McCormick Loop Road crash kills woman

The driver was killed after colliding with a trailer on a stopped tractor.

Cody Mann/Headlight Herald

A Tillamook woman died after crashing into what authorities described as a feed trailer. The crash occurred at around 6:45 a.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 8 on McCormick Loop Road in the Tillamook area.

According to a report from Tillamook County Sheriff's Office (TCSO), 43-year-old Jorge Zuniga-Figeroa was driving a farm tractor towing a trailer southbound on McCormick Loop Road and was stopped waiting for northbound traffic to pass so that he could turn left into a farm.

It was reported to be dark and lightly raining as a 2009 Ford Focus driven by Cristina Ellis, 36, of Tillamook was also southbound on McCormick Loop Road. As she approached the stopped tractor she rear-ended the trailer, according to TCSO. Ellis was pronounced dead at the

A year-old child was a rear passenger in the car. TCSO said the child was properly restrained in a child safety seat and was transported to Tillamook Regional Medical Center Emergency Room with suspected minor injuries. A dog was also in the vehicle and died from its injuries.

Zuniga-Figeroa was reportedly uninjured. No determination of fault has been made by authorities. The investigation is ongoing.

TCSO was assisted by Tillamook Police Department, Tillamook Fire Department, Adventist Health Ambulance, Oregon State Police Reconstruction Unit, Tillamook County Road Department and Pioneer Veterinary Hospital.

County approves Facebook cable in Tierra Del Mar

The Tillamook County Board l of Commissioners voted Thursday, Jan. 9, 2-1 to uphold the Tillamook County Planning Commission's similar use determination and decision to approve the installation of the Jupiter Cable System. This was the second hearing the board held to discuss an appeal requested by numerous citizens of Tierra Del Mar. Chairman David Yamamoto and Commissioner Bill Baertlein voted yes, while Commissioner Mary Faith Bell voted no.

Citizens of Tierra Del Mar are now exploring options for an appeal to Land Use Board of Appeals. They have been fighting this project

"The 2-1 vote by the Tillamook Board of Commissioners was a clear signal that the board is willing to put the commercial interests of one property owner above the livability, safety and character of the Tierra Del Mar community," Lynnae Ruttledge, an appellant and citizen of Tierra Del Mar, said in a statement she provided to the Headlight Herald. "Without dispute, the decision by the board is precedent-

Lynnae said reflected in the written and oral testimony submitted throughout the process, the roposed project by Facebook/Edge Cable is ill-advised, inappropriate and unsuitable for a densely developed oceanfront residential lot. "The Tierra Del Mar community is disheartened but undaunted," Lynnae said. "In consultation with community partners, we are considering out options for a possible appeal to the Land Use Board of Appeals."

Emergency services responded to the Falcon Cove area, near the county line of Clatsop County and Tillamook County, at 12:38 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 11, for three people that had been swept into the ocean.

Preliminary investigation revealed an adult man was holding two children, a 7-year-old girl and a 4-year-old boy, on the shore and they were all swept into the ocean by a wave.

According to authorities, a police officer arrived to find the adult man struggling to get out of the ocean and a girl further out in the ocean. The officer went into the ocean and was able to get the girl and bring her to shore. She was transported by Medix Ambulance to Providence Seaside Hospital (PSH). The adult man was also taken by ambulance to PSH.

The 4-year-old boy has not yet been located. The United States Coast Guard sent helicopters to aid in the search, but the search had to be suspended at sunset.

The young girl was pronounced deceased at PSH.

Cannon Beach Fire Department, Cannon Beach Police Department and Manzanita Police Department all assisted on scene.

Cloverdale man dies in Whiskey Creek Road crash

Cloverdale man was killed Awhen he drove off the road in the Netarts area.

Tillamook County Sheriff's Office reported that 41-year-old Jarrod W. Christensen of Cloverdale was driving a 1995 Jeep Wrangler at around 3:40 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 12, at around mile 3.4 on Whiskey Creek Road. Christensen was going 40-45 mph when he swerved into the northbound lane, corrected and went off the southbound shoulder into a ditch, according to the report.

The Jeep traveled for approximately 150 feet before going over the embankment and down a ravine, where it struck a tree and rolled, coming to rest on its roof approximately 50 feet off the Christensen died at the scene. The Sheriff's Office said his next of kin have been notified. A dog, possibly a husky, was also in the vehicle and was last seen running from the area. There were unconfirmed reports on social media that the dog was later found.

An investigation is ongoing. The Sheriff's Office said alcohol, failure to wear a seatbelt, and weather may have been contributing factors to the crash. Tillamook County Sheriff's Office was assisted on scene by Netarts-Oceanside Fire, Adventist Health Ambulance, Oregon State Police Reconstruction Unit, and Tillamook 911.

Two other fatal crashes have occurred recently in Tillamook County. On Jan. 8 on McCormick Loop Road a Tillamook woman died when she crashed into what authorities described as a feed trailer. On Dec. 29, a Tillamook woman died after she drove off the road and hit a tree north of Beaver.

Improvements made throughout Tillamook School District

Big upgrades and improvements have been happening throughout the Tillamook School District thanks to bond and seismic dollars. To date, $5,496,977 in bond dollars and $3,861,933 in seismic dollars have been spent district-wide.

All schools have expanded safety through the addition of outside door card lock systems, installation of surveillance video systems, updated intercom systems, and ADA door accessibility buttons. In addition, a new cafeteria was built at South Prairie Elementary, traffic flow and parking were expanded at both East Elementary and South Prairie Elementary, gyms were upgraded at Tillamook High School, Liberty Elementary, and East Elementary, and Tillamook Junior has two brand new locker rooms. There are also four new classrooms in the district. Covered play structures were also a significant part of the district's plan. South Prairie,

East and Liberty Elementary are all recipients of new covered play areas. Liberty Elementary welcomed students back on Monday, Jan. 6, with the official grand opening of their new area.

Oregon senators move to block military action against Iran

Cody Mann

headlightnews@countrymedia.net

Oregon Democratic Sens. Jeff Merkley and Ron Wyden have announced among other proposals a bipartisan resolution underscoring their position that any future war must be considered and authorized by Congress.

Specifically, the resolution states that neither the 2001 Authorization for Use of Military Force (AUMF) passed following the 9/11 attacks nor the 2002 authorization against Iraq legally justify the use of military force against Iran.

Merkley led the resolution along with Sen. Rand Paul (R-Kentucky), who serves with Merkley on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The Senate resolution comes after days of escalating tensions between the United States and Iran. Merkley said it was time to send a clear message that the danger of taking the nation to war is too great for any we've seen in recent days is a president willing to make significant military decisions bringing us closer to war without consulting new terrorism-related AUMF.

The Senators announced the resolution shortly after receiving a classified briefing from top White House officials. The administration has said the drone strike that killed Iranian Gen. Qassem Soleimani prevented an imminent threat, was retribution for past terrorist acts, and served to defend Iraq.

Soleimani, a top commander Iranian military commander, was the head of the elite Quds Force, part of the Iranian Revolutionary Guard Corps, which was designated as a foreign terrorist organization by the Trump administration.

'Gen. Soleimani was actively developing plans to attack American diplomats and service members in Iraq and throughout the region," an administration statement said. "Gen. Soleimani and his Quds Force were responsible for the deaths of hundreds of American and coalition service members and the wounding of thousands more.

"He had orchestrated attacks on coalition bases in Iraq over the last several months, including the attack on Dec. 27, culminating in the death and wounding of additional American and Iraqi personnel. Gen. Soleimani also approved the attacks on the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad," the administration statement said.

"Qassem Soleimani was a bad man with a lot of blood on his hands, but Donald Trump's decision to assassinate him was a reckless escalation that will take us further down the road to ruinous war," Wyden said. "A president has the responsibility to ensure that all necessary steps have been taken to protect vulnerable American military and civilian targets before taking such a precipi-

Wyden and Merkley also joined with five

Senate Democrats to introduce a resolution condemning Trump's threats to attack cultural sites in Iran and demanding he refrain from violating the laws of armed conflict.

The Senate resolution was in response to Trump's threats on Twitter and in a press conference that the United States would make cultural sites a target of attack if conflict with Iran escalated. Secretary of Defense Mark Esper has said that the Pentagon would not violate the laws of armed conflict by attacking Iranian cultural sites. Trump has since backed down from threats to target Iranian cultural sites.

The condemnation highlights Geneva Conventions articles that prohibit hostility against cultural objects, similar guidelines in the 1954 Hague Convention for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict, and the Department of Defense Law of War Manual that states "[c]ultural property, the areas immediately surrounding it, and appliances in use for its protection should be safeguarded and respected."

