Tillamook Headlight Herald Home & Garden Show & 2023 Bee Day

Cosponsored by Tillamook County Solid Waste

Held each spring, the Headlight Herald Home & Garden Show, a community tradition going back to the 1980s is held at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds. The two-day event is co-sponsored by Tillamook County Solid Waste and it features the Tillamook County Beekeepers Association's Annual Bee Day.

The year, a new speaker's series has been introduced with keynote speaker Dr. Dewey Caron, Professor Emeritus of Entomology & Wildlife Ecology at the University of Delaware, and Affiliate Professor, Dept. Horticulture, Oregon State University. Dr. Caron is presenting in three sessions on Saturday held at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

On Sunday between 11 a.m. and 12:45, Heart of Cartm is conducting two workshops "Repair and Reuse in your Home & Garden" beginning with Repair Cafe expert fixer, John Goertzen showing how to clean and sharpen garden tools. He is followed by Heart of Cartm Executive Director, Jessi Just, who will lead an upcycled craft activity. At 1 p.m. on Sunday Hope Stanton, OSU Tillamook County Master Gardener, will present, "A look at pollination and pollinators."

Youngsters are sure to be fascinated by the Tillamook County Beekeepers demonstration hive on display. The group is also raffling off a dairy-themed beehive hand-crafted by Rick Stelzig and painted by Paige Andrus with the winner announced on Sunday. Local honey and bee-related arts and crafts will be for sale.

The Oregon Department of forestry will be distributing free Western Red Cedar seedlings to show attendees. If you own property, this is your opportunity to plant a Red Cedar grove. The adjacent Tillamook County Master Gardeners Learning Center will be open both days. Kiwanis Club of Tillamook County, now celebrating their 100th year, is holding their popular raffle with proceeds to benefit the KT Days Scholarship Drive. Enter Tillamook PUD's free raffle for your chance to win a battery-operated Milwaukee pole saw and leaf blower combo kit.

This year Kilchis Farms will be selling live flowers and trees, Old House Dahlia's returns with tuber clumps for sale and Bewley Creek Woodworking will feature locally crafted lawn furniture and garden accessories.

Other types of vendors include home improvement, spa, mattress, kitchen, unique artisans, vintage, repurposed, photography and refreshments. For a show map and complete list of vendors, see page 4 or go to our event homepage at tillamookheadlightherald.com and type in Tillamook Home & Garden Show.

Join us Saturday, April 29, 2023 (9 a.m. – 4 p.m.) and Sunday, April 30, 2023 (11 a.m. – 4 p.m.) at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds, 4603 3rd St, Tillamook, OR 97141 Admission and parking are free.

Tillamook Beekeepers Association announces 2023 Bee Day

Tillamook Beekeepers Association announces 2023 Bee Day to be held at the annual Tillamook Home and Garden Show April 29th and 30th. We are excited to announce that Dr. Dewey Caron, Author and Professor Emeritus of Entomology & Wildlife Ecology, University of Delaware, & Affiliate Professor, Dept. Horticulture, Oregon State University will be providing lectures on Beekeeping and dealing with today's beekeeping challenges on Saturday the 29th. The 45 minute lectures are at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Dr. Caron is the Author of Honey Bee Biology and Beekeeping, published by Wicwas Press. This is a standard reference for all serious beekeepers and professional apiculturists. He is world renowned in the beekeeping community and speaks to audiences in Europe, Asia, South America, Canada, and all over the United States. We are privileged to have him with us on this fun occasion.

In addition to Dr. Caron, the Tillamook Beekeepers will be demonstrating live honey bees, selling honey and bee related arts and crafts, sharing the hobby of beekeeping with everyone interested in these awesome little creatures so essential to our human existence and there will be a raffle to win a hand-crafted bee hive.

To learn more about the Tillamook Beekeepers Association go to <https://tillamook-beekeepers.org/>.

Old House Dahlias is a flower farm located here in Tillamook

At the 2023 Home and Garden show we will be selling dahlia clumps that you will still have time to plant for good blooming results this summer and fall. Dahlias are the power house of a garden, with so many varieties and a long blooming season. They will continue to impress even when everything else is done blooming in September and October.

I look forward to seeing you at the show this year.

Please stop by if you have any questions about growing dahlias.

A message from Home and Garden Show Co-sponsor, Tillamook County Solid Waste

David McCall
Tillamook County Solid Waste Program Manager

Thanks to the lingering snow we had this year, it seems as though the primary signs of Spring I've seen thus far are yellow: Daffodils and Skunk Cabbage. At this year's Home & Garden Show, you'll have lots of other colors to choose from to liven up your home.

