Tillamook County survives another flood

Staff

The combination of high tides and plenty of rainfall on Tuesday and Wednesday caused flooding in Tillamook on HWY 6 heading east out of town and on HWY 101 in the heart of Tillamook.

Emergency crews from the Tillamook Sheriff's office marine division, Tillamook Fire Department and Tillamook Police responded to a person trapped in their car on Hwy 101 in Tillamook who tried to drive through the flooded highway heading north through town early Wednesday morning. The driver made it about 200 yards when their car stalled. Sheriff office marine crews rescued the person without incident. HWY 6 headed east out of Tillamook also flooded under the train viaduct just east of the Adventist Church, drivers were detoured to Third Street for those headed east on HWY 6 out of town. Flooding on 101 in Tillamook was from the bridge over Hoquarton Slough near Rosenberg's Building Supply to the intersection of HWY 101 and Wilson River Loop Road near Fred Meyer.

Aangels Traffic Control on the scene when we need them

jwarren@countrymedia.net

Joe Rogers owner of Aangels Traffic Control in Tillamook, says his favorite thing to do is help save lives. Preventing accidents is just one way he accomplishes this. If you've ever traveled the busy highways, state roads or even local streets in Tillamook County, you have probably seen his crews out directing traffic for a multitude of reasons.

He started the local flagging business with a regional reach 13 years ago, but has over 30 years experience in traffic control. He also teaches first aid and CPR classes, is a certified traffic control instructor and is a Oregon OSHA certified compliance officer to boot.

"I like teaching people how to save lives," he said. "You have a one-third better chance of saving a life if you are certified in first aid and CPR."

He also owns Smoking Joe's and Sons Beef Bones a new business he started that has also grown to a regional reach.

Last week, when Tillamook flooded on HWY 6 heading east out of the city, and HWY 101 in the heart of town, his crews were out there directing traffic. He had a crew working on HWY 101 and another working on Wilson River Loop Road. Both supplying different traffic control duties.

"We use his (Aangels Traffic Control) services, both in our public works department and our police department," said Tillamook Police Chief Terry Wright. "Whenever we need them they are there, with flaggers, equipment, they are very dependable and professional."

Wright said Aangels service is turnkey, when he calls them for traffic control, they show up and know what to do and supply all the necessary equip-

"We budget money in the police budget for this every year because we don't have the staff in either department to do what they can do for us," Wright said. "He's a great asset to the community, I've never received any complaints, when we call they are there for us."

Aangels is also used by Tillamook County and private entities as well and other communities in Tillamook County like in Rockaway Beach for

COVID-19 update: COVID-19 cases, vaccine updates

Hilary Dorsey
Staff Writer

Tillamook County Health Department provided a COVID-19 and vaccine update during a Tillamook County Leadership meeting Friday, Jan. 15. The health department reports 362 total confirmed and presumptive cases.

Oregon Health Authority (OHA) reports Tillamook County is at 321 positive tests, as of Thursday, Jan. 14. Administrator Marlene Putman said there can be a delay between the numbers the county reports and what OHA's.

"We have over 70 people right now we're monitoring," Putman said. "We've had over the course of this pandemic 15 people hospitalized."

There are 25 new confirmed positive cases this week. Putman said there are no COVID-19 related hospitalizations right now and no new deaths. There have been two deaths in the county to date.

Tillamook County remains in Extreme Risk through Jan. 29.

Tillamook County Community Health Center's website is the best place for the community to stay up to date on COVID-19 vaccine information, Putman added. You can also check out the health center's Facebook page. The website is <https://tillamookchc.org/coronavirus/vaccines/>

Ed Colson, representative for Tillamook County Community Health Centers, said 564 people in Phase 1A have been vaccinated for COVID-19 so far. Over 72 percent of people surveyed in these groups are accepting the vaccine. The health center also met with the school districts for planning processes for when the vaccines go to them, which is expected to arrive Jan. 23 or later.

