement project on U.S. 101 picks up where it was left off this past year. The replacement will continue the 8-inch, high-density polyethylene pipe from the corner south of the water plant to the Covenant Church along the highway. The current water main is a 6-inch asbestos pipe.

Roughly 1,500 feet of pipe will be bored in. All water services will be replaced, and two hydrants will be installed as well. A third phase of replacement will be needed in the coming years for the asbestos pipe running from Laneda Avenue to the treatment plant. Otak, Inc. was selected for the engineering on this project. Phase two is budgeted at $262,000.

The City's water master plan, used for water system cost projections, system sizing and system integrity, also needs an update. According to the public works memo, the current master plan is missing state-mandated requirements. The original plan was developed in 1990 and updated in 2006. The cost of construction has changed since then, projects have been completed, and population in water users has increased.

Bill Pavlich with Pace Engineers, Inc. was selected to do the work. Pavlich reportedly worked on the 2006 update. The memo said he has good working knowledge of the system and he has completed other projects for the City of Manzanita. The update cost was set at $79,700.

Also, in need of an update is the stormwater master plan. The public works memo said many aspects of how stormwater runoff is handled have changed since the plan was developed in 2005. That plan called for the use of dry well systems. These drywells have shown to be ineffective during rainy periods, according to Weitzel.

Weitzel said in the memo there also has been a heavy increase in fees from the federal government on this type of stormwater management. He said the rainfall numbers used in the 2005 report are half of what is used today. Otak, Inc. has been selected for the update at a cost of $40,000.

At a Dec. 4 meeting of the Manzanita City Council, Weitzel told officials that since he became public works director he has felt stormwater is among the top issues for his department to address. He said while a lot of repairs have been done and new installations made to mitigate the problem, there are still stormwater issues.

"We're seeing more paved surfaces or impervious surfaces both on the public right of ways and by homes," Weitzel said. "That's where the stormwater essentially is coming from."

Oregon child dies from flu complications

Jeremy C. Ruark
jruark@countrymedia.net

The Oregon Health Authority reports an Oregon child has died after contracting influenza. No other details about the child's death have been released.

"There has been one pediatric flu death so far this season," Oregon Health Authorities lead communications officer Jonathan Modie said.

According to Modie, the OHA doesn't track adult flu deaths because flu deaths in adults are not nationally notifiable (e.g., required to be reported).

A key reason, Modie said, is because seasonal influenza may lead to death from other causes, such as pneumonia, congestive heart failure, or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, and it has been recognized for many years that influenza is infrequently listed on death certificates and testing for seasonal influenza infections is usually not done, particularly among the elderly who are at greatest risk of seasonal influenza complications and death.

"Some deaths — particularly in the

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thanks to PUD

As I sit in a dark room of a house without power, but still kept cozy by a roaring fire, I think of the men and women of the PUD out there in the dark, moonless night, buffeted by gusting winds and driving rain, cold and wet as they climb poles and ladders to restore electricity to the neighborhood. The work that they do is truly heroic.

YMCA classes

Hi, My doctor set up an appointment for me to see a physical therapist as I was having balancing problems. The therapist checked me out thoroughly and strongly urged me to attend Tai Chi classes to help me regain balance control.

Since I was a member of the Tillamook YMCA, I checked their postings and found that they had multiple Tai Chi classes along with many other exercise classes.

At 84 years of age, I thought that I had nothing to lose and perhaps the Tai Chi class just might be helpful so I signed up.

When I attended my first class, I felt like a duck out of water. There were at least a dozen other people in the class (of varying ages, but none even close to mine, but I said "Oh well, give it your best shot". The teacher made me feel very welcome and helped to ease my anxiety when she told me to only do what I felt comfortable doing. She also said "You can't do anything wrong". The movements were very slow and gentle and very shortly I relaxed and began to fit in. We went through a series of exercises and then took a short break. It was during the break that a number of the other students came over to chat and make me feel welcome; that really put me at ease. After the break, we resumed exercising until the session ended. Whew, I survived the first class and found that I really enjoyed it. The teacher was a very likeable and knowledgeable person and the classmates made me feel welcome. Life was good.

After attending the second Tai Chi class, I decided that I had a couple other physical issues that the beginning Yoga class might help to alleviate, so with the Tai Chi teachers encouragement, I began taking the Yoga classes.

Once again I found that the teacher was aware of my physical needs and concerns and she assured me that doing the exercises with the class would definitely be beneficial for my body. She also emphasized that I should not do any exercise that I was not comfortable with, such as those that might put stress on my arthritic shoulder. Once again the classmates were very welcoming and it did not take too long to feel like I was part of a very friendly group.

Over the year plus that I have been attending the YMCA exercise classes (now 85 years of age), I have added the Enhanced Fitness class and also go to the gym to lift moderate weights, work at the rowing machine and also use the treadmill.

The YMCA class teachers in every case are very knowledgeable, caring people who do their best to make everyone feel comfortable and welcome.

I suggest that you give yourself a beautiful Christmas or New Years gift by signing up at the Tillamook YMCA to gradually improve your physical capabilities and get more out of life.

A job well done

Buying from a local business is a great experience. I recently purchased a wood stove from Haltiner's Heating and Sheet Metal. Jann pronounced Yawn, installed the stove from start to finish in less than two hours. The stove I had was 19 years old. I bought it when I retired in the year 2000. Jann knew exactly what to do and when to do it, with politeness, encouragement, and he explained everything he did. Rick Haltiner closed the deal.

We did not realize in how bad a shape our old stove was. Our new one burns more efficiently, saving money on wood and on heating the house. We figure it will pay for itself in a little over a year. Great service, efficient, personable, on time. We really appreci-

Cribbins seeking senate position

Democrat Melissa Cribbins, a Coos County Commissioner and an attorney, has announced her candidacy for Oregon State Senate in the Fifth District. The seat is currently held by Sen. Arnie Roblan (D-Coos Bay) who announced that he will not seek re-election at the end of his term.

Cribbins was raised in rural Coos County before graduating from Coquille High School and attending Southwestern Oregon Community College. She and her husband, Troy, moved in order to pursue their educations, but returned in 2006 to help with family health issues.

"I can't think of a place that I would rather live," Cribbins said. "Oregon is a great place to put down roots and raise a family, and we have been fortunate to be able to give our children the opportunity to grow up in an amazing place."

Cribbins and her husband, a physical therapist, and their children make their home in Coos Bay.

She was elected to the Coos County Commission in 2012 and re-elected in 2014 and 2018. She said her priority has been to ensure Coos County is financially stable and sustainable while focusing on growing jobs and improving economic opportunities for citizens in Coos County.

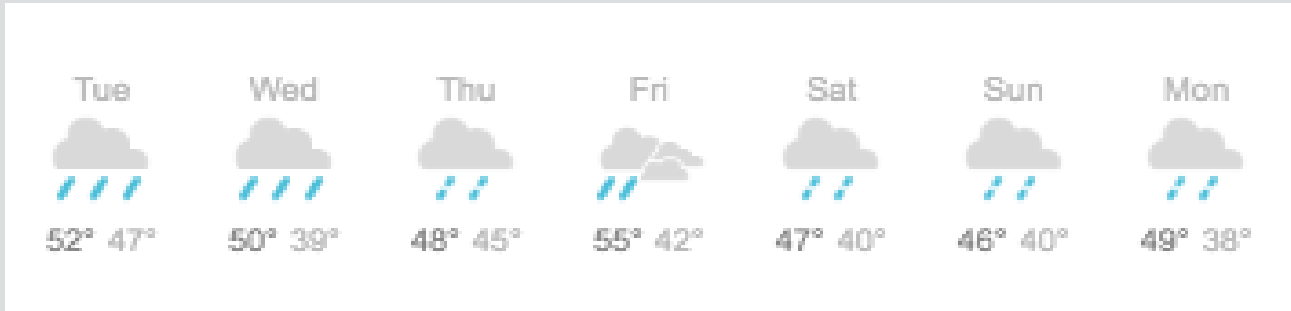

Cribbins serves on the Land Conservation and Development Commission, the Energy

Trust of Oregon Board, the Elliott State Forest Advisory Committee Working Group, and the Coos Bay North Bend Water Board. She also serves as the Chair of the Energy, Environment, and Land Use Committee of the National Association of Counties.

Cribbins is currently the second vice president of the Association of Oregon Counties, and previously served as the board chairwoman of Rural Development Initiatives. She said she has served on numerous commissions, boards and councils to represent rural Oregon locally and at the state level.

"Sen. Roblan has done a tremendous job at representing Senate District Five at the state and local level. He has been the voice of the Oregon coast, and I have nothing but admiration for his accomplishments and the work he has done for the citizens of Oregon," Cribbins said.

GUEST COLUMN

Holiday update from Congresswoman Mitchell

State Rep. Tiffany Mitchell
House District 32

It has been a busy holiday season since the last newsletter! I wanted to give a quick recap of what we've been up to, as well as what's still yet to come. We had a busy few days during November's Legislative Days (November 18-20), and we have also been hard at work getting legislation ready for the 2020 short legislative session.

We celebrated Thanksgiving as a state and nation, I had an opportunity to visit Tillamook for their tree lighting ceremony, and I also attended the legislative academy put on by the Council of State Governments West (CSG West) with three of my legislative colleagues. It's been an exciting few weeks!

Short Legislative Session

First, let's get down to business! I know many of you probably have your sights set on what to expect in the 2020 short legislative session coming up in February.

My first bill is an idea meant to increase access to health care in rural Oregon. As many people know, nurse practitioners have a lot of flexibility in Oregon to practice and provide services to patients within their scope of practice. Physician assistants (PA's) are able to provide similar services, and have just as much education to provide similar primary care. As legislation to provide more flexibility for nurse practitioners went forward in Oregon, however, PA's were not given the same flexibility.

Healthcare

Our bill seeks to give physician assistants that same type of freedom by streamlining the requirements and paperwork—effectively cutting the red tape that often hampers professionals from being able to practice in rural and frontier areas. If the bill passes, it will definitely provide a benefit to areas like District 32 by expanding access to primary care.

The second bill seeks to create equity among working people engaged in state projects. When the state employs workers directly, there is a given standard for those employees in terms of both wages and benefits—something that is both market-driven, as well as part of the bargaining process with labor unions. It's always been problematic for me, however, to know that while the State of Oregon might agree to high standards for those directly employed—those who work indirectly for the state on government projects or as contractors often times do not benefit from the same type of standards in wages, health coverage, and retirement.

That just doesn't seem right. If you're engaged in a government project, you should be paid fairly and along the same standards that the State of Oregon sets for its own employees who are directly employed. Establishing standards through this legislative concept for contractors to offer their own employees will, if passed, ensure equity among those engaged in services meant to benefit the citizens of Oregon. I anticipate an uphill fight on this one—but will do everything I can to make sure it makes it out of the short session.

Finally, I know that many of you have questions about the likelihood of some of the more controversial topics that were discussed in the last legislative session. While I have heard that some of those will return in the short session (namely, climate change legislation)—we won't know until the week following Jan. 17 exactly which bills have been filed. I'll keep you posted and look forward to hearing your thoughts.