Wyden recently joined Sen. Tim Kaine (D-Virginia) to support a war powers resolution that he said would force a debate and vote in Congress to prevent further escalation of hostilities with Iran. Wyden said in town halls this past weekend he heard from Oregonians concerned that the president is pushing towards war. "We cannot allow Trump's rash approach to foreign policy continue to put American lives in danger at home and abroad," Wyden said. "Congress must act now." Wyden voted against the Iraq War and says he has consistently opposed foreign military action. He has in the past raised concerns over presidential efforts to expand the use of military force without congressional authorization. In 2019, Wyden also supported the Prevention of Unconstitutional War with Iran Act and voted against the National Defense Authorization Act in December. Wyden said the war powers resolution underscores that Congress has the sole power to declare war, as laid out in the Constitution. The resolution requires that any hostilities with Iran must be explicitly authorized by a declaration of war or specific authorization for use of military force but does not prevent the United States from defending itself from

"The resolution will force a public debate and vote in Congress as intended by the framers of the Constitution to determine whether United States forces should be engaged in these hostilities," a statement from Wyden's office said.

Pump prices hold steady amid tensions with Iran

imminent attack

Gas price averages are showing little movement this week but that could change if crude oil prices fluctuate due to geopolitical concerns surrounding events in the Middle East, according to the following report from

For this past week, the national average for regular remained at $2.59 a gallon. The Oregon average fell a penny to $3.02. Gas prices are starting 2020 at higher prices than at the start of 2019. The national average is about 35 cents more and the Oregon average about 10 cents more than a year ago.

Following airstrikes in Baghdad last Friday that killed Iran's Major General Oassem Soleimani, crude oil prices increased, causing market speculation about what could happen to gas prices in the near-term, according to AAA.

"Crude prices usually climb following news of unrest in the Middle East. Whether this is a short- or long-term trend will depend on how long crude sells at a higher price point. In general, every $1 increase in the price of crude oil results in about a 2-and-a-half-cent increase in the price of gasoline," said Marie Dodds, public affairs director for AAA Oregon/Idaho. Oregon is one of 21 states and the District of Columbia where gas prices are lower now than a week ago. Ohio (-8 cents) has the largest weekly decline in the country. Florida (+7 cents) has the biggest weekly jump. Prices in New Mexico and North Carolina are flat.

The Schooner donates $25,000 to Oregon Food Bank

headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Schooner Restaurant & Lounge delivered a check to The Oregon Food Bank – Tillamook County Services on Monday, Jan. 6, from the funds raised from the restaurant's Thanksgiving fundraiser dinner. The Schooner raised over $25,000.

This was the 10th annual Thanksgiving Dinner, held Nov. 28, and partnered with The Upstairs Bar and Grill. 100 percent of the proceeds from the Silent Auction Bake Sale and the Thanksgiving Day Benefit are donated to the food bank.

"Oregon Food Bank Tillamook

County Services greatly appreciates the hard work and commitment that The Schooner Lounge, The Upstairs Bar and Grill, and the many volunteers and supporters put into this event all year long," said Mis Carlson-Swanson, Oregon Food Bank Branch Services Manager. "Over $25,000 was raised, which provides over 90,000 pounds of food, which provides over 75,000 meals for people experiencing food insecurity in Tillamook County." The Schooner said they did not waste any food at their benefit dinner this year. The Schooner's General Manager Lexie Fields estimates about 525 people were served between The Schooner and the Upstairs, including deliveries to those who could not make it out to the restaurant.

"We were thrilled to have exceeded the $25,000 mark this year," Fields said. "This is about $1,000 more than we did last

Each year, the Schooner's goal is to raise more than the previous year. "We were absolutely blessed this year to have received a generous donation from our local Safeway – all of the turkeys were donated by them and we are incredibly grateful for their support," Fields said.

30 turkeys were donated by Safeway for their benefit dinner. This was the first time turkeys had ever been donated for the event.

Lynnae said she and the other appellants wish to express their sincere thanks to Commissioner Mary Faith Bell for her thoughtful deliberations, well-reasoned decisions and clear respect for the concerns of the Tierra Del Mar community.

The fiber optic cable system and landing site would be on a property zoned rural residential two-acre, located within the Tierra Del Mar area north of the Pacific City/ Woods unincorporated community and designated as Tax Lot 3200.

There were four appellants: Lynnae Ruttledge, Edmund Ruttledge, Oregon Coast Alliance and Michael Kittell.

The Jan. 9 hearing began with closing statements from the applicant, appellants and staff before the commission deliberated. Phil Grillo of Davis Wright Tremaine, along with other members who spoke, addressed alleged procedural errors citizens felt the planning commission made in their decision to approve the installation. Grillo also said this proposal is about a relatively small zone.

"This is not of full countywide significance," Grillo said.

Citizens and Commissioner Bell later said this is an issue of county-wide significance.

Chair David Yamamoto said the commission needed to hear both sides of the list of conditions for approval; both the conditions from the planning commission and the ones Attorney Michael Kittell provided.

"It is premature to talk about any of the conditions until you have decided whether or not this application meets the criteria," Lynnae said at the hearing.

Lynnae said she was struck by several things during the discussion at the hearing. One of these things was that Grillo said the rigs would have to be turned on during the weekends so the hole does not implode. According to Lynnae, the acoustical report specifically stated that work would be done Monday through Friday.

"The goal posts continue to change," Lynnae said.

Lynnae said the project is inappropriate and the people who live in Tierra Del Mar will be impacted regardless if the construction is done during winter or higher tourism seasons.

"There is no discussion in any of those conditions that states that we are a stakeholder," Lynnae said.

Jeff Bryner, citizen of Tierra Del Mar, said the citizens had no say about the conditions and said there needs to be a condition regarding property damage caused by the construction.

Sarah Absher, director of community development, added the following condition: "Prior to the start of construction, a monitoring maintenance and damage response plan will be submitted to the department and available for community inspection at least seven days prior to the start of construction."

Commissioner Bell asked if it could be made to 14 days. The commission agreed. Date slots agreed

Leaders step down from Tillamook County Democrats

Annie Naranjo-Rivera annierosalie@icloud.com

Dear Tillamook County Democrats,

We are losing a significant leader with the resignation of David McCall as our Chair. I have thought long and hard about the future of the Tillamook County Democrats, one which he and I have both had a stake in building with many of you since 2016. When I attended my first meeting in 2016 to announce that I had been elected to serve as a DNC delegate from Tillamook County, there were only a few folks in the room. Little by little, Democrats from all over the county started coming out of the woodwork to get involved in the wake of Trump's election.

A small handful of volunteers began to build up committees and recruit PCPs, knock doors and write letters to the editor. Since then, we have accomplished many things and many of the steps we wanted to take to develop this organization are underway. We have developed at both the county and state level to become a Democratic County Party that is known for being small but mighty, always striving to be better, for growing, and for staying true to our values. There is still a lot of growth that needs to happen, but let me be the first to say that I am SO PROUD to have been a part of this formative chapter, and you should be too. There is so much to celebrate.

It is now up to all of us to decide the future of the Tillamook County Democrats. Where will we go? What is possible? How can we rally the voters for the urgent change needed in 2020? How can we be sure that we elect real Democrats who will fight for our values once in office? I know that I don't need any reminders about what is at stake. Everyday, I am confronted with images of infants being ripped from their parents arms, and I read about detainees molested or denied water and medical care. New headlines abound. with constant illegal actions coming from the White House. We stand on the brink of war in the Middle East. Everything we value as Americans and as Democrats is under attack.

This is why (as many of you already know) I have taken a HUGE job working directly to help serve immigrant and refugee communities during this time of constant crisis. It is nearly impossible for me to say the following, as my heart is deeply invested in the Tillamook County Democrats, (and I count many of you as family members who Repeal Transient Lodging Tax ordinance?

Perhaps this is a time when county residents should consider repealing the Transient Lodging Tax ordinance and constant Tourism promotion. Many thousands of dollars are spent encouraging visitors to come to the county. The TLT has given a boost to local economies and now is perhaps a time to repeal it. Remember, every day, county tax monies are spent encouraging more visitors...every minute, every day.

Idaho stop vote

You recent wrote about SB 998, a new state law that allows bicyclists to roll through intersections and past stop signs without stopping.

While this measure did indeed pass, it is important that readers know State Sen. Betsy Johnson, State Rep. Tiffiny Mitchell, and I voted against it voicing concerns about traffic safety and consistent standards for all road users.

However, retirement looms on the horizon leaving me with mixed feelings of gladness and sadness.

One of the most exciting health programs I have worked with is the Lifestyle Medicine Program CHIP-Complete Health Improvement Program. Fifteen years ago the first program began with 60 participants and since 2005 over 550 people from Tillamook County have taken CHIP. What an honor it has been to meet and become friends with so many. I will facilitate one more program- my 30th CHIP program- from Feb 3 - March 12, 2020. If you haven't yet taken it, let me tell you about it.