Throughout the Home & Garden Show, the Tillamook County Master Recyclers will be on hand to help:

- explain how plastic pollution in the ocean turns into microplastics on the beach, and how you can help tackle this problem before it poses a health risk to beachgoers or an economic backlash to our local economy,

- advise how you can save money while limiting the impact you have washing clothes, including setting you up with an environmentally friendly starter kit,

- quiz you on your knowledge of what can and cannot be recycled at any of the facilities located throughout the county,

- make sure you are aware of the upcoming dates for our household hazardous waste collection events,

- help you with your

David McCall

Tillamook County is truly recycled. We verify the practices in place at the locations to which we market our recyclables, so that we know the materials you so fastidiously separate for recycling are actually transformed into new products. With every truck load of materials we ship directly to recycling facilities, we know that:

- your cardboard is processed into pulp and then new cardboard boxes,

- your tin cans are smelted and made into rebar for the construction industry,

- your Styrofoam is compacted and then extruded into coat hangers or picture frames,

- your milk jugs are recycled into pellets used to make new buckets or composite lumber,

- your glass is melted and made into new wine bottles, beer bottles, or canning jars, and

- your computers and printers are disassembled and sent to smelters so that the valuable metals can be reclaimed and used in new electronics, and so on.

Oh, we have so much to talk about – and I look forward to seeing you Saturday and/or Sunday!

Kiwanis Club helps local students

The Kiwanis Club of Tillamook will be raising funds throughout the Headlight Herald Home and Garden Show in its Kiwanis Tillamook Days Scholarship Drive to help local students pursue higher education.

Kiwanians are celebrating their centennial anniversary in Tillamook this year and continuing their mission of serving the children of Tillamook County with a tradition that dates back 60 years.

Scholarships from the Kiwanis Club offer more than $20,000 annually to around 10 graduating seniors, who receive the scholarship during their second year of post-secondary education. After this year, the club will have awarded more than $500,000 to more than 500 students in the program's history.

A wide range of raffle items will be up for grabs at the Kiwanis Booth at the fairgrounds, including a charter boat fishing trip, a gift basket from the creamery, tickets for the Oregon Coast Scenic Railway, a three-month YMCA membership, PUD vouchers and more, all donated by the businesses. In total 18 items are up for grabs, worth more than $3,000.

Attendees will be able to place their tickets on the items that interest them and the drawings will be held on Sunday, April 30.

The other major fundraising event during the KT Days Scholarship Drive is the radio advertisement takeover of KTIL for the weekend. The station donates its airtime to the Kiwanians, who in turn sell the ad space to local businesses.

The effort raises around $20,000 each year and a wide array of local businesses support the initiative, including the Creamery Association, TPUD, Werner Beef and Brew, Hampton Lumber, Tillamook County Veterans Services, Stimson Lumber, P&L Heating and former State Senator Betsy Johnson who uses ad time to promote a local nonprofit.

So, stop by the Kiwanis Club of Tillamook Booth at the Headlight Herald Home and Garden Show on April 29 or 30 to support local students, enter for a chance to win a great prize and help the Kiwanis Club of Tillamook celebrate 100 years of serving the community.

Benefits of planting native species

Spring and summer present ideal growing conditions for many plants, making these seasons an ideal time to tend to lawns and gardens. Though it's easy to succumb to the temptation of exotic plants, avid gardeners and eco-conscious planters recognize the significance of native plants.

Native plants are much better for a landscape and the local ecosystem it calls home.

- Native plants are built for local climates. One of the issues gardeners who plant exotic plants run into is keeping those plants thriving when weather turns harsh.

- Native plants save money. It's also important to note that native plants save homeowners money. Because they're capable of thriving in local conditions, native plants tend to require less watering, which can help homeowners reduce their utility costs.

- Native plants save gardeners time. In addition to saving money, native plants don't require as much attention. Native plants thrive in local conditions, gardeners won't need to spend much of their free time tending to them.

- Native plants blend in with an existing landscape. Native plants look natural within an existing landscape, adding some instant aesthetic appeal without breaking the bank. When planting exotics, homeowners may feel a need to redesign their entire garden to create a certain look (think Japanese garden). That can quickly consume a budget and take up a lot of free time in both the short- and long-term.

Planting season marks a great time to revitalize a landscape. Choosing native plants when doing so pays numerous dividends for homeowners and the planet they call home.