Thanksgiving!

My hope is that everyone in district and throughout the state had a marvelous Thanksgiving this year. I believe, as Americans, we have so much to be thankful for. As Oregonians, we especially do. This last year yielded a $1 billion dollar per year investment into our K-12 education system through the Student Success Act, including millions more for school districts on the North Coast, a Paid Family Medical Leave Insurance program, and a guarantee that renters cannot be evicted from their homes without cause.

I was thankful to be given the opportunity to help someone else through the gift of life by donating a kidney, and was absolutely overwhelmed by the good thoughts that came my way from my neighbors and voices throughout the state. And—of course, the food on Thanksgiving!

It's important to remember, however, that not everyone has family or friends to celebrate with on Thanksgiving. I was reminded of that ever so clearly this year when I chose to spend my Thanksgiving afternoon helping serve a Thanksgiving meal to those in need with the organization Riverfolk.

Alongside numerous volunteers, which included

Bruce Jones and Arlene LaMear (the mayor and former mayor of Astoria, respectively), we spent the afternoon dishing up a traditional Thanksgiving meal to those with no food or no place to go.

It was truly a humbling experience, and one that I would encourage everyone to try at least once. There is no greater gift than helping others—and for me, helping out in this way was truly invaluable to be reminded of how much need there is, even in a country of plenty. Though it's a big issue to tackle, it is my hope that all of us together can continue to work to

Thank you

I would like to thank all the Fire Fighters at the Nehalem Bay Fire and Rescue for their quick response when I suffered a stroke on Oct. 2nd. Fire chief Chris Beswick was at my house within minutes of my wife's call to 911. My cardiologist Dr. A. Naido said he has seen very few people recover like I have. I think I owe it all to my wife Fay who recognized it was a stroke and chief Beswick for his knowledge on how to treat me. Also I would like to thank the EMT's on the ambulance, the E.R doctors and nurses at T.C.G.H for my excellent care I received in the three days I was in the hospital. Thank you all again.

Procedural errors

During the County Board of Commissioners' meeting on December 9, it was pointed out that the Planning Commission had made a series of procedural errors in granting Facebook a waiver to conduct industrial drilling on a compact residential lot in Tierra Del Mar. Commissioner Yamamoto wasted no time in blithely excusing these errors by saying, "... well, they're only volunteers." And, they are and we all owe them our thanks for their service. But, by excusing the errors, Commissioner Yamamoto acknowledged they had occurred.

Yes, the Planning Commission is a volunteer group. But, the Planning Commission chair has been serving in this position for 22 years. Further, Counsel was present throughout the Planning Commission's blundering process. The Planning Commission may be volunteers, but it makes decisions having a direct impact on our homes and their value, our neighborhoods and, in this case, our stewardship of Tillamook's pristine shoreline. These should not be placed at risk through a flawed process.

Commissioner Yamamoto has acknowledged the Planning Commission erred in its conduct and decision-making process. He needs to make this right.

Dear Citizens of Tillamook

I was the woman who was hit by a pickup truck at the Library on Sept. 26, 2019. It has been a long road to recovery. I would like to thank all the kind people who came to aid me, especially a young man named Brock who convinced me to stay down lying in the rain. Several people brought blankets and jackets to keep me as warm and dry as possible until the ambulance arrived. One woman prayed for me. I am grateful that so many people were concerned for my welfare and did something about it.

Thank you Tillamook. You should be proud of the caring and compassion of your citizens.

Reusable bags

Get your reusable bags ready! On January 1 the single use plastic carryout bag ban will begin for stores and restaurants. To encourage people to use reusable bags and compensate businesses for the more expensive paper bags, you will be charged five cents for paper bags. You can avoid this cost if you bring your own bags.

Keeping bags in your car and remembering to bring them into the store is hard at first but people who live in communities where the ban already exists says "You get used to it!"

We want to thank Nan Devlin at Visit Tillamook Coast for recognizing that the new emphasis on reusable bags for shopping is a great way to support Tillamook County's sustainability efforts with locals and visitors. Visit Tillamook Coast is giving reusable bags printed with their logo to local stores who request them and will make them available at Farmer's Markets in the summer.

This is a small step in our efforts to reduce the long term and short term impact of plastic on marine life and in our communities.

SOLVE Wraps Up its 50th Year with Inspiring Results

The year is quickly coming to an end and the environmental nonprofit SOLVE is happy to report their 50th year-end results. As a team of just 13, SOLVE recorded connecting more than 31,896 volunteers to over 1,160 volunteer environmental projects. Through these projects, volunteers collected 282,012 pounds of litter and marine debris, recycled 169,386 cigarettes and cleared over 21 acres of invasive species in 2019 alone.

"The informal SOLVE motto is just to 'get things done', said SOLVE CEO Kris Carico. "We are a small but mighty team, always thinking of the most efficient route to have the biggest impact to improve Oregon's environment."

Founded by Governor Tom McCall in 1969, SOLVE has been Oregon's go-to environmental nonprofit, engaging hundreds of thousands of volunteers, removing hundreds of acres of invasive plant species, and collecting over one million pounds of litter since it began 50 years ago.

Many Oregonians know SOLVE from its coast-wide beach cleanups, or their SOLVE IT for Earth Day event, but SOLVE also supports volunteers throughout the year. The SOLVE website boasts "Volunteer Opportunities Every Weekend!" which connects Oregonians to projects statewide.

SOLVE's programs focus on marine debris prevention, litter cleanup, invasive species removal, and native tree plantings. As more people recognize the growing marine debris and trash crisis, people are asking what they can do on a local level.

SOLVE is proud to connect Oregonians to cleanup projects, or to support them in running their own volunteer event. For more information, visit solveoregon.org or send an email to info@solveoregon.org

About SOLVE

SOLVE is a statewide non-profit organization that brings Oregonians together to improve our environment and build a legacy of stewardship. Since 1969, the organization has grown from a small, grassroots group to a national model of volunteer action. Today, SOLVE mobilizes tens of thousands of volunteers of all ages across Oregon to clean and restore our neighborhoods and natural areas, and to build a legacy of stewardship for our state. Visit solveoregon.org for more information.

Adventist Health Tillamook launches Lifestyle Medicine practice

Adventist Health Tillamook announced an addition to its already comprehensive list of medical care offerings. Dr. Ben Douglas and Medical Assistant Sarah Armstrong are eager to welcome new patients into the new Lifestyle Medicine practice at the Adventist Health Medical Office – Plaza beginning in January 2020.

Douglas has been a Family Medicine physician for more than three decades, and when he learned about Lifestyle Medicine several years ago, he knew it was something he wanted to integrate into his practice.

"Lifestyle Medicine is a relatively new specialty that focuses on using lifestyle habits to treat and prevent medical conditions and issues," Douglas said in a press release.

Put simply, Lifestyle Medicine is a more holistic approach to patient care, with a focus on healthy eating, physical activity, stress management, healthy relationships, improving quality of sleep and avoiding the use of tobacco and other harmful substances. A few years ago, Douglas started to incorporate some of the components of Lifestyle Medicine into his own life and the results were remarkable. He changed his diet to focus more on plant-based foods and ensured he got plenty of quality sleep. He said more sleep improves focus, increases energy and allows our bodies to metabolize food better.

"Over a period of several years, I lost about 95 pounds, I became more physically active, my quality of life improved and my enjoyment of work improved," Douglas said in the release. "It was such a tremendous change in my life that I wanted to share it with other people."

Douglas suggests patients surround themselves with positive, healthful relationships such as group fitness activities at the YMCA.

Douglas is excited to show patients how even minor lifestyle changes and choices can have a dramatic effect on their overall health.

"Our mission here at Adventist Health is to live God's love by inspiring health, wholeness and hope," Douglas said. "One of the keywords in there that really gets my attention is 'inspiring.' What we know about the science of medicine – living a healthy lifestyle, eating healthy food and being physically active, is just as effective, for many things, as giving a pill."

To schedule an appointment to see Douglas for family or lifestyle medicine needs, call 503-815-2292.

elderly — are associated with secondary complications of seasonal influenza (including bacterial pneumonia)," Modie said. "Influenza virus infection may not be identified in many instances because influenza virus is only detectable for a short period of time and/or many people don't seek medical care until after the first few days of acute illness."

For these and other reasons, Modie said statistical modeling strategies have been used to estimate seasonal flu-related deaths for many decades. Only counting deaths where influenza was included on a death certificate would be a gross underestimation of seasonal influenza's true impact."

Modie said the OHA doesn't track flu hospitalizations by county, but does monitor influenza-associated hospitalizations in Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington counties, the Tri-County/Portland Metro area, along with reports of emergency department visits for influenza-like illness, positive flu tests as reported to the National Respiratory and Enteric virus Surveillance System and reported flu outbreaks around the state. Modie said the information collected gives the OHA a good sense of flu activity around the state.

Modie said the timing of flu is unpredictable and can vary from season to season.

"Seasonal flu viruses can be detected year-round," he said. "However, seasonal flu activity often begins as early as October and November and can continue to occur as late as May. Flu activity most commonly peaks between December and February."

The OHA encourages everyone to take steps to protect your families, co-workers, neighbors and community from the flu.

Modie said cases of flu are on the rise across Oregon, but it's not too late to get vaccinated. Other ways people can help prevent flu:

Stay home from work or school when you are sick and limit contact with others

Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze. Throw the tissue out when you are done

Wash hands with soap and water. Use an alcohol-based hand rub if soap and water are not available

Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth

Clean and disinfect surfaces and objects that may have flu germs on them

Avoid getting coughed and sneezed on

OBITUARIES

Barbara Lorraine Jones

April 7, 1933 - Dec. 22 2019

Barbara Lorraine Jones passed away in Tillamook General Hospital at approximately 6:15 pm on December, 22nd 2019. She was 86 at the time and was living in Cloverdale, OR.

Barbara was born Barbara Lorraine Fansher in Wallace, ID, on April 7th, 1933. Her parents were Blanche May Schwirise of Salt Lake City, UT and Virgil B. Fansher of Joplin, MI, and she was an only child.

In 1946, Barbara moved from Wallace, ID to Newberg, OR. She graduated from Newberg Union High School on May 31st, 1951. Just 4 years later, on February 22nd, 1955, she married the man of her dreams, Ray Jones Jr. In 1956, they moved to Corvallis, OR and had their first son, Terry. In 1957, while living up Trask River Rd., they had two more sons named Darcy and Sherwin. They left the Trask for a house on the Little Nestucca River in 1964, where they had their last child, a girl named Shela. After a quick move to Neskowin in 1965, they finally settled in part of the old cheese factory in Cloverdale, OR in 1966.

During this time Barbara loved to listen to her old radio, grow flowers and tend a massive garden yearly. She also found time to help her husband (Ray) with his construction company and teach every one of her children to cook, sew and do their own laundry. She is predeceased by her husband Ray Jones Jr. (January 2018) and survived by her children, Terry Jones (Tillamook), Darcy Jones (Hebo), Sherwin Jones (Cloverdale) and Shela (Jones) Mallare (Tillamook), grandchildren, Melissa, Keegan, Kyler, Lucus, Katherine, Jesse, Jennifer, Lacy, and Kenny. Barbara was also blessed with 11 great-grandchildren.