CHIP is a lifestyle medicine intervention program that provides education in an environment for making changes to lower cholesterol, decrease blood pressure, improve diabetes, begin to lose weight and overall improve the effects of chronic disease. With supper every night, food demonstrations, blood screenings (pre and post program) and topics on chronic disease we learn how the food we eat and activity we choose is the best medicine for our aches, pains

Over the years the founder of CHIP, Dr. Hans Diehl visited Tillamook twice and shared with us the principles he established with his first program in 1988. It's been exciting for me to watch the challenges and successes as participants begin to put into practice the things they are learning. Through all 29 programs the average weight loss has been 5 lb/ person or more, while enjoying plenty to eat, no deprivation. Blood pressures have improved, cholesterol dropped 15 – 20 %, blood sugars stabilized and overall sense of wellbeing improved. Participants also share they have less inflammation and pain from arthritis, elimination of heartburn, improved GI issues, end of constipation, sleeping better and increased mood, just to name a few. I am especially grateful for Janice Wolk, Registered Dietician who plans and

Clean Air advocates sue Oregon's Secretary of State for ballot measure rejections

Renew Oregon

An advocacy leader, together with one of the chief petitioners for two clean energy initiatives filed a lawsuit Wednesday, Jan. 8, in Marion County Court against the Secretary of State, calling for the office to allow Initiative Petitioners (IP) 48 and 49 to move forward. Oregon Secretary of State Bev Clarno and Deputy Secretary of State Rich Vial rejected the measures last month.

In the complaint, Chief

Petitioner Eric Richardson, executive director of NAACP Eugene/Springfield and Tera Hurst, executive director of Renew Oregon, ask the court to allow the initiatives to continue through the process of qualifying for the ballot in November 2020.

The lawsuit points out that the Secretary of State's office provided no legal reasoning for rejecting the citizen's petition and both the Oregon Attorney General and state Legislative Counsel strongly disagree with the positions

Clarno and Vial have taken in rejecting petitions this election cycle, even publicly questioning the Secretary's understanding of the law.

"We must not let this egregious abuse of power by Secretary of State Bev Clarno and Deputy Secretary Rich Vial continue," Richardson said in a press release. "Their actions are unconstitutional and run counter to Oregon's proud history of citizen access to the ballot through the initiative system. We are joining the many voices speaking out against the way the Secretary of State is blocking access of citizens to the ballot."

IP's 48 and 49 are statewide initiative petitions to require Oregon to produce all of its electricity using renewable energy and carbon-free sources by Jan. 1, 2045. As is precedent and good practice, standards for labor practices were included in the petition to ensure that jobs created during construction and other projects funded by passage of the petitions are quality jobs, something that the Secretary of State incorrectly claims merits rejection.

This is the second of such suits filed against the Oregon Secretary of State this year. Public records uncovered by The Oregonian show that with lack of institutional support for their rogue actions, the Secretary of State has had to hire a $700-an-hour private law firm - the same law firm that works for the corporate polluters and big timber companies that oppose the measures the Secretary has rejected. "Secretary Clarno and Deputy Secretary Vial are wasting taxpayer money to protect the interests of the wealthy and powerful against the will of the people," Hurst said in the release. "Everyone in Oregon should be concerned about this threat to our democracy."

The suit goes before Marion County Court and the plaintiffs have requested an expedited review so their petitions can move forward as intended.

have watched own children as they grow up,) but I can no longer serve in a public leadership role for the Tillamook County Democrats.

My work this year prohibits me from certain political activities and creates a myriad of conflicts of interest. I do not think I would be able to serve our Party well given this. As we have recently been advised by our legal staff in my work position, I am restricted from participating in many activities due to: potential legal conflicts, our funding sources and work with Census Bureau. and further (political) conflicts of interest. We are expected to be under intense scrutiny, under the microscope. These constraints would prevent me from being an effective Chair and would jeopardize the work I am doing. For this reason, I have resigned from the Mark Gamba for Congress campaign and now resign from the Tillamook County Democrats as well.

I do want to note that this has been a heart-wrenching decision. I took many factors into account, including my own personal capacity and scope of what can be accomplished during this time of political crisis, and did not make this decision lightly. I hope that we can identify someone with the capacity to give the Tillamook County Democrats full attention, which is what is needed to launch us into 2020. There is a reason that so many of the Party leadership positions tend to be held by retirees, as more and more workingclass folks find it hard to balance the demands of work life, personal life and volunteerism. David and I are working to fill the role in the coming days/ weeks, including meeting with several folks. I will miss you all, but will not be a stranger to meetings, just to leadership. I will work behind the scenes to make sure we fill in as many gaps as

So... it is with a bittersweet goodbye as your Vice Chair that I must bow out alongside David. It has been my pleasure to serve as your Vice Chair, your State Central Committee Delegate, vour Congressional District 5 Delegate. elected Platform and Resolutions delegate, and the (DPO) Vice Chair of the Platform & Resolutions Committee.

Over 25 alumni volunteers help at various times using their cooking skills in preparing a complete meal for each meeting. You see, CHIP doesn't run by itself and for all the many who have helped, I am so thankful! Volunteers make CHIP a success!

CHIP is also a HUGE success because of the support of the hospital- Adventist Health. Eric Swanson, CEO, understands that Lifestyle Medicine has long lasting solutions for our chronic disease epidemic. Active discussions are occurring on updating and continuing Lifestyle Medicine centered programs. Your input on what the CHIP program has done for you is especially appreciated. Please let it be

Lastly, our monthly free club CHIP for CHIP alumni or CHIPPERS will continue through May. On Mon, Jan 20, at 6:30 pm we are hosting LIVE a presentation by Dr. John McDougall via Skype. He will speak to us directly and answer questions. This presentation is at the lower level of the Adventist Church. There is never any charge and all community members are welcome.

I hope you will seriously consider taking CHIP in February. I invite you to attend an information and registration session Jan 21 or Jan 23 from 6:30-7:30pm at the lower level of the Adventist Church, 2610 First St. The program will begin Feb 3 -March 12, 2020. I welcome calls for more information at 503-815-2270. Again, thank you to all who have attended and supported CHIP.

states with an average above $3 a gallon, same as a week ago. For the eighth week in a row, there are no states with an average above $4 a gallon. California's average had topped the $4-mark last

The cheapest gas in the nation can be found in Missouri ($2.22) and Oklahoma ($2.28). For the 47th week in a row, no states have an average below $2 a gallon.

Oregon is one of 22 states with lower prices now than a month ago. The national average is half a cent more and the Oregon average is 13 cents less than a month ago. This is the eighthlargest monthly decrease in the nation. Idaho (-26 cents) has the largest month-overmonth decline, Nevada (-21 cents) is second, Utah (-19 cents) is third and California (-18 cents) is fourth. Delaware (+9 cents) has the largest month-over-month increase.

Drivers in every state except Alaska are paying more than a year ago. The national average is 35 cents more and the Oregon average is 10 cents more than a year ago. Ohio (+59 cents) and Illinois (+54 cents) have the biggest year-over-year increases. Alaska (-4 cents) is the only state with a yearover-year drop.

For the week, the national average adds a penny to $3.02 a gallon for diesel. Oregon's average loses a penny to $3.27. A year ago, the national average for diesel was $2.96 and the Oregon average was $3.15.

of humor. She was an avid reader, and in her retirement volunteered at the Tillamook Hospital. She loved music, and was a charter member of the Neskowin Chamber Music Association and a regular attendee of Monday Musicals. In her life she was blessed to be able to travel to Europe, Hong Kong, cruised through the Panama Canal and visit many destinations in the U.S. Her greatest joy was reading, but she always had a pencil in hand for the daily crossword puzzle. She bowled for many years, and dutifully joined Carl and friends on annual autumnal hunting trips to SE Oregon. She never met a piece of salmon she didn't like to eat, or a dog she wouldn't pet.

Her husband of 55 years, Carl, and her son Thomas (aka Grae Wyddn), and her brother Bobby (at age 10 of polio) preceded her in death. She is survived by her brother Richard (Judy) Knarr of San Francisco, and daughters Christine Crossley of Bay City and Lynn (David) Grube of Corvallis; granchildren Shelli Hornbeak, Bryan Crossley, Sara Crossley, Heidi Bolt, Anton Grube, and Margaret Grube; and great-grandchildren Reese Grube, Sonia Grube, Isaac Hornbeak, Kiara Crossley, Sophia Bolt, Thaddeus Bolt, and Mikaela Sonsteby; and Smokey, her beloved dog. Never one to draw attention to herself, she desired no funeral. Memorial gifts in her name may be given to the Tillamook County Library.

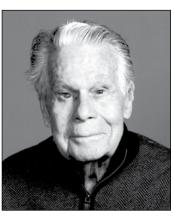

Jack was born in Portland, Oregon to Joseph and Olive Tipton Clevinger. He had two brothers, Richard (Dick) and Don. Jack attended Ainsworth Grade School, Benson High School and then joined the Navy, serving as a Coxswain on the U.S.S. Craven, a destroyer, in the South Pacific during World War II.

