County leaders award $500K in tourism grant funds

Will Chappell
Headlight Reporter

Tillamook County's Board of Commissioners approved $500,000 in grant money awards to nine projects by local nonprofits and government organizations to help promote tourism on January 18. Commissioners heard recommendations on which projects to fund from Tillamook Coast Visitors Association (TCVA) Deputy Director Amy Blackburn and followed most of them.

The annual grant directs $500,000 in transient lodging tax funds to projects that improve infrastructure or protect ecologically sensitive areas across the county.

This year, 11 groups applied for a maximum amount of $75,000. The TCVA is in charge of administering the program for the county, including reviewing grants and disbursing funds.

Blackburn detailed the ten different programs that TCVA was recommending the commissioners fund.

The only divergence the commissioners took from TCVA's recommendations was in the funding for a project in Oceanside.

The Oceanside Community Club requested $75,000 to complete the paving of the upper parking lot at Oceanside's beach access.

The project had a projected cost of $58,000 with a fixed bid and TCVA initially recommended awarding $29,000, noting that the property was owned by Oregon State Parks.

Commissioner Mary Faith Bell said that she would be in favor of funding the whole project.

She said that Oceanside had been left out of previous grant cycles due to a lack of organizations in the community to write applications and that she would like to fund the entire project.

Commissioners Erin Skaar and David Yamamoto concurred, and discussions began on whence to redirect the extra $29,000.

After some back and forth, commissioners decided to delay the recommended funding for restoration of Garibaldi's big "G" and reduce the award to a project at Shorepine Village.

With the decision, Oceanside is set to receive $58,000, while Shorepine Village will receive around $65,000 to restore the dune ramp adjacent to their property.

Garibaldi's planned restoration of the "G," including updating power infrastructure, will not receive county funding this year. But the commissioners indicated they would be open to funding the project in the future.

Wheeler is receiving $75,000 to match city funds that will rebuild and enhance their main public restroom facility.

The Oregon Coast Scenic Railroad received $75,000 to complete design and begin site preparation for a 1920's style depot in Garibaldi.

The Port of Garibaldi received $75,000 to increase the size of its fish cleaning station and expand the building housing it. The project also received an Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife grant.

White Clover Grange in Nehalem was awarded $46,750 to restore the exterior of its 100-year-old structure

Celebrating a 43 year career at Marie Mills

Joe Warren
jwarren@countrymedia.net

On Friday the community celebrated the retirement of Ron Rush, the director of Marie Mills Center in Tillamook with a luncheon at the center with family, clients, friends, staff and community partners.

Ron got involved 43-years ago, taking the job right out of college, thinking he would stay a year, bank some money and go off to graduate school. He didn't realize at the time, he found his calling.

Forty-three years later, he's passing the baton to Cindy Green, who has been with the organization for 36-years and currently acts as the assistant director.

"I'm overwhelmed, I never thought this day would come," Rush said during his speech to the group at his retirement celebration. "The board, staff, our clients, parents, past employees, they become family, we are a family here at Marie Mills, I will miss that."

During Ron's first year with the group, he met and married his wife Paulette while helping to progress Marie Mills services and footprint in the community.

"When I started, I promised one year," Rush joked. "I was young, I wanted to see the world, but looking back, and I've said it before, some of the best things are not by change, what you love more becomes your change."

Ron attributes the success of Marie Mills to many people over the years, especially the founders like Helen Schetky Benscheidt, who was also in attendance at Rush's celebration, his board members over the years, staff and donors.

"We have something special here in Tillamook," Rush said. "It takes a village to raise a child – we have so many good community partners who have helped us along the way, I'm so grateful for those partnerships. I'm just so overwhelmed and proud of what we've become."

Cindy Green, who is replacing Ron as Marie Mills Executive Director, started a round of speeches prior to Rush saying his parting words.

"Thank you for coming to support Ron," Green told the crowd. "Forty-three years is a long time, he's defined our purpose, we all want to thank you Ron for your dedicated service to our community and to Marie Mills."

Linda Walker, board chair for Marie Mills said, "It's pretty amazing Ron, the length of time you spent here," she said. "You stayed through the good and challenging times, Marie Mills had not only survived under Ron's direction, he made it thrive."

Marie Mills History

Marie Mills started in 1969 in a facility at the Port of Tillamook Bay by parents and others who wanted to create meaningful opportunities for intellectually and developmentally disabled adults in Tillamook County.

Through this "grass roots" effort, they were among the first of their kind in Oregon.

Marie Mills began by providing only vocational services. By 1978, they began to also provide residential services to individuals with intellectual developmental disabilities.

Marie Mills was the daughter of Lewis Hunt Mills and Barbara Schetky Mills. Marie, a very special person born with a disability, passed away in 1962 at the too early age of 13. However, her "specialness" was not because of her disability, it was because of her inspiration. Marie's family encouraged, taught and supported her in living a full life in spite of her disabilities. She learned to ride a bike, she was a Camp Fire Girl, and she had a pony. She even served tea to President Kennedy when he visited Tillamook many years ago.

In many ways, Marie was well ahead of her time and because of this she taught others around her that anything was possible if one had desire and support. What Marie inspired in her family and friends during her short time among us is what benefits those with disabilities today.

THS hosts seven exchange students

Will Chappell
Headlight Reporter

Tillamook High School is currently hosting seven students from different countries around the world, as it has since the 1980s while welcoming more than 100 total foreign exchange students.

Exchange students and Cheesemakers alike said that they were enjoying the cultural exchange and friendship promoted by the program, and highly recommended it.

"Tillamook High School has been unbelievable in taking as many exchange students as we can find host families for," Sue Cudd, a local volunteer for AFS Intercultural Programs, said. "They've just been really welcoming."

This year, AFS placed six students from Albania, Italy, Chile, Portugal, Kosovo, Costa Rica and Italy in Tillamook, while another program sponsored by the Rotary Club is hosting a student from Korea.

In addition to welcoming students into the classroom, Tillamook High allows seniors to participate in the program as at-school hosts for their senior project.

Those students host cultural events to introduce the visitors to American culture, like a trip to a pumpkin patch and corn maze around Halloween and a Christmas party in December.

"It's pretty fun showing them

American culture because it's so like big," Tillamook Senior Franklin Weeks said. "We do so many things

Man swept out to sea in small raft

STAFF REPORT
Country Media, Inc.

First responders searched for a man being swept out to sea in a small inflatable raft in Netarts Bay near Happy Camp.

At 8:57 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17, Tillamook County Sheriff's Deputies, Netarts-Oceanside Fire-Rescue, Oregon State Parks and the United States Coast Guard (USCG) responded to the water rescue call.