A service will be held at Waud's Funeral Home, in Tillamook at 10 am on Saturday the 4th, 2020. Lunch is to follow at 12 pm at the Church of Latter-Day Saints, 4200 12th St., Tillamook and then the graveside service at 2 pm at the Nestucca Valley Community Cemetery, 31405 HWY 101 S., Cloverdale, OR.

Brownlee Norton Bush

Impaired driving sweep for New Year holiday

The holidays are a time of celebration, full of excitement and endless festivities. Oftentimes, these celebrations bring higher numbers of impaired drivers to the roads, endangering those drivers and others.

The Tillamook County Sheriff's Office, Oregon State Police,

Tillamook Police Department, Rockaway Beach Police Department, and Manzanita Police Department have collaborated this New Year's Holiday to increase impaired driving enforcement by deploying all available officers to ensure a safe environment for New Year's Eve by adding extra personnel to focus on high visibility patrols and the apprehension of suspected impaired drivers.

Sheriff Jim Horton asks that if you are planning to have holiday parties or festive gatherings, please make smart choices and plan out how you're going to get home safely once the celebration ends. Designate a sober driver and encourage your friends to do the same.

If you are the designated driver, make a commitment to 100-percent sobriety to keep you and your friends safe. If you see an impaired driver on the road, contact local law enforcement immediately. Doing so could save the life of the driver, passenger, and others on the road.

And, if you have a friend who is about to drive impaired, take away their keys and help them plan to get home safely — it will be the greatest gift you ever give them.

City to test unrestricted parking in public lots through the winter

Chelsea Yarnell
Guest Contributor

The Tillamook Area Chamber of Commerce went to bat for downtown businesses and their employees' parking needs at the Dec. 16 Tillamook City Council meeting.

The Chamber requested, with the recommendation from Public Works, that the City consider amending the parking restrictions to both remove parking time limits and allow for employee/employer parking in all public parking lots through the winter months.

"We want workers and business owners to feel safe getting to their parking," Chamber Executive Director Justin Aufdermauer said.

Aufdermauer noted that, currently because of the time of year, workers are walking past empty parking lots to get to their own parking.

"We need lights up, but right now employees and employers have to park outside of Stillwell, Fifth, and Laurel," he said. "If you're working downtown your parking several blocks away."

The Chamber stated in a letter to the City Council that they have "anecdotally monitored the use of these parking areas and feel that the benefits of these amendments far outweigh any concerns" and cited that they primary made the request due to safety, weather, and seasonality.

The City Council unanimously agreed to trial the idea this year through March.

The Chamber is working to communicate to downtown business about the temporary change.

The areas affected include the public parking lots on First Street (across from Kimmel Hardware), in front of Sue H. Elmore Park, and on the east side of Ivy Avenue between Second and Third Street.

The Chamber noted that these changes will require the City to change signage twice per year and also forego issuing permits for this seven-month period of time. The current permit will need no change as it is month-to-month, however there would be a reduction in revenue to the City for the decreased permit season.

This parking trial only applies to public parking lots, not street parking.

Free pruning workshop at Alder Creek Farm

The Lower Nehalem Community Trust (LNCT) will host a free pruning workshop from 1 a.m. until noon Saturday, Jan. 11, in the Community Garden at Alder Creek Farm. This event will be led by professional arborist David Sipp, of Ecologic Trees.

Sipp brings a wealth of knowledge on the best way to prune young, mature or overgrown fruit trees to maximize their production. This workshop is open to the public, ages 10 and up. Bring your gloves and a pruner. Tools and gloves will also be available to borrow.

The orchard in the Community Garden at Alder Creek Farm has just about every fruit and berry imaginable. LNCT orchardists and Community Garden leaders will be on hand demonstrating how to prune blueberries, current, cane berries and more.

Representative Gomberg Files for Re-election

State Representative David Gomberg has filed for re-election for the 10th House District ranging from Tillamook to Yachats and inland to Sheridan. State Senator Arnie Roblan and south-central coast Representative Caddy McKeown recently announced their retirement from the Oregon legislature. "I was honored by the many calls I received urging me to run for the Senate," said Gomberg. "But my only ambition is to well serve the cares and concerns of the good people of the 10th district along the central coast and coastal range. I will continue to use my experience and House seniority in their interest." Gomberg currently serves as vice co-chair of the budget writing Ways and Means Committee and co-chair of the subcommittee on Transportation and Economic Development. During the 2019 legislative session, over $18 million were allocated to local projects including the Oregon Coast Aquarium, Newport dams, the Lincoln City Cultural Center, emergency egress for Neskowin, the Pacific City Airport, and Tillamook Youth Correctional Facility. The "TED" subcommittee has doubled funding for veteran's programs, added $400 million for affordable housing, and increased support for Small Business Development Centers. As a result, Representative Gomberg was named a "Champion" by the Oregon Housing Alliance and a "Small Business Ally" by the Main Street Alliance. The Oregon State Council for Retired Citizens named Gomberg "one of the best champions of seniors in the Oregon Legislature". Representative

Gomberg also serves on the Governor's Commission for Senior Services, the Oregon Seismic Safety Policy Advisory Commission (OSSPAC), and the Ocean Science Trust. David and Susan Gomberg are small business owners. Together they manage Gomberg Kite Productions which offers professional kite shows and kites and windsocks to wholesale accounts and online. They have performed in over 40 countries and provided programs to Walt Disney, motion pictures, and the Super Bowl. In 2008 they opened three Northwest Winds stores. In 2013, they sold these retail stores to focus on legislative commitments. For more information, contact David Gomberg at 541-921-1281

Nestucca Girls drop close one to Mannahouse

Mike Weber
For The Headlight Herald

It's difficult to feel good after a loss - that is unless it could also be referred to as a moral victory. That was exactly the case for the Nestucca High Bobcats girls basketball team following a 41-37 loss to the Mannahouse Christian Academy Lions in a Northwest League game Dec. 19 in Portland.

Competing without injured Northwest League All-Star starters Olivia Leslie and Shamilee Chatelain, the Bobcats (1-1 NWL, 3-4 overall) came ever so close to beating the highly regarded No. 4 ranked undefeated Lions (2-0 NWL, 7-0).

The Bobcats, guided by coach Tim Foster, had a very good chance for a possible upset win, particularly after they trailed just 39-37 with 38 seconds remaining in the game. On the Lions ensuing offensive possession, Lions junior Marlei Knox sank a layup with 18.8 seconds left to help ensure the victory for Mannahouse Christian.

"We were without two all league starters, so that was a big adjustment for us," said Foster. "I know they (Lions) had a couple of girls who were unable to play as well, but I really liked the way we stepped up and continued

fighting and grind things out. If we're not making shots, then we just try to get shots close to the rim and try to get to the free throw line. We were able to do that and eventually our outside shots started dropping and that helped us quite a bit."

The Bobcats will be hoping to bounce back and maybe even their record at 4-4 when they play on the road against the Taft Tigers (3-2) in a nonleague game Dec. 30 at 5:30 p.m. at Taft High School in Lincoln City. Nestucca's next home game is Jan. 3 versus the Regis Rams at 5:30 p.m.

The Lions came out and appeared to take control early in the contest while building a 10-1 first quarter advantage. A jumper in the lane by senior post Jocelyn Moreno (nine points, 11 rebounds) helped Nestucca trim the margin to 12-5 at the end of the quarter.

The momentum then shifted in the Bobcats favor in the second quarter. The Lions took their largest lead of the game at 16-5 early in the quarter. Led by junior guard Kiara Webber (career high 22 pts., eight rebs., five steals), the resilient Bobcats then turned things around.

"I felt pretty good about my performance and also about how well our team played so well together with everyone hustling really hard," said Webber. "At halftime we had a nice conversation with our coach and we talked about hustling and how it was really going to be our game. I actually felt like we had a good chance to win the game and it kind of felt like in our minds that we did win."

Webber, Moreno and sophomore guard Rachel Strober each scored in an impressive 12-2 Bobcat rally that trimmed the margin to 18-17 at halftime. Webber scored on a layup, a jumper in the lane and on a three-point field goal from the corner. Moreno scored on two short jumpers in the lane and Strober had one free throw.

"Kiara is doing good and she's starting to play more consistently with her control and she's really stepped up this year and is playing with a high energy level," said Foster. "If we can continue to have Kiara play like she did tonight and also get our other two girls back from their injury (concussion), then I think we'll have a pretty strong team. I'm proud of the girls, they worked really hard and that's all you can ask for when you're without other key players."

Led by sophomore post Awek De Piok (eight pts., 10 blocks) the Lions responded with a 6-0 run at the outset of the third quarter to take a 24-17 lead. The Bobcats then had another impressive run, as they outscored the Lions 13-8 and Webber's three-point jumper from the corner made it 32-30 after three.

Nestucca narrowed the margin to just one point early in the fourth when junior Makinzie Sedenius sank a free throw, making it 32-31 with 7:51 remaining in the contest. Following a 7-2 Lion run that made it 39-33, the Bobcats fought back again. Webber grabbed a rebound and scored on a putback shot underneath the basket and she followed on Nestucca's next possession with a baseline driving layup, making it 39-37.

"I think we're going in the right direction," said Foster. "We've only played one game this year with a full roster, because we've had players that have been either sick or injured. We're really looking forward to a couple of weeks down the road when we resume league schedule and hopefully we'll have everyone healthy and then we'll see what we can do."

The Bobcats are hoping that Chatelain and Leslie will return to the lineup by the next NWL contest Jan. 7 at 5:30 p.m. when they meet the Gaston Greyhounds (1-6) at home.

Nestucca Boys lose close one to Mannahouse Lions

Mike Weber
For The Headlight Herald

Under different circumstances and with a healthy team, the Nestucca High Bobcats certainly would've had a good chance to beat the Mannahouse Christian Academy Lions in a Class 2A Northwest League boys basketball game. Playing without junior starting wing Tyler Hagerty (injured) and then having three other players suffer injuries during the game (Ben Hurliman, Logan Blackburn, Juan Ozuna) was just too much to overcome for the Bobcats, who lost 64-53 to the No. 10 ranked Lions Dec. 19 in Portland. Despite the extenuating circumstances, the Bobcats (0-2 NWL, 3-5 overall) played strong against the Lions (2-0, 5-2), particularly in the first and fourth quarters, when the two squads were equal on the scoreboard. The Bobcats, guided by first-year coach Justin Hartford, were outscored 36-25 in the middle two quarters though and they were just couldn't overcome the deficit, especially since they were shorthanded.

"The guys played well and we had our opportunities to score, but we just didn't capitalize on them, so it was a learning experience," said Hartford. "A few calls didn't go the way we wanted them to and then some kids got hurt who are also leading scorers for us. We had opportunities to get within a couple of baskets, but we just couldn't seem to get over the hill. We only lost by 11, which compared to last year's game against them (a 63-38 loss) is a big improvement and I'm hoping that's what we'll continue to do. When we play them again (Jan. 29), it think it's going to be a lot closer game for us."