After the war he worked as a mechanic at Braley and Graham Buick. He met the love of his live, Aileen J. Hedman, in 1951 and they married on May 23, 1952. The couple moved to Niagara Falls, NY to stay with Jack's mother. While there, he worked for Bell Laboratories in aeronautical manufacturing. They returned to Portland with their first chid, Tom, after a year. Jack opened a service station at 39th and S.E. Belmont. (It was later purchased by ARCO and is still open in that location.) Three daughters followed, Jill, Judy and Suzi. Jack later went to work for ARCO as a regional manager, followed by positions in sales with two industrial supply companies, Ken R. Humke and A.W.

Davis in Portiand. They bought a home in Eastmoreland and were members of the Multnomah Athletic Club, active in badminton and tennis. Jack was also a member of the MAC Polar Bears who took a dip in the Polar Bear pool at the Oregon Zoo, or local rivers, each year on New Year's Day. Jack and Aileen bought

land in 1968 on the Oregon Coast at Netarts Bay and built the Bay Shore RV Park and Marina.

Jack worked full time in Portland and spent his vacations and every weekend, except Christmas, working at their coastal business for 25 years. There was a ten-year period where he did not have a vacation. He and Aileen finally hired managers to help them run the bustling business at the Coast. Their boat rental business was busy all summer and Jack was a master at crabbing, clamming and fishing, providing tips to their loyal customers and many friends.

After Jack and Aileen sold their business in 1994, they travelled in the winters to Lake Havasu, Arizona and later built a house there. He enjoyed trips to Nevada stopping off to gamble on the way south each year. They enjoyed walking and playing cards with friends and family. Jack loved to dance with Aileen and was always a vibrant presence at every party. They later bought a house in the Arranmore neighborhood near Raleigh Hills in Portland. He and Aileen were members of St. Luke Lutheran Church and for years were active on the Welcoming Committee and with the Grauer Back to School Project to supply lowincome children with clothing and shoes at back-to-school

After Aileen passed away in 2016, Jack bought a condominium in Palm Desert, California. He was happiest when he was in the desert enjoying the sun, watching the golfers go by, and entertaining family and

Jack is survived by his brother Don Clevinger; his four children, Tom Clevinger (Becky), Jill Whittaker, Judy Guyer (Skip), Suzi Merz (Kevin); and by his grandchildren, Ryan Clevinger, Katie Marsolan (Tim), Greg Sargent, Chloe Hollatz (Tom), Mike Merz, Chris Merz, Dezaray Mullins (Spencer), Madeline Whittaker, William Wilkerson, Jack Merz and J.T. Manzanita adopts US Army unit stationed in Africa

In mid-September 2019, a bus carrying members of the US Army 1st Battalion of the 186th Infantry crashed along Highway 101 in Manzanita. The City of Manzanita was quick to extend help and hospitality to the stranded service men and women and a mutual friendship was

Manzanita has now "adopted" this unit and the city will continue extending its hospitality to them as they serve overseas. The unit deployed to the Horn of Africa in November for a year.

Manzanita will begin sending care packages and is asking for local businesses and individuals to contribute items to send the unit during their deployment period. This will be a difficult time for these men and women while they are separated from their friends, families and loved ones. Anything to support them will go a long way in helping ease that burden. There have already been some generous donations.

"From my own experience, I know how appreciated little items sent from home are received by service men and women overseas," said Manzanita Mayor and Vietnam veteran Mike Scott in a press release. "They are far from home, separated from family for long periods of time. Some have no family."

Scott said to receive a paperback book, a card, or even a piece of candy is a powerful morale builder and they will know we have not forgotten them.

There are very specific items the Oregon Military Department allows for care packages. For complete details, visit http://exploremanzanita.com/city-of-manzanita-adoptsdeployed-us-army-unit/.

If you would like to contribute to this effort, items can be dropped off at the Manzanita Visitors Center or Manzanita City Hall. Each time they have enough for a package, they will send it off and start to fill a new one.

If you have any questions or would like to arrange a donation, please contact Kristin Grasseth at Manzanita City Hall at (503) 368-5343 or Dan Haag at Manzanita Visitors Center at (503) 812-5510.

Marshall Daryl Johnston

Sept. 29, 1928 - Jan. 4, 2020

Marshall Daryl Johnston passed away in his sleep in Milwaukie, Oregon on Jan. 4, 2020, after a long battle with Parkinson's Disease. He was 91 years old.

Daryl was born on Sept. 29, 1928 to Eva Lillian (Dodge) and Marshall Frederick Johnston in Redwood City, California. Daryl moved to the Oregon coast with his parents when he was a young child and lived the majority of his life there. His father started a dairy farm in the small town of Mohler, which Daryl continued after his father's death. Daryl helped his father build the family home on the property. Daryl married Donna Jean Urie on November 16, 1952 and built a second home for his growing family Daryl is survived by his wife of 67 years, his four children Marian Diann (Terry) Beaty, Donna Marie (Larry) Burt, Wayne Marshall Johnston and Lloyd Daryl Johnston, six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Daryl will be fondly remembered for his unfailingly strong work ethic, loyalty to his family and wicked sense of humor. He provided stability, safety and the best memories a person could ever hope to have. While he is finally at peace and reunited with his parents, he has left a hole that will never be filled.

Deceased's funeral arrangements: A memorial service will be held on Saturday, Feb. 22, 2020 at 1 p.m. at Nehalem Bay United Methodist Church in Nehalem, Oregon. All who wish to honor his memory are welcome.

Foundation aims to hook youth on hunting, fishing

Thanks to the late William T. Bruns' love for hunting and fishing and his love for sharing this passion with youth, his wife JoAnn Bruns has started The William T. Bruns Foundation here in Tilla-

"I started the foundation in the memory of 'Mr. Bill' Bruns, my late husband to honor him," JoAnn said.

"Bill was an avid and expert fisherman and hunter."

The mission of the foundation is to provide fishing and/or hunting licenses for youth ages 12-17 who attend school in the Tillamook School District. Bill worked for the school district prior to retiring.

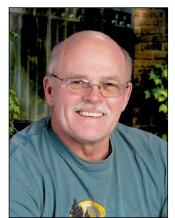

With cooperation from Tillamook Sporting Goods, certificates are available in each school office and during the summer at the district office in the Grants and Foundation Director's office. When filling out the certificate, indicate which licenses you want then take the certificate to Tillamook Sporting Goods to acquire your license.

Cheryl Waddell, manager at Tillamook Sporting Goods says all Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) laws apply, so it's a great opportunity to teach your young hunter of fishermen how fun the outdoors can be.

"Bill used to work for us at Tillamook Sporting Goods," Waddell said. "Plus it goes along with our mission of educating our youth and gets them outdoors loving and enjoying our valuable resources.

JoAnn says if you are interested in donating to WTB Foundation, you can help provide this opportunity to our local youth.

"Each $10 dollars donated allows a kid to fish all year," JoAnn added. Donations can be sent to: The William T. Bruns Foundation, 6900 Munson Creek road, Tillamook OR

Jim Horton announces official campaign for Tillamook County Sheriff

The Committee to Elect Jim Horton Tillamook County Sheriff would like to officially announce Sheriff Jim Horton's candidacy for the position of Tillamook County Sheriff in the 2020 Primary Elec-

Horton has occupied the position of Tillamook County Sheriff since Aug. 1, 2019, when he was appointed Sheriff by the Tillamook County Board of County Commissioners upon Sheriff Andy Long's retirement. Sheriff Long recommended him to be appointed sheriff. Horton's appointment was due to his diverse expertise in law enforcement practices, stewardship of public funds, and the ability to manage and lead our first-rate Sheriff's Office staff.

Horton was born and raised in Tillamook County. He graduated from Tillamook High School in 1989 and currently resides in the City of Tillamook along with his two teenaged children, Michael and Charlee. He is a third-generation law enforcement officer following his father, Robert Horton, who retired from the Sheriff's Office in 2003, and his grandfather, Jim Hodson, who was a member of the Sheriff's Office Reserve Deputy program in the early 1970s. He is dedicated to serving and protecting our tight-knit communities and has always considered Tillamook County his home.

Horton has been with the Tillamook County Sheriff's Office for 23 years. He has hands-on, practical experience in every division. He began his career as a reserve deputy in 1997. Shortly after, in 1998, He was hired full-time as a parole and probation deputy. After several years, he transferred to the criminal division and became a patrol deputy, detective, and detective sergeant. He was then promoted to be the criminal division commander and community corrections director. In that role, he supervised two-thirds of the Sheriff's Office and managed over five million dollars of public funds that operates our agency.

Horton is working toward addressing some of the following issues in our community to include: maintaining the public's trust and pursuing agency professionalism and excellence of service, maintaining and improving interagency relationships and collaboration to address our community issues, keep up with growth and pressures to infrastructure and services, implementing 24-hour patrol coverage, addressing the opioid / drug crisis, continuing to address child abuse, neglect, and domestic violence, and addressing the mental health crisis.

Horton has 23 years of experience in responding to the needs of our community. From his experience he understands what it takes to be your sheriff.

the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Alert detected a sailing vessel traveling north 225 nautical miles from Newport, Oregon. The vessel, named Mandalay, had a home port of Seattle, Washington and visible U.S. registration numbers.