The raft flipped over near the mouth of the bay, ejecting the man into the water, according to the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office (TCSO).

"Netarts-Oceanside Fire-Rescue's PWC's were quickly launched and were able to recover the raft in the rough breakers, but the man could not be located," TCSO Marine Deputy Dennis Greiner said. "The Coast Guard sent a helicopter and searched the area, but unfortunately, the man still has not been located."

Witnesses had observed the man walking along the shoreline carrying only the raft and two oars. He then paddled out into the fast-moving outgoing current, and the raft quickly headed toward the mouth of the bay. When the raft flipped, the man disappeared under-

TBCC hires Wenaha as project manager for construction of Health Education Building

On December 1, Tillamook Bay Community College (TBCC) retained Wenaha Group as the Project Manager for the upcoming general obligation bond construction project: to construct a Healthcare Education Building on the college campus. Wenaha Group is a Native American-owned Owner's Representative, Construction Management & Consulting Firm that specializes in education, tribal, public agency, housing, and healthcare projects. They are based in Federal Way, Washington. The firm was chosen from a competitive process in November. They will be responsible for the oversight of the construction of the Healthcare Education Building as well as the renovation of the Center for Industrial Technology (CIT) which is paid for separately by a US Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration grant.

TBCC is currently in the process of developing a 2-year Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN). If approved by the Oregon State Board of Nursing this spring, the ADN will be in place for the fall of 2023. TBCC is the last community college in Oregon to offer a 2-year nursing degree. Constructing the Healthcare Education Building is one way of showing our commitment to supporting and growing that program. The ADN program will be the focus of the new building, with simulation labs and advanced classrooms that will prepare students to enter the healthcare industry.

In addition, selection is underway for the architectural and design services for the Healthcare Education Building project. The selection has been narrowed to three firms. Each has been asked to provide fee proposals and participate in an interview process in January. Based on those proposals and interviews, the next step will be to bring a recommendation for the proposed architectural firm to the February 6 Board of Directors meeting. A separate Request for Proposal is under development for the CIT project, anticipated to follow one month behind.

In May 2022, residents of Tillamook County approved a $14.4 million bond measure to build a new Healthcare Education Building on property the college owns adjacent to the main campus building. The building will provide the college with the capacity to add a nursing program, and additional healthcare occupations training programs, and provide space to expand and add new degrees and certificates to meet the community's growing workforce training needs. The new building will include state-of-the-art simulation labs, high-tech classrooms, office space, and a large-scale community space for conferences, trainings, and locally hosted events. The facility is expected to open in late spring 2025.

Coastal tourism management group aims to keep the 'local' in Oregon's local seafood

As thousands of visitors flock to the Oregon Coast every year, most of them are looking for the fresh high-quality seafood that is distinctly Oregonian.

But a study commissioned recently by the Oregon Coast Visitors Association – the destination management organization serving the entire Oregon Coast from Astoria to Brookings – found shockingly that about 90 percent of the seafood consumed on the coast is imported from other domestic and international sources.

In response, OCVA has launched the Ocean Cluster Initiative – United States Department of Agriculture-funded program entitled "Capturing Value by Keeping Local Seafood Local" – to help combat that trend. The initiative aims to help the Oregon Coast's communities capture more economic and environmental value from the local seafood catch.

"Planes are flying out with Oregon seafood as other planes fly in with the seafood we are selling," OCVA Executive Director Marcus Hinz said. "Plane by plane, we are increasing the planet's carbon footprint and short-changing our communities and visitors. On the Oregon Coast, seafood is an integral part of coastal culture, generational livelihoods, heritage industries and economic development. We can derive more economic value from that product by doing more with it right here where it's caught."

Food production makes up a quarter of all human-caused greenhouse gas emissions, and each year seafood continues to be sourced further from where it is consumed. By shortening supply chains and connecting local producers, harvesters, retailers and consumers, the Oregon Coast can boast a more climate-friendly food industry. Sourcing Oregon's seafood within the state saves on transportation costs and time, as well as reduce carbon emissions by 76 percent.

While Oregon's top-quality products tend to be exported, the state imported about $105 million in seafood in 2021. This causes significant economic leakages, harming most smaller entities involved, including local fishers, processors, distributors and consumers.

Oregon Coast visitors spend about $840 million on food stores and services annually, according to a 2019 Dean Runyan and Associates study. This contributes tremendous amounts of new money to our local economies. A more recent 2022 study – "Oregon Synthesized Seafood Distribution Chain Model Project" by Hans Radtke and Shannon Davis – identifies that Oregon has a unique opportunity to increase the added value to local seafood and, along the way, create more living-wage jobs and reduce the carbon footprint of our food by increasing local seafood in Oregon Coast markets.

OCVA's Ocean Cluster Initiative is well poised for partners who share a current vision for what is needed to improve local seafood sales, impacting fishers, processors, wholesalers and retailers. It will create more jobs and economic gain from the fishing industry, which benefits the industry by giving it greater economic power and visibility. It also benefits local communities and visitors who can enjoy more of the best seafood Oregon has to offer. By keeping the harvest, processing and distribution local, each step keeps the economic benefits within our communities.

The false scarcity of locally sourced seafood denies emerging entrepreneurs the opportunity to experiment with and create new shelf-stable seafood products that would greatly increase the value of our natural and wild caught seafood resources. Creating local processing, distribution and support facilities near every fishing port along the Oregon Coast would create an influx of skilled job opportunities, while satisfying the high market demand for local seafood.

Expanding access to local seafood – especially in rural and lower income areas – will increase the value of local seafood, while creating jobs and reduce the carbon footprint associated with transportation. Economic studies indicate increased consumption for local catch will generate increased economic contribution on the Oregon Coast and promote higher returns to harvesters and processors. Research indicates a 10-percent increase in local seafood usage on the Oregon Coast would generate an additional $90 million for local economies.

Much of the imported seafood – about 65 percent of product available in the average supermarket in the United States – comes from aquaculture, or the farming of seafood. As local, wild seafood goes to other markets, a lot more fish is brought in from farms. By keeping local wild-caught fish local from the ocean to the consumers' plates, there will be less farmed fish brought to the Oregon Coast while providing a more authentic culinary experience.

"Oregon's fisheries are the lifeblood of our coastal and tourism economies – supporting jobs that families rely on and supplying communities across our state and around the world with exceptional products and experiences," Sen. Jeff Merkley, D-Ore., said. "I'm thrilled the USDA has recognized the important work the Oregon Coast Visitors Association does for both Oregon's fishing and aquaculture industry, as well as our great state's tourism industry. The grant OCVA has received will support its important work, helping to establish and strengthen the much-needed infrastructure for our fisheries to efficiently operate and thrive, and help our tourism industry bounce back stronger than ever."

