State owes $1 billion to rural counties for timber lawsuit

Cody Mann

headlightnews@countrymedia.net

The state of Oregon was in breach of contract with more than a dozen counties including Tillamook and 151 tax districts for not maximizing timber harvests and related payments in the past two decades, according to a Linn County jury.

A trial regarding the matter lasted nearly a month and was concluded on Wednesday, Nov. 20. A jury found the state must pay $1 billion dollars in damages for lost revenue after the state failed to cut down enough trees since 2001. The payout includes future damages under the assumption that state forest management will continue status quo. The state reportedly plans to appeal the verdict.

If the appeal fails, Tillamook, Washington and Linn would reap large portions of the judgment out of 15 forest trust counties. Despite being a major timber producer, Clatsop County opted out of the lawsuit. Klamath County was removed from the case by the judge because its forests operate under a pre-2001 forest management plan. No funding mechanism for paying the judgement has been put in place at this time and state budgets are nearly universally challenged by gaps.

Noting the jury's short deliberation time of just a few hours, Tillamook County Commissioner David Yamamoto issued a statement following the decision that a nearly 80-year-old contract was breached by the State of Oregon.

The trial, which was held in the Circuit Court of Linn County and presided over by Judge Thomas McHill, began with jury selection on Oct. 24, 2019. The lawsuit was originally filed in March 2016. Yamamoto said during the trial the jury heard more than hundreds of hours of testimony and reviewed hundreds of exhibits, some going back to the early 1900s.

"It is expected that the State will likely appeal the verdict, but while this continues to drag through the appeal process, 9-percent interest will accrue which is over $90M per year," Yamamoto said in the statement. "After attorney's costs, Tillamook County's share of the verdict could be roughly

"The rapidity of the verdict after a month-long trial and awarding of full damages by the jury shows the strength of the trust counties case."

- Tillamook County Commissioner David Yamamoto

$332 million. However, we have 20 taxing districts that receive almost 75 percent of our timber receipts from state forest harvests.

Yamamoto said Tillamook County's taxing districts receiving timber receipts include three school districts, Tillamook Transportation, Tillamook Bay Community College, NW Regional Education Service District, three Port districts, North County Recreation District, 4-H Extension and many others.

"Since 1998, when the State Legislature changed the rules of the 1941 Forest Acquisition Act, rural forest trust counties were expected to shoulder the financial burden of these changes," Yamamoto said. "The rapidity of the verdict after a month-long trial and awarding of full damages by the jury shows the strength of the trust counties case."

Responding to news of the judgement, Tillamook School District Superintendent Curt Shelley said in past years the district has made some difficult decisions which resulted in cutting positions. Shelley said additional funds would be well received and would be a great investment for students.

Neah-Kah-Nie School District Superintendent Paul Erlebach presented a letter to the Oregon State Board of Forestry in March of this year and has been following the timber lawsuit closely since the beginning. He has testified to the forest board twice to stress the importance of sustainable forest harvest and to support maximizing timber harvest on Trust Lands.

Erlebach firmly believes that excess volume is added to the growing standing inventory at the expense of counties, communities, special districts and school districts that are reliant on an equitable harvest rate and corresponding timber sales to fund critical services.

Erlebach also thinks state and county officials in 1941 interpreted greatest permanent value to mean the state would manage forest lands to maximize timber production and to transfer these revenues to the counties, taxing districts, and school districts. He said this is not the first time

Safeway donates 30 turkeys for The Schooner's Thanksgiving

Hilary Dorsey

headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Schooner Restaurant & Lounge posted on social media Wednesday, Nov. 20, that 600 pounds of turkeys were donated by Safeway for The Schooner's Thanksgiving Benefit, which donates 100 percent of their proceeds to the Oregon Food Bank - Tillamook County Services.

This is the largest fundraiser for the Oregon Food Bank Tillamook Services and was created by Tommy Flood Jr., who passed away this past January.

"Tommy Flood Jr., who passed away suddenly at the beginning of this year, started this fundraiser over 10 years ago. The event started by raising a couple of hundred dollars and has grown to over $26,000 last year. Tommy greatly attributed this level of growth to the commitment that Patrick Criteser, Tillamook County Creamery Association (TCCA) president and CEO, made several years ago, for the Creamery to provide funds to inspire others to give," Melissa Carlson-Swanson, branch services manager, Oregon Food Bank Tillamook County Services.

"The Schooner team is determined to continue this event to honor Tommy's memory, as fighting hunger in Tillamook County was a very personal and important cause for him.

These funds allow our [Oregon Food Bank] team to be responsive and nimble in improving our programs to better meet the needs of our community. For every $1 raised, 10 meals are provided for the community," Carlson-Swanson said.

Tillamook County Creamery Association will continue its support of the Thanksgiving Fundraiser Dinner with a donation of $5,000 to encourage community support. They have sponsored the fundraising dinner for several years. They are once again donating turkeys and hams to the Oregon Food Bank Tillamook County Services for their Thanksgiving and Christmas food boxes. This year, TCCA will donate 300 turkeys and 100 hams.

"Last year we received all of our turkey from Zweifel Farms, however, due to the circumstances of the beginning of our year with Tommy's passing, I missed the deadline to or-

Court of Appeals extends stay on flavored vaping products

Hilary Dorsey

headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

Gov. Kate Brown's six month ban on flavored nicotine and cannabis vaping products is on hold with new rulings Nov. 14 by the Oregon Court of Appeals.

Last month, the Court temporarily halted the ban on only flavored nicotine vaping products. It has now extended the stay and granted a stay covering the ban on flavored cannabis vaping products as well. While a judicial review is conducted, enforcement of this rule will be discontinued.

Until the judicial review is complete, licensees are not prohibited from processing, transferring and selling products previously banned.

The Oregon Health Authority (OHA) and the Oregon Liquor Control Commission (OLCC) had filed temporary rules Oct. 11, that put into effect Brown's Oct. 4 executive order banning all flavored vaping product sales in the state.

"The court's decision to enter stays last week is unfortunate in light of the ongoing public health threat posed by vaping-related illness and the alarming growth in the use of vaping products by Oregon youth," said Charles Boyle, governor's office press secretary. "What is clear is that it is far past time for the Trump Administration and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to follow through on their promises to ban flavored vaping products so that we can protect children across the country from vaping-related illness and lifetime of nicotine addiction."

Boyle said in the meantime, Brown will continue to work with stakeholders and the Legislature to find long-term solutions to protect the public health from vaping-related illness. Brown continues to urge Oregonians to heed the public health warning of the OHA and to stop vaping immediately.

Oregon Sen. Jeff Merkley, the top Democrat on the Appropriations subcommittee overseeing the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), released on Nov. 18 a statement regarding reports that

Habitat selects families for Eighth Street townhouses

Chelsea Yarnell

Guest Contributor

What does 'home' mean to you? Rest. Peace. Memories. Safety. And the ability to nail something into the wall.

The question circulated around the table as three Tillamook Habitat for Humanity families met at the Tillamook Restore for a time of fellowship. LeeAnne and Julius Mitchell moved into their Habitat house on Miller Avenue in Tillamook a little less than a year ago and will get to enjoy their first Christmas as homeowners.

"I'm feeling like this is the best part of my life right now," LeeAnne said. "It's the first time in my entire life having a consistent, safe, house."

Her husband Julius agreed, adding that it's a place that their two kids will create happy memories in.

"It's the first time in my life I have a feeling of security," Julius said. "There's not another person like a landlord that causes anxiety."

This year, Tillamook Habitat for Humanity has broken ground on their newest build: two attached townhouses on Eighth Street in central Tillamook.

And the Mitchell's are ready to mentor the newest Habitat families on their journey to home ownership.

"Who better than someone who's been through the process," Executive Director Cami Aufdermauer said. "Families that are connecting and supporting each other."

Josh Gingerich, Habitat's Construction Manager, is overseeing the project and expects to be completed sometime this summer.

Amanda Swift and her daughters Kimber and Kali are one of the selected families. As a single parent, Amanda struggled to find safe, affordable housing, even while being employed with the State of Oregon.

"I applied to Habitat two years ago," Amanda said. "I needed to do more work on my finances. They reached out to me this year and I asked if I wanted to reapply. I had worked on my finances...and we were selected."

Amanda is looking forward to building memories with her girls, and expanding their family.

"We get to have a dog," she said. "It seems small, but it's another member of a family, and a way to teach my girls responsibility and independence...I am grateful to the community. It's not just funded by Habitat, but the community."

Their neighbors will be Misty and David Wickersham along with their three kids.

David admits that he thought he'd never own a home.

Gainfully employed with Precision Timber the Wickersham have also struggled to find housing for their growing family and have lived in the same apartment for the past 10 years. "We get to raise our kids in a good environment: in their home, not an apartment," Misty said.