When Coast Guard personnel attempted to communicate with Stirling, he went below deck and would only respond via VHF radio. Once Coast Guard personnel determined the Mandalay was a vessel within the jurisdiction of the U.S., they boarded and found Stirling to be the vessel's sole occupant.

Stirling stated he did not have vessel documentation and refused to produce identification. Upon further questioning, Sterling's speech began to deteriorate, and he displayed signs of a possible drug overdose. Coast Guard personnel administered medical aid to Stirling and evacuated him by helicopter to Astoria, Oregon. He was later transported by ambulance to Adventist Health Portland for additional treatment. Coast Guard personnel conducted a search of the Mandalay and discovered 28 seven-gallon jugs containing liquid methamphetamine. Under the MDLEA, Stirling faces a maximum sentence of life in prison, a $10-million fine and five years of supervised release.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, the government will recommend Stirling be sentenced to 87 months in prison. He will be sentenced on April 20, 2020 before U.S. District Court Judge Michael W. Mosman.

As part of the plea agreement, Stirling has agreed to forfeit the Mandalay.

This case was investigated by the U.S. Coast Guard Investigative Service (CGIS) and Homeland Security Investigations (HSI).

Plans, projects for 2020 in Garibaldi

Hilary Dorsey

The City of Garibaldi starts 2020 with initiating its new and improved Tourism Commission's first meeting in February. City Manager Geoff Wullschlager said they will be bringing on another admin position soon.

'The new admin position will be refilling the position Administrative Assistant Kylie Poklikuha vacated, which is 50 percent administrative, and 50 percent tourism focused, but it has the potentiality of becoming emergency preparedness focused in the future as well," Wullschlager said.

Poklikuha resigned about a month and a half ago. Utility Worker II Cory Perkins resigned in September. Systems Operator Martin McCormick retired Dec. 31 after 32 years.

Wastewater Systems Operator Nick Theoharis started in mid-November. David Hancock starts this week as Water Systems Operator. Utility Worker I Renitta Bennett started in July 2019. Assistant City Manager and Finance Director Lori Bennett started

Wullschlager said he was recently approached by the Tillamook County Visitors Association Board and asked to serve as a member. He has accepted and will be commencing his position this week at the upcoming meeting.

"We have also implemented mayoral office hours in City Hall several times a week on Tuesdays and Thursdays in an effort to make the mayor more accessible to the public," Wullschlager

Additionally, Wullschlager said several council members, Mayor Judy Riggs and Councilman Paul Daniels, are working with the Garibaldi Fire Department's fire chief in putting forth efforts towards reopening the discussion and process of fire district formation.

Bay City makes change to budget appropriations

headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Bay City Council held a special meeting on Monday, Jan. 6, for a public hearing to consider Resolution 20-01, a change to budget appropriations and adopting a supplemental budget. The City of Bay City requires "other professional services" to facilitate the transition of creating the office of the city manager and other staffing concerns.

Oregon Law 294.463 allows transfer of appropriations made within a fund for an occurrence or condition, which had not been discovered at the time of the preparation of a budget for this current year, which requires a change in financial planning. The City of Bay City has available resources within the Personnel Services within the Bay City General Fund and Enterprise Funds to transfer to the Material and Services to pay for "other professional service.'

Bay City Mayor Christopher Kruebbe asked new City Manager Chance Steffey if he has received any public comments about the resolution.

"We have not received any comments," Steffey said.

Tom Imhoff, planning commissioner and on the budget committee, asked if they identified extra funds that were available to make deduc-

"What we had in the budget was $30,000 for the transition of our city recorder," Steffey said.

Steffey said they were going to have a three month overlap with Linda Downey, previous city recorder, training the new city recorder. "We're not having that happen,"

Steffey said. "She's actually retired already."

The $30,000 was distributed to Materials and Services. The money can be used for hiring out "other professional services."

There was no other public comments and no discussion from the council. The resolution was passed.

Warehouse 10 assists meals for Seniors with fundraiser

Warehouse 10, a home and gift market in Twin Rocks, presented a $545 check to Meals For Seniors, Inc. of Rockaway Beach at their year-end Board meeting in December. This resulted in the proceeds of the store's sales the weekend of December 7-8. During that time the store also collected canned goods to donate to Meals For Seniors.

In presenting the check to the MFS Board of Directors on Dec. 9, Michele and Dave Gray, owners of Warehouse 10, said they are proud to have partnered with Meals For Seniors for their 2nd Annual Green Tag Fundraiser.

"We are grateful for all the support we received from our customers," they said. "We wish we would have written down the amazing stories we heard during our fundraiser of how programs like Meals For Seniors had helped friends and loved ones in our community."

In 2018, Meals For Seniors, Inc. served 11,408 meals and in 2019 the number was close to 14,000 meals. With the addition of more meals, food costs rose 22 percent.

Theresa Bruneau, president of Meals For Seniors, Inc. said, "Warehouse 10 really supported us at a key time as our need continues to grow as we face the winter months. Our home bound seniors profoundly rely on our services. Our many thanks to this wonderful business and key supporter of several non-profit organizations."

Michele went on to say, "The Warehouse 10 family has always supported the communities that we live in, and we will continue to find ways to help in our new Rockaway Beach community.' Meals For Seniors, Inc. is a 17-year-old nonprofit organization providing hot, freshly cooked and nutritious meals to senior citizens in North Tillamook County. Meals are served on site three times a week at rented facilities at St. Mary By The Sea Church in Rockaway Beach as well as delivered to low-income, shut-in senior citizens. The organization is managed and operated by a group of strong and dedicated volunteers who hail from Garibaldi to Nehalem. Seniors from North Tillamook County are welcome and encouraged to come for lunch which is served every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11:30 a.m. at St. Mary By The Sea Church dining hall at 279 S. Pacific St. Rockaway Beach, Oregon 97136. If seniors are unable to attend and in need of food to be delivered, please call 503-812-2073.

College students use more marijuana in legal states, binge drink less

molly.rosbach@oregonstate.edu

Marijuana use among college students has been trending upward for years, but in states that have legalized recreational marijuana, use has jumped even higher.

An Oregon State University study published today in Addiction shows that in states where marijuana was legalized by 2018, both occasional and frequent use among college students has continued to rise beyond the first year of legalization, suggesting an ongoing trend rather than a brief period of experimentation.

Overall, students in states with legal marijuana were 18 percent more likely to have used marijuana in the past 30 days than students in states that had not legalized the drug. They were also 17 percent more likely to have engaged in frequent use, defined as using marijuana on at least 20 of the past 30

The differences between states with and without legalization escalated over time: Six years after legalization in early-adopting states, students were 46 percent more likely to have used marijuana than their peers in non-legalized states.

Between 2012 and 2018, overall usage rates increased from 14 percent to 17 percent in non-legalized states, but shot up from 21 percent to 34 percent in the earliest states to legalize the drug. Similar trends appeared in states that legalized marijuana more recently.

Conducted by Harold Bae from OSU's College of Public Health and Human Sciences and David Kerr from OSU's College of Liberal Arts, this is the first study of college students to look broadly at multiple states that have legalized recreational marijuana and to go beyond the first year following legalization.

It includes data from seven states and 135 colleges where marijuana was legalized by 2018 and from 41 states and 454 colleges where recreational use was not legal.

That scope allowed Bae and Kerr to examine trends in the earliest adopting states as well as more recent adopters - though, the data for the study is stripped of state- and college-identifying information, so does not speak specifically to any one state or institu-

The data comes from the National College Health Assessment survey from 2008 to 2018, which asks about a wide range of use and is administered anonymously to encourage students to respond more honestly. More than 850,000 students participated.

Looking at specific demographics, researchers found that the effect was stronger among older students ages 21-26 than minors ages 18-20; older students were 23 percent more likely to report having used marijuana than their peers in non-legalized states. The effect was also stronger among female students and among students living in off-campus housing, possibly because universities adhere to federal drug laws that still classify marijuana as an illegal substance.

"It's easy to look at the findings and think, 'Yeah, of course rates would increase," Kerr said. "But we need to quantify the effects these policy changes are having.

Furthermore, he said, researchers are not finding increases in adolescents' marijuana use following legalization. "So it is surprising and important that these young adults are sensitive to this law. And it's not explained by legal age, because minors changed too."

A recent companion study published in Addictive Behaviors in November by OSU doctoral candidate Zoe Alley along with Kerr and Bae examined the relationship between recreational marijuana legalization and college students' use of other substanc-

Using the same dataset, they found that after legalization, students ages 21 and older showed a greater drop in binge drinking than their peers in states where marijuana was not legal. Binge drinking was defined as having five or more drinks in a single sitting within the previous two weeks.

Researchers have not yet tested any hypotheses as to why binge drinking fell, but they have some ideas.

An outside study previously found that illegal marijuana use decreases sharply when people hit 21 – where there is a sharp increase in alcohol use.