In an evenly played first quarter, which included five ties and four lead changes, senior guard Mitchell Richwine sank a three-point jumper from the corner, giving Nestucca it's largest lead of the game at 16-13.

Led by senior McKinley Faria, who scored 30 points and had six three-pointers, the Lions came back, knotting it 16-16 after one quarter and the Bobcats never led again. Mannahouse Christian (formerly City Christian), went on a 12-3 second quarter run to build a 28-19 advantage and the Lions remained in front 35-29 at halftime.

The Bobcats responded well to the challenge at the outset of the second half and put themselves into position for a possible come-from-behind win. Nestucca sophomore Skyler Wallace sank two free throws, trimming

Graydon Johnson (#10) shoots a jumper in the lane.
the margin to 35-33 with 6:26 left in the third quarter. The Lions roared back, outscoring the Bobcats 17-8 to build their largest lead of the game at 52-41 after three quarters. The two squads traded points throughout the fourth, with both teams scoring 12 points each and the Lions held on for the 11-point victory.

Nestucca has some much needed time off from the hardwood and will not play again until a Dec. 30 non-league road matchup against the Class 3A Taft Tigers (1-2).

"They (Lions) are a pretty good team and they have some good athletes, particularly number four (Faria), who can really shoot well from the outside," said Hartford. "It's been a hectic first season so far and even though I don't really know what to expect, I love coaching this team and I'm having lots of fun. I'm utilizing all the things that I've learned about basketball and I'm using that from a coaching perspective. I hate seeing kids get hurt, so they need some rest and time to recuperate from injuries now and then we'll get ready to face Taft."

WELLNESS

Choose well Tillamook County

The term "Wellness" can mean different things to different people. In the past, people considered the word wellness to mean the degree to which someone is not sick. Now, people are beginning to understand that "being well" is much more than "not being sick."

Dr. Halbert Dunn, former chief of the U.S. Public Health Service National Office of Vital Statistics, came up with the term "high-level wellness" many years ago, describing it as:

- Far more than the absence of disease or infirmity
  - An awareness and aliveness to the world in which one lives
  - Having a sense that our body and mind are in tune with the world around us
  - An energized spirit where no task is too difficult, no hurdle too high
- We recognize these traits and are attracted to them in other people, but they often seem out of reach. How does a person achieve high-level wellness? In order to answer that question, it might help to break down the idea of well-ness a bit more.

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) Wellness Initiative states that there are eight dimensions of wellness: Emotional, Social, Financial, Occupational, Physical, Intellectual, Environmental and Spiritual. Each dimension is interconnected and dependent upon the others. When one is out of balance, it often affects the other dimensions. For example, financial stress might cause emotional distress and that, in turn, can hurt our social or work relationships. At first glance, this can seem overwhelming. These eight areas encompass so much of our already busy lives, it is difficult to determine what is causing our stress and what we can do about it. How on earth can we be expected to resolve the myriad issues that go sideways in any one of the dimensions, let alone across multiple areas?

In looking at how Dunn further describes wellness, we do get some clues. He cites three qualities of high-level wellness which include:

- 1) A direction of progress toward a higher potential of functioning;
  - 2) A continual challenge to live at a fuller potential;
  - 3) The integration of the total individual in body, mind and spirit in the functioning process.
- Notice the words Dunn uses to describe this process: direction, continual challenge and integration. These are not end points in a process. They are the process. It is in the approach - in the "doing" - that we become well. When we choose an apple instead of a candy bar for that late afternoon snack, we are moving in a direction. We are helping ourselves realize our full potential in that one simple act. When we choose to meet a friend for a walk instead of a glass of wine. When we decide to make coffee and meals at home instead of spending the extra money eating out. When we choose to turn off the screen we are watching at night so we can get eight hours of sleep. When we decide to set aside fifteen minutes each morning for prayer or meditation. Over and over, day after day, we are presented with the "continual challenge" to move toward wellness. Over time, these micro-changes in our lives add up, functionally changing who we are in every aspect of our lives allowing us to realize our full potential from that one simple act.

With that in mind, we are excited to launch our Tillamook County Wellness "Choose Well" campaign. During this year you will see opportunities to Eat Well, Move Well, Work Well and even Screen Well with preventive health screenings. To kick things off, we invite you to follow us as we share simple tips and tricks for improving our eating habits. Consider choosing one small change each week, maybe try one of our delicious recipes or even just setting aside one night each week for a family meal.

According to Dunn, these changes can lead to "an intoxicating and contagious sense of joy." Ah, yes. That sense of awareness and aliveness that we observe in others and seek for ourselves. This is the what Tillamook County Wellness is all about. Collectively, we are Making Healthy Happen. We can lead by example as individuals, parents, friends, family members and co-workers; making small changes in our daily lives and invite others to join us along the way.

Banana Pancakes

Makes: 16 Pancakes
Prep time: 35 minutes

Ingredients:

- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups nonfat or 1% milk
- 1 Tablespoon sugar
- 3 Tablespoons oil
- 2 bananas, mashed
- 3/4 cup whole wheat flour
- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

Directions:

1. Beat eggs in medium bowl. Add milk, sugar, oil and bananas and mix well. Add flours and baking powder. Mix gently.
2. Lightly spray a large skillet or griddle with non-stick cooking spray or lightly wipe with oil. Heat skillet or griddle over medium-high heat (350 degrees in an electric skillet).
3. Spoon 1/4 cup batter onto the griddle for each pancake. Cook until tops are bubbly and pancakes are dry around the edges. Flip and cook for 2-3 minutes or until golden brown.
4. Refrigerate leftovers within 2 hours.

Notes

To see if skillet is hot enough, sprinkle with a few drops of water. If drops skitter around, heat is just right.

Top with applesauce, fresh fruit or yogurt.

2019 Progress and year in review

Tillamook takes back the town after ODOT Construction

The dramatic makeover for the Tillamook town center that resulted from the Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) highway project has given the community a strikingly fresh and vibrant image and now that the US101/OR6 Intersection project tear-up, construction, and traffic delays are over, the City of Tillamook and its business community are preparing to take back the town for a full force summer season of renewed vitality.

The opening up of the vista around the intersection so that the Hoquarton area near the new four-lane bridge now serves as a focal entrypoint for the community. The elimination of the web of overhead wires and the enhancement of city parks on both sides of the bridge have accented the streetscape work and, this last month, the centerpiece of the entire intersection, where the former Shell Station once stood, was leveled, opening up an even greater opportunity to fashion a bold statement about the community of Tillamook. As such, the City Council of Tillamook is hosting a workshop on June 3rd at 5:30 in the Stan Sheldon Meeting Room at the Tillamook County Emergency Communications District, 2311 3rd Street, to brainstorm on concepts about what should happen with that centerpiece. Ideas have already started flowing in and will be welcome up through that evening.

Following up on the success of the Waterfront Walk at the beginning of May, the Chamber is organizing and promoting a parade of events to keep the heart of the City pounding. Starting with the Cork & Brew Tour on June 14th and followed immediately by the kickoff of the Tillamook Farmers Market on June 15th which goes on weekly every Saturday until September 28th.

The event parade continues with the Chamber organizing the 62nd annual June Dairy Parade to take place on June 22nd right after the YMCA's annual Milk Run. Staying in step, there are monthly events rolling out all summer, such as the downtown Sip & Shop on the 3rd Fridays, Art Accelerated's Art Walk on the 2nd Saturdays, and the City's movie nights on June 28th, July 26th, and August 23rd. All this followed close on their heels by the fall and winter events such as Small Business Saturday and the Downtown Sweepstakes.

As a complement to the events, the City is initiating several new downtown enhancement programs. In coordination with the Tillamook Revitalization Association (TRA), a banner program for the new decorative light poles in the Town Center is being developed that will include seasonal and event-based banners, along with the flower baskets. There may be opportunities for sponsorship pennants as well. As part of that program, the TRA will also be managing a large overhead event banner location spanning southbound 101 by Sue H Elmore Park as a way to further promote community events.

In order for that program to shine, no other banners, pennants, or streamers will be allowed in the right-of-way, other than the Tillamook Rotary Club's program placing national flags several times a year in the new sidewalk sleeves that the highway project provided.

Rebranding: new Look for Tillamook Creamery products

Ageing like a fine cheese, the Tillamook Creamery turned 110 years old this past week. Inviting the public to join the celebration, the Creamery unveiled its Birthday Cake Ice Cream among other festivities.

It was more than a birthday. As the Creamery says, "all cheese is not created equal. Taking that very seriously, the company set out to honor its love of cheddar cheese with a nationwide celebration of National Cheddar Day.

After over a century spent perfecting its award-winning cheddar recipe, Tillamook Creamery decided to dedicate its 110th birthday, and every birthday thereafter, to be the National Cheddar Day holiday.

"It's time we give cheddar its due – its day. A national celebration," the company posted to its website. "We hope you agree and join our farmer families and cheese lovers everywhere in enjoying this truly special day from coast-to-coast, for years to come."

The birthday coincides with a refreshing of the Creamery's brand. The farmer-owned co-op is rolling out a "bolder, friendlier and more consistent" look across its entire line of dairy products. The new look goes nationwide in February and March of 2019, and will also appear on the Creamery's buildings, iconic touring VW buses and on its website.

Tillamook's first major logo and packaging makeover in more than 60 years comes at a time when its products are available at more locations nationwide than ever before. "Product innovation and rapid distribution expansion across the country has fueled more than 60 percent growth for our co-op over the past five years," said Tillamook County Creamery Association (TCCA) President and CEO Patrick Criteser.

The Creamery said in a statement that Tillamook has introduced more new items in the past four years than in the preceding 40. In addition, the co-op has placed products – for the first time this past year – in more than 4,500 stores in new regions including the Southeast, Mid-Atlantic, Midwest and the Ohio Valley.

"We want our premium cheese, ice cream, yogurt, sour cream and butter products to come across as unmistakably Tillamook to new and existing shoppers in the dairy aisle," Criteser said.

As Tillamook expands into new territories, Criteser said the company recognized the importance of having a consistent packaging design across all its product categories.

You can't stop progress... and why would you try?

By Joe Warren
jwarren@countrymedia.net

We are excited to bring you this Progress Edition highlighting the people who have made a difference in our community in 2019. It's a focused look at what we've done and where we are headed in our corner of Oregon. It's been fun, again this year working with all of the business and government agencies to bring you this section.

This comprehensive approach to celebrating the things that have got us where we are today with hopes of a better tomorrow will hopefully give you plenty to reflect on.

Part of progress is realizing our strengths, garnering some life lessons, and working together to make things better.

It's nice to live in such a beautiful, growing and advancing area.

We also thought it would be good to chronicle our strides as we all look toward our evolution as a community.

In this section you can read about how our local business community, governments, schools, the health industry, agriculture and much more, contribute to moving us forward as a community.

We have new and existing businesses investing a ton of resources in our area.