For more information about the program, those interested can go online to <https://www.oregonseafare.com>.

Gregory resigns from Rockaway Beach council

Will Chappell
Headlight Reporter

Cindy Kay Gregory resigned her position on Rockaway Beach's City Council on January 15, 2023.

Gregory was elected in the November 2022 election but cited unforeseen medical issues as the cause for her departure in her resignation letter.

"I planned to actively participate as a counselor but unfortunately unanticipated, serious health issues have given me no choice but to resign effective immediately," Gregory said in the letter. A previous story from the Herald incorrectly reported that new Mayor Charles McNeilly had announced Gregory's resignation at the January meeting, which he did not.

Gregory attended the January council work session but was unable to attend the regular council meeting on January 11.

A public commenter noted that Gregory would be resigning but there had been no official correspondence at that time.

Applications will soon be open for the vacant council seat.

Merkley visits Tillamook in Town Hall meeting

Will Chappell
Headlight Reporter

Senator Jeff Merkley visited Tillamook for a town hall on January 14, 2023, fielding questions from a crowd of around 50 citizens who gathered in the Tillamook High School Cafeteria.

Merkley discussed a wide variety of topics and struck an optimistic tone about the possibility for bipartisan efforts in the coming legislative session.

“It could be a very interesting year,” Merkley said, “or maybe it will turn into an opportunity for everyone to realize that Democrats and Republicans need to work very closely together.”

Merkley discussed the crisis that is being created by the shortage of healthcare workers, especially nurses. “We’ve gotta expand our nursing program,” Merkley said.

He also pointed to the recently passed Respect of Marriage Act when a student asked a question about the Supreme Court’s Dobbs decision and potential further erosion of civil rights in the country.

That act will require states to recognize marriages performed in other states, even if that state would not allow such a marriage.

He pointed to the Federalist Society and their decades long campaign to influence the judiciary as a major driver of the Dobbs decision and other recent conservative legal victories.

Merkley touted the large number of infrastructure projects funded by the last congress and said that he thought the new congress will be busy getting those projects going.

“I think the big focus is going to shift to implementation,” Merkley said, “we’ve really maxed out the construction capacity in the country right now.”

Merkley said that he will be introducing legislation to remove the 60-vote majority rule in the Senate and reintroduce the talking filibuster, making obstructionism more difficult.

Another piece of legislation Merkley is hoping to advance in the new congress is a ban on hedge fund ownership of residential housing.

“I believe houses should be homes for families,” Merkley said, “not Wall Street business enterprises.”

He noted that hedge funds buying large blocks of residential housing had proven a strong investment vehicle but was driving the cost of homes and rents up.

TCTD adds second bus with service to Portland

Will Chappell
Headlight Reporter

Tillamook County’s Transportation District started service to Portland with a second bus on January 22, expanding connectivity for Tillamook residents.

The district also updated fares, dropping the cost of ridership for most customers.

The second bus will add an early morning departure from Tillamook at 5 a.m. as well as an extra late afternoon departure from Tillamook around 4 p.m. and Portland at 7 p.m.

Mike Reed, the district’s interim director, said that he hoped the route change would mark the last scheduling change for the district’s routes after several years of flux.

He also said that the district hoped that the new timetable would help Tillamook residents better access early morning flights from PDX and facilitate same-day roundtrips both ways.

The fare update included a simplification of the fare table, with all in town rides costing one dollar after the update.

Students and children under 18 as well as seniors and the disabled will still ride for free.

Gift responsibly whenever gifts are given

Janeane Krongos
Tillamook Family
Counseling Center

Each year, there are numerous occasions that adults give gifts to underage youth. Popular occasions include birthdays, coming to age celebrations, religious observances, cultural observances, and graduations. Regardless of the occasion, it is important for adults to gift responsibly. One-way adults can do this is to abstain from gifting underage youth lottery products. These products introduce youth to gambling and can increase their risk of developing a problem with gambling later in life. Continue reading this short FAQ to learn more.

What are ways that youth gamble?

Youth gamble in many of the same ways that adults gamble. Some common ways that youth gamble are dares, games of skill, loot boxes (video games), bingo, sports, strategy games, or lottery products.

Lottery products? They are for adults, how are youth getting them?

Each year, there are some adults who purchase lottery products for underage youth. Many of these adults are well meaning and do not understand that these gifts introduce youth to gambling and can increase their risk of future problems with gambling.

Should I be concerned about underage gambling?

Yes, underage gambling is something that adults should be concerned about. According to the Oregon Health Authority (OHA), there are an estimated 6,000 Oregon youth who are at risk of problem gambling or currently experiencing problem gambling.

What is problem gambling?

Problem gambling can be thought of as any gambling behaviors that cause negative consequences in a person's life, or in the lives of those they care about.

What are some of the consequences of problem gambling?

Common consequences of problem gambling are relationship strain, financial hardship, increased sadness, loss of productivity (at school and work), and increased substance use.

That's interesting, is there a place I can learn more about the consequences?

Yes, one resource I recommend is the OHA's document 'Impacts of Problem Gambling on Public Health'. This document can be found on www.oregon.gov.

What are the warning signs of gambling?

Common warning signs include loss of financial

THE BUZZ ABOUT BEES

Claire Moody
Tillamook Beekeepers Assoc.

You might think honey bees hibernate in winter but they don't. When it gets very cold out, they cluster into a ball separated by the combs. The colder it is, the tighter the cluster. They eat the honey on those combs for energy. With highs in the 50s and lows in the 40s they are still active, flying out for "cleansing" flights.

The queen pretty much stops laying eggs in winter. There's little to no pollen coming in for nurse bees to make royal jelly from. Without royal jelly they can't feed the larvae. Also, the temperature in the hive must be in the mid-90s for raising brood and that's very difficult to maintain with the small winter colony. Soon the queen will lay a few eggs and build up very slowly from there. By March the colony size will increase enough that April will begin the real colony growth.

Almost everyone has lost some of their colonies. It was a very, very bad year with regard to varroa mites. I told you about them in the last article in December. It's on the website (www.tillamookbeekeepers.org) in the section About Bees. We did not monitor our varroa mite counts well enough in September and October. The result was what is referred to as a 'mite bomb'.