"When you're under 21, all substances are equally illegal," Alley said. "In most states, once you reach 21, a barrier that was in the way of using alcohol is gone, while it's intact for marijuana use. But when marijuana is legal, this dynamic is changed."

Binge drinking has been on the decline among college students in recent years, but dropped more in states that legalized marijuana than in states that did not.

"So in these two studies we saw changes after legalization that really differed by substance," Kerr said. "For marijuana we saw state-specific increases that went beyond the nationwide increases, whereas binge drinking was the opposite: a greater decrease in the context of nationwide decreases.'

The magnitude of effect was much larger with marijuana than with any of the other substances, Bae added. "So the changes following recreational marijuana legalization were quite specific to cannabis use."

Future research is needed to see how those trends hold up over time, as additional states legalize marijuana and existing states continue to tweak their current policies, the

Oregon gas tax increase in effect

The second of four planned increases in the gas tax went into effect Jan. 1, 2020. The increase is part of House Bill 2017, the "Keep Oregon Moving" legislation passed by the Oregon Legislature in 2017.

Gas Tax Increase Schedule

$.04 - Jan. 1, 2018 $.02 - Jan. 1, 2020

$.02 – Jan. 1, 2022

$.02 - Jan. 1, 2024 $.10 Total

Accountability measures

For the first time, Oregon lawmakers set requirements that Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) and Oregon cities and counties must meet in order to trigger the increase. The Oregon Transportation Commission sent the Legislature a report outlining how ODOT and local governments have met those requirements on Nov. 26, 2019. Two more 2 cent gas tax increases in 2022 and 2024 are also on deckbut only if ODOT meets additional accountability requirements.

Requirements met

The gas tax increase was tied to ODOT completing two specific projects to help address congestion on I-205.

- I-205 Corridor Bottleneck ($15.5M). ODOT paved portions of I-205 and constructed new lanes between interchanges in the Sunnybrook and Johnson Creek areas to improve safety and reduce conges-

- I-205 Active Traffic Management ($15.2M). ODOT installed signage giving motorists real-time information about travel times.

Road, bridge condition reports

ODOT worked with Oregon cities and counties to produce a website detailing the condition of the major roads and all Oregon bridges. The site grades the major roads in and through communities as good, fair, or poor so people can see what they're getting for their increased taxes.

Project reporting

ODOT also had to provide a list of shovel-ready projects that could be constructed with additional funds and report on the agency's efforts to address congestion through a number of other important projects in the Portland metro region, including the (I-5 Rose Quarter project, new lanes on OR 217, widening of I-205 between Stafford Road and the Abernethy Bridge, and implementation of tolling.

How the money will be spent

Of the nearly sixty million dollars this increase will raise, 20 percent goes to Oregon counties, 30 percent to Oregon cities and 50 percent to ODOT. ODOT will use its share ($27.9M) of the funds for:

- Highway maintenance ($1.7M)
- Bridge projects ($11.2M)
- Seismic projects
- Preservation and culvert projects ($6.7M)

"Accountability ensures that our state and local transportation agencies are spending taxpayer dollars wisely," Gov. Kate Brown (D) said. "In this report, Oregonians can see exactly how we are building a transportation system that supports economic development, reduces congestion and related vehicle emissions, and creates more sustainable, livable communities." "The Commission is proud of the excellent work ODOT has done to date to implement the 2017 transportation legislation," said Oregon Transportation Commission Chairman Robert Van Brocklin. "The additional funding that we will see beginning next January as a result of ODOT's work will allow us to make including projects to reduce Portland area traffic conges-

"It will also allow us to build new and preserve existing transportation investments in every region of the state," Brocklin said. "We look forward to continuing the work we have been charged with undertaking to keep Oregon moving."

This first increase would raise the Oregon gas tax from 34 to 36 cents a gallon. The federal tax is 18.4 cents a gallon. Oregon's counties and cities are allowed to add their own local gas tax as well. At full implementation in 2024, Oregon's gas tax will be 40 cents a gallon, still less than the gas tax in either Washington or California.

Civil Air Patrol dines out, promotes cadets

It was a night for recognition and a bit of fun when the Tillamook County Composite Squadron/Flight 114 landed at Kitty's Food & Spirits this past month. The unit held its inaugural Holiday Dining Out with a promotion ceremony on Dec. 12, 2019.

The evening was punctuated by remarks from Civil Air Patrol (CAP) officials recognizing the efforts and dedication of its volunteer members. There was an emphasis on teaching the next generation of cadets to be aerospace and military leaders if they choose those paths, giving them a head start on life and a goalachieving mindset.

The evening marked a new tradition for the Tillamook unit. While it may have been missing a few facets, the event was a much more formal, traditional Dining Out event than past affairs thanks to some assistance from the community, and the work of members who arranged to raise the bar while honoring service and promoting three cadet members to higher ranks. The centerpiece of the night was an oral history presentation about the Tillamook blimp base from Tillamook Air Museum Curator Christian Gurling. Look for more on that in a coming edition of the Headlight. Gurling has been curator for 12 years and is currently working to modernize the museum with interactive, immersive exhibits that appeal to all Meien Shiomi was promoted to Cadet/Senior Master Sergeant, Justis Hyde was promoted to Cadet/Staff Sergeant, and Maya Wilks was promoted to Cadet/Airman. Kitty's owner Joel Baker was among a number of honorees during the evening. He was recognized both for hosting the event and for decades of musical performances for military organizations.

Since CAP's formation early on during World War II, citizen Airmen have been committed to national service. Founded on Dec. 1, 1941, to mobilize the nation's civilian aviation resources for national defense service, CAP has evolved into a premier public service organization that still carries out emergency service missions when needed — in the air and on the ground.

An Air Force auxiliary partner, CAP is there to search for and find the lost, provide comfort in times of disaster and work to keep the homeland safe. Its members devote themselves to the well-being of their communities while also promoting aviation and related fields through aerospace and STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) education and helping shape future leaders through CAP's cadet program.

Tillamook County Composite Squadron 114 welcomes new youth and adult members throughout the year. There are opportunities for excitement and education for all ages. Young people up to age 18 can join as cadets, and those 18 and older can join as senior members.

There are three main programs in CAP: Search and Rescue, Aerospace Education and Cadet Programs. You can find CAP on social media at Facebook.com/cap.tillamook.1

Phone and Internet Discounts Available to CenturyLink Customers

The Oregon Public Utility Commission designated CenturyLink as an Eligible Telecommunications Carrier within its service area for universal service purposes. CenturyLink's basic local service rates for residential voice lines are $18.48-$19.48 per month and business services are $26.00-$30.00 per month. Specific rates will be provided upon request.

CenturyLink participates in a government benefit program (Lifeline) to make residential telephone or broadband service more affordable to eligible lowincome individuals and families. Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the FCC and state commissions. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain additional federal eligibility programs. The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone or qualifying broadband service per household, which can be either a wireline or wireless service. Broadband speeds must be 20 Mbps download and 3 Mbps upload or faster to qualify.

A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone or broadband service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.

If you live in a CenturyLink service area, please call 1-855-954-6546 or visit centurylink.com/lifeline with questions or to request an application for the Lifeline program.

The Frittata works as a quick breakfast, lunch or dinner option. Packed with protein, it's also a great way to fulfill that hard-tomeet recommendation for daily vegetable intake.

Inspired by a "mix-andmatch" frittata feature in Parade Magazine, this recipe has become a go-to for using up various leftovers. The hardest thing about this recipe is finding a pan that can be used on both the stovetop and in the oven. (I use a 10-inch cast iron skillet that I bought from a flea market vendor.)

Number of servings: 6-8

- Ingredients:
- 8 eggs
- ½ t. salt
- ¼ t. pepper
- 1 T. olive oil • 1 C. "mix & match" veggies - garlic, onion, spinach, pepper, mushroom, zucchini, and/or broccoli
- ½ C. cooked ham, chicken, sausage, or bacon (optional)
- ½ 1 C. shredded cheese (I prefer Tillamook Sharp)
- ½ C. fresh herbs such as basil, chives, cilantro (op-
- 1 T. "flavor boost" Dijon mustard, capers, sriracha or pesto (optional)
- Top with salsa or sliced fresh tomatoes

Directions:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a separate bowl, beat or whisk eggs.

Coconut Fruit Tart

Coconut Fruit Tart is a nice slice to wake up my taste buds and change up my breakfast groove. Bran flakes in a crunchy walnut crust and fruit boost the

- 3 cups bran flakes, crumbled
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 eggs, room temperature
- 2 cups plain yogurt
- ½ cup shredded coconut (I prefer unsweetened, but sweetened works)
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups chopped fruit (strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, plums, mango)
- ¼ cup coconut, toasted
- 1 teaspoon lime zest

Crust

Heat oven to 375°F. While the oven is heating, toast ¼ cup coconut for topping. Spread coconut in a single layer on baking sheet. Bake for 5-7 minutes, until lightly browned, stirring frequently. Coconut is high in fat, so it can easily burn.

In a large bowl, combine bran flakes, butter, walnuts and ginger. Press firmly into a 9-inch tart or pie pan. Bake 12- 15 minutes. Set aside to cool.

Filling

In a bowl, stir eggs to mix well, add yogurt, coconut, honey and vanilla extract. Stir to combine all ingredients. Pour into cooled crust. Bake at 375°F for 25-30 minutes, until filling is set. The center of the tart should be firm and not jiggle when you shake the pan. Remove from oven to cool. Tart may be refrigerated overnight. Before serving, top with fruit and sprinkle toasted coconut and lime zest over.

Eat well: Restaurant-inspired meals at home

Tillamook County Wellness is all about making healthy happen in 2020. We are encouraging people to Choose Well – a campaign series that will run throughout the year, providing support and local resources for living a healthier life. To kick things off, we are launching our Eat Well campaign, highlighting specific ways we can improve our eating patterns. As coordinator of our wellness initiative, I am sharing some of my own experience and inspiration for making healthy, restaurant-inspired meals everyone can enjoy. Our family celebrated the New Year with football and peanut butter, pickle and pineapple hamburgers. This tasty nugget was inspired by a visit to Killer Burger more than a year ago. Other restaurant-inspired foods that have made their way onto our kitchen table include squash soup, roasted Brussel sprouts and kale salad; all foods we would not have considered making at home until we discovered their deliciousness at a restaurant. Much of our inspiration has come from local restaurants like The Creamery, Blue Heron, Pacific Restaurant and Antonette's, to name a few. You don't have to eat out, though, to enjoy a good meal that's also good for you.

Growing up, I didn't give much thought to how or what I ate. As we began to raise a family, and as I worked toward earning a master's degree in Health & Kinesiology, my relationship with eating and cooking changed. It was a slow process, motivated by my desire to serve healthy meals to our growing boys. When I understood the role good nutrition played in how their brains developed and how that would help them become better learners in school, it became a major priority for me to prepare and serve healthy food at home.

There was just one problem. The foods my kids liked to eat weren't very healthy and they turned their noses at the healthy options I tried to serve. It didn't help that I am really not much of a cook. I had to figure out how to make healthy food taste better. I began to change t my cooking habits based on things our family enjoyed when we ate out.

One of the biggest changes I made was to add more vegetables and flavor to our meals. There are three magical ingredients that worked for us . . . garlic, onion and olive oil. There are very few nights of the week my kitchen does not smell like a combination of these ingredients. It doesn't matter if we are eating whole wheat spaghetti, chicken stir fry with brown rice or a veggie frittata, I always start with those three ingredients. To this day, that is one of my favorite smells when I walk into a restaurant. And that's when I knew our family had made the change toward better eating – when my kids came home from sports practice or work and, as they entered the kitchen, would breathe in deeply and say, "Yum,

There are so many simple tips and tricks that have helped me become a better and more confident cook. It's taken twenty years and it is still a work in progress. The biggest lesson I have learned is that motivation matters. I didn't get serious about eating better until I decided to do it for my kids. We'd love to hear from you, whether you are an experienced cook or someone who, like me, entered the kitchen as a reluctant chef. What simple changes have you made to your eating habits and what changes have you noticed as a result? What has motivated you and what barriers have you had to overcome? 2020 Girl Scout cookie season kicked off in Oregon on Jan. 4

Girl Scouts of Oregon and Southwest Washington kicked off its 2020 Girl Scout Cookie season on Jan. 4. Girl Scouts sell cookies door to door, at booth sales, and via the Digital Cookie platform, an innovative and educational web-based platform that helps girls run and manage their Girl Scout Cookie businesses online.

Now in its sixth year, the Digital Cookie platform continues to bring Girl Scout programming into the future by providing girls with invaluable business and science, technology, engineering, and math skills that prepare them for 21st century leadership.

New this year, the Girl Scouts introduces a brand new cookie, Lemon-Ups. This cookie is a crispy lemon cookie baked with messages inspired by Girl Scout entrepreneurs. "I am a go-getter" and "I am an innovator" are among the eight phrases that bring the experience of Girl Scouting to life. The new cookie joins the national 2020 lineup, which also includes favorites such as Thin Mints, Samoas, and Trefoils.

Local Girl Scouts will take orders from customers beginning Jan. 4 for delivery beginning mid-February. There are just shy of 100 Girl Scouts that will be participating in Tillamook and Clatsop Counties beginning Feb. 14. Booths are typically set up in front of grocery stores like Fred Meyer, Safeway and other local businesses.

Cookie booth sales and Cookie Finder

Girl Scouts will sell cookies at booths in front of local retailers throughout Oregon and Southwest Washington from Feb. 14 through March 8. Customers can find a Girl Scout Cookie booth near their location with the Cookie Finder at girlscoutsosw.org or use the Girl Scout Cookie Finder app available for iPhone or Android.

The power behind the Girl Scout Cookie Program

The Girl Scout Cookie Program is the largest entrepreneurial training program for girls in the world. Girl Scouts learn five essential skills: goal setting, decision making, money management, people skills and business ethics.

Girl Scout cookies have local impact

100 percent of the net revenue earned from cookie sales remains within the local region.

"I am inspired by the life skills that are being developed in the Cookie program," said Victoria Foreman, director of Product Program for Girl Scouts of Oregon and Southwest Washington, in a press release. "Girls are developing a strong sense of self by participating, learning skills to succeed, and problem solve to manage setbacks as they build their Cookie businesses."

Girl Scouts use their cookie proceeds to power amazing experiences, be it an Astronomy Adventure, Horse Camp, Snowshoe Hike or other activity. Troops decide how to invest in impactful community projects such as building ADA ramps, helping a local animal shelter or cleaning a local beach, park or trail. Every purchase of Girl Scout Cookies helps provide for new and unique opportunities for local girls including valuable educational experiences that have lifelong impact.

experiences that have lifelong impact. Girl Scout campers in Oregon and Southwest Washington use cookie program proceeds to fund their own camp and travel adventures. And, nearly every Girl Scout troop uses some portion of their cookie proceeds to give back to their local communities.

About the Girl Scout Cookie Program

A little more than a century ago, girls began participating in what would evolve into the largest entrepreneurial training program for girls in the world: the Girl Scout Cookie Program. To learn more about the history of the Girl Scout Cookie Program, please visit girlscoutcookies.org.

In partnership with more than 8,000 adult members, Girl Scouts of Oregon and Southwest Washington prepares 14,500 girls in grades K-12 for a lifetime of leadership, adventure and success. GSOSW's programs in civic engagement, financial literacy, the outdoors and STEM serve girls in 35 counties in Oregon, and Clark, Klickitat and Skamania counties in Southwest Washington. The Girl Scout mission is to build girls of courage, confidence, and character, who make the world a better place.

OSU Extension Service holds "Strong Women & Strong People Program"

The Oregon State University Extension Service in Tillamook County welcomes the public to the "Strong Women & Strong People Program," a strength training program for middleaged and older adults, beginning the week of Monday, Jan. 13 – March 30.

The Strong Women class is for women and has three session options starting at 8 a.m., noon or 1:30 p.m. Classes are held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the OSU Extension Office in Tillamook, 4506 Third St. The Strong People class is open to everyone and is held Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 9-10 a.m. at the Netarts Community Building.

The Strong Women & People Programs were developed at Tufts University, based upon research on how strength training improves the health of older adults. Research shows strength training improves bone density, arthritis symptoms, flexibility, strength and reduces falls. Registration is now open at http://bit.ly/TillamookFamilyHealth.

Enrollment includes payment of $30 and the completion of health screening and enrollment forms. Those over the age of 70, or those with other chronic health conditions, must obtain a release from their medical provider prior to beginning class. All new participants attending sessions at the OSU Extension Office agree to attend orientation on Monday, Jan. 13, 10:30-11:30 a.m. or schedule an appointment with the program coordinator.

Accommodation requests related to a disability should be made by Monday, Jan. 6, to Nancy Kershaw at 503-842-3433 or Nancy.Kershaw@oregonstate.edu.

GARDENING MATTERS

Winter interest

There is little going on in the January garden. The short days and dark nights are only good for planning and not for planting. But wait... what's that spot of color over there? And there!

Sometimes known as the Christmas Rose, Hellebores are wonderful winter plants that bloom from late December until late February. And there are so many varieties to choose from. I have one that is almost black and another that is purple and pink. The lighter colored ones are the ones most obvious in the winter garden, but the black one has its charms, too. I have mine in a secluded spot near the front gate, but I really need to move him into a place where he is not lost in the shadows. The reason I refer to this Hellebore as masculine is because his real name is Helleborus 'Dark Knight' and the name suits him.

Although I said I need to move the Dark Knight, I will have to use caution in doing that as once Hellebores are established, they don't like being dug up and moved. I will be sure and take a lot of soil if I do find a potentially better spot. The alternative is to look for seedlings around the "mother" plant and transplant those in the early spring before they get too settled in.

I also have a H. 'Ivory Prince' that I found at the now-defunct Yard, Garden and Patio Show in Portland over five years ago. It is a very pretty ivory color that stands out on a dark winter day. This is one I did successfully move last year as it was being crowded out by surrounding shrubs. It is now in a pot in the shade and very happy. One year I counted (yes, I really did) over 50 blossoms on this one plant.

One of my favorite Hellebores is called Helleborus x sternii 'Hot Flash.' This one has an unusual leaf type as it is variegated, thick, leathery and jagged edged rather than the typical dark green Hellebore leaf. But the flowers are spectacular and have more of an outward-facing bloom than many Hellebores that have drooping flowers. The flowers are a dusty pink color and are a spot of light in the January garden. In most years mine has bloomed until late March. Originally bred by Terra Nova Nurseries, this one is now hard to find in the nurseries or on line so if you stumble across one, snatch it up no matter the cost.

Winter

You won't be disappointed and they live a long time. I have had mine for almost ten years now. And it is as pretty in 2020 as it was in 2012.

Hellebores like partial or full shade and well-drained soil. They are wonderful planted under high branching trees. They prefer alkaline soil and thrive when sidedressed with organic matter. If you do this will some well-seasoned compost, you won't have to fertilize them any further.

Another plant that is at its best in the winter months is my favorite Sarcacocca or sweet box. I have written about this wonderful plant several times before, but it worth another mention. I have mine placed along the path into the house from the street and it is a very pretty evergreen addition there most of the year. But in January, as I walk to or from the house, it fills the air with the sweetest of scents! The leaves are an oval shape and rather waxy, and the flowers are small and white and resemble shaggy bells. This is not a flower that is big and showy like a dahlia, but instead remains hidden among the leaves. You can't miss the scent, though, and this year when it first started blooming - and scenting - it stopped me in my tracks until I realized what the perfume was coming from. They like full or part shade and regular water as long as the soil drains well. They grow slowly and only to about five feet high and wide. But Sarcacocca are valuable winter interest in any garden.

A third lovely winter plant is the Daphne odora. They can be a little tricky to grow as they are a bit finicky. They like air around their roots, kind of like rhododendron. So porous, fast-draining soil is a must in the Tillamook garden. They need to be shaded at the hottest times of the day, and shading the roots with groundcover – as you would a clematis - will help keep the roots happy. If you manage to keep your Daphne contented, it will reward you with lovely pink flowers that have a heavenly scent, different from the Sarcacocca, but still like perfume. It is this scent that makes them worth a try. I have had mine in the garden – also along the path to the house – for over 12 years. It doesn't always bloom in the winter, but when it does, it is worth my pampering it during other years.

These are three plants that I think you will find keep those winter blues at bay. They work for me.

FENCEPOSTS

Many thanks to Margaret Tweelinckx for calling with the news that Gloria Languedoc, former resident of Cape Meares, has sold her house in Beaverton and moved to an assisted living facility in Hillsboro. Gloria loved her years in Cape Meares and was an active participant in the artists' community here. If you would like to send a card or note to her new home, Marg is sure Gloria would appreciate it. Her mailing address is as follows: Gloria Languedoc, The Springs at Tanasbourne, 1950 NE 102nd Ave. Unit #252, Hillsboro OR, 97006.

My husband, Pete, and I were out beachcombing on Jan. 5 when we saw something odd in the surf. A seagull was sitting on an object. It was too big to be a fish and too floppy to be a log. Was it a seal? We walked closer. It turned out to be a dead sea otter! That was the first sea otter we have ever seen north of Monterey Bay,

Knowing it was a find that Jim Rice, Stranding Coordinator for Oregon State University, would want to know about, we took pictures and Pete texted them to Jim. Jim was excited; sea otters are very rare in our area. Could we secure it for him to collect? Unfortunately, we weren't able to take another hike out on the spit that day, but Cape Meares resident Olli Ollikainen came to the rescue. He and Jim collected the animal, estimated to be about 80 pounds, and put it on a sled. They then pulled the sled up the big sand dune and along the trail to the parking lot. Jim said it looked as if a shark had bitten the sea otter. He took it back to OSU's veterinary lab for further study. We will check with Jim later to find out the necropsy results; I'll report back to you Fencepost readers when I learn more.

If you find a live or dead marine mammal on the beach, contact Jim Rice at OSU. His cell phone is 541-270-6830, his office number is 541-867-0446, and his e-mail address is jim.rice@ oregonstate.edu. Be a citizen scientist!

In a last nod to the holidays, cheers to Anita and Keith Johanson and Carolyn and Olli Ollikainen on their recent trip to Victoria, British Columbia. The Empress Hotel was a glorious sight, ablaze with Christmas lights. The two couples did a lot of walking around the inner harbor as well as along the strait. They ate hearty meals in English and Irish pubs. What a memorable way to celebrate the season!

Snow is in the forecast for Cape Meares as I write this. Snow on the beach is such an amazing sight; I sure hope we get some!

Don't forget to tune in to OPB tomorrow night, Jan. 16, at 8:30 p.m. to watch the new documentary on the city of Bayocean. It's entitled "Lost City of Bayocean." Bayocean is like the tombs in Egypt; no matter how much time has passed, there's always something new to discover.

Thanks to Christine Harrison for forwarding a copy of the Art Accelerated January newsletter to our Fencepost's inbox. Several coming events may appeal to readers. First, there are two children's Art Expressions Classes starting before the end of the month. A Monday offering is open to students in third grade or older weekly on Mondays starting Jan. 27. Kindergarten through second graders have the option from on Wednesdays starting Jan. 29. Both classes meet from 3-5:00 p.m. E-mail artaccelerated@gmail.com for more information, including price and registration details.

Art Accelerated also offers classes for adults. Basic Drawing is offered from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturdays starting February 1 and running through March 1. Acrylic Painting is offered from 6-8:00 p.m. on Thursdays starting Jan. 30 through March 5. Either option is $45. Registration may be secured at artaccelerated.org or in person at the gallery located at 1906 Third St. in Tillamook. Adults who dabble in art are invited as well to an Open Studio at the gallery slated for 1:30-3:30 p.m. each Tuesday for $5. Bring your

South Tillamook County Library will be closed on Monday, Jan. 20 for the Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday. Free programs

there include Snow Stories for After School Club at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 15. A showing of Dora and the Lost City of Gold is in store when the group meets on Jan. 22. Woven Wednesdays, a chance to make progress on our own needlecraft or sewing projects, are planned for 6 p.m. those same Wednesdays. Mother Goose on the Loose, story time for babies through age three with their caretakers, is slated for 10 a.m. on Saturdays. The library is located off of Brooten Road on Camp Street in Pacific City.

Congratulations and best wishes for happily ever after to Sandy Hanneman of Pacific City and Verne Mobley of Neskowin on their wedding. The happy couple reportedly tied the knot over the recent blustery weekend. Congratulations to them both. Happy birthday this Greetings on this cold, rainy day. As I write this column, we are expecting king tides and 30 foot monster waves. If you're from here, you know not to go for a walk on the beach, and if you're visiting the Tillamook coast, please observe the ocean from a safe location, but stay off the beach.

The rivers are running high right now. But when the water drops, we know that anglers will be anxious to get out on the rivers to fish for steelhead. Experienced anglers know that rivers can change after high water. For example, we noticed a sweeper log spanning most of the Nestucca River a few miles below Beaver. This could be a hazard to boaters, so be careful.

The Pearl and Oyster meeting will be on Thursday, Jan. 16, at 6 p.m.. The meeting will be held in the conference room at Precision Wood Manufacturing, 8140 Bewley St. in Bay City. If you get lost, call me at (503)931-9721. Bring your notebooks and your

You will enjoy a full pancake breakfast, meet new people and help the community all at once! The cost is $7 per person and the kidlet under 5 years of age eat for free. This yummy breakfast will be at the Rockaway Beach Lions Club at 268 S. Anchor St. Be sure to put this event on your calendar. It is coming up this Sunday, believe it or not. I have a feeling this month is going to fly by!

The Meals for Seniors Program extends an invitation to all seniors in Tillamook County to join them for lunch. It is served at 11:30 a.m. sharp, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at St. Mary's by the Sea hall in Rockaway Beach. They ask for a donation for the meals, which includes salad, dessert, juice and coffee. You will meet folks from our community too! I now have confirmation of the date of the Italian Dinner & Silent Auction. Melissa McCarty told me it will be on March 7 from 5-7:30. I will update you, s the time gets closer. This is a huge fundraiser for the Rockaway Beach Parks and Recreation Department.

Please contact me if you have some news for our community column! Just email me, text me or give me a call. Thank you so much! Before I sign off, I want to remind you that the Salty Strings Ukulele Group meets at the Rockaway Beach City Hall every Wednesday from 6-7:30 p.m.. We have loaner ukes for you to borrow or come and just sing o watch us play!