We have some experienced and newly elected officials trying to make good decisions for our future, and the most important part, people who want positive growth as we progress toward tomorrow.

I am constantly amazed by the effort people put into making Tillamook County the best place to live, work, and enjoy the many outdoor resources our little nook on the Oregon Coast has to offer.

We've built, tore down, bought, traded, evolved and stayed steadfast, but we've progressed. You can't stop it, and, why would you try?

New sheriff has big goals for department

Jim Horton was appointed Sheriff of Tillamook County on Friday, August 2. He is taking over Andy Long's term, who retired, for the 15 months left of the term. His term ends in November 2020. Sheriff Horton will be filing for permanent office for the four-year term.

Sheriff Horton has worked at the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office for 22 years. He went to college to become a teacher. He was going to go into a Master's program at Pacific University when he had a change of interest. He became less interested in teaching and more interested in public service, something he had always been interested in. His father, who worked at the Sheriff's Office for over 20 years, told him about the Reserve Deputy Program. Horton applied and was accepted.

"My focus turned to law enforcement," said Horton about his experience in the program. "Based on my dad being the deputy here for 20 plus years at that time. So, kind of a family thing in following my dad, which really was the best decision I made."

Horton says that the Sheriff's of-ice has had consistent goals.

"I hope to accomplish providing the public with the best customer service we can and the best response times possible to emergencies," said Horton.

Horton also hopes to promote high levels of professionalism and to be an example for other rural sheriff's offices. He says that the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office is a great office with great personnel and is proud to work there. He believes the office is headed in a positive direction. His goal for the office is to best serve the public.

Horton says that the sheriff's office has a number of openings. One of his immediate goals is for the office to become fully staffed. As of now, the sheriff's office works 20 hours a day, but he hopes for it to be 24-7 coverage. The patrol works at night from 3-7 a.m. He hopes for that to become a 24-7 patrol schedule. He also hopes to expand the Narcotics team, and bring previous agency partners back in the fold, and increase partner activity in the near future.

"Ultimately, just provide the best service we can to the public is really our mission," said Horton.

Swanson named President of Adventist Health Tillamook

Adventist Health has named Eric Swanson, MBA, FACHE, NRP as president in Tillamook. Eric currently serves as executive director of strategy and business development and has served in a number of clinical roles with Adventist Health Tillamook for 30 years. During this time Eric has demonstrated a clear commitment to the mission of Adventist Health and a passion for the wellbeing of rural communities throughout Oregon.

"I'm honored to have been asked to lead this organization and to serve the community and people that I love," Swanson said. "I look forward to working with our outstanding associates and medical staff to continue the growth of the high-quality services we provide our patients, and I'm energized by the opportunity to work with our partners to enhance the well-being of our community."

Eric's breadth of leadership experience in healthcare, his commitment to the communities served by Adventist Health Tillamook, and his passion for the healing mission of Adventist Health make him uniquely qualified for this role. From his beginning as a hospital teen volunteer, through his years as a paramedic, followed by leadership roles across the state in public safety and healthcare, Eric has developed a perspective on excellence in rural healthcare that will support continued growth of services in the community.

"I am thrilled to see Eric expand his role in Tillamook. His deep experience with the community and in healthcare make him a perfect fit," said Joyce Newmyer, president of the Pacific Northwest Region of Adventist Health. "Eric has been instrumental in bringing healthcare services to several of our coastal and inland communities that had not previously had a medical clinic."

Adventist Health Tillamook is experiencing tremendous growth along the Oregon coast and beyond. Local residents now have expanded access to high quality, patient centered care through the medical center, medical offices, primary care providers and specialists who are inspiring health, wholeness and hope.

New principal takes over at Tillamook High School

Tillamook School District is pleased to announce that Christy Hartford has been selected to serve as the new Tillamook High School principal beginning with the 2019-20 school year. She brings a diversity of experience and a fresh perspective for the education of Tillamook High School students.

Christy earned her BS in Science teaching, with a concentration in Biology and Earth Space Science, from University of Southern Indiana. She earned a Master's Degree in Administrative Leadership and Policy from University of Colorado, Denver, and completed The

the assistant principal at Rangeview High School in Aurora, Colorado, where she has gained a wide variety of leadership experience and success. She has mentored teachers and aspiring leaders, led professional development, evaluated teacher performance to improve student outcomes and classroom experience, developed and facilitated a system of support that is focused on behavior, attendance, and academic achievement, and has worked to authentically engage parents at the high school level. Her "passion is to ensure that all students have the opportunity to experience great teaching, adaptable leadership and dynamic learning."

Record attendance at Tillamook County Fair

Tillamook County Fair officials reported record attendance for 2019. Despite weekday attendance dips from this past year, Saturday night at the fair saw a six-percent spike that pushed past the record for a total of 77,217 attendees.

Camy VonSeggern, Tillamook County Fairgrounds manager, gave a special thank you to Tillamook County Creamery Association for their newly designed ice cream booth, dairy done right lounge, new signage in the Dairy Barn and sponsorship of the Oregon Bird Man presentations.

This year's fair featured new strolling entertainment from Street Drum Corps as well as new courtyard acts and a Best Beard contest. The Oregon Dairy Women brought back the Milk Chugging Contest and VonSeggern said there was definitely more participation and there were more spectators this year.

"New for next year, we are looking at a pedal tractor pull for kids, two new carnival rides and creating a plan for additional seating for Friday and Saturday evenings," VonSeggern said. "The Tillamook County Fair is a family friendly, safe environment for everyone to come together and share experiences and traditions."

VonSeggern said fair organizers hope attendees have a good time and make a few happy memories when they visit. She added that suggestions and constructive criticism are welcome and help develop a better experience for the future.

"Fair Board and I would like to thank the giving spirit of our community partners and volunteers for making this one of the top 10 fairs in the state," she said.

Tillamook hosts state Main Street Conference

Tillamook hosted the 2019 Oregon Main Street Conference Oct. 2-4, an event to inspire connections between people, places, and partners to get work done in Oregon's downtowns.

Conference participants left with strategies and tools to spur on revitalization efforts in the Main Street district. They also celebrated the accomplishments of Oregon Main Street communities at the Excellence in Downtown Revitalization Awards on Oct. 2.

"Tillamook has really grown and developed since I last spent time there; I enjoyed shopping, dining, and walking around town," said Susy Lacer, Grant Professional Certified. "I loved the refreshments during the session breaks – the scones/brownies from Sarasota's and coffee from Five Rivers were delicious."

Lacer and her husband spent about $389 at local businesses while in town. They arrived Wednesday, Oct. 2, and left Friday, Oct. 4, at noon.

The conference ended the events with a closing plenary that was held Oct. 4 at the Coliseum Theater in Tillamook. Representatives from Oregon Main Street Network Communities gave 5-minute success stories they had in their efforts to revitalize their downtowns. "The theater was wonderful, especially with the assistance by Scott Casey to ensure lighting, sound, and projection worked in the space," said Sheri Stewart, Oregon Main Street Director.

One of the success stories was told by Sierra Lauder, formerly of the Tillamook Main Street program. Lauder talked about the highway being closed in 2016 on Pacific Avenue for construction. Fall 2017 was the tear up of Pacific Avenue. A local storeowner, Natalie, who owned Sunflower Flats, was told to board up its windows.

Sunflower Flats was on one of the busiest corners of Tillamook.

Natalie got colorful paint and wrote the store's phone number on the boards and that they were open. People were able to call and order flowers. Along with Lauder, they made it a Facebook live event that showed 10 minutes of them putting up the boards. They got over 7,000 views of their video.

"The population of Tillamook is 5,000 people," Lauder said.

They also talked about where to park in every post. The construction went on for 15 months. The bulk of the work was during the slow times of the day to keep traffic as open as possible.

Bay City moves to paid fire chief position

The volunteer fire chief job in Bay City has become part-time paid position. A discussion about the volunteer fire chief position had been ongoing for some time, leading to some heated verbal skirmishes among public officials.

A proposal for a paid fire chief position in Bay City came this year as departments across the nation have been making hard budget choices, often looking to form regional fire districts to combat understaffing and underfunding concerns while serving vast areas.

Bay City Fire Chief Darrell Griffith retired from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department in 1994 and moved to Oregon. One day, a neighbor pulled up in a brand new, shiny fire truck and asked Griffith if he wanted a ride, later going out on a medical call. It wasn't long before he volunteered for the department.

Working as loss prevention manager at Tillamook Fred Meyer for about a decade, Griffith continued to volunteer. In 2001, he became the assistant fire chief and training officer. He fell in love with training again, assisting then-Chief Don Reynolds in getting the department's accreditation, and began slowly upgrading the department to a more modern standard.

The effort reportedly paid off with increased capabilities and a tripling in volunteer staff. Within three years of becoming fire chief in 2011, Griffith took the department's insurance rating from a 5 to a 3. The ratings for fire departments and their surrounding communities calculate how prepared departments are to put out fires. The lower the score, the more effective the department.

Griffith is more than the fire chief. He serves as the training officer, fire station administrator, human resources director, volunteer recruiter, logistics and supply clerk, budget director and even the custodian. It's typical for him to work more than 160 hours a month as a volunteer fire chief. He currently receives a $1,200 monthly stipend for his service.

Oregon Coast Dance Center moves to bigger, better spot on Main Ave.

Oregon Coast Dance Center (OCDC) has been providing dance instruction and performing around Tillamook County for over 40 years. Originally named Patricia School of Dance, after founder Patricia Hawkins, OCDC opened its doors in 1975 and offered the core dance subjects (ballet, tap, and jazz) for a variety of ages. With training from the Royal Academy of Dance, as well as Dance Educators of America and Dance Masters of America, Ms. Hawkins came to Tillamook armed with a wealth of dance knowledge and ready to inspire the future generation.

Patrician School of Dance quickly became a staple of Tillamook County's performing arts culture, performing around the county in various locations, including the Tillamook County Fair, Moonlight Madness, and the June Dairy Parade, as well as their annual spring performances. The current studio continues these traditions and now includes an annual production of "The Nutcracker". Their 2019 Nutcracker performances (December 13 & 14) will mark the 13th year of this holiday tradition.

In 1991, the school was sold to Kathy Edison, who continued administration until her departure in 1994. At that time, Hawkins took over the administration and changed the name of the studio to Oregon Coast Dance Center. In 1998, Rachel Martin (Coon), a longtime student of Hawkins and OCDC, who also trained with Dance Educators of America, assumed ownership and ran the school until her departure in 2013.

Current owner and director, Lisa Greiner, acquired the studio's operations in 2013 and continues to grow the business. Ms. Greiner's first years of dance were at Patrician School of Dance with Hawkins, and has since trained with a number of companies across the nation, including Pacific NW Ballet, The Portland Ballet, Dance Educators of America, International Association of Dance Medicine & Science (IADMS), and is a Dance Masters of America graduate, among others. She is also a Tillamook Chamber board member, a member of the Tillamook Futures Council, and a founding board member and President-Elect of the Oregon Dance Education Organization, a state affiliate of the National Dance Education Organization.

