Experiencing Stormy Weather Arts Festival

With over 50+ events, including artist demonstrations, a concert, hands-on workshops, artist receptions, buskers around town, special dinners & tastings, kids' craft events, and more, there is truly something for everyone to experience. View the complete event listing details on pages 8-9. Some events may require a ticket purchase in advance.

Event History & Overview

For 37 years, the Stormy Weather Arts Festival has happened on the first weekend in November and traditionally has been one of Cannon Beach's most popular events. You can immerse yourself in the creative culture that has long been a part of this community recognized as one of the 100 best art towns in America. The weekend offers musical performances and gallery events with the opportunity to meet renowned artists, see their latest works, or watch them demonstrate their techniques. Enjoy a variety of gallery receptions, artist demonstrations, and paint classes, and catch free live musical performances with regional musicians at outdoor venues throughout the town. Cannon Beach is home to more than a dozen art galleries. Many of their most successful national and regional artists and prominent local artists will be showcased during the festival.

Bronze Coast Gallery

art@bronzecoastgallery.com

Bronze Coast Gallery has been in operation for over 30 years and represents more than 50 artists from the northwest and beyond. We offer a wide variety of sculpture, from classic limited-edition bronze to innovative contemporary artwork and unique paintings. We are delighted to participate in Cannon Beach's annual Stormy Weather Arts Festival, where our gallery will be hosting four of our remarkably talented artists.

Nathan Bennett

Using the patina process on bronze plates as his canvas, Nathan Bennett mines new veins in painting. His landscapes have a surreal quality, a sense of otherness, which is partly due to his unusual medium. Taking the chemicals normally used to finish bronze sculpture, he wields them as he would paint on a sheet of silica bronze which then becomes his unique canvas. "I seek not for wealth, transmuting the metals into gold, but to manipulate them into a one-of-a-kind work of art."

Deborah Bridges

Ceramic artist, Deborah Bridges creates provoking figurative sculpture. The exploration of an idea in a piece is central to Deborah's work, and she will work in a series until that initial idea is exhausted within the form. "I love the complicated and mysterious humanity of the figures that grapple with the full range of human experience, the dark as well as the light. The face paint points to the masks we wear as we try to hold on to the stories of our personas."

Jim Eppler

Jim Eppler has been praised for his lifelike recreations and his gentle interpretations of the world around us. He recreates these visions for our participation and his respect and appreciation for nature allows his art to flow so freely. Eppler has always been a keen observer of nature and has spent hours capturing images of light to underscore select components of movement and animals within their landscapes.

Robert Rogers

Robert Rogers is inspired by many cultures and historic lore; greatly influenced by his many visits to the great art meccas of Europe. For more than 40 years, Robert has designed and created fine jewelry as an art and expression of love for the craft. His highly detailed work reflects his skills, not only as a jeweler, but also as a master wax carver. Robert's forms of art are layered by the actual creation of the piece and his descriptive storyline that develops with the feeling and passion of each piece as it is being created.

Jeffrey Hull Introduces New Originals & Prints

Stormy Weather Arts Festival Schedule

Friday (November 7)
5-7pm: Artist Reception.

Saturday (November 8)
4-7pm: Open House Reception.

hullgallery.com
503.436.2600

To celebrate the 2025 Stormy Weather Arts Festival, the Jeffrey Hull Gallery will introduce new original work and prints of Hull's new oil painting 'Symphony In Gray.' (show above) Jeffrey Hull started painting in his teens, but focused on his fascination with watercolors over 50 years ago and never looked back. His command of painting and love for the Pacific Northwest Coast places the viewer directly into scenes of sandy beaches, wind-sculpted trees and dramatic cliffs draped in coastal mist. Since 1987, he and his wife Carol have offered his paintings of the beautiful coast in their spacious second-floor gallery at Sandpiper Square in the heart of downtown Cannon Beach. Over time, both the gallery and his paintings have grown; he's added oils to his repertoire; and the gallery also now proudly produces high quality reproductions of his work in house. The gallery is open daily, 10am-5:30pm.

New Exhibition Opening at White Bird Gallery

White Bird Gallery kicks off Stormy Weather Arts Festival with a new exhibition celebrating mixed media artworks in an array of materials and styles, including works created from repurposed books, paper & wax collage, stitching, embroidery, assemblage sculpture and more!