Many of you have heard about the new vaccine for treating American Foul Brood (AFB). AFB devastates colonies of bees and originates from bacterial spores. The spores can live for forty to sixty years. It is so easily transmitted that colonies with AFB must have all the equipment burned. The vaccine which has been approved by the USDA is fed to the worker bees who incorporate it the royal jelly they feed the queen. All the eggs laid by the queen will then have immunity to AFB. AFB is not very common but when it is found it can wipe out all the colonies in a wide geographical area. So we are very excited about this development!

We have something else we are VERY excited about. We have about ten colonies of bees we are using to raise queens, a project that we just started last summer. Our president, Brad York, is known for his far-reaching ideas and has come up with a plan for creating an educational apiary and garden which would be available to the public, both locals and visitors, at pre-arranged times. Building the apiary and garden will be expensive and take work but the word "awesome" comes to mind. Once completed, imagine being able to don a bee suit and look safely inside a honey bee colony! I'll keep you posted on the progress.

We, of course, take charitable donations on our website. We will also be raising money via our regular bee hive raffle which will be raffled off at the Home and Garden Show on April 30th. The raffle hive is going to be decorated with various breeds of cows and has a barn roof. A showpiece for anyone's garden! More information coming soon on that.

Lastly, if you are interested in learning more about honey bees and beekeeping, the next intro class is scheduled for Saturday, February 25th from 1:00 to 3:30. Registration is required and can be done on the website or by calling Brad York at 719-896-0000. There is a nominal charge.

OUR LIBRARY

Donald Allgeier
Tillamook County Library

At the Tillamook County Library, we want to be a good neighbor. You might want a neighbor that is friendly, respectful, and there when you need them. Sometimes you need a little help, and so you go next door and ask if you can borrow a cup of sugar or a rake. The Library of Things at Tillamook County Library allows us to be the kind of neighbor that will help you out when you need it. The Library of Things is a collection of non-traditional library items the library will loan to you if you have a library card.

The library is still growing this new collection. It includes all kinds of useful items you might want to check out. You can find descriptions of all the items currently available for loaning on the library's website.

We just prepared our next batch of items, so I wanted to give you a little neighbor to neighbor highlight of the items we have so far. If there is something you aren't seeing that you think we should carry, let us know.

Some things in life are just too small to see. The library has a microscope you can borrow to get a close-up look at the smaller things in life. Unlike the microscopes of my youth that required you to press your eyes into two ocular lenses, this modern device uses an LCD display. This is great for so many uses from investigating plants to fixing small equipment parts.

From the very small to larger than life, the library also has a projector and screen set, so you can throw your own film festival. You can connect it to a DVD player and show one of the more than 19,000 movies available for checkout, or you can stream the many movies available to you through the Kanopy service available through your library card.

What about those old home movies you can only watch on a VHS player that is better at eating tapes than playing them? The library has a device to take your old tapes and convert them to a digital format. It's perfect for maintaining old family videos and sharing them with loved ones.

If your car has a warning light that turns on during your next trip to the library, we have something to help with that, too. You can check out a diagnostic code scanner and see what is happening with your vehicle, check your battery's performance, and reset oil lights. All you need is your library card.

These items are all available by either visiting us in person or looking at the Library of Things collection on our website at <https://www.tillamook.org/library/page/library-things>. Come visit us and let us know what you want to borrow next.

FENCEPOSTS

The new roomie (Leo Frodl) and I enjoyed brunch last weekend with our friend Melanie Merryman, of Cloverdale. We traveled fifteen miles off of U.S. Highway 101 up Blaine Road for an inaugural visit to Outpost on the River. Melanie treated us to a breaded and fried calamari appetizer, which was generously portioned and served piping hot. I ordered biscuits and gravy which were served on a platter filled nearly to overflowing and were scrumptious. Leo had a croissant sandwich with meaty bacon coming out both ends, and Melanie ordered a roast beef sandwich which came with broth for dipping next to a mountain of tater tots. My meal (which included two beverages) came to less than $15.00, including tip. Raquel Hays, a former coworker and friend is the owner and was a friendly presence throughout our visit. She mentioned that eating space (filled to capacity when we arrived) expands to a heated patio in nice weather. We can sup to the song of the Nestucca River across the road. Joyce Owens, who I also know from my years working in Nestucca Valley schools, waited on us. Outpost on the River is open from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m.

Wednesday through Sunday. The address is 42500 Testament Creek Road in Beaver. If you, or someone you know, is experiencing homelessness (living outdoors, in an out building or in a car or camper, doubled up with friends or family, or couch surfing) please avail yourself (or them) of the many services offered at Homeless Connect on Wednesday. The free event is hosted by Community Action Resource Enterprises (CARE) and happens from 12:00-3:00 p.m. at 904 Main Avenue in Tillamook. Vaccinations for people and pets, coats and warm clothing, tents tarps and much more, are there for the taking. Don't miss it. Tillamook Chamber of Commerce is recruiting artists to create three by eight-foot (vertically mounted) murals for installation on properties in down town Tillamook.

Prospective participants will submit a scaled concept drawing on 8.5x11 inch paper. Art must be quickly identifiable from roadway and vehicular traffic. Vibrant and colorful art will be favored during selection. A substrate will be provided, all other art materials are the responsibility of the artist. Each selected muralist will receive $1,000.00. The deadline for submissions is January 31, 2023. For essential additional information contact Tillamook Chamber of Commerce, 208 Main Street, Tillamook or call 503-842-7525. As we go to press, Sandlake Road remains closed to through traffic due to a hazard created by a failed culvert. U.S. Highway 101 or Cape Lookout Road are possible detours. My source doesn't specify an expected date for reopening the much traveled route. There's good news from the Rockaway Beach Library. First, you may recall that late last year, removing brush from the side of the library revealed cracks in the foundation. Because the building is 77 years old, this isn't surprising, especially for those of us who have lived on the coast for some time. Inspection by several contractors determined there was a drop of slightly more than three inches at the southeast corner of the library—the children's book section, for those familiar. But the question remained: at what point in the past eight or so decades did the settling occur? And more important, is it ongoing? Fortunately, library board member Wendi Krieg's

ROCKAWAY BEACH
sfisher71@yahoo.com

husband, Larry Weinert, has experience as a surveyor, and also has the necessary equipment to do a little investigation for us. First, Larry used waterproof caulking to seal the cracks in the concrete foundations, preventing further damage over the winter. Next, Larry placed markers in the foundation and in the ground nearby. This would let us monitor the position of the foundation relative to a fixed spot nearby. If the foundation slips further, we'd know, and could make an intelligent decision at that time. Over the past three months, the foundation hasn't moved. The board met recently and will continue to monitor the foundation, and make decisions when (and if) the building shows signs of further change. This experience has helped the library board revise our traditional approach to the inevitable expenses that come with maintaining a 77-year-old building. "We've been reactive," said Jean Scholtz, president of the Friends of the Library. "When something needed to be done, we've had to scramble to find the funds to take care of it."