Since its inception, Oregon Coast Dance Center has expanded class subjects to include hip hop, tumbling, musical theater, contemporary, and yoga, in addition to the original core subjects of ballet, tap, and jazz. The studio also offers ballet and jazz classes in Nehalem at the NCRD on a weekly basis.

Oregon Coast Dance Center has occupied a number of different locations within the city of Tillamook, including once occupying Pacific Restaurant's current building, as well as the lawyer's office at 5th & Laurel across from First Christian Church. The studio found a permanent home a year ago, when the Greiners were able to purchase the property at 312 Main Ave, sandwiched between Yo Time and the Coliseum movie theater. This new location has allowed the studio to expand to two dance floors and a permanent tumbling room. The addition of the permanent tumbling room has allowed the studio to expand their tumbling program to now offer seven classes throughout the week, including two

Toddler Tumbling classes. Continuing to expand, Irish step dancing is scheduled to be added in January as well.

With a large open second floor, plans to build apartment units above the dance studio are currently in the works with the hope of opening them for availability in 2021. Working with the Chamber, the Greiners were able to secure a grant to help fund the addition of four apartment units. "I'm really excited about the very real possibility of adding workforce housing to the downtown area. Our building is centrally located, and within walking distance of several large employers," said Greiner.

Oregon Coast Dance Center is committed to being a studio of excellence and providing high quality dance training and discipline in a judgement free and family friendly environment. "At OCDC we believe that through dance our students also learn life skills, discipline, respect, accountability and teamwork. We strive to inspire our students and prepare them for whatever their next chapter is in life."

Tillamook Fire District announces new fire chief

Tillamook Fire District announced a new fire chief, Daron Bement, hired on Oct. 14.

Bement has nearly 20 years of experience in Emergency Medical Service (EMS) and Fire Service that began in Anchorage, Alaska as an EMT-Basic. He moved to Spokane, Washington to pursue a paramedic certification and joined the Airway Heights Fire Department.

"This piqued my interest in Fire Service," Bement said of working in the fire department.

He had served since 2002 and left the Department as the deputy chief of operations.

Bement became a paramedic in 2006 and worked as an EMS battalion chief for Spokane Division of American Medical Response (AMR). He also served with Spokane County Fire District (SCFD) #10 as a battalion chief.

Bement said his experience in EMS laid the foundation for his work in the SCFD because the fire district responded to all medical calls.

"It plays in pretty heavily," Bement said.

Bement said EMS and Fire Service work closely together and are intermingled here in the Pacific Northwest.

Bement has been in the Fire Service for 17 years now. Bement has a Bachelor's Degree of Fire Administration and an Associates Degree of Fire Science from Columbia Southern University (CSU). He is currently finishing his Masters of Public Administration/Emergency Management from CSU.

Bement and his family are excited to bring his experience and education to the Tillamook Fire District, and having been a proud volunteer for so long, desires to continue time honored traditions with emerging new ideas to assist leading the TFD into the future.

"The whole family is excited to come to the Oregon coast," Bement said.

Bement's first goal as the new fire chief of TFD is to get to know the area and community.

"I got the feeling that a lot of the general public doesn't know what the fire department does," Bement said.

Bement wants to be someone the public can talk to and for the TFD to be have an "open-door policy" to citizens. He hopes to "develop a public image that members and the community can be proud of."

Bement sees a possibility for partnerships between the TFD and neighboring fire districts.

State owes $1 billion to rural counties for timber lawsuit

The state of Oregon was in breach of contract with more than a dozen counties including Tillamook and 151 tax districts for not maximizing timber harvests and related payments in the past two decades, according to a Linn County jury.

A trial regarding the matter lasted nearly a month and was concluded on Wednesday, Nov. 20. A jury found the state must pay $1 billion dollars in damages for lost revenue after the state failed to cut down enough trees since 2001. The payout includes future damages under the assumption that state forest management will continue status quo. The state reportedly plans to appeal the verdict.

If the appeal fails, Tillamook, Washington and Linn would reap large portions of the judgment out of 15 forest trust counties. Despite being a major timber producer, Clatsop County opted out of the lawsuit. Klamath County was removed from the case by the judge because its forests operate under a pre-2001 forest management plan. No funding mechanism for paying the judgement has been put in place at this time and state budgets are nearly universally challenged by gaps.

Noting the jury's short deliberation time of just a few hours, Tillamook County Commissioner David Yamamoto issued a statement following the decision that a nearly 80-year-old contract was breached by the State of Oregon.

The trial, which was held in the Circuit Court of Linn County and presided over by Judge Thomas McHill, began with jury selection on Oct. 24, 2019. The lawsuit was originally filed in March 2016. Yamamoto said during the trial the jury heard more than hundreds of hours of testimony and reviewed hundreds of exhibits, some going back to the early 1900s.

"It is expected that the State will likely appeal the verdict, but while this continues to drag through the appeal process, 9-percent interest will accrue which is over $90M per year," Yamamoto said in the statement. "After attorney's costs, Tillamook County's share of the verdict could be roughly $332 million. However, we have 20 taxing districts that receive almost 75 percent of our timber receipts from state forest harvests.

Manzanita City Hall Bond fails

Manzanita voters appear to have shot down a tax increase to fund a new city hall project. The vote was 31.5-percent in favor, with 131 'yes' to 284 'no' and nearly 78-percent turnout, according to updated unofficial election results.

The $6.5 million bond measure was approved by the Manzanita City Council for the November ballot with support from all five members and the mayor. It was the talk of the town, sparking an opinionated back-and-forth over cost-cutting options and a series of public hearings.

"We believe this is a feasible number, but it could be less if needed," City Manager Cynthia Alamillo said during an August council meeting.

The proposed bond's funding mechanism was a 50-cent tax increase per $1,000 of assessed property value. The project includes construction of a city emergency hub, police office, administrative and workspaces, multi-purpose room and a kitchenette with storage spaces. The funds were expected to pay for demolition and construction.

Alamillo said the tax would be for a term of up to 31 years for the citizens of Manzanita. Outside grants to lessen the burden on taxpayers were discussed, but nothing has been secured at this time. There was public speculation regarding unseen additional project costs, with some citizens saying the potential added expenses would be significant.

The new facility was expected to be built at 11,776 square feet and designed to meet long-term needs for multiple purposes. The site selected for the project was the Underhill property, featuring a former school building that sits out of the tsunami inundation zone, unlike the current city hall. Much of the public debate centered around remodeling or tearing down the buildings at the site.

This past August, Manzanita Mayor Mike Scott penned an opinion column in which he said estimates put the construction cost for a new facility at $500 per square foot. He said additional funds would be required for asbestos abatement, demolition of the existing structure and furnishing the new facility.

"These are estimates; when we issue the bonds next year rates may differ and the total dollar amount could be less," Scott wrote. "But right now interest rates are at historic lows. With luck, rates will stay low and the economy will cool off by next summer, allowing us to build at a lower cost."

Scott also noted that Manzanita currently enjoys one of the lowest property tax rates in Oregon - 42 cents per $1,000 of assessed value. A house assessed at $400,000 would have paid around $200 more a year under the failed bond.

TBCC continues to grow, progress in 2019

Tillamook Bay Community College (TBCC) continues to grow. In fact, one of the most exciting things to happen this past year is that TBCC is no longer the smallest community college in Oregon. The College has grown 12% over the past two years, which means TBCC is serving more students with a variety of academic and workforce training opportunities. There have been some big accomplishments this past year with even more on the horizon to support workforce development and higher education for Tillamook County.

Here are a few highlights from 2019

New Academic Programs

Much of the growth in enrollment can be attributed to development of new programs. The College thinks carefully about developing degrees, certificates, and educational opportunities that will meet the needs of students and employers in the community. The process includes meeting with business and industry professionals, listening to future workforce needs, and being innovative in how the college addresses these needs within the scope of academic learning and career-technical skill building.

In 2018/2019, with community partnership, we developed the following:

- As a complement to the Associate of Science degree in Forestry launched in 2017/2018, three new Associate of Science degrees were introduced: Natural Resources, Agricultural Sciences, and Animal Science. These degrees transfer to Oregon State University and allow students to explore and pursue degrees that will equip them to work in fields ranging from animal management, pre-veterinary medicine, teaching, horticulture, wildlife ecology, recreational management, farming and more.
- A new one-year certificate in Office Supervision was added to the Business Administration degree. This certificate allows students to gain skills in business, management basics, accounting, communication, and human relations.

• A one-year certificate in Occupational Skills Training (OST) began this fall. The certificate is offered as part of the Associate of General Studies degree and provides a unique combination of academic study and hands-on training in specific occupations. Students select an occupation of interest in a specific field such as butchering, wastewater treatment, aquaculture, or others, and earn up to 50% of their program credits through training at a local business site.

• A new Welding degree program was launched and the enrollments exceeded expectation to the point that additional sections of classes had to be added. In addition, the College is now offering an evening welding class during winter term at the Neah-Kah-Nie High School Welding Lab.

• A new Medical Assisting program will launch this spring, which will be the first of several new programs developed as part of a Healthcare Pathway. This was a community-wide effort spurred by local healthcare organizations who came together to support the development of programs that will serve students to complete their education ready to go to work locally in the field of healthcare.

• Work is underway to roll out a new Agricultural Technology degree next year that will combine animal science courses with manufacturing and technology. This degree will prepare students to go right into the work force with training in both farm technologies as well dairy science.

All of these programs are being added within the context of Guided Pathways. Guided Pathways is a national student support model designed to assist students in getting on a path to success, staying on the path, and ensure they are learning. In 2018-2019, TBCC joined the Oregon Guided Pathways cohort to help us implement this model throughout the College.

New Workforce Development Opportunities

• The TBCC Small Business Development Center (SBDC) continues to grow and expand services. In addition to serving 115 small business clients with one-on-one advising, they kicked off two new training programs: Solo Business Builders and Launch Your Business. Solo Business Builders was designed to help those who are operating a business from home with no employees. Launch Your Business provides early stage businesses with basic tools and resources.

• Participation in the Small Business Management program remains strong with 16 businesses participating in 2019. The Ford Family Foundation provided $12,500 in grant support to the program.

• Across all programming, they held 32 training events with total attendance of 174 participants. • The Truck Driver Training program, which started fall of 2018, graduated 14 students who received their CDL license and obtained jobs with trucking companies. The program expanded into Clatsop County and is supporting students through Clatsop Community College as well. A new state-of-the-art truck driving simulator was purchased through grant funding this fall to continue to support the industry.

Enhanced Collaboration with K-12

• A large focus in 2018-2019 was on building dual credit partnerships in terms of both quantity and quality with local high schools. Dual Credit classes are those taught in our high schools that are offered for college credit, and are taught by the high school faculty during the regular high school day. They include the key foundational classes that are required in almost all college degree programs and universities (e.g. English composition, college algebra, biology, and speech). All Dual Credit courses are free to high school students in Tillamook County. For the 2018-19 academic year, TBCC saved families in Tillamook County over $270,000 in tuition and fees offering 44 dual credit classes and awarding 2508 credits to students. The College is very proud to offer this service to high school students throughout the county. TBCC greatly values the partnerships we have with all three school districts and look to continue growing this program.