Both families have taken financial education courses, and will need to complete 500 hours of sweat equity on

Shooting practice prompts school lockdown

Cody Mann
headlightnews@countrymedia.net

South Prairie Elementary went on lockdown the morning of Wednesday, Nov. 20 after gunshots were heard in the distance. The sound was later determined to be from firearms training.

The lockdown began at around 10:10 a.m. Police were contacted, students were secured in their classrooms, and all exterior doors were locked, according to a social media post from Tillamook School District.

"It was business as usual inside the building as students were not in danger," the school district social media post said. "Tillamook County Sheriff's Office determined that the noise had come from the Port of Tillamook Bay target range where a practice was in session. School officials referred to the statement issued on social media when asked for additional comment on the matter. The lockdown was reportedly concluded at 10:35 a.m.

Tillamook County Sheriff's Office confirmed the gunshots came from routine Coast Guard firearms training at the Joint Public Safety Firing Range located around two miles away at the Port of Tillamook Bay. Training sessions such as this have been conducted for several years by various local agencies at the site, which has been leased for the firing range since 2009.

The sheriff's office said at no time was there any risk to the public. South Prairie Elementary School Principal Karen Thenell sent an email to parents later in the day in hopes of shedding some light on her decision to secure the building and bring students inside. She said at around 10 a.m., three staff members reported to the office that they had heard multiple gunshots in the vicinity of the building.

Thenell said the nearby Tillamook Gun Club has been an excellent neighbor to the school, including holding off on practice during the school day in favor of after-hours and weekends, adding that the gunshots came from the Coast Guard drill on the firing range on port property.

"As always, our number one priority is to keep our students safe," Thenell said in the email. "Today, the decision was easy for me to make: keep our students and staff safe by getting inside until we have information about what is happening."

Bay City contemplates city planner position

headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Bay City Council met Nov. 11 for their workshop. The council talked about the opening of the city planner position. Mayor Christopher Krubbe asked if the city planner and the city recorder positions be advertised. Attorney Monson said the City of Bay City's policy said they are going to advertise but they can promote from within.

Councilor David McCall said he supports making this transition to making a city manager. Chance Steffey, currently the public works director, is someone the council is thinking of promoting within. As city manager, he would still be doing the duties of public works director, temporarily, which the council worried may be an overwhelming load.

In the short-term, McCall sees the juggling of the two positions as a struggle. He also strongly believes in advertising the two positions. Steffey said in the long-term, there cannot be two positions on one person and that it is not ideal. Councilor Wendy Krostag voiced this concern, saying she didn't want Steffey to burn out.

"We already have the city manager right here," Councilor Helen Wright said of Steffey.

Wright said the City knows what they would be getting with Steffey and that they should do it and take care of it. Council President Kathleen Baker said the City of Bay City is more prepared for this transition than they were two years ago.

"This will hopefully not be a long transition," Baker said. Steffey said planning in the Public Works can be a struggle and that there are some things he would still need to be involved with. He said there are a lot of transition issues that need to be dealt with.

"I will be there to learn as fast as I can," Steffey said. City Recorder Linda Downing is retiring from her position on the Nov. 30 and would be willing to help with the transition of a new city recorder.

Baker said the council should repeal personnel ordinance to create and hire a new position. Attorney Monson said she has a model personnel handbook and that the council could repeal certain sections without replacing the handbook. Ordinances can only be repealed by other ordinances.

Baker said they could hire the city manager before repealing the ordinance. Attorney Monson said the council can generally hire any way they see fit. McCall asked if they would no longer appoint fire chief, fire marshals and captains for the fire department. Monson said they would not anymore.

Councilor Helen Wright announced there would be a retirement party for City Recorder Linda Downey Friday, Nov. 22.

Small businesses are original 'experiential shopping' experience

Jeremy Field
U.S. Small Business Administration

As online shopping has steadily grown during the past decade, brick and mortar retail businesses have been looking at new ways to address this shift in consumer behavior.

In an attempt to convert some of those "clicks" back to "bricks," experiential shopping has become the latest trend and marketing technique for traditional retailers. Experiential shopping can take many shapes – a focus on consumer engagement over sales, creating an experience to share with others, or offering other services beyond the products sold, to name a few.

But for most small, mom-and-pop businesses, this is simply business as usual, and has been for generations. Small businesses are the original experiential shopping experience. There are no new marketing techniques at play – just an authentic, local and personal shopping experience.

That is why the #ShopSmall movement is so important. It reminds us of the importance of spending our dollars in the establishments that power our economy, benefit our communities, and enrich our lives.

Small Business Saturday will celebrate its 10th anniversary on Nov. 30, 2019. The movement is set to build on a decade of success and rally even more communities to come together in support of small businesses.

Last year, a record estimated $17.8 billion was spent on Small Business Saturday at independent retailers and restaurants, momentum I urge you to continue by shopping small this holiday season.

Supporting Small Business Saturday doesn't have to be a choice between "clicks" or "bricks" either. More and more small businesses are bringing their local and personal touch to the convenience of online shopping. In fact, 41% of consumers who reported participating in Small Business Saturday last year did so by shopping small online.

There are nearly 378,000 small businesses in Oregon; and, more than half of the Oregon workforce either is employed by a small business or owns a small business. Plus, two out of three net new jobs are created by small businesses.

Spending your dollars with a small business this holiday season not only grows the economy, it typically comes with a great story to share: the artist who handcrafted a piece of jewelry, the father and son who decided to take their BBQ rub recipes to market, the corporate professional who got burned out and decided to pursue a passion for pet care ... they are the people who naturally create experiential shopping for consumers simply by being themselves.

This year, the SBA Portland District – which serves Oregon and southwest Washington – will participate in Small Business Saturday by doing Main Street business tours with mayors in Lincoln City and Tillamook, connecting businesses with holiday marketing resources, and getting the word out to #ShopSmall. I invite you to join us in participating in Small Business Saturday and create a memorable experiential shopping experience for you and your loved ones this year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I oppose Mitchell recall

I am writing to oppose the effort to recall Oregon State Representative Tiffany Mitchell. The recall process is meant to provide a way to remove corrupt officials, not to censure someone for holding an opinion that differs from your own.

A recall election could cost our community up to $50,000. This is money that our towns cannot afford to divert from schools, health services, or roads. Not only that, the special election will not bring any real change. If recalled, local county commissioners – not voters – will decide who replaces Tiffany Mitchell, and the rules dictate that a vacated seat must be filled by someone from the same political party. Voters who disagree with Rep. Mitchell's policy decisions would be better served by spending their time and money recruiting a solid candidate for the upcoming election in 2020, rather than wasting taxpayer money on a misplaced recall effort.

If you are approached by a petition gatherer, please decline. It's not worth the money or the hassle.

Mismanagement and misdirection

This week's press releases paint an interesting situation. A press release from Rick Osborn celebrates the implantation of the Student Success Act, known as House Bill 3427, which is funded by the Corporate Activities Tax. Also, the announcement by Oregon Senate Republicans regarding the successful law suit against the State Of Oregon for failing to maximize timber harvests that would provide school funding support for 13 counties. If funding had been provided to coastal counties from timber harvests there would have been no need for the Student Success Act or the excessive Corporate Activities tax. While most people would celebrate the passage of these two bills, they are examples of mismanagement and misdirection by our State agencies.

Are the 4,883 among us?

I'll be honest, I dislike just about every vote that a Republican representative makes. They tend to go against my core values of taking care of people. That said, I would never, never consider signing a petition to recall one of these individuals simply because I don't like the way they voted. Recalls are meant for situations when an elected official breaks the law, or commits a serious ethical violation (like sentencing a rapist to 6 months so as not to ruin their future). Voting as a representative sees fit doesn't qualify for a recall. They are doing the job that they were elected to do. As lawn signs go up demanding a recall of Representative Tiffany Mitchell I'm truly shocked and a little disappointed in people that I consider friends. I ask my neighbors why they have a sign and they spout rumor, all of which can easily be disproved with a little research. Or, they say they don't like how she voted. None can cite an actual ethical violation or dereliction of duty.

Representative Mitchell is one of 38 Democratic Representative in the Oregon Legislature. Her vote does not control an outcome. So, one has to wonder who's paying for those signs and who's pushing a recall against this particular individual, and why. Intimidation comes to mind and Representative Mitchell has withstood the harassment with unparalleled grace and patience.

As paid signature gathers canvass the area I hope that each of you will consider not signing based on rumor, emotions, or general dislike for an opposing party.

I truly believe that we're better than that.

I would like to know that there is not 4,883 among us that would so flagrantly disregard the very idea of democracy that they will use their collective voices to undermine the process. There is already an excellent procedure in place to remove unwanted representatives from office; it's called voting.

Manzanita officials discuss next steps in city hall project

headlightnews@countrymedia.net

City officials discussed stepping back from the new city hall project during a special workshop meeting of the Manzanita City Council in early November. The meeting followed the news that the bond measure to fund the $6.5 million project was voted down by the community.

"I remain committed to the goal," Councilor Hans Tonjes said. "The need we have to get staff into safer facilities and be prepared for some growth – but clearly, there's a reboot."

Mayor Mike Scott suggested resuming talks on the project after the first of the year. Councilor Steve Nuttall, reflecting on the wide margin of the vote, said the council needs to take some time exploring why so many were against the bond measure. He said the coming year should be spent trying to better understand the desires of the community, noting a series of other projects requiring attention.

"There are wounds that need to be healed, and there are friendships that have been damaged," Nuttall said.

Nuttall also said the council and the community have been hamstrung by the low tax rate in Manzanita – one of the state's lowest – that provides very little revenue to fund city operations or growth, making revenue streams from grants, new taxes or bonds essentially the only method to fund large projects.

Councilor Thomas Aschenbrener echoed the commitment to safer workspace for city staff. He said it's been well documented that the current facility is not safe. He agreed with taking a pause until January and trying to get a better read on what the people want in a new city hall and emergency services hub.

Nuttall said immediate action is still needed regarding front desk security issues and the lack of adequate restrooms at city hall. He said the money for those upgrades should be found as quickly as possible. However, Tonjes said a previous attempt to find contractors willing to do the smaller projects had fallen flat. City Manager Cynthia Alamillo confirmed a lack of contractors and later rising costs had halted previous project attempts.

"We still have those plans and I think it's important for council to revisit that improvement," Alamillo said.

The vote on Bond Measure 29-159 was just 31.5-percent in favor, 131 'yes' to 284 'no' with nearly 78-percent turnout, according to updated unofficial election results. The $6.5 million bond measure was unanimously approved by the council with support from the mayor, but public opposition led to a lengthy debate about cost-cutting options and a series of public hearings.

The proposed bond's funding mechanism was a 50-cent tax increase per $1,000 of assessed property value. The project includes construction of a city emergency hub, police office, administrative and workspaces, multi-purpose room and a kitchenette with storage spaces. The funds were expected to pay for demolition and construction.

The new facility was expected to be built at 11,776 square feet and designed to meet long-term needs for multiple purposes. The site selected for the project was the Underhill property, featuring a former school building that sits out of the tsunami inundation zone, unlike the current city hall. Much of the public debate centered around remodeling or tearing down the buildings at the site.

City officials issued a statement following the defeat of the bond measure that said compromise with the community would be sought in order to solve the issue of needing a new facility to house city operations.

Tillamook PUD hosts third annual Holiday Party

Hilary Dorsey
headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Tillamook Peoples Utility District (PUD) will be hosting a Customer Holiday Party from 4-6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5, at the Tillamook PUD office. This will be the PUD's third annual Holiday Party.

The Tillamook PUD is giving away LED pop-up lanterns and snowman night lights to guests, while supplies last, said Public Relations Manager of the Tillamook PUD, Joanna Stelzig.

"We have some fun activities planned, including photos with Santa and a holiday craft for kids attending," Stelzig said. "We will serve clam chowder and/or taco soup, bread and cobler."

Santa will be at the office during the party from 4-6 p.m.

This event is modeled after a customer event that Tillamook PUD had annually many years ago, the Holiday Open House.

"We enjoy bringing the community together and showing our appreciation for our customers," Stelzig said. "It is a fun way for us to connect with our customers. It is also a great opportunity to distribute our holiday giveaway item."

Timber

the 1941 Forest Acquisition Act has been interpreted by the courts as a contract between the state and the counties.

The Oregon Department of Forestry issued a statement saying the agency believes balanced, science-based public forest management produces the best long-term outcomes for all Oregonians, including the counties and taxing districts that receive revenue from state forests.

The forestry department said it was disappointed by the jury decision and would be reviewing options with attorneys from the Oregon Department of Justice.

The Oregonian reported that expert witnesses testified the state could have cut an additional 3.6-billion board feet of timber from the state forests since 2004. Including future lost revenue assuming the state continues to manage the forests in the same fashion, the counties asked the jury for some $1.1 billion in damages, according to the Oregonian's report.

State attorneys defended the lawsuit from the standpoint that the Department of Forestry managed the forests with goal of earning the greatest amount possible statewide rather than for a portion of the counties. The defense also said it was focused on more than revenue, aiming for environmental and wildlife protection as well as recreational opportunities.

At the root of the lawsuit is the argument over the definition of the greatest permanent value. The counties say that in 1941, greatest permanent value meant the state would manage the lands to maximize timber production and revenue generated for the counties.

The lawsuit said in the late 1990s, the state's Board of Forestry changed the arrangement through new rules that loosened the definition of greatest permanent value. The court found 1941's Forest Acquisition Act was a contract between the state and counties that was breached by the state.

State Rep. Brad Witt (D-Clatskanie) previously served as a head of the forestry board and was subpoenaed to testify as a witness during the lawsuit. He was among those who told the court that rule changes for state forest were prompted by growing environmental and recreational demands as well as pressure from then-Gov. John Kitzhaber (D).

After the judgement, Witt said he was called in because he was on the forestry board when it was trying to determine what the greatest permanent value meant in order to form a forest plan. He said having been a juror himself, he thinks juries tend to be thorough in making good decisions and he thinks that likely happened in this case.

Witt also said he did not know where the money would come from for the massive judgement against the state. He said it would be a serious challenge for the government and suggested a settlement could be worked out before the taxpayers bear the full brunt of the award.

State Senate Republican Leader Herman Baertschiger Jr. (R-Grants Pass) issued a statement after the judgment and said the "extra money" had better not be spent because the state will have to pay for decades due to forest mismanagement.

"This morning, the economic forecast said we had an additional billion dollars," Baertschiger said in the statement. "This afternoon, a jury said they want it back."

Vape

President Donald Trump blocked the FDA from issuing a proposed ban on all flavored e-cigarettes. The proposed ban was designed to protect children from vaping, as data from 2019 shows surging e-cigarette usage among middle and high school students with 5.3 million kids now vaping. Sweet flavors – including candy, fruit, and mint flavors – have proven especially attractive to teenagers.

"Yet again, President Trump is going spineless in the face of corporate lobbying," Merkley said in the statement. "The health of millions of American children will suffer. For years, e-cigarette companies have been given free rein by the FDA to pursue a massively successful strategy of addicting a new generation on nicotine, targeting middle and high school students with social media influencers and sweet flavors blatantly designed to appeal to children. Now, finally, the FDA is ready to act – but President Trump has apparently ordered them to stand down in the face of an industry lobbying campaign."

OBITUARIES

Raymond "Ray" Louis Hiersche

May 16, 1923 - Nov. 2, 2019

With heavy hearts we announce the loss of our beloved father, uncle, grandfather, great-grandfather, great-great-grandfather, and friend, Raymond "Ray" Louis Hiersche. Ray, 96, of Tillamook, Oregon, died of pneumonia on Saturday, Nov. 2, 2019, in American Fork, Utah.

Ray was affectionately known as "Papa" to his dozens of grandchildren, nieces, and nephews. For all his achievements and talents, Papa may be most remembered for his gentle soul, warm heart, and soothing voice, which lulled fussing babies to sleep, entertained children, brought comfort to others, and made the world a better place.

Born May 16, 1923, in Portland, Oregon, to Katherine Elizabeth Heinrich and Louis Joseph Hiersche, Ray attended Joseph Lane Primary School, graduated from Franklin High School in 1941, became a certified welder and worked in the Portland shipyards. During the Second World War, Ray served in the U.S. Army in the South Pacific and Japan from 1943 to 1946.

In 1946, soon after he returned home from the war, Ray went out for drinks with a buddy at the Spanish Inn on Powell Boulevard in Portland. When his buddy got up from the bar to use the restroom, a cute redhead, Earmalee Trusty, approached and asked if the seat was taken. Ray invited her to sit down. Ray and Earmalee married four years later, after he finished college, on August 19, 1950. Together they raised four children. They were married for 53 years until Earmalee's passing in 2002.

In 1950, Ray graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from Oregon State University and took a job with the Bonneville Power Administration, where he worked until his retirement in 1976. From 1961 to 1963, he served a tour with the Department of the Interior in Milan, Italy. There he helped found the American Community School of Milan and served on the Board of Directors.

In the 1970s, Ray bought a Harley motorcycle and formed a friendly motorcycle gang with Jack Trusty and Bud Bailey called "The Bald Eagles," a name that reflected their patriotism and lack of hair. After retirement, the Hiersches and Bud and June Neal purchased Kirk's Cottages and Hillcrest Court in Oceanside, Oregon. Ray, who enjoyed construction and handyman projects, spent many summers working on the rental properties. In the 1980s, he built a home on the Trask River in Tillamook where he and Earmalee lived for several years.

Over his lifetime, Ray lived in Portland, Oregon; Milan, Italy; Tillamook, Oregon; Carson City, Nevada; and Pleasant Grove, Utah. He spent many winters in Mexico and many summers in Alaska. Ray was a member of the Tillamook Pioneer Association and Life Member of the Tillamook Elks Lodge. He toured the United States in a motorhome, drove the Alaska Highway, motorcycled down Baja California, and traveled extensively through Europe and Asia. He loved reading books and listening to big band music from the 1940s. Ray and Earmalee enjoyed dancing and are remembered for the comedy and musical acts they performed each year at the annual Trusty Family Reunion. Ray remained active until the end of his life, socializing at the Elks Lodge, fishing in Alaska, mowing his lawn, and caring for others.

Ray was preceded in death by his son Jerry Hiersche, brother Don Hiersche, wife Earmalee Hiersche, six Trusty brothers-in-law and three Trusty sisters-in-law. He is survived by his sister Dolores Heinz and brother-in-law Roy Heinz; sisters-in-law Jean Bailey and Joan Trusty; daughters Megan Ross, Katie Walther, and Robin Hiersche; 19 grandchildren; 28 great-grandchildren; and seven great-great-grandchildren.

A short memorial and the interment of ashes will be held at noon on Saturday, Nov. 30, at Sunset Heights Memorial Gardens, located at 7800 Trask River Road, Tillamook, Oregon. A Celebration of Life, including military honors and eulogy, will take place at 1 p.m. at the Tillamook Elks Lodge at 1907 Third Street. Lunch will be served.

Clarence Russell Marsh III

Nov. 23, 1942 - Nov. 8, 2019

Clarence Russell Marsh III was born Nov. 23, 1942 to Clarence and Vesta Marsh in Fort Lewis, Washington. He attended Corbett High School and went to college at the University of Southern California. Bud opened a law office in Tustin, CA and finally settled in Garibaldi, Oregon.

Clarence passed away Nov. 8, 2019 in Tillamook, Oregon. To his family and friends he was known as Bud, Buddy and Buddly. He loved boating, reading, music, women, traveling, wine and dining with friends and family. He is survived by his sister Carol J. Baer, brother Robert Russell Marsh and son Patrick Russell Marsh-Weigand and nephews and nieces.

Bud began his enlisted military career in the Ma-with device, Presidential Unit Citation, and the Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross.

After his Marine Corps service, he attended college and earned his law degree.

He continued his military career in the Army Reserve as a commissioned officer. While serving in the Army, he was awarded the Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Armed Forces Reserve Medal, Army Reserve Components Achievement Medal with two oak leaf clusters, and the Reserve Components Overseas Training Ribbon. In 2003, he retired from the Army Reserve as a lieutenant colonel.

Military honors will be presented at Willamette National Cemetery at 11 a.m. on Dec. 11, 2019.

Michael Parks

June 1, 1950 - Nov. 16, 2019

Michael Parks was born June 1, 1950 and passed away suddenly on Nov. 16, 2019 in his wife's arms. He has been set free. Michael lived in Tillamook County most all his life. He and his three sisters lived in Rockaway, Netarts, and Tillamook.

Michael graduated from Tillamook High School where he enjoyed wrestling and playing football. In 1969, he joined the United States Marine Corps and served three tours of duty overseas. He survived Hodgkin's Lymphoma in 1973 with many treatments and surgeries at the Portland VA Hospital.

Michael worked for Oregon Department of Transportation for 32 years and most of those years were in the Tillamook section. He and his co-worker George Udenby were deemed the State's "secret weapons" for keeping our roads open. In 1988, Michael married Donna Ragan and became dad to Dave, Susie, and Dalen Ragan. Woodcutting, fishing, hunting, camping water skiing, and traveling kept the family busy and together.

Michael is preceded in death by his mother, Marion

Clark; father, Billy Johnson; twin grandson, Jacob and Jonathan Brogden; many uncles and aunts; and best friends, Butch Seufert and Michael Dildine. They were forever in his heart. He is survived by his wife, Donna Parks; sons, Dave and Dalen Ragan; and by his one and only daughter, Susie Ragan; eleven grandchildren, Noah, Brendon, Ethan, Michael, Makaila, Sidney, Logan, Caleb, Bryce, Braden, and Ayden; sisters, Marie Mason and Susie Olmsted of Siletz, Oregon, Patty Stelflug/Chris and Jeanna of Tillamook, and by many other nephews and nieces.

Michael loved the Lord Jesus, and in this difficult time would want us to rejoice in the love, grace, and peace he has been given.

Ginger Lee Adams Leinbach Yates

Sept. 9, 1937 - Nov. 19, 2019

Ginger Lee Adams Leinbach Yates died Tuesday, Nov. 19, 2019, while on a short business trip to Yuma, Arizona. Ginger was born Sept. 9, 1937, to Thelma and Roy Adams in Nebraska. The family moved to the Tillamook area in 1942. Ginger started school at South Prairie. The family later moved to Sandlake, Oregon. She finished grade school there. She then attended Nestucca Union High School.

Ginger married James Leinbach. They had four children: Andy, Bonnie, Terry and Scott. All the children grew up in Tillamook County. All graduated from Nestucca Union High School.

On Nov. 1, 1971, Ginger and Edward Yates married. The combination made a number of 7. Ginger was a very capable woman. She was a waitress and a very good one. She ran the Tillamook County Creamery retail store for a number of years.

Ginger retired in the early 80s. She was a solid support for her husband while he was in charge of production at Tillamook County Creamery.

After Ed's retirement in 1996, Ed and Ginger traveled to Arizona in the winter time. Ginger was very active in the activities of the park that they resided in. Her background of Sweet Adelines was very useful. She knew music so well. She was instrumental in maintaining the quality of music.

Ginger is survived by all of her children, 15 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren, and three great, great grandchildren. Also, sister, Audrey Adams Kimber.

Public officials talk winter preparedness

Cody Mann
headlightnews@
countrymedia.net

Officials from numerous local, county and federal agencies met in late October in Tillamook to discuss annual preparations and expectations for the coming winter season.

The meeting began with a winter forecast from senior service hydrologist Andy Bryant of the National Oceanic and Atmosphere Administration (NOAA). Bryant said those who are local to Tillamook County already know it's not going to be dry and sunny all winter long. Before March, it's possible there will be high winds, floods, snow, and other difficult wintry weather.

"Will we get maybe a little bit of low-elevation snow," Bryant said. "There's probably a little bit better odds than usual."

Predictions for this past year were overall slightly above-average temperatures and slightly below-average precipitation due to the weak El Nino situation. For the most part the predictions were realized except for a cold snap in February that saw more rain as well as a wet April. Rockaway Beach saw some damage from high surf, and high tides caused problems for low-lying roads in Nehalem, but for the most part it was a quiet year.

Bryant said 2019 could be similar to 2018 in terms of winter weather, though not necessarily for the same reasons. The overall outlook is a bit on the dry side, and winter temperatures are expected to continue being above-average in the long-term. Winters in the Pacific Northwest have been trending warmer in recent years.

November and December are expected to be the wettest months, which is typical, but predictions are not strong regarding precipitation. January through March shows a

In general terms of snow expectations, Bryant said historic patterns shows the possibility of snow occurs under conditions similar to what's expected for the coming winter. However, he noted that coastal communities are generally too close to the ocean to have a good chance of snow. The ocean is always above freezing, making it unlikely to achieve the cold air and moisture conditions needed for snow at the same time.

Flood potential is another story. Bryant pointed out that nearly every winter the Wilson River floods. Major flooding is not expected this year due to the forecast of neutral conditions for the year, but Oregon has seen an expanding flood season and local agencies are closely watching the weather conditions.

Hawk River overflows its banks in Neskowin. High tides created a giant water hazard for both the community and the local golf course west of Highway 101. (2018)

Joe Warren/Headlight Herald

Bryant suggested following a number of agencies on the web, on social media, and through digital applications and email for updates on the weather, including the National Weather Service and the NOAA.

TCCA named 2019 Outstanding Philanthropy Corporation

At its 33rd Annual Philanthropy Awards, the Association of Fundraising Professionals will recognize the Tillamook County Creamery Association (TCCA) as the 2019 Outstanding Philanthropy Corporation. Oregon State University (OSU) nominated TCCA for its community enrichment work and employee volunteer program, Tillamook Cares.

As TCCA grows nationally, so has its Community Enrichment program, which directs funding to three primary giving areas: agricultural advocacy, food security and healthful children. TCCA reportedly increased investment in these priorities from 1.7 percent of profits in 2015 to a projected 4 percent of profits in 2019.

"Tillamook has been here 110 years, and if we want to be here 110 more, we have to do right by our communities. This region has given us so much, and we have a great responsibility to return the favor," said Patrick Criteser, president and CEO of TCCA. "Tillamook is committed to ensuring our communities are healthy, vibrant and resilient for generations to come."

One of TCCA's hallmark community partnership is with OSU's 4-H youth development program. Each year, the proceeds from TCCA's ice cream booth at the Tillamook County Fair benefit 4-H, and Tillamook employees volunteer alongside 4-H kids to scoop ice cream. Through this ice cream booth partnership, TCCA has reportedly raised more than $140,000 since 2010 to support 4-H programs and scholarships.

TCCA also shares a commitment to ending hunger in Oregon and has supported the Oregon Food Bank in a variety of meaningful ways since 2004. In 2016, TCCA funded a study in Tillamook County to research the root causes of hunger and inaccessibility to healthful food and plans to continue working together with the Oregon Food Bank to find solutions to food insecurity challenges in Tillamook County and throughout the state.

"Tillamook understands the importance that food plays in a community's ability to thrive by not only meeting the needs of our neighbors today, but also identifying and addressing the root causes of hunger," said Susannah Morgan, CEO of Oregon Food Bank. Employee volunteerism is also part of TCCA's culture of giving back. As part of the company's Tillamook Cares program, TCCA's 900-plus employees each receive eight hours of paid volunteer time each year. In 2018, employees volunteered a total of 2,300 hours at organizations like Habitat for Humanity, SOLVE Oregon and Food Roots, among others.

Downey retires from Bay City after 23 years

This past Friday, Nov. 22, Linda Downey retired after serving Bay City for 23 years. The public was invited to a celebration at the end of the workday. Downey served as the city recorder and handled numerous administrative tasks in the city office.

Bay City Mayor Chris Kruebbe said Downey would be dearly missed. "It is with profound gratitude that we wish Linda a happy and well-deserved retirement from her 23 years of service to the City of Bay City," the mayor said.

Tax kicker percentage revised

The Oregon Office of Economic Analysis (OEA) adjusted the "kicker" for the 2018 tax year from more than $1.5 billion to $1.6 billion earlier this month. That means an increase in the amount returned to taxpayers.

The state hasn't issued kicker checks since 2007. The surplus will be returned to taxpayers through a credit on their 2019 state personal income tax returns filed in 2020.

To calculate the amount of your credit, multiply your 2018 tax liability before any credits—line 22 on the 2018 Form OR-40—by 17.171 percent. This percentage is determined and certified by OEA. Taxpayers who claimed a credit for tax paid to another state will need to subtract the credit amount from their liability before calculating the credit.

You're eligible to claim the kicker if you filed a 2018 tax return and had tax due before credits. Even if you don't have a filing obligation for 2019, you still must file a 2019 tax return to claim your credit.

There will be detailed information on how to claim your credit in the 2019 Oregon personal income tax return instructions: Form OR-40 for full-year Oregon residents, Form OR-40-P for part-year residents, and Form OR-40-N for nonresidents. Composite and fiduciary-income tax return filers are also eligible.

Keep in mind, the state may use all or part of your refund, including the kicker, to pay any state debt, such as tax due for past years, child support, court fines, or school loans.

A What's My Kicker? calculator will be active on Revenue's website for personal income tax filers when filing season opens in January. To calculate your kicker, you'll enter your name, Social Security number, and filing status for 2018 and 2019.

Visit www.oregon.gov/dor to get tax forms, check the status of your refund, or make tax payments; call 800-356-4222 toll-free from an Oregon prefix (English or Spanish); 503-378-4988 in Salem and outside Oregon; or email questions.dor@oregon.gov. ## Tillamook's Volleyball team: All-League and Honorable Mentions of 2019

headlighreporter@
countrymedia.net

The lady Mooks volleyball team finished 10-8 overall with a 3-4 record in league play. They defeated Molalla in October in four sets, moving them to the Sweet 16 of the OSAA 4A state tournament. They played at Hidden Valley for their first round of 2019 4A state championship. They took a loss in the round.

"We had quite a few injuries, obligations and had to use a variety of lineups this season," said Head Coach LaVonne Stein-Rowe. "Taking only seven athletes to state shows the diversity of our ability to adapt this year. Starting at number 23 in rankings and ending up number 11 is an applaudable achievement."

Stein-Rowe said they set a couple of program records as well.

"I'm immensely proud of this group," Stein-Rowe said. "We repeated our championship will at North Marion, had specials events planned for each home match, hosted a successful JV2 tournament and had an amazing support system for all these teams. Thank you to all those that stepped in and helped with us."

Nessa Hurliman, junior, was named First Team LOH/Defensive Specialist in All-League. Junior Sage Veek-Petersen and senior Natilee Dentel were Honorable Mentions.

Bay City Planning Commission discusses applications for vacancy

Hilary Dorsey
headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The Bay City Planning Commission discussed at their Nov. 20 meeting submitted applications for the planning commission.

The planning commission addressed Planning Commission member Gloria Wiechmann's resignation. Planning Commission member Tom Imhoff said he liked Wiechmann's insight and experience. The commission passes a motion to accept her resignation.

The commission members talked about the planning commission application from Dan Overholser.

Planning Commission member Pat Vining wanted to know more about Overholser's degree in park management. Overholser said it is kind of like a park ranger degree with a natural resource base. It is a Bachelor of Science degree.

Planning commission member Tom Imhoff said Overholser is also on the County Parks Board.

"This is a really nice park system," Overholser said. He noted that there are a lot of campsites.

Overholser said planning is one of the most important functions of the city. He plans on working and being actively involved within the commission.

Overholser is also a professional storyteller. He did an hour storytelling at Mana's Kitchen earlier that day.

"It's something I really enjoy doing," Overholser said.

You can hear Overholser's stories every Tuesday at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. on KAYN 92.9. Next month, he will be doing Christmas stories.

A motion was made to make a recommendation of Overholser's application to the city council. This will be looked at during the Tuesday, Dec. 10 city council meeting.

"If we were required to say yes, we would not need a commission," said Planning Commission member Stephanie Ayhens.

Ayhens said as a commission, sometimes they have to say no to an application and give reasoning.

The commission talked about the planning commission application from Rick Knode. A citizen, Bob, said Knode is well-qualified and knows the contractors from his own experience.

"He's well-qualified," Bob said. "And you can see by his application that he has his ducks in a line."

Bob said Knode doesn't have an axe to grind; he simply wants to be a part of the community.

"I think he would be a great addition," said Vining.

Imhoff said Knode has built a home in Bay City and knows the process and that insight would be good for the commission, as some of the members haven't had the personal experience with that process. Also, because he worked at a high school, he is likely to be a good communicator. He's retired now and has the time to devote to the planning commission.

The commission passed a motion to put Knode's application before the city council.

Regarding the planning commission application from Sabrina Pearson, the city council elected to take no action.

WELLNESS

Annual well exam: Did you have yours?

Do you only go to the doctor's office when you are sick or injured? When was the last time that you had your blood pressure checked?

An annual well exam with your primary care provider is the ideal way to get whole-person care all at one time and it is important for people of all ages. Not only does it allow you the opportunity to check in with your provider when you are feeling good, it allows your provider to know your normal baseline so that they have something to compare to when you are truly sick.

An annual well exam will address all body parts and systems, not just one or two that are causing problems when you go to your provider for a "sick" or problem visit. They are going to address your physical, mental, and emotional health, as well as perform many other preventive screenings, including blood work.

Screenings are a way to make sure that you are staying healthy. Some of the screenings that may be done include oral, hearing, and eyesight tests. Your provider may draw blood to check your cholesterol, blood sugar levels, as well as blood count and other tests. They may refer you for further cancer screenings as well, for instance, mammograms, or a colonoscopy. They check all of you to make sure you are well and have the best possible chance of staying well!

They may recommend that you go to a specialist for care, these specialty providers are there to help you achieve your health goals. They specialize in areas that primary care providers do not. You, your primary care provider and specialist work together to create a path to wellness with your best health being the main goal. We have all heard the saying, "it takes a village to raise one child," and that applies to healthcare as well. It takes a village to treat the whole person and not just a symptom you may be having. A team-based approach to preventive care can also connect you to other important resources to support lifestyle change.

Going to your provider yearly, helps lower healthcare costs, preventing disease before it starts. It also gives early access to treatment if something comes up, resulting in better health outcomes. By having a relationship with your primary care provider, you are more likely to ask questions, consider their opinion, and follow their advice.

So, if you have not seen your provider for an annual health exam yet this year, call them today and schedule one. They love to see you when you are well even more than when you are sick!

Turkey Stroganoff

Makes: 8 cups

Prep time: 15 minutes

Prep time: 30 minutes

Ingredients:

- 2 teaspoons oil
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced or 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 2 cups cooked turkey, 1/2inch cubes
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup nonfat or 1% milk
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) cream of mushroom soup
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
- 2 cups dry macaroni
- 2 teaspoons dill weed
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 cup corn flakes
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder or 2 cloves garlic
- 1/2 cup nonfat sour cream

Directions:

1. Heat oil in a large frying pan over medium-high heat (350 degrees in an electric skillet) and saute onions until transparent.
2. Add garlic and cook briefly, about 30 seconds.
3. Add turkey, water, milk, soup, and peas; bring to a boil.
4. Add macaroni, dill, and pepper; stir to combine.
5. Cover pan, reduce heat to low (225 degrees in an electric skillet) and cook 10-15 minutes until pasta is tender. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking.
6. While mixture is cooking, crush corn flakes in small bowl, mix in garlic powder and set aside.
7. Just before serving, stir in sour cream and top with corn flake mixture.
8. Refrigerate leftovers within 2 hours.

It's festival time

Carla Albright
Experience Developer,
Tillamook County
Pioneer Museum

The year is always busy at the Tillamook County Pioneer Museum as we present speakers and programs, install exhibits, manage the collection, accept new donations, publish books on local history, train interns, guide senior projects, act as stewards for Kilchis Point Reserve and Nedonna Marsh, hold our annual Mook Book Fair, and host fundraising events for other organizations. But during the Christmas season, we get to host a fundraiser for ourselves: the Festival of Trees.

This year TCPM is holding the 16th annual Festival of Trees Gala and Silent Auction on Friday, Dec. 13, from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Community members and organizations decorate full-sized Christmas trees in assorted themes for the auction, but there is so much more to offer. Beautiful holiday wreaths and centerpieces are created by local florists, nurseries and gardeners. Table-top trees are decorated for those without space for a full-sized tree. But the most fun are the items in the category of "Santa's

Pack." Things that don't fit the tree, wreath or centerpiece category go here and it can be anything from a holiday-themed tea set, a hand-crafted rocking horse, or gift baskets from a variety of shops and restaurants in the county. Lap quilts, specialty dolls, teddy bears, or snow men might be on the list, too. Over the years, we have had truly hundreds of donated unique items that we sell in our Silent Auction to raise money for museum projects. Those wanting to donate to the Santa Pack can bring their items by between 10 a.m.

and 4 p.m. on Dec. 4 or 5.

Past proceeds have gone to fund the birdwatching station at Kilchis Point Reserve, the new floors on the main and upper floors, collections care, and education programs at KPR. Last year, we put those funds toward revitalizing the Blacksmith Shop on the Lower Level and it will be ready and open for viewing in December. For the 16th Festival, funds will be put toward the 2020 exhibit about Women's Suffrage as we celebrate 100 year anniversary of the ratification of the 19th Amendment. Some of the funds will also be used for the Museum gardens and other smaller projects.

Heavy hors d'oeuvres will be provided the Pacific Restaurant with wine from Tillamook Bowling and other generous donors. Tickets are already on sale at the Museum and are $35 in advance or $40 at the door. But don't wait! We have sold out for the last six years and are on track to do so again this year. Dust off your festive holiday clothes and come have a lovely evening with friends while supporting a good cause: your local history museum.

Free Fishing after Thanksgiving

It's easy to #OptOutside in Oregon on the Friday or Saturday after Thanksgiving—you can fish, crab or clam for free anywhere in the state.

Oregon Fish and Wildlife hosts annual Free Fishing Days the two days after Thanksgiving. That means on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29-30, no fishing licenses or tags (including a Combined Angling Tag or Columbia River Basin Endorsement or Two-Rod Validation) are required to fish, crab or clam anywhere in Oregon.

Got relatives or friends visiting Oregon from out of state? They can come along, too—non-residents are also free on these two Free Fishing days. Although no licenses or tags are required, all other fishing regulations apply including closures, bag limits and size restrictions. See the Oregon Sport Fishing Regulations to find out more.

If you're planning to fish for salmon, steelhead or marine fish, make sure to check the zone where you are fishing in ODFW's Recreation Report for the latest on season and bag limits because regulations for these species change in-season.

The Recreation Report comes out weekly and also features the latest on fishing conditions and opportunities, so check it out before you make your Free Fishing Days plans. Beginning anglers can try fishing for holdover trout available where lakes and ponds have been stocked earlier in the year; trout are actively feeding in preparation for winter. Crabbing can be also be good during the winter months—remember ocean crabbing is closed through Nov. 30 but crabbing is open in bays and estuaries, and on beaches, docks, piers, and jetties.

If you are crabbing or clamming, don't forget to call the Shellfish safety hotline at 1-800-448-2474 or check ODA's Recreational Shellfish page to make sure an area is open before heading out. The Oregon Department of Agriculture regularly tests shellfish to make sure naturally occurring biotoxins are not at levels that make crabs and clams unsafe to eat.

For tips on how to fish, crab or clam and where to go, visit www.MyODFW.com

NCRD receives $20,000 grant

North County Recreation District

North County Recreation District has received a $20,000 grant from the CHS fund of the Oregon Community Foundation. The grant is for the replacement of NCRD's 1930 community center swimming pool.

To date NCRD has received well over 430 donations as well as grants from the Phillip R. Johnsson Foundation and the Autzen Foundation, as well as another donor advised grant from the Oregon Community Foundation. Over 1700 individuals have signed in support of our project, and there are letters of support from the cities of Manzanita, Nehalem, and Wheeler. The pool will receive an estimated 35,000 visits this year.

Since 1930, an estimated 10,000 elementary school children have learned to swim in the pool. This was the result of the community demanding that a pool be built in 1929 following the drowning deaths of several local boys. North County Recreation District, based in Nehalem, is virtually surrounded by water so the ability to swim is a real survival skill. NCRD partners with Neah-Kah-Nie School District to provide swim lessons for all Nehalem Elementary students.

There have been many reports of how the pool helped people overcome their fear of water, recuperate from illnesses and accidents, and in a number of cases helped to save someone's life later on. Over the years, NCRD has added programs that benefit families, senior citizens and persons with disabilities. The new pool will be completely ADA accessible, and this will add yet another benefit to the community for decades into the future.

"This grant is a wonderful gift for our new pool campaign", said Executive Director David Wiegand. "We have almost $2 million in our dedicated fund for the pool, and our Capital Campaign Committee is working on a number of major sources of funding as we progress toward our goal. Time is of the essence because our 89 year old pool, the oldest public pool on the west coast, is way beyond its useful life. We are continuously challenged to keep it operating because of its ancient infrastructure."

Information about the new pool campaign is available by calling 855-444-6273.

Manzanita Farmers Market to host Holiday Farmers Market

The Manzanita Farmers Market moves indoors for a one-time Holiday Farmers Market from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 7, at the White Clover Grange of Nehalem. Over 25 different farm and artisan vendors will showcase their handmade and home-grown goods.

Find farm fresh veggies, local fish, local meats, honey, donuts, baked goods, local tea blends, specialty jams, flavored oil and vinegars, bonsai plants and flowering bulbs. Local artisans will be bringing beeswax candles, handmade rugs, pottery, copper wind structures, jewelry, felted ornaments, blacksmith items, paintings, gift cards, glass floats and more.

From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., a hot lunch of Reuben sandwiches or vegetarian chili with sides and homemade pies will be available for purchase in the downstairs dining area, hosted by the Rockaway Lions Club. This event has been held annually for many years and is full of cheer and delightful goods.

FENCEPOSTS

Word on the street is that we have some new neighbors in the Woodle house at the end of Pacific. Judy and Gib Gilmore now have a part interest in that home, along with their son. Welcome to the 'hood, Gilmores!

Did you happen to take a look at our beach yesterday around noon? That was the start of this year's king tides, a non-scientific term for the highest high tides of the year. Yesterday's high tide was 8.9 feet. If you happened to miss it, we have 8.9 high tides coming again to Tillamook beaches on Dec. 24 and 25; yes, Christmas tides! The term "king" seems appropriate. You might have seen Gordon McCraw's mention of tides higher than 9.0 feet; those are at Garibaldi.

Hope your turkey is defrosting and you are all ready for Thanksgiving tomorrow. There have been several Thanksgivings in Cape Meares when storms took out our power and/or water. Thankfully the forecast is for better weather this year.

Moving on to a different kind of weather...the Klobases recently spent 10 days on Kauai and it was hot. Their condo, one of 60 units, didn't have air conditioning; they simply opened the windows, turned on the fans and all was good. She had an entertaining story about three couples in the condos having the same model of gray Jeep, so it was hard to tell whose was whose—until Spike stuck a paper cup in the spare tire (classic Spike move!). They took one big hike on a trail that turned more onerous, muddier and messier with each step. It turns out wild pigs use that trail as their regular route. Spike said the trail was much worse than our elk trails. Fortunately, at the top of that trail they ran into a couple from London (he was Swedish and she was Turkish) who gave the Klobases a ride back down. The Klobases have friends, Debbie and Rodney, who live on Kauai. They will be visiting Oregon soon; Spike and Randy hope to get them out to Cape Meares. Rodney plays the ukulele and guitar; there may be jammin' on the beach!

Happy birthday, Carolyn Ollikainen! This edition comes out on your day; just had to give you a shout-out. Hope it's a terrific day.

The Cape Meares Community Association's Social Committee is encouraging you to look ahead to 2020 and pick a monthly potluck to host. Our community potlucks are held on the last Saturday of each month at 6 p.m. The person hosting simply sets out dishware, meets and greets attendees, and cleans up afterward. In the past, some hosts have had themes for their month; fun, but not required. If you would like to host a monthly potluck, contact BJ Byron (e-mail bjbyron66@yahoo.com), Mary Gordon (marygordon53@hotmail.com) or Kathy Burke (kkburke73@gmail.com). If you are a new host, one of these three will help you get started. Hosts are needed for January, February, March, April, and October; the other months have special potlucks coordinated by CMCA. Thanks to all who volunteer!

We appreciate Barbara Brown, of Monkey Business 101 nursery, updating Fencepost readers by text message. She wrote regarding the Barn Hunt exploits of the shop dog, Buster Brown. Buster traveled recently to Auburn, Washington, where he competed against 85 other dogs hunting rats. Buster earned a Second Place, silver medal- and qualified to compete in a Nationals event to be held in Springfield, Missouri next year. Hats off to Buster Brown!

Happy Thanksgiving dear readers. If you don't have a dinner invitation for Thursday, here are two local options, both by donation or for free to those in need this year. The Schooner Restaurant (on the Bay in Netarts) will serve from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. and reservations are strongly encouraged. Call 503-815-9900. The Dining Room at First Christian Church is also preparing a holiday dinner. It will be served from 4-5:30 p.m. at the 4th Street and Madrona entrance. The address is 2203 4th Street in Tillamook.

South Tillamook County Library is taking a break from programs Thanksgiving week. Adam Miller will present a program of holiday folksongs there starting at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, December 3. Teens will gather to decorate a cocoa mug starting at 5 p.m. that same evening. A Lego Day is slated for After School Club at 4 p.m. on December 4. Celebration stories are planned when the group meets on December 11. Woven Wednesday, a chance to make progress on sewing or needlecrafts (bring your project), happens those same evenings at 6. Mother Goose on the Loose, story time for babies and toddlers through age three, will occur at 9 a.m. on Saturdays. South Tillamook County Library is located off of Brooten Road on Camp

Street in Pacific City. Remember that Tillamook County Habitat for Humanity will hold their brunch fundraiser on Sunday. The festive event is planned from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Sunday, December 1 at Pacific Restaurant (205 Main Avenue) in Tillamook. Besides all you can eat for breakfast, oodles of silent auction items will benefit low-income residents through their Home Ownership and Ramps & Rails programs Countywide.

Thanks to Sandra Dust for details regarding the bazaar at St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Saturday, December 7. Located at the intersection of Parkway Drive and Bridge Street in Cloverdale, this 60th annual fundraiser is scheduled from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Santa will be on hand to pose for photos with our wee ones from 10 a.m. until noon. On offer: handmade gifts, unique gift baskets along with famous polish dogs with sauerkraut, fresh baked cinnamon rolls and a multitude of home baked delights. More than 90% of the proceeds benefit needy households and local nonprofits. For more information, call Sandra, 503-392-4263.

Kiawanda Community Center (KCC) is also planning a Bazaar from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 7. Theirs will engage over 25 vendors selling local and handmade gifts and it will include a lunch café. Holiday trees, decorated by area non-profits for the season, will be on display;

they will be auctioned off the following evening at Ham Dinner.

The second annual Ham Dinner, celebrating 25 years of KCC will include a no host wine bar. Tickets are $30.00 in advance, $35 the day of the event and proceeds benefit KCC and other good causes. Doors open at 5 p.m. for a social hour; dinner will be served at 6. The silent auction, emceed by Verne Mobley, will round out the evening.

Happy birthday this week to: Megan Craven, Islande Dillon, Kyleigh Eckhardt, Mark Fitch, John Griggs, Karl Hale, Jeff Hancock, Justin Hancock, Kent Hancock, Donna Hopkes, Kimberlyn Streeter, Aiden Smith, Kael Stuart and Vance Trent.

There are Thanksgiving events planned in the area! Parkside Restaurant will be holding a traditional Thanksgiving dinner from 11:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. when the restaurant will close for the rest of the day. Reservations are necessary; please call 503-322-0035 to book your table.

Down at the newly remodeled Garibaldi Portside Bistro, they will be holding a special Sunday Brunch from 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. on December 1st. Save the date and for more info, call them at 503-842-9148.

Only 26 days until Christmas Eve! There are many events coming up to start the season. The annual Garibaldi Crabpot Christmas tree lighting will be held Friday, November 29th at 5:30 p.m. on the south side of Highway 101 between 3rd and 4th street. There will be hot chocolate and cookies and goodie bags for the kids. Contact City Hall at 503-322-3327 for more information.

Don't forget the Open House at the Garibaldi Maritime Museum on Friday, November 29th through December 1st, from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Admission is FREE, there are refreshments, kids activities, there is 25% off in the gift shop, and three raffle items.

Anna Rzuczek and LaDonna Perigo have gathered goodies all year and LaDonna has done a wonderful job of setting up the Christmas displays. There are trees and tables of ornaments for sale (hand-painted, glow-in-the-dark, and more). Plus, Santa and Mrs. Claus will be there on Saturday and Sunday from 11:00 until 3:00. Bring the family to this free event and as I mentioned last week, I am challenging the whole town to show up for this event.

The Oregon Coast Scenic Railroad has a Tree Lighting Excursion on Friday, November 29th leaving from Garibaldi at 6:00 p.m. and returning at 8:00 p.m. This will take folks from Garibaldi to Rockaway Beach and back for the Rockaway Beach Tree Lighting. They also have their Candy Cane Express running each Saturday and Sunday from November 30th until December 22nd. Please visit their website at oregoncoastscenic.org for dates and tickets.

Thanksgiving is a time for reflection for all the blessings we have. We are thankful for a roof over our head and a warm, dry home but are mindful of all those who struggle with housing and are living in less than desirable conditions. We are thankful for food on the table when so many are hungry every day, most of them children and seniors. We are blessed with friends and family and remember those who are alone and isolated. We are thankful for having a job and a purpose when there is unemployment and layoffs. If you are focusing on what you do have, you may find that what you wish you had pales in comparison.

Wow, Thanksgiving is tomorrow! Then the holiday season is officially here. Stick around; I will try to tell you everything that is going on in Rockaway Beach. If I miss anything, they probably forgot to send me the information. Giggle...

Judy Sours has informed me that there is a Community Thanksgiving Dinner at St. Mary's by the Sea parish hall. All are welcome, and you pay by donation. And, all the donations go to the Senior Meals, Inc. aka Meals for Seniors Program. It is on Thursday, November 28th at 2pm. This event is hosted by RE/MAX HomeSource, Manzanita Grocery & Deli and Bruneau Construction. St. Mary's is on S. Pacific St.

Okay, before I tell you more, I want to mention that food and toys are needed for the Lions Christmas Gift Baskets. The Lions want everybody in our community to enjoy Christmas. Contact the nearest Lion, Lions Club or call my friend Cecile at 503 357 2695.

Now I will continue with upcoming events.

The Rockaway Beach Holiday Gift Fair, at the Civic Center (276 Hwy 101), is Friday, Nov. 29, from 10-5, and Saturday, Nov. 30 from 10-4. This is a fundraiser for the Parks and Recreation Department and they will have food and a raffle for all to enjoy. This is a free event to attend.

Oh yeah, then my favorite part of the Thanksgiving weekend. The Lighting of the Christmas Tree will be at the Rockaway Beach Wayside on November 29th beginning at 6pm. This is where the Christmas Magic begins. There will be music, both by the Neahkahnie Choir and the Salty Strings Ukulele Group. And the Candy Cane Express Train will arrive at the wayside with Santa Claus and his elf on board. You and your family will enjoy cookies, cocoa, cider and then, for those less fortunate in our community, a canned food donation barrel. Yes, you will have an opportunity to help these folks. There will be a barrel at the wayside. The donations will be taken to the North County Food Bank. The tree will be adorned with homemade ornaments, so put on your thinking cap, the ornaments should be weatherproof.

ROCKAWAY BEACH
SUGAR BROSIUS

The Little Crow is having their Annual Holiday Sale this same evening. Everything in the shop will be 50% off from 5-8pm. But that is just the beginning. You can finish your Christmas shopping because most of the local shops will be staying open late this same evening.

On Saturday, Nov. 30 from 8 a.m.- noon you can enjoy the Meals for Seniors French Toast Breakfast and Silent Auction. There will even be photos, by local historian, Don Best, for sale. With this meal you will enjoy French toast, sausage, scrambled eggs, coffee and tea. Cost is by donation.

Our Library is also a busy little bee during the holiday season. First, they are looking for donations of gently used mystery fiction and children's books.

This is just one of their fundraisers. They also have their Holiday Table from November 29th-Christmas. They are open on weekdays from 12-5 and Saturdays from 10-2. This table is a pay what you can for these beautiful gifts. I can tell you, from experience, this table has gorgeous items for gifts for your family, friends or yourself. Or better yet, bring your children in and it will be a great learning experience for them about the gift of giving. Please, do check it out!

The Santa at the Fire Station event is going to be on December 7th this year. At this event the kids get to meet Santa, ride the fire truck and so much more. I am gathering more info as I type. I will update you soon!

The Simply Charming Children's Christmas Celebration is coming up on Dec. 14 from 11-5 p.m. This is one of the best events I have ever been to in our town. Last year the theme was the Grinch. This year is a Charlie Brown Christmas Celebration. I will tell more next week!

"Showing gratitude is one of the simplest yet most powerful things humans can do for each other. That's Rockaway Beach, "Sugar Coated!"

DON'T YOU WANT TO TAKE ME HOME?

Meet Daenarys
 Dani is a true "history is a mystery" locket cat who showed up pregnant at an RV camp. Age 3-1/2 and now spayed, she is generally low-maintenance and well-behaved. No bites, no hisses, no snarls, but, even after months in foster care, she adamantly refuses to be picked up. Yet she purrs, nuzzles, asks for pets — even from visitors! — and is an occasional lap cat atop a fleece blanket. Can be handled, a little, when in a lap but won't allow her claws to be clipped. Likes felt mice, cat dancers and catnip. Dani has made significant progress since arrival but will need a patient, understanding adopter.

Adoption fee for adult cats is $55.
 United Paws is not a shelter and our cats and kittens are in foster homes where they are getting ready to be in your home!

HH19-420 TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE
 Reference is made to that certain Trust Deed made by Christian E. Kitchin, as Grantor, to First American Title

Insurance Company, as Trustee, in favor of Fred A. Wallace and Patricia A. Wallace as beneficiaries, recorded in the Official Records of Tillamook County, Oregon, as Document Number 2007-003237, covering the following described real property situated in said county and state and more specifically described in the attached Exhibit A. Both the Beneficiaries and the Trustee have elected to sell the real property to satisfy the obligations secured by the Trust Deed and a Notice of Default has been recorded in the Official Records of Tillamook County, Oregon, as Document Number 2019-004460. Pursuant to Oregon Revised Statutes 86.735(3). The default for which the foreclosure is made is Grantor's failure to pay the principal balance of One Hundred Seven Thousand Two Hundred Twenty Dollars and fifty four cents ($107,220.54) which became due and owing on June 17, 2019, together with interest on the sum of $107,220.54 accruing at a rate of 12% per annum from June 17, 2019, together with accrued property taxes, legal fees, costs, and expenses incurred herein by reason of said default; and any further sums advanced by the Beneficiaries for the protection of the above described real property and its interest therein. By reason of said default, the Beneficiaries have declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, said sums being the following to wit: Principal $107,220.54; unpaid interest calculated through August 1, 2019 at a per diem rate of $35.25 in the amount of $1,551.00, title reports and foreclosure guarantees in the amount of $525.00, plus all additional legal fees, costs, and expenses incurred herein by reason of said default; and any further sums advanced by the Beneficiary for the protection of the above described real property and its interests therein. WHEREFORE, notice hereby is given that the undersigned Successor Trustee will on December 27, 2019 at the hour of 10:30 am, in accord with the standard of time established by ORS 187.110, at the following place: the main front entrance of the Tillamook County Courthouse, 201 Laurel Avenue, in the City of Tillamook, County of Tillamook, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by grantor of the Trust Deed, together with any interest which the grantor or grantor's successors in interest acquired after the execution of the trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the Trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in ORS 86.753 has the right, at any time that is not later than five days before the date last set for the sale, to have this foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the Trust Deed reinstated by payment to the Beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of the principal as would not then be due had no default occurred) and by curing any other default complained of herein that is capable of being cured by tendering the performance required under the obligation or Trust Deed, and in addition to paying said sums or tendering the performance necessary to cure the default by paying all costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligation and trust deed, together with the Trustee's and attorney's fees not exceeding the amounts provided by ORS 86.753. As of the date of this notice, the amount necessary to cure the default is $111,001.54. This sum includes costs, fees and accrued interest. Interest continues to accrue at a per diem rate of $35.25. In construing this notice, the singular includes the plural, the word "grantor" includes any successor in interest to the grantor as well as any other person owing an obligation that the Trust Deed secures, and the words "Trustee" and "Beneficiary" includes their respective successors in interest, if any. NOTICE TO RESIDENTIAL TENANTS The property in which you are living is in foreclosure. A foreclosure sale is scheduled for December 27, 2019. The date of this sale may be postponed. Unless the lender that is foreclosing on this property is paid before the sale date, the foreclosure will go through and someone new will own this property. After the sale, the new owner is required to provide you with contact information and notice that the sale took place. The following information applies to you only if you are a bona fide tenant occupying and renting this property as a residential dwelling under a legitimate rental agreement. The information does not apply to you if you own this property or if you are not a bona fide residential tenant. If the foreclosure sale goes through, the new owner will have the right to require you to move out. Before the new owner can require you to move, the new owner must provide you with written notice that specifies the date by which you must move out. If you do not leave before the move-out date, the new owner can have the sheriff remove you from the property after a court hearing. PROTECTION FROM EVICTION IF YOU ARE A BONA FIDE TENANT OCCUPYING AND RENTING THIS PROPERTY AS A RESIDENTIAL DWELLING, YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CONTINUE LIVING IN THIS PROPERTY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE FOR: THE REMAINDER OF

YOUR FIXED TERM LEASE, IF YOU HAVE A FIXED TERM LEASE; OR AT LEAST 90 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE. If the new owner wants to move in and use this property as a primary residence, the new owner can give you written notice and require you to move out after 90 days, even though you have a fixed term lease with more than 90 days left. You must be provided with at least 90 days' written notice after the foreclosure sale before you can be required to move. A bona fide tenant is a residential tenant who is not the borrower (property owner) or a child, spouse or parent of the borrower, and whose rental agreement: Is the result of an arm's-length transaction; Requires the payment of rent that is not substantially less than fair market rent for the property, unless the rent is reduced or subsidized due to a federal, state or local subsidy; and Was entered into prior to the date of the foreclosure sale. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY BETWEEN NOW AND THE FORECLOSURE SALE: RENT YOU SHOULD CONTINUE TO PAY RENT TO YOUR LANDLORD UNTIL THE PROPERTY IS SOLD OR UNTIL A COURT TELLS YOU OTHERWISE. IF YOU DO NOT PAY RENT, YOU CAN BE EVICTED. BE SURE TO KEEP PROOF OF ANY PAYMENTS YOU MAKE. SECURITY DEPOSIT You may apply your security deposit and any rent you paid in advance against the current rent you owe your landlord as provided in ORS 90.367. To do this, you must notify your landlord in writing that you want to subtract the amount of your security deposit or prepaid rent from your rent payment. You may do this only for the rent you owe your current landlord. If you do this, you must do so before the foreclosure sale. The business or individual who buys this property at the foreclosure sale is not responsible to you for any deposit or prepaid rent you paid to your landlord. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE The new owner that buys this property at the foreclosure sale may be willing to allow you to stay as a tenant instead of requiring you to move out after 90 days or at the end of your fixed term lease. After the sale, you should receive a written notice informing you that the sale took place and giving you the new owner's name and contact information. You should contact the new owner if you would like to stay. If the new owner accepts rent from you, signs a new residential rental agreement with you or does not notify you in writing within 30 days after the date of the foreclosure sale that you must move out, the new owner becomes your new landlord and must maintain the property. Otherwise: You do not owe rent; The new owner is not your landlord and is not responsible for maintaining the property on your behalf; and You must move out by the date the new owner specifies in a notice to you. The new owner may offer to pay your moving expenses and any other costs or amounts you and the new owner agree on in exchange for your agreement to leave the premises in less than 90 days or before your fixed term lease expires. You should speak with a lawyer to fully understand your rights before making any decisions regarding your tenancy. IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON TO TRY TO FORCE YOU TO LEAVE YOUR DWELLING UNIT WITHOUT FIRST GIVING YOU WRITTEN NOTICE AND GOING TO COURT TO EVICT YOU. FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT A LAWYER. If you believe you need legal assistance, contact the Oregon State Bar at 503-684-3763 or toll free in Oregon at 800-452-7636 and ask for the lawyer referral service. If you do not have enough money to pay a lawyer and are otherwise eligible, you may be able to receive legal assistance for free. For more information and a directory of legal aid programs, go to http://oregonlawhelp.org or contact the Oregon State Bar's lawyer referral service at the phone numbers referenced above. ing an obligation, the performance of which is secured by said trust deed, and the words "trustee" and "beneficiary" include their respective successors in interest, if any. Also, please be advised that pursuant to the terms stated on the Deed of Trust and Note, the beneficiary is allowed to conduct property inspections while property is in default. This shall serve as notice that the beneficiary shall be conducting property inspections on the said referenced property. Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representations or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale. The Fair Debt Collection Practice Act requires that we state the following: This is an attempt to collect a debt, and any information obtained will be used for that purpose. If a discharge has been obtained by any party through bankruptcy proceedings: This shall not be construed to be an attempt to collect the outstanding indebtedness or hold you personally liable for the debt.