Scholtz stressed that similar situations could be better handled by a proactive approach, such as the decision to monitor the building's foundation. You can expect to learn more about this in the city's spring newsletter, scheduled to come out in March. Look for it as an insert to the newsletter from city hall. Library patrons will also notice a few other changes over the past winter. First, you might recall the plaques mounted on the north wall of the library—to your left as you walk in, over the printer and computers. These plaques honored the original donors, volunteers, and contributors who first opened the Rockaway Beach Library after the donation of the building in the '90s. Those names have now been consolidated into a single plaque on the west wall of the library. It's a lovely piece, and reflects our gratitude for everyone who helped bring our library into existence. More important, though: we kept the individual plaques from the north wall. If you, a family member, or a friend are mentioned on one of those individual plaques, we would love to present it to you for your own use. Stop in at the library and ask about how you can receive it. What about that empty space on the wall? The library has a new system for displaying artwork to highlight Rockaway Beach artists. As I reported last year at a meeting of the Rockaway Renaissance Artists, Mayor Sue Wilson proposed her vision of Rockaway Beach as a kind of artists' colony, as well as the beloved vacation getaway spot it's always been. If you have ideas or contributions, let us know.

Furthermore, the library is planning a listening session, similar to what our city government instituted in the lead-in to last year's elections. The dates and times are still being determined, but will take place in February, on an evening or weekend. I'll publish the information as soon as it's confirmed. And finally, as mentioned last week, Meals for Seniors will be hosting a Prime Rib Dinner on Saturday, February 11th, at St. Mary by the Sea, 279 S. Pacific. There will be two seatings, at 1pm and at 2:30pm. Tickets are $25 per person; call 503-317-8967 by Monday, February 6th to make your reservations. Dinner will include prime rib, potatoes, vegetable, salad, roll and dessert. This dinner is sponsored by Josi Farms to benefit Meals for Seniors Rockaway Beach.

resources, withdrawal from family or friends, loss of interest in activities that do not involve gambling (clubs, sports, and hobbies), missing possessions, and increased interest in gambling. My child opened a card from a family friend that had a lottery product inside. What should I do? If your child receives a lottery product, it is important to have a conversation with your child about the gift. Here are some things to include in the conversation: • Let your child know that there is an age requirement for lottery products. • Inform them that they do not meet the requirement. • Let them know that the age requirements are designed to reduce harm. • Provide examples of consequences of underage problem gambling. • Let them know that you don't approve of underage gambling.

• Make family rules regarding gambling clear. • Let them know that they can come to you if they have questions. Should I talk to the person who gifted the lottery product? Yes, it would be beneficial to talk to them. Thank them for thinking of your child but let them know that your child does not meet the minimum age requirement and cannot use the gift. I occasionally gamble, are there any guidelines that I can follow to reduce my risk of developing a problem with gambling? Yes, I encourage any adult who gambles to create responsible guidelines to reduce the risk. Here are a few guidelines to consider: set a time limit, set a dollar limit, don't gamble to escape pain, never gamble to improve your mood, never gamble with money that is set aside for other purposes, abstain from using substances while gambling, and create a healthy life balance. Additional responsible guidelines can be found on the Oregon Problem Gambling Resource website(www.opgr.org). I need to pick up a gift for a family friends' child, are there any tips for selecting an age-appropriate gift? Three questions that can help you select an age-appropriate gift are: "Is there an age requirement for this gift?", "Is this gift age appropriate?", and "Would their guardian approve of this gift"? Are there any gifts that I can pick up locally? Yes, there are many gifts that can be picked up locally. Here are some to consider: • Gift certificate for a movie theater, store, or restaurant • Game (non-gambling) • Art supplies • Gift certificate for a lesson (art, surfing, music, dance, swimming, etc.) • Park passes • Toys, books, or puzzle • Comfort items (blankets or stuffed animals) • Clothing, shoes, or toiletries I hope that this article was helpful to you, please feel free to reach out to me if you have questions at Janeane@tfcc.org.

OBITUARIES

Wendell Phillips Blum
Jan. 1, 1923 ~ Jan. 17, 2023

Wendell Phillips Blum was born January 1, 1923 in Tillamook, Oregon, and passed away from this life to spend eternity with our Lord on January 17, 2023 at his home in Tillamook, Oregon, at the age of 100 years and 16 days.

Wendell was born the 5th child of Alwin and Eva (Phillips) Blum at their home on McCormick Loop Road. He attended Hunt Grade School, South Prairie Grade School and Junior High, Liberty School for 9th grade and Tillamook High School.

He married his sweetheart, Vera Biggs, on June 2, 1946. They were married 75 years, 10 months and 22 days prior to her passing on April 24, 2022. Their love was truly amazing and he grieved her loss deeply for the last nine months.

When a grandson was asked how he would describe him, he said, “He loved his wife and children, and prayed for their salvation. He was gentle, kind and forgiving. He was a peacemaker, not easily angered, full of wisdom and multi-talented. Just a great guy.” It’s hard to sum up a man like him in just a few words or sentences.

Wendell started driving a log truck in 1946. From 1955 to 1960 he owned a logging business with his brother-in-law, Marvin Anderson. He returned to driving log trucks, and spent his last 19 years with Crown Zellerbach, retiring in 1982.

After his retirement, Wendell and Vera were “snowbirds” wintering in Yuma, Arizona with various family and friends until it became too difficult to travel. During these years they took several trips in their motorhome, traveling to Alaska, the New England States and The Gulf Coast, to name a few.

Wendell had an outgoing personality and could strike up a friendly conversation with anyone. He loved to tell jokes, and even if we had heard them before, we always laughed and pretended like we hadn’t. He had a knack for fixing things. He repaired countless toys, electronic gadgets and appliances over the years. If something wasn’t working, he would always volunteer to check it over. He was very talented at woodworking and made many cherished gifts for his children over the years. They will become treasured family heirlooms.