First Career-to-Career Scholars Graduate

• In 2019 the first cohort of Career-to-Career Scholarship students graduated. The Career-to-Career scholarship began in 2017 and provides tuition coverage for a student to complete a certificate or degree. To qualify for a Career-to-Career scholarship students must have at least five years of work experience and be seeking to transition to a new job, or gain new career opportunities through increasing their skills. Expanding the Career-to-Career Scholarship is a high priority for the College and the TBCC Foundation.

Facilities Master Planning

• In 2019, TBCC began collecting data that would help inform a 20-year Facilities Master Plan. Over several months the College held open public forums and met with many different individuals and groups throughout the county to gather as many perspectives and ideas as possible regarding the community's need for higher education and workforce training. Over 400 individuals and 70 organizations participated. The information was combined with feedback from faculty and staff and a list of space needs was developed to address the main priorities identified. The information was shared with an architectural firm who is now working to turn the ideas into preliminary concepts to meet the community's long-term needs.

Looking toward the future

TBCC continues to engage with employers, industry representatives, and educational leaders in the community to align long-term visions and goals to ensure that the College is providing programing and services that will support the workforce training and educational needs of students and employers in Tillamook County. The College is excited about the continued growth and potential to serve higher education needs into

Roby's Furniture receives 2019 Community Applause Award

The Oregon Bankers Association (OBA) in partnership with Oregon Business magazine, announced that Roby's Furniture & Appliance of Tillamook is the recipient of the 2019 Community Applause Award. The award, which is given to an Oregon business in acknowledgement of their significant service and contributions to their community, was presented to Roby's during a banking industry luncheon held Dec. 5 in Seattle.

Founded in 1996, the Community Applause Award is a competition in which banks doing business in Oregon nominate a business customer that gives back to their community in significant ways. An independent panel of judges carefully reviews each nomination and votes on the winner. Since the award's inception, 42 Oregon businesses have been recognized, including this year's honoree.

Roby's Furniture & Appliance is a retailer of home furnishings, appliances and mattresses. The family-owned business dates back to 1950 and is now in the hands of the third-generation brother-sister team of Ryan Lewis and Andrea Langeliers. Today, Roby's has locations in Astoria, Lincoln City, Newport, Florence, McMinnville, with two in Tillamook.

Despite the company's growth, a family atmosphere remains at Roby's. This means closing on Sundays, so employees can be with their families. The company's 'Roby's Cares' philosophy includes both community involvement and an emphasis on a fair and supportive environment for their 75 employees.

Employees are a big driver of where Roby's lends their support. They choose who and what to support during the company's annual Serve Day. On Serve Day, Roby's closes their stores and pays their employees their regular salary to help an organization in the community. In addition to manpower, Roby's covers the costs of supplies, furniture and appliances, depending on the needs of each project. On top of the activities associated with Serve Day, Roby's has helped countless organizations through direct donations or by donating items for fundraisers.

Roby's was nominated for the Community Applause Award by Kyle Faulk, vice president and McMinnville branch manager at Citizens Bank.

"The Lewis family is driven by the desire to improve people's lives and the communities in which they live and work," Faulk said in his nomination. "They do not seek recognition, but they should absolutely be applauded for their commitment to making a positive change."

At the awards luncheon, OBA President and CEO Linda Navarro presented Langeliers and Lewis with the Community Applause Award, along with a $1,000 check payable to Juliette's House, a McMinnville nonprofit whose mission is to compassionately assess and provide support to abused or neglected children. A video about Roby's community involvement was also shown at the luncheon. This video can be viewed at oregonbankers.com/community-applause-award or https://youtu.be/Bk0WK9UwK24.

After the plunge, there will be a big fire. If you have questions, call 503-368-4777.

GARDENING MATTERS

New year resolutions revisited

We are at the dawn of not only a new year, but a new decade. I wonder what it will bring?

Last January I wrote about the seven resolutions I was making for the new year. Now it's time to review those and see how well I did.

First was to put more color into the garden with plants other than dahlias. Well, that was a resolution not achieved. In the fall, I did purchase more dahlias for the 2020 season, but I didn't buy a single new plant during the summer. However, I did move my orchids outside when the weather warmed and some of them bloomed, so maybe that counts.

I also moved a deciduous azalea that was doing poorly where it was. Moving it into a shadier spot, closer to the sidewalk seemed to have helped it already as it bloomed for me for the first time since I bought it about 4 years ago. That counts, too.

My second resolution was to find some sort of rat-proof bird feeder so I could bring wildlife into the garden again. Also failed on that one. I couldn't find anything that I would consider rat proof. I did bring more wildlife into the garden, though, by setting up a little mud pond for butterflies to rest and have a bit of water. I saw an increase in the variety of butterflies, too. Not sure how to account for that, but I am not one to look a gift horse in the mouth.

Number three for 2019 was to rejuvenate some of the older, overgrown shrubs in the garden. That was accomplished with a little help from my friends. Huge bay laurels were cut way back. I had hoped to dig them out but soon realized that would be impossible without heavy machinery. The boxwood that was close to the house wasn't removed after all but instead I "cloud pruned" it in a Japanese style. If I can keep it neat and tidy, its won't be an issue in the future. So that will be my number one resolution for 2020: Cloud Pruning the boxwood.

My fourth resolution was to add more funky art in the garden after being inspired by the Tillamook Forest Center's art display in the woods in 2018.

This was accomplished by creating some "tree jewelry" that I made from beads and colored twine. I fastened long strings of beads onto wooden shower curtain rings that I had spray painted blue. These got hooked onto branches of a few Japanese maples along the pathway. They moved wildly in the wind, some getting caught up in other branches, and were great fun.

Speaking of Japanese maples, I did prune most of them in late January, resolution number five. They seemed much happier and looked better, too. That was an easy resolution as I do love pruning almost anything.

Number six was to clean up the brush pile area. When I did that, I found a compost bin I had forgotten about and moved it to an area where I can more easily access it from the kitchen. Between that and my worm bins, I was able to compost a lot of food scraps. The best part about finding the compost bin I had neglected for years, the compost in it was broken down and ready to use around the garden as a substitute for fertilizer.

And resolution number seven was to use our summer house for more than just over-wintering plants. I did that, too! We ate out there more often with friends and family. I also set it up as a playroom with drawing pads, puzzles and games for the grand children when they came to visit. It was a big hit with them and since they were here quite often last summer, it became a go-to destination when they got bored hanging around me.

So, having accomplished more than half of my seven resolutions, I feel pretty good about setting some new goals for 2020. I will continue to add more colorful flowers in the garden, maybe in pots and window boxes. As much as I hate to admit it, annuals like petunias and lobelia fit the bill here. I was going to try some more exotic plants and hope to find some perennials, but in the end, perennials don't bloom as long as annuals. So annuals it will be.

I will also continue the search for rat-proof bird feeders in the hope I can bring some birdsong back into the garden. If you have any ideas to share, please let me know.

In the meantime, I wish you a very healthy, happy and prosperous New Year and new decade!

Tillamook PUD Offers Community Support Grants in 2020

Tillamook PUD is once again offering a Community Support Grant program to local non-profit organizations for their community projects in 2020.

Organizations interested in applying must complete and submit an application by February 27, 2020. Grant applications and procedures are available at the Tillamook PUD main office, or online at www.tpud.org/news-community/community-supportgrants/.

Applications are evaluated and selected by the PUD Board of Directors in mid-March. During evaluation, the Board considers each project and its potential for economic development, community outreach and financial need.

Individual grant awards will not exceed $10,000 and will not be awarded to the same entity more than twice in a five-year period. Additionally, projects must be completed by the end of the 2020 calendar year.

Some examples of past projects that have received Community Support Grant funding include lighting and electrical upgrades at various civic organizations, purchasing updated energy efficient appliances for community facilities, and supporting improvement projects at local organizations utilized by the community.

Multi-Modular Early Childhood Screening Fair Jan. 22-23

The countrywide Multi-Modular Early Childhood Screening Fair will be held Wednesday, Jan. 22, through Thursday, Jan. 23, at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds. All Tillamook County children ages two to six years old are encouraged to participate in this comprehensive screening fair, which is provided free of charge.

This one-of-a-kind program, sometimes referred to as 'Multi-mods,' has been a feature of Tillamook County for 49 years. Since that small beginning in 1971, more than 20,000 Tillamook County kids have been served. At the 2019 screening, 85 children from all around Tillamook County received free screenings in 12 health and developmental areas, with referrals made for follow up with professional providers in 124 identified areas of concern.

The value of screening services provided per child is more than $1,000 each. Community partnerships, generous in-kind and financial donations, along with more than 100 volunteers both locally and from Portland-area university programs make it possible to offer these services free of charge to our community's young children to help ensure they begin school as ready to learn as possible.

"To have this level of comprehensive pediatric health screenings in a single appointment is unique to Tillamook County and gives families a clearer picture of overall childhood development than any one clinical provider can offer," said Gina Seufert, physician & clinic services executive, in a press release. "And financial resources are available to help families with the professional services follow up as needed."

Door-to-door transportation is available, especially those from North and South Tillamook County.

"These screenings are so important that if transportation is a barrier, we offer background checked and bilingual drivers who can be scheduled for round trip rides," said Kim Lyon, NW regional ESD Tillamook administrator. "Just let us know you need a ride when you schedule your child's appointment."

Adventist Health Tillamook is honored to lead this community-wide project, which can only be accomplished through the support and involvement of so many local and regional partners, including OHSU, the school districts, the NW Regional ESD, Head Start Centers in Tillamook County, Tillamook County Health Community Health Centers, OSU Extension Office, and more.

To schedule an appointment for your child, call 503-815-2292.

QUESTuary is coming in January

How many gallons of water can an adult oyster filter in a day? In what year was Oregon's Beach Bill passed? How many rivers flow into Tillamook Bay? If you think you know the answers - or maybe you would like to find out - then check out QUESTuary Trivia Night.

Test your nature knowledge while supporting outdoor education programs for Tillamook County's students from 6-8 p.m. on Jan. 22 at the Garibaldi Portside Bistro. Trivia will be environmentally focused but there will be questions for everyone including history, local area, entertainment and more.

Funds that are raised during this event will support Tillamook Estuaries Partnership's Landmark Outdoor Learning Experiences: Down by the Creekside and Children's Clean Water Festival. Nearly 600 third and fourth grade students participate annually in these hands-on, inquiry-based field trips where they explore topics such as the life cycle of a salmon, how water quality affects us, riparian areas and much more.

There is a suggested donation of $5 per person to play trivia and teams of 1-4 people will be allowed. Prizes will be awarded for first, second, and third place. You must be 21 or older to play as this event will be held in the bar. Learn more at www.tbnep.org.

dents/seniors. Membership not only helps to support ongoing arts programs at the BCAC, but also gets you discounted admission to BCAC sponsored events, event updates via e-mail, annual meeting invite and much more! Join today by stopping into our office, attending an event, or signing up online.