Our weekend events include a gallery demonstration by featured artists Valerie Savarie who uses altered books as the centerpiece of her creations. Watch Valerie transform vintage books through cutting, carving and stitching them into one-of-a-kind wall sculptures that tell her own unique stories.

Beginning Friday morning, the gallery is hosting a weekend long jewelry pop-up show. Debbie Shaner of BeMused Creations is showcasing her old-soul enamel jewelry that is inspired by the colors and textures of nature. Mainly working in torch and kiln fired enamel, Debbie's pieces have a vintage feeling, with designs that use botanical forms and richly saturated colors to create original pieces of wearable art jewelry. Meet Debbie in the gallery on Friday or Saturday and find that special piece of jewelry at her pop-up show!

In our Mixed Media Group Exhibition, we're thrilled to be introducing a new gallery artist during the festival happenings. We welcome the artworks of Nikki Virbitsky to our gallery line-up. Nikki's intimately scaled pieces use hand embroidery layered over antique imagery. Her skillful renderings are slowly stitched into found photographs creating a quirky and delightful juxtaposition of subjects and textures.

Copper Leaf & Form Workshop with Phil Seder

Fold forming is a metal-working technique that can be used to create forms of amazing complexity. This short hands-on workshop will allow you to explore these simple techniques. You will walk away with one or two finished creations that will delight you and friends alike. This workshop is for beginners who are curious about working with metal in a creative, hands-on way, with little or no prior experience with metal smithing.

12pm - 3:30pm | House of Orange Clayboard and Ink Workshop with Carol Ross

Discover the art of Clayboard and Ink with professional artist Carol Ross! Create a nuanced black-and-white floral, sea life, or animal masterpiece using texturizing techniques and a keen eye. Perfect for all skill levels, no drawing necessary. Take home your unique work of art and a new medium to continue exploring.

2pm - 4pm | Crystal Cove Boutique Paint the Stormy Skies of Cannon Beach! Beginning Watercolor with Karina Andrews

Play with different watercolor painting techniques with local artist Karina Andrews of the TinyLittleSkies project. Students will learn about composition and watercolor painting techniques while discussing art, life and the act of observation in an encouraging group setting. Create 2-5 watercolor paintings reflecting each participant's individual style and experience during the Stormy Weather Arts Festival. Workshop geared towards beginners.

4pm - 6pm | Dragonfire Gallery Meet the Artists with Wine Reception

View a preview of new work and enjoy live music from John Silliman Dodge. For the 2025 Stormy Weather Arts Festival, DragonFire Gallery will feature three Pacific Northwest artists sharing a common thread of textural imagery. Theresa Andreas-O'Leary interprets the pattern and play of light on landscape using acrylics and gold or copper leaf. Anton Pavlenko uses bold brushwork and thickly applied oils in conveying the experience of place in the natural world. Printmaker Leslie Nan Moon creates graphic imagery of both human and animal worlds in carved linocuts overlaid with pops of color.

4pm - 6pm | Jeffrey Hull Gallery Artists Reception and Viewing

4pm - 6pm | White Bird Gallery New Mixed Media Exhibition Open

House of Orange Brings Color and Creativity to Stormy Weather Arts Festival

The House of Orange gallery is preparing to make a bold splash during this year's Stormy Weather Arts Festival, celebrating Cannon Beach's vibrant creative community with a weekend of exhibitions, receptions, and interactive art experiences.

Located in the heart of midtown at 107 Sunset Boulevard, House of Orange has quickly become known for its whimsical works, bold colors, and modern art. Showcasing top regional and national artists while providing a welcoming space for conversation and creativity.

During the festival, visitors can enjoy special exhibitions highlighting the work of featured artists, live demonstrations, and opportunities to meet creators in person. The gallery will also host a reception honoring Greg Scott, Cannon Beach's 2025 Artist of the Year, on Friday, November 7, from 4 to 6:30 p.m. Guests are invited to explore Scott's latest body of work and hear more about his artistic journey.

"We love being part of Stormy Weather Arts Festival because it brings together artists and the community in such a meaningful way," said gallery owner Ginger. "At House of Orange, we want people to feel inspired, to connect with the work, and to experience art as something joyful and accessible."

House of Orange's programming during the festival will also include engaging artist demonstrations, artist-led workshops, a curated selection of new works by both new artists and gallery regulars, and special moments with our playful, energetic group of creatives.

The Stormy Weather Arts Festival runs November 7–9, 2025, across Cannon Beach. House of Orange invites locals and visitors alike to stop by, meet the artists, and take part in the celebration.