Wendell’s family started attending the Tillamook Church of the Nazarene when he was 6 years old, in 1929. When a new church was built on 3rd Street between 1950-1959, Wendell, his father, and brothers were privileged to help in the construction. We are comforted in the knowledge that he is in Heaven, and we will see him again on the other side. (Acts 16:31) (1 Corinthians 15:51-55) (1 Thessalonians 4:13-18)

He is survived by three sons: Wendell Blum Jr, (Deb), Yuma, AZ, John Blum (Chris), Tillamook, OR, and Randy Blum (Valerie), Tigard, OR; four daughters: Debbie Motsinger (Mike), Tricia Swope, and Barb Blum Schmitz (Mike), all of Tillamook, and Susan Furlong (Dave), Thousand Oaks, CA; daughters-in-law, Sue Blum (Larry), and Diana Blum (Mark); 26 grandchildren, 72 great-grandchildren, and 5 great-great-grandchildren; 7 step-grandchildren, and 26 step great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his loving wife, Vera, sons Mark Blum in 2002 and Larry Blum in 2008; and by three great-grandchildren; his parents; brothers, Herbert Blum, Raymond Blum and David (Lowell) Blum, and sisters, Eloise Legg and Alma Anderson.

A private family graveside will be held Tuesday, January 24, 2023 at 11:30 am at the Tillamook Church of the Nazarene. All are welcome to attend.

Our dad, grandpa and great-grandpa will be greatly missed, but never forgotten. His legacy lives on in the lives of his children and their families. We were truly blessed to have had him in our lives.

Thomas Gienger
1938 ~ January 16, 2023

Thomas Gienger, age 85, passed away in his home surrounded by his family, in Tillamook, OR on January 16th, 2023, after a long battle with cancer.

Tom was born and raised and lived most of his life in Tillamook, proudly raising his 4 children, Tim, Jeff, Greg, and Penny.

He attended Oregon State University and was a 3-year letterman in wrestling as he studied to become a school-teacher.

While teaching at Tillamook Junior High, he also enjoyed coaching wrestling and football. You could regularly find him on the golf course or traveling.

His biggest smiles came from spending time with his grandchildren and his great grandchildren. He loved to watch all his angels and sons participate in activities.

He was preceded in death by his parents Lenhart and Alice Gienger, his 3 brothers Dick, Bud, and John.

He is survived by his sisters Susan and Sally, his 4 children- Tim (Allyson), Jeff (Karen), Greg (Ni) and Penny (Steph), 11 grandchildren- Katie (Jeff), Daniel, Ashlee (Jacob), Kaylee, Trevor, Courtney (Brandon), Ian (Liz), Holli (Kevin), Bree (Josh), James (Dairen), Kalee (Jacob), and 6 great grandchildren- Collin, Abigail, Andrew, Jackson, Bryce, and Alice.

A Celebration of life will be Saturday, January 28th at the Elks Club at 2 p.m. Please wear your colors, Tom’s favorite was black and orange.

In lieu of flowers PLEASE donate to Alderbrook Golf, Gardens, and Events. Pat Zweifel was Tom’s student, and he was so proud of his efforts to purchase Alderbrook. Dad loved his vision for the course and the community.

Please make donations too: www.golf Alderbrook.com or to Tillamook High School Athletics and Activities.

Celebration of Life
Robin Ford
3 p.m. February 5, 2023
Sportsman's Pub-n- Grub,
Pacific City, Oregon

Robin was the kind of person that liked everyone she met, and everyone liked her. She worked at the Village Coffee Shop in Pacific City for 12 years and turned out to be a pretty good cook there. She hardly ever missed a day's work. Her and I were married 39 years; the best 39 years of my life. Robin was a good housekeeper and cook...She made the bed every day, no matter what, and was very easy to live with. We lived in Las Vegas and Reno. She loved to gamble 5¢ machines. For 35 years we traveled a lot on the west coast and southwestern U.S.

THS squads drop league matches to Seaside in hoops

Will Chappell
Headlight Sports

Both Tillamook Cheese-maker basketball teams fell at home against the visiting Seaside Seagulls on January 18. The boys were outdistanced by a run that spanned two quarters, while the girls let a second half lead slip away in a narrow defeat. The boys tipped first and started strong, battling the 10-2 Seagulls to a 16-19 deficit after one behind a balanced offensive attack. Seaside went on a small run to start the second quarter, pushing their lead to eight before Tillamook Coach Johnny Begin called a timeout. The Cheesemakers steadied themselves briefly, cutting the lead to 23-28 at the halfway mark of the second quarter. But from there things went sideways for the Mooks. Seaside ratcheted up the defensive pressure, forcing a slew of turnovers, and started hitting shots all over the floor. The Seagull run ate up the rest of the first half, sending the game to the break with a score of 24-41, and continued into the second half as the Mooks fell behind 26-59 halfway through the third. At that point, the game was out of reach for Tillamook who never found their stride on either end of the floor again. Seaside extended their lead further in the fourth quarter and a half; the final score was 34-76. Cody Hoffert led the Cheesemakers with 10 points, while Tanner Hoskins contributed seven.

The Cheesemakers fell to 2-10 on the season with the loss and returned to action on Saturday at Scappoose. The girls' game started following the boys' and was a closer contest. Both teams were cold coming out of the locker room, and after one quarter Tillamook led 8-6, with six points coming courtesy of Aubrey Hilton, who finished with 10 on the night. The offensive struggles continued for both teams in the second quarter, but a late scoring flurry from the Mooks extended the lead to 16-11 at the break. The Cheesemakers offense finally found its rhythm to start the second half. Gabi Weber-Garcia hit two of her four three pointers in quick succession and by 3:45 in the quarter the Mooks led 26-16. But Seaside responded to the double-digit deficit with a run of their own, intensifying defensive pressure to force a slew of turnovers by the Cheesemakers and tie the game at 28 at the end of three. The Seagulls came out hot in the fourth, hitting two threes and a layup to build a 36-28 lead. The Mooks battled back and were able to cut the lead back to 36-38 with 1:43 remaining after a Peyton Rawe steal and layup, but they could not bridge the final gap. Seaside sunk a couple of quick baskets before hitting its free throws down the stretch and Tillamook fell by a final score of 36-46. The Mooks record is 1-10 following the loss, and they returned to action against Scappoose on Saturday. Both teams will return home on January 27, for a showdown with the Astoria Fishermen. This was a really rewarding season all the way around. I'm proud of our team. I'm happy that players earned recognition. But we've wanted to add a league championship to the banner hanging in our gym for a while and we did that this year. Every one of our guys who earned postseason honors would tell you the team accomplishment is more important. That will be hanging up there forever. They earned that as a group and can be extremely proud of themselves for meeting that goal. ~ Head Football Coach Kye Johnson.

Gather your family, friends, and coworkers to form a team for the Three Capes Marathon Relay.

This marathon relay race “with a view” will be hosted Feb. 25, 2023 in Tillamook County.

The 26.2 mile course is a special race because it features the Three Capes Scenic Loop, starting at Cape Meares Lake, passing Cape Lookout, and finishing at Cape Kiwanda in Pacific City.

The rugged course passes through or runs adjacent to six state parks, two National Wildlife Refuges, multiple Tillamook County Parks, and boasts stunning vantage points of the Tillamook Bay, Netarts Bay, and the Pacific Ocean.

Tackle this marathon as a team or solo! Choose between running a solo marathon, a two-person team, or a five-person team. The course is separated into five legs which vary in distances from 4.37 miles to just under seven miles. Team categories include: family, business, school, or Clydesdale. Starting and ending at sea level, there is nearly 2,400 feet of climb within the course, offering a challenging racing venue that is great for building team camaraderie.

The cost for registration is $249 for a five-person team, $129 for a two-person team, and the solo marathoner is $79. Every participant will receive a custom Three Capes Relay Medal when crossing the finish line. And we know the race t-shirt is important, so don’t miss out!

Register prior to February 15 so we can order one for you.

Are you a high school runner? Reward your team for a winter of hard work with a fun, team-bonding relay race prior to track season. Use the code: “High School Runner” when registering to receive 30 percent off the team fee.

Register online at three-capesrelay.com.

Dead whales wash ashore near Astoria

Staff
Country Media, Inc.

Two large whales have washed ashore along the North Oregon Coast near Astoria.

A 40-foot sperm whale was discovered on the beach near the shipwreck Peter Iredale Saturday, Jan. 14. Biologists said that whale died after being stuck by a ship at sea, according to the Associated Press.

The Seaside Aquarium reported that the whale had been dead for a while before washing ashore and that there were a few large gashes on the whale.

Crews from the Seaside Aquarium and state parks removed the whale’s lower jaw. The jaw was removed so that the teeth remained intact for scientific purposes, the Aquarium post said. The whale is believed to be a juvenile male.

Male sperm whales can reach nearly 60 feet and weigh well over 40 tons. They have been known to live up to 60 years, with males maturing around the age of 50 at a length of approximately 52 feet. They feed on deep water species, such as squid, sharks, skates, and fish, according to the Seaside Aquarium.

While their population is recovering, sperm whales are still considered endangered.

A second whale washed ashore Jan. 18 approximately 100 yards north of the sperm whale that washed up on shore Jan. 14.

The Seaside Aquarium reports the whale is a baby Gray whale about 12-feet in length.

“Like the sperm whale, it had been dead for a while before washing in,” the Aquarium said in a Facebook post. “There are no indications that this whale was struck by a ship or died from human interaction. Most likely, this is a case of failure to thrive.”

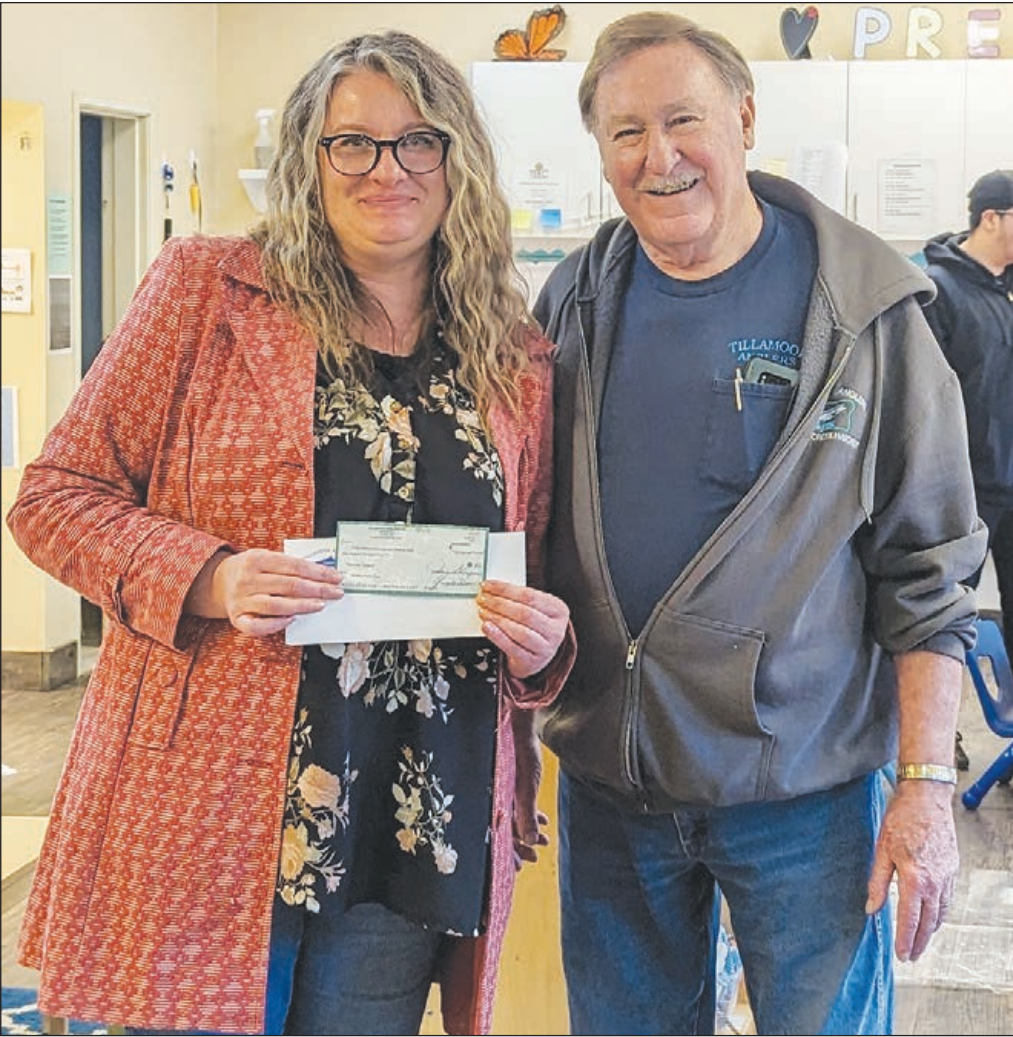

A necropsy was to be conducted, according to the Aquarium.

Gray whales are currently migrating south to their birthing and breeding grounds near Baja.

Taking the leap: How a local pre-diabetes program can impact your life

Tillamook County Wellness

Taking the first step is often the most difficult part of starting any new journey. For those of us living with prediabetes, it is also a critical decision that may protect us from the emotional, medical, and financial challenges of developing type 2 diabetes. The National Diabetes Prevention Program (NDPP) offered by lifestyle coaches here at the Tillamook Family YMCA is a free program designed to provide the health education and group support for lasting lifestyle changes that can help reverse prediabetes.

Earlier this month, Kelly Benson and Shannon Ayers from the YMCA spoke on KTIL's Tillamook Today about the next cohort of the NDPP program starting up in February. Kelly has been leading NDPP since 2018 and always looks forward to providing the support and space for folks to identify and work toward their individual goals. The NDPP class covers topics around nutrition and exercise, but its main focus is to help individuals find ideas and routines that work best for them. One of the biggest benefits of the NDPP class is the group support and knowing that there are others going through the same process and facing similar challenges. Kelly pointed out that although the class eventually drops to every other week attendance, participants often want to continue meeting weekly because the group connections and accountability are helpful motivators.

For Shannon Ayers, the idea that the NDPP class

can be life-changing is an experience she understands personally. Although she currently works as a fitness instructor at the Y and recently received her personal trainer certification, this is a drastic shift from her life a few years ago: "When covid hit, I was at rock bottom with my health. I was close to 300 pounds, and I suffered from a lot of sciatic back pain and the last blood work I had with my doctor showed I was in the prediabetes range, very close to being diabetic. There's a very strong genetic component in my family and I knew I was in big trouble."

She started with a flexibility class that helped ease her back pain and open the door for more movement. As

COVID-19 restrictions lifted, Shannon looked into the Tillamook Family YMCA and found the NDPP class "which changed everything." Since completing this year long program, her blood sugar (A1C) levels have dropped all the way back to a normal range and she has found that almost every aspect of her life has improved, from her knee pain to her sleep schedule to her personal relationships. When asked what she would tell others who are considering a program like NDPP, she responded: "Do it now. You can wait for a little longer and things are going to get worse and eventually the choice will be made for you."

The 2023 NDPP cohort will meet on Thursday, February 23rd from 5:30 to 6:30 pm at the YMCA. NDPP is a completely free year-long program that meets once a week for the first 16 weeks and then shifts to every other week for the rest of the year. The YMCA will also be offering a free Chronic Disease Self-Management program starting on Wednesday, March 1st at 5:30 pm for anyone managing any chronic disease (such as diabetes, arthritis, chronic pain, heart disease, and others). If you're interested in joining either of these programs, contact Kelly Benson at 503-842-9622 ext 111 at the YMCA to register.

ADU ordinance to be considered by commissioners Jan. 30

Tillamook County's Board of Commissioners soon will consider adopting a new land use ordinance to allow accessory dwelling units (ADUs) on properties in residential zones located in unincorporated communities in Tillamook County (see map). Ordinance Section 5.110 establishes standards for ADUs and has been in the works for several months. Passage of this ordinance could help provide a near-immediate response to our current housing crisis. The public is invited to attend the hearing for the ordinance at the Board's January 30th meeting.

After extensive discussion of the ordinance, as well as community input, at its December 8, 2022, hearing, the Tillamook County Planning Commission unanimously voted to recommend that the Board of County Commissioners approve the Adu Ordinance. Public testimony raised specific questions about the ordinance and several people spoke in favor of passing it. Among the latter was Peter Starkey, Executive Director of Community Action Resource Enterprises (CARE) and a member of the Tillamook County Housing Commission. He urged the Planning Commission to pass the Adu ordinance as part of a multipronged approach necessary to address what he calls the housing "catastrophe" Tillamook County is experiencing. An audio recording of this first Adu Ordinance hearing can be found at <https://youtu.be/PyCuKLOBpy0>.

Second Public Hearing for Adu Ordinance January 30
Members of the public are encouraged to attend the second required hearing for the Adu ordinance:

- January 30, 9 a.m. Board of County Commissioners meeting held at the BOCC Meeting Room in the Tillamook County Courthouse, Room 106. BOCC will take action to approve or deny the ordinance adoption request.

APN: R1A-929CA08700 ALL THAT CERTAIN PROPERTY SITUATED IN CITY OF TILLAMOOK IN THE COUNTY OF TILLAMOOK AND STATE OF OREGON AND BEING DESCRIBED IN A DEED DATED 01/09/1997 AND RECORDED 01/14/1997 IN BOOK 383, PAGE 889 AMONG THE LAND RECORDS OF THE COUNTY AND STATE SET FORTH ABOVE AND REFERENCED AS FOLLOWS: LOT 2, BLOCK 3, EASTGATE FIRST ADDITION SUBDIVISION. Commonly known as: 4204 FILBERT ST, TILLAMOOK, OR 97141-2830 The undersigned hereby certifies that based upon business records there are no known written assignments of the trust deed by the trustee or by the beneficiary, except as recorded in the records of the county or counties in which the above described real property is situated. Further, no action has been instituted to recover the debt, or any part thereof, now remaining secured by the trust deed, or, if such action has been instituted, such action has been dismissed except as permitted by ORS 86.752(7). Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the said real property to satisfy the obligations secured by said trust deed and notice has been recorded pursuant to Section 86.752(3) of Oregon Revised Statutes. There is a default by grantor or other person owing an obligation, performance of which is secured by the trust deed, or by the successor in interest, with respect to provisions therein which authorize sale in the event of such provision. The default for which foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sum: TOTAL REQUIRED TO REINSTATE: $20,795.67 TOTAL REQUIRED TO PAYOFF: $116,711.76 Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-to-day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit: The installments of principal and interest which became due on 9/1/2020, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from or associated with the beneficiaries efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. Nothing in this notice shall be construed as a waiver of any fees owing to the Beneficiary under the Deed of Trust pursuant to the terms of the loan documents. Whereof, notice hereby is given that QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION OF WASHINGTON, the undersigned trustee will on 5/10/2023 at the hour of 9:00AM, Standard of Time, as established by section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes, At the Front Entrance to the Tillamook County Courthouse, located at 201 Laurel Avenue, Tillamook, Oregon 97141 County of TILLAMOOK, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the said described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by him of the said trust deed, together with any interest which the grantor or his successors in interest acquired after the execution of said trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in Section 86.778 of Oregon Revised Statutes has the right to have the foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of said principal as would not then be due had no default occurred), together with the costs, trustee's and attorney's fees and curing any other default complained of in the Notice of Default by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, at any time prior to five days before the date last set for sale. Other than as shown of record, neither the beneficiary nor the trustee has any actual notice of any person having or claiming to have any lien upon or interest in the real property hereinabove described subsequent to the interest of the trustee in the trust deed, or of any successor in interest to grantor or of any lessee or other person in possession of or occupying the property, except: Name and Last Known Address and Nature of Right, Lien or Interest JUSTIN HILBY 4204 FILBERT ST TILLAMOOK, OR 97141-2830 Original Borrower SHAWN MALLON 4204 FILBERT ST TILLAMOOK, OR