Attention Artists: We are looking for interested individuals to participate in the BCAC Artist of the month program. Interested artists should contact Leeauna Perry in the BCAC office at (503) 377-9620. Selected artists will be featured for a month during the calendar year. This is a great way to get your art featured, and generate some art sales!

Program Ideas: The Bay City Arts Center is expanding our Education & Outreach program, if you have suggestions for classes, or interest in teaching an art class, contact Leeauna at (503) 377-9620

FENCEPOSTS

What a great retirement party that was! Merrie and Jon Ziady threw a party to celebrate retiring from counting dead birds. Why did they start counting dead birds to begin with? They were part of the University of Washington's Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team. UW gathers data from citizen volunteers to analyze what is happening in the ocean. The Ziadys began volunteering as part of Olli Ollikainen's team on beach mile 286, then moved on to cover their own section of the beach. After 12 years of volunteering, they are folding their wings and passing the feather on to Kathy and Kevin Burke, who will continue monitoring mile 287. Thank you for years of being citizen scientists, Merrie and Jon!

Two Cape Meares couples traveled down to Coos Bay to catch the magnificent display of holiday lights at Shore Acres. The Ayerses and the Smiths went down and stayed overnight - but neither couple knew the other was there! Thus it was that I got separate reports on the fabulous 33rd annual holiday display. At least 325,000 lights, most of them LEDs, lit up the night in the seven-acre botanical garden. Some displays were animated; one of Arla's favorites was a frog leaping from a lily pad. Patti loved the garden house, complete with Santa in the bath in his long underwear, and also thought the view from the upstairs window was incredible. Visitors walked along the trails and enjoyed hot cider, punch, coffee and cookies. Fortunately, both couples undertook this holiday outing in good weather. If you'd like to plan ahead for 2020, take note that the festive annual light display begins Thanksgiving Day and ends on Dec. 31 (attention hubby: This is on my bucket list for 2020!).

You may not have recognized them, given the picture was taken from the back and they were fully suited up, but two of our three Cape Meares volunteer firemen were in a photo in the Headlight Herald recently. Olli Ollikainen and Mike Smith were participating in a training burn in Tillamook. Olli, Mike and Randy Klobas, the third Cape Meares volunteer, work hard all year long to stay in shape, be up-to-date on their firefighting skills, and stand ready for call-outs. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts, Cape Meares firemen!

Attention all recreational crabbers! New rules effective Jan. 1, 2020, require you to mark any surface buoys used on recreational crab pots or rings with your first and last name (or business name) and one of the following: 1) permanent address; 2) phone number; 3) angler ID number; or, 4) vessel ID number. This information must be marked "in a visible, legible, and permanent manner" on your buoys. For more information, go to www.dfw.state.or.us/mrp/shellfish/index.asp or call 541-867-0300.

The Steen clan grew by one on Dec. 21. Erik and Claire Steen welcomed Julian Ender Steen, 7 lbs. 15 oz. and measuring 19.5" long. Big sister Amelia is delighted, but then little brother hasn't taken any of her toys yet. Happy New Year!

Happy New Year Bay City! I know that the new year starts with making new year's resolutions; and yes, my weight loss program starts tomorrow. The reality is, it may start next spring. It may be easier to change on the inside than to lose weight. So I resolve to have a kind and tender heart towards others.

If I fail, I hope they have a kind and tender heart to forgive me. Civility in our community and beyond starts with the virtues in our hearts and homes. In the Mutts comic strip in the Oregonian by Patrick McDonnell, he lists 26 virtues that he considered endangered species, including empathy, compassion, and kindness. I cut it out and put it on my refrigerator to be reminded of these virtues everyday.

We got off to a good start today with breakfast at the cozy Downie's Cafe. Let me warn you that you don't want to order a stack of pancakes, because one pancake is a stack. My husband's favorite is the pancakes. I consider their wonderful cinnamon rolls part of my healthy diet. In the 16 years that we have lived here, we have never been disappointed with their food or service. The cafe reminds us of the TV show Cheers (only without the alcohol) where everybody knows your name. Kudos to sisters Jen Malcom and Joni Robertson, for carrying on the tradition that they learned from their mother, Karen Downie.

The Bay City Library has some wonderful programs for children that I should mention. Librarian Angel Cavanaugh, "Miss Angel", has two wonderful programs for children. The first is "Crafternoons", which is an after-school drop-in class every Thursday from 3 to 5 PM. This is a wonderful creative outlet for your children. Saturdays at 11 AM Miss Angel, presents Story Time. For more information, call (503)377-0231.

Speaking of libraries, we all know that our beloved and very respected, Sara Charlton, is retiring from her position as Director of Tillamook County Libraries. The new director will have some very big shoes to fill. Thank you Sara for your years of dedicated service.

News from the Bay City Art Center:

January 11th starting at 1:00 PM the BCAC is offering a jazz guitar and vocal workshop.

Instructors are vocalist Anadi and guitarist John Stowell. The fee for this opportunity is $20.

Also on January 11th at 7:00 PM, the Art Center is hosting their popular Jazz Cafe with entertainment by John Stowell and Anadi. Dessert and beverages will be served. Tickets at the door are $10.

Kudos to the volunteers of the Bay City Art Center for bringing events such as this to our community.

Please email me at jodydesign@hotmail.com or call me at (503)931-9721 if you have information that you would like to share with the Fencepost. Have a wonderful 2020 and I'll meet you next week at the Fencepost

Hebo Women's Book Club met at South Tillamook County Library for December on the 17th. Attendees included Melanie Merryman, Rachel Pettit, Madlen Silkwood, Nancy Whitehead and Joan Wilke; I was absent due to a previous commitment. Nancy led a discussion of "Educated" by Tara Westover. The well written memoir was a fast and enthralling read. I recommend it.

Kiawanda Community Center (KCC) hosts several regular events that may appeal to we who are motivated by the new year and decade to set resolutions. Thanks to Julie Krohn for verifying that a walking group departs from the center (located on Cape Kiawanda Drive in Pacific City) each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10 a.m. The walk lasts about an hour, Julie says.

Pacific City TOPS (Taking Off Pounds Sensibly) holds a weekly meeting at KCC. Weigh-in happens at 4:30 p.m. on Mondays with a meeting and motivational program at 5. Members averaged ten pounds lost in 2019.

Remember that Latimer Quilt and Textile Center is featuring South County Quilters on display through January 4. The Center, located on Latimer Road in Tillamook, is open from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Admission is $4 for adults (15 and older) and $3 for seniors (older than 62). For more information, call 503-842-8622.

South Tillamook County library is closed on New Year's day. Free programs there resume at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, January 7 with a Teens Pajama Party. Participants will watch cartoons. After School Club resumes at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, January 8 with a Lego day. Snow stories are in store when the group meets on January 15.

Woven Wednesdays, a chance to make progress on our own needlecraft or sewing projects, are planned for 6 p.m. those same Wednesdays. Mother Goose on the Loose, story time for babies through age three with their caretakers, is slated for 10 a.m. on Saturdays, starting January 10. The library is located off of Brooten Road on Camp Street in Pacific City.

Happy New Year dear readers. Happy birthday this week to Sean Bennett, Owen Bentley, Michael Corey, Naudia Eckhardt, James Elliott, Taylor Geil, Francine Hagerty, April Huff, John Hurliman, Mary Hurliman, Elijah Love, Nicolas McGee, Lee Saddler, Knol Simmitt, Sophie Slavens, Cheryl Trent and Shannon Williams.

Thanks for the call Kim Tackett! I almost forgot to write my column! I am still recovering from Christmas fun...

Oh my goodness! 2020! Happy New Year folks! This is going to be an awesome year. I can just feel it!

I am putting away by Christmas decorations, freezing the Christmas cookies that almost didn't get baked because of that pesky storm that left us without power for 28 hours and thanking God for my family, friends and good health. Do you make a resolution? For myself, I am making resolutions all year round, so I give myself a break for New Years. I don't need any more pressure.

Christmas was perfect, as it usually is. Our daughter hosts the day for both sides of the family, and joyfully we got to spend another holiday with my brother, who continues his battle with pancreatic cancer. I know everybody's prayers got him this far. Thank you, and please continue to pray.

You know, a great way to get through the bleak winter is to find something fun to do. That is why I'm here! Stop by the Lions Club each Saturday evening at 6:30pm for an enjoyable game of Bingo. They are located at 286 Anchor St in Rockaway.

The other weekly event happens each Wednesday at our city hall at 5:30. The awesome Salty Strings Ukulele Group plays fun music that soon will have you toe tapping and singing. We now have harmonica and mandolin players playing with us. We welcome all, even if you just want to listen. And we have extra ukes for you to play if you forgot yours. Join us; it's fun. We recently had an awesome performance at the Nehalem Valley Care Center. It sure was fun and brought Christmas cheer to not just the folks watching, but us as well!

I have so much fun writing my column. My facts are not always spot on, but I love spreading good positive news and Rockaway happenings with all of you. Have a Happy New Year!

"The way I see it, if you want to see a rainbow, you have to put up with the rain!" That's Rockaway Beach, "Sugar Coated!"

Meet Ricky

Ricky is an orange short-hair adolescent male cat who would be a great addition to your family this Christmas. He's energetic and loves to play. He's also a cuddle bug with a loud purr. Ricky is litter trained, neutered, microchipped and is up to date on his vaccinations. He loves other cats and even dogs and will certainly love you and your family for years to come.

If you'd like to meet Ricky or any of our other cats available for adoption come to the Rockaway Lions Club on Sunday, Dec. 8 from 1 to 4 pm.

Adoption fees range from $65-100.

United Paws is not a shelter, and most of our cats and kittens are in foster homes where they are getting ready to be in your home!

such action has been instituted, such action has been dismissed except as permitted by ORS 86.752(7). Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the said real property to satisfy the obligations secured by said trust deed and notice has been recorded pursuant to Section 86.752(3) of Oregon Revised Statutes. There is a default by grantor or other person owing an obligation, performance of which is secured by the trust deed, or by the successor in interest, with respect to provisions therein which authorize sale in the event of such provision. The default for which foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sum: TOTAL REQUIRED TO RE-INSTATE: $20,414.10 TOTAL REQUIRED TO PAYOFF: $190,113.61 Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-to-day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit: The installments of principal and interest which became due on 5/1/2016, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from or associated with the beneficiaries efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. Nothing in this notice shall be construed as a waiver of any fees owing to the Beneficiary under the Deed of Trust pursuant to the terms of the loan documents. Whereof, notice hereby is given that QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION OF WASHINGTON, the undersigned trustee will on 4/1/2020 at the hour of 9:00 AM, Standard of Time, as established by section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes, At the Front Entrance to the Tillamook County Courthouse, located at 201 Laurel Avenue, Tillamook, Oregon 97141 County of TILLAMOOK, State of Oregon, sell

Pursuant to Oregon Law, this sale will not be deemed final until the Trustee's deed has been issued by QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION OF WASHINGTON. If any irregularities are discovered within 10 days of the date of this sale, the trustee will rescind the sale, return the buyer's money and take further action as necessary. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged
