MICHAEL ORWICK
oils

Michael Orwick is an artist of light. Inspired by the atmospheric nuance of the Pacific Northwest landscape, his oil on canvas compositions transform the viewer's sense of place, utilizing light as a resonant force of mystery, beauty and a hint of the mystical. His art celebrates joy, curiosity, and connection.

JOANNE SHELLAN
acrylics

Joanne Shellan uses a saturated palette of rich acrylic color to interpret both human and natural habitats. A keen observer of the constructed world, she brings a storyteller's instinct to her interior scenes, revealing the quiet and fleeting moments of life. Her depictions of nature immerse the viewer in the deep peace of Northwest landscapes.

Bronze Coast Gallery

224 N Hemlock Suite 2 | Cannon Beach
art@bronzecoastgallery.com

Bronze Coast Gallery has been in operation for over 30 years and represents more than 50 artists from the Northwest and beyond. We offer a wide variety of sculpture, from classic limited-edition bronze to innovative contemporary artwork and unique paintings. We are delighted to, once again, participate in Cannon Beach's annual Stormy Weather Arts Festival, where our gallery will be hosting four of our remarkably talented artists.

Melissa Cooper

Melissa Cooper spent ten years working in a foundry, helping to support her sculptor father's bronze work. This gave her an invaluable education in working in bronze from the ground up and as a result she can visualize a complex design and bring it to reality. Melissa's widely collected wildlife art is known for the combination of graceful shape and, as the artist puts it: “fluffy and robust” charm. An impressionistic style suits the creature's body of her work, but when it comes to the face, however, detail is key to infusing the animal with spirit and personality.

David Crawford

Growing up living and working among cattle ranchers, art was not really the kind of thing that David Crawford took too seriously. He tried to focus his creative energy on functional objects, such that would be considered useful. David received a bachelor's degree in art from Eastern Oregon University, and he began his early art career in Portland. Three years later he moved to Enterprise, OR where both of his sons were born. He began working in furniture then gradually began working primarily in bronze. In 1993, he and his family moved to Halfway, OR where he currently maintains his studio and foundry for casting his works.

Crystal Lockwood

Based in Washington State, Crystal Lockwood began sculpting at the young age of 17 under the apprentice of Sigmund de Tonancour. For the past 36 years, she has won numerous awards in exhibits on the West Coast and in Hawaii. Crystal is well known for her ethereal, metamorphic sculptures of the human figure created from found driftwood. She personally selects each piece of wood for its natural energy and flow, incorporating the human form into the driftwood. Crystal has also expanded her practice to include stone and bronze sculpture.

Robert Rogers

Robert Rogers is inspired by many cultures and historic lore; greatly influenced by his many visits to the great art meccas of Europe. For more than 40 years, Robert has designed and created fine jewelry as an art and expression of love for the craft. His highly detailed work reflects his skills, not only as a jeweler, but also as a master wax carver. Robert's forms of art are layered by the actual creation of the piece and his descriptive storyline that develops with the feeling and passion of each piece as it is being created.

Jeffrey Hull Introduces New Originals & Prints

To celebrate the 2026 Stormy Weather Arts Festival, the Jeffrey Hull Gallery will introduce new original work and prints by Jeffrey Hull. Jeff started painting in his teens, but focused on his fascination with watercolors over 50 years ago and never looked back. His command of painting and love for the Pacific Northwest Coast places the viewer directly into scenes of sandy beaches, wind-sculpted trees and dramatic cliffs draped in coastal mist. Since 1987, he and his wife Carol have offered his paintings of the beautiful coast in their spacious second-floor gallery at Sandpiper Square in the heart of downtown Cannon Beach. Over time, both the gallery and his paintings have grown; he's added oils to his repertoire; and the gallery also now proudly produces their own high quality reproductions of his work. The gallery is open daily, 10am-5:30pm.

New Mixed Media Exhibition at White Bird Gallery

Valerie Savarie,
Formula for Collecting Memories altered book sculpture

Dmitri Swain,
mixed media sculpture

White Bird Gallery kicks off Stormy Weather Arts Festival with a new exhibition celebrating mixed media artworks in an array of materials and styles, including works created from repurposed books, found objects, clay sculpture, illuminated glass, photography and more!

Our weekend events include a gallery demonstration by featured artists Valerie Savarie who uses altered books as the centerpiece of her creations. Watch Valerie transform vintage books through cutting, carving and stitching them into one-of-a-kind wall sculptures that tell her own unique stories - or sign up to participate in Valerie's Sunday workshop at the Cannon Beach History Center.

In our Mixed Media Group Exhibition, we're thrilled to be introducing new artists during the festival happenings. Carolyn Autenrieth creates natural forms in porcelain in combination with discarded, rusty metal objects like shipyard chain, sprockets and valve wheels. Milo Snyder is a contemporary glass artist who creates complex geometrical and botanical forms that are illuminated from within. Roger Ricco is a well-known photographer from New York who uses still life imagery to create compositions that are more about primal moments of engagement rather than the objects being portrayed.

We will also be welcoming ceramic artworks by Erika Lino to the gallery for a special weekend presentation in collaboration with long time gallery artists Robin & John Gumaelius. Erika has spent the past two months as an artist in residency at the Gumaelius studio.

New selections by our gallery artists will round out this exhibition. Dmitri Swain's quirky assemblage and character sculptures are sure to be a delight as well as the imaginative ceramic and metal sculptures by the Gumaelius couple.

Cannon Beach: A Celebration of Art, Artists & Creative Discovery

Cannon Beach's commitment to the arts shines through its annual Artist of the Year program, celebrating the extraordinary creative talent of this beloved coastal community.

Now in its third year, the program recognizes an artist whose career and creative journey are tied to Cannon Beach. The 2026 Artist of the Year, Ronni Harris, is pictured here alongside Don Masterson and Greg Scott, the program's first and second honorees, at this year's Sandcastle Festival.

Each year, the selected artist creates the official poster artwork for both the Sandcastle Festival and the Stormy Weather Arts Festival. Chosen through an annual open competition by a jury that includes artists and members of the arts community, the program is a wonderful reflection of Cannon Beach's enduring commitment to creativity.

The resulting festival posters offer art lovers an affordable opportunity to collect work by accomplished artists while supporting two of Cannon Beach's most cherished annual traditions.

Meet the Artists. Discover Their World. Create Alongside Them.

The Stormy Weather Arts Festival is about more than admiring beautiful artwork. It's an invitation to connect with the creative minds behind it.

Beyond meeting artists at gallery unveilings, demonstrations, and receptions, festival visitors can create alongside them! Seven artists connected to local galleries have been selected to lead unique, hands-on workshops throughout the three-day celebration.

Stay and play all weekend long, exploring everything from edible watercolors and cold wax painting to altered book art, painting iconic Haystack Rock, and more.

Donald Scott Masterson (2024), Greg Scott(2025), and Ronni Harris(2026) Cannon Beach Chamber Artist of the year photographed at The 2026 Sandcastle Festival together.

You don't have to be an artist to enjoy an art workshop!

These experiences offer a rare opportunity to step into an artist's world, gain insight into their creative process, and discover the unique perspectives that shape their work. Learn how artists see and interpret the world around us, develop a deeper appreciation for the artwork you love, and connect with the creatives who make Cannon Beach such a remarkable arts destination.

Whether you leave with a finished creation, a new skill, or simply a fresh way of seeing the world, you'll take home something that extends far beyond the workshop.

Come curious, get creative, and experience the joy of art during the Stormy Weather Arts Festival, November 6 - 8, 2026!