Colson said the health department is dedicated not to waste any vaccine doses. Currently, right now the health department is slowed down by the low number of vaccines they are receiving. There is no time frame at this time when people can go to the pharmacy or their doctor to get the vaccine. The health department will let the public no when they can receive the

Elected local officials sworn-in during livestream ceremony

Sheriff-elect Josh Brown joined other winning candidates of Tillamook County’s May 2020 primary and November 2020 general elections in being sworn-in to their respective positions Monday, Jan. 4, by Circuit Court Judge, Mari Trevino. Trevino, who won her own reelection bid to the bench in the May 2020 primary election. The proceedings took place in Courtroom 102 following recommended COVID-19 precautions. For some of the participants, it was not a new experience. First to be sworn in was County Assessor Denise Vandecoevering. Vandecoevering has been a county employee for nearly 21 years, and this represents her fourth time being sworn-in as county assessor. Vandecoevering was appointed assessor in 2011 and was then elected three times. Next up, was County

Clerk Tassi O’Neil. This represents O’Neil’s sixth term as Tillamook County Clerk. However, O’Neil has worked for the county for more than 30 years. County Commissioner-elect Erin Skaar raised her right hand to be sworn in for her first term as County Commissioner, Position No. 1. Skaar achieved a resounding election victory in the county’s primary election in May 2020. County

Commissioner David Yamamoto was sworn-in by Trevino for his second term as County Commission Position No. 2 after winning his reelection in the November 2020 general election. Sheriff-elect Josh Brown was sworn-in as the new duly elected sheriff of Tillamook County. Sheriff Brown swore his oath of office as the 37th sheriff of Tillamook County in the presence of a small contingent of his immediate family and supporters. Brown has served Tillamook County for more than 15 years as a Deputy Sheriff before being elected as sheriff in the November 2020 Tillamook County general election. “It was an honor to watch those before me take their oath of office and I am proud to begin my term as the Sheriff for Tillamook County. The Tillamook County Sheriff’s Office has proudly served the citizens of this county for one hundred and sixty-seven years, and it will be my mission to continue and expand that commitment to all of the residents of Tillamook County. I am also excited for our strong positive forward momentum that will benefit the incredible employees we have at the Sheriff’s Office, and also the public,” Brown added.

Nestucca Valley schools hold off on in-person learning amid Extreme Risk level

Hilary Dorsey
Staff Writer

Nestucca Valley School District Board of Directors decided during a board meeting Monday, Jan. 11, to wait to begin the in-person instructional model for schools until staff can be vaccinated for COVID-19 and the county moves out of Extreme Risk. The school district will continue with comprehensive distance learning until this time. Gov. Kate Brown on Dec. 23 directed the Oregon Department of Education and the Oregon Health Authority to implement new policy initiatives, with the goal of putting more school districts on track to return students to in-person instruction – especially elementary students – by Feb. 15.

Nestucca Valley School District had committed to comprehensive distance learning through the second quarter. The school district has worked with Tillamook County to develop better internet connectivity for students.

Superintendent Misty Wharton said the board had agreed previously to continue with distance learning until the third quarter. Tillamook County has been in Extreme Risk for over a month, which under the governor’s previous metrics for schools, would recommend comprehensive distance learning. “Educators have been identified in Phase 1 for the vaccine,” Wharton said. “They’re Phase 1, Subgroup 5.” Right now, groups 1-4 of Phase 1 are actively receiving the vaccine, Wharton added. This includes healthcare workers, frontline workers and long-term care facilities. Educators have been identified in Group 1B to receive the vaccine. They will be phased in next after Phase 1A.

Tillamook School District

began a hybrid model for students K-6 in December and plans to phase in a hybrid model for grades 7-12 in mid-January. Limited in-person learning continues at the junior high and high schools until the hybrid model begins.

Neah-Kah-Nie School District will begin an onsite/ hybrid model on March 15.

Health Department, provided a COVID-19 vaccine update during a Tillamook County Board of Commissioners meeting Wednesday, Jan. 13.

According to the health department, 536 doses of the Moderna vaccine have been administered in the county, as of Jan. 13.

Colson said providers are distributing the vaccine to those in Phase 1A. Vaccination of those 65 years old and older, as well as those with underlying health conditions, are now included in Group 1B. This group also includes child care providers, early learning and K-12 educators and staff. These vaccinations are estimated to begin Jan. 23.

“As soon as this vaccine is more readily available, we will let everyone know,” Colson said.

Administrator Marlene Putman said people should refer to the Tillamook County Community Health Centers website for information on which groups are being provided the vaccine. The health center hopes to have scheduling information in the future. Jan. 23 is the target start date, but the health center does not know if this will be the start date for Tillamook County.

Vice Chair David Yamamoto said essential services are becoming first in line for the vaccine. He wondered if board of commissioners should be included in that list across the state based on the role they play. Colson said Phase 1B includes essentials workers and he will follow up and see if commissioners would be included.

“Please be patient,” Commissioner Erin Skaar said. “This will take some time. This is very exciting that the groups we can vaccinate has expanded but it’s still based on the number of vaccines that come into our community and that comes from the government releasing the doses and the state spreading them out.” Gov. Kate Brown issued a statement Friday, Jan. 15, stating states will not be receiving increased shipments of vaccines from the national stockpile the week of Jan. 18 because there is no federal reserve of doses. Brown said she is demanding answers from the Trump administration.

“This is a deception on a national scale,” Brown said in the statement. “Oregon’s seniors, teachers, and all of us were depending on the promise of Oregon’s share of the federal reserve of vaccines being released to us.”

GARDENING MATTERS

Share the harvest

I know it's hard to believe but the seed catalogs began arriving the day after Christmas. I guess they noticed how many people turned to growing their own food during the pandemic. One of my personal favorite covers was the painting of a gray-haired woman with gardening gloves, a small pigtailed girl with boots and they are passing a basket of vegetables between them. The charm of this cover is that you can't tell from the picture if the grandmother is passing the basket to the child or vice-versa. The title is "Share the Harvest."

If you haven't received this catalog yet, I can tell you it is from Territorial Seed Company in Cottage Grove, Oregon. Territorial is a favored seed company for Tillamook County gardeners because they are about as local as you can get and specialize in seeds that have a low sowing-to-harvest ratio. This is important for crops like tomatoes and peppers that need all the heat units they can get to ripen on the North Oregon Coast.

When shopping from any seed catalog or even the racks in the stores, it is important to take a few minutes and think about what kind of veggies your family will use and enjoy. No sense planting kale or kohlrabi if no one will eat it. Instead, go for the traditional veggies like peas, beans, cucumbers or zucchini. And this is where I will tell a tale on myself. Last spring, determined to stay away from grocery stores as much as I could, I bought a pack of zucchini seeds and started them inside. Had six very nice, healthy plants sprout in my mini-cold frame and was pretty pleased with myself. If you are a regular reader, you will know why: I generally don't have the patience to grow plants from seeds. I also planted some dill seeds and some sweet peas. And they all had great success and I had lovely plants to place outside after the last frost in May. In fact, by June I had so much success that I thought to myself, "I will never use all the zucchini these will produce. I think I will give one of these plants to my friend Beverly and see how it does for her."

Well, Beverly graciously accepted my gift and planted it in her seaside garden in Rockaway. And she reported to me that she had quite a harvest. My zucchini, however lovely the plants looked, did not produce. And I mean they did not produce at all. The plants kept growing, but by Halloween, I had harvested one zucchini! One! From five plants! And it was only about 5 inches long. Who can't grow zucchini? Me! The moral of this story is when you are choosing what vegetables to grow, be sure you have the sun requirements for them. This info can be found in the catalogs or on the seed packets.

Seed catalogs have all sorts of information and are a great reference even after you have planted the seeds. Days to harvest is one, but also how and when to plant the seeds, sun and water needs, height and width of the plant, and even the pests and insects you will have to watch for. Each of the varieties will also have specific instructions for each plant. Most of this information is also on the seed packets themselves, but I usually keep the catalog as well for future reference as the season goes along.

When you are pricing out the seeds you want, take a look at how they are sold: by weight or by number. An ounce of tiny lettuce seeds is a lot compared to an ounce of pumpkin or butternut squash. And while seeds are packaged for a certain season, they will generally sprout a year or two after their package date. With less germination rate, perhaps, but only about 10 or 20% less each year. So if you don't have a large garden, you won't need 250 squash seeds.

Three grams will do. And that brings me back to the cover of the 2021 Territorial Seed Company's catalog and "Share the Harvest." If you do have the space and can grow an extra row of beans or squash or onions, consider doing so and sharing with friends or neighbor or Tillamook's Oregon Food Bank. There are food bank programs all over the county (and the state). The Tillamook offices are located on Wilson River Loop, but you will need to call and find out their protocols for accepting fresh produce before you stop by. Phone them at 503-842-3154 and they will explain their process. With so many people needing extra help with food these days, it is a kind and generous thing to do.

FENCEPOSTS

A glorious waterfall graced the cape last week, shortly after several days of heavy rain. We don't always have waterfalls there, but a deluge of rain often brings forth one or two. It was a pretty sight to see.

On the other hand, heavy rains caused a big landslide in the early morning hours of Jan. 12, blocking Bayocean Road between mileposts 3 and 4. Huge boulders, the size of snowmobiles or bigger, were part of a landfall about 10 feet high, 30 feet wide and 30 feet deep. Our stellar Tillamook road crew got on it immediately after notification. Cars were able to get through using one lane after a couple of hours, and the entire slide was cleared by noon. Thank you, Tillamook County Public Works, for your hard work in keeping open the only way in and out of our little village.

King tides contributed to more weather excitement here in Cape Meares during this same time period. One neighbor reported that a big wave, cresting north to south, flooded the beach access at the end of Bayocean Road and chased onlookers up the road. Water was a foot deep in the parking area and washed clear up the road and into Cape Meares Lake, leaving logs and miscellaneous debris strewn behind. This happened a few more times during this last king tide series. The power of mother ocean!

A side note on high water in Cape Meares: David Dittmer sent me pictures, taken some years back, of high water east of the corner of Bayocean Road and 4th St. NW. What the pictures didn't show was that there was enough water that day for Dave to paddle his kayak across the road, which he did! There's making lemonade out of lemons for you.

I made crab chowder the other day, although we haven't been crabbing in months. How is this possible?

My husband, Pete, has perfected a method of preserving crab. He picks fresh cooked crab over a bowl, and the juice from the crab runs down into the bowl! He puts about eight ounces of crab into a Ziploc sandwich bag, adds just enough of the crab juice "to make the bag squishy," and rolls it up. He freezes that bag. The next day, he takes the frozen crab in crab juice out of the sandwich bag, puts it in a vacuum pack bag, and then vacuum seals it. The final step is labeling the bag with the date. Months later, we can take packages of crab out of our freezer, let them thaw, squeeze out the juice, and then make crab chowder, crab melts or crab salads that taste like freshly caught crab. Now you have it, Pete's secret Norwegian crab preserving recipe!

Oregon seniors 65 and older will be eligible for COVID-19 vaccinations as of Jan. 23, along with child-care providers, early learning and K-12 educators and staff. We are celebrating here in Cape Meares, as the greater proportion of our full-time residents are retired seniors. We hope to learn details soon.

Do you lack a safe stable place to call home? (Are you living in your car, a tent, dry camping or staying with friends?) Project Homeless Connect is planned from 1-3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, January 27 at CARE. Their temporary, outdoor, location is located at 904 Main Avenue in Tillamook. Services available (in limited supply) include a free boxed meal, coats and survival gear, tents and tarps, information regarding community services, pet food and free care referrals, toiletries, first aid items, and

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thank You City Sanitation!

I want to give a big shout out to my heroes of this week. Our trash collection and recycle day was a very windy, very wet, very early Tuesday. It was close to impossible to even go out in the weather without getting blown over. We had to go out and right our trash cans and recycle cans a couple of times throughout the night. My husband was up at 4:30 am when the Trash Collectors came by. He opened the garage door, intending to go out in that weather, when the Trash Collector brought the trash can up our driveway to him. Larry didn't have to go out and get soaked. Thank you! Then when the Recyclers came by, they brought our large blue recycle can up to our front porch so it wouldn't blow away! Thank you again. I think they went above and beyond what we expected of them and I want them to know they are appreciated! NOTE: It would really help if we'd all use bungee cords on our cans, so that we don't have to pick up mounds of trash strewn across the neighborhood on days like this.

We must agree on the facts

The events of January 6 have been sobering to most. How have we progressed to this? An adage states: "if you tell a lie long enough, you will believe it; if you believe it, you will BE it". Many have succumbed to "alternative facts". However, as Vice-President Mike Pence (paraphrasing from Daniel Moynihan) said in his debate with Vice-President elect Kamala Harris: "everyone is entitled to their own opinions, but no one is entitled to their own facts". To begin to repair the division in the country, we must first agree on facts. One is: Joe Biden has been duly elected President in an election without evidence of major, systemic fraud as determined by numerous courts, judges, lawyers (including past Attorney General William Barr) and all state election boards and officials. Members of congress, journalists and media stating otherwise must publicly proclaim the truth. We also must call out those who continue to perpetrate the fraudulent election lie. Only then can we begin to recover our democracy, strive to work together and be citizens of the "United" States of America.

CHAMBER CHATTER

Join the chamber and guests for the Community Impact Celebration and Auction Feb. 20

Ashley Christenson
Programs & Events Manager

Typically in mid-January the Chamber is hosting its annual Community Awards Banquet. It's an exciting and elegant night that I know many of you have attended in the past. The food is divine, the atmosphere is charming, and the company is the best. Of course we are saddened that we can't host this lovely in-person event for our community right now, but we aren't going to do nothing; that wouldn't be right, and it certainly wouldn't be on brand with the Chamber! We're all about making the most out of a less-than-desirable situation.

So this year, I am excited to invite you all to the Community Impact Celebration and Auction on Feb. 20th. You can join us virtually by heading to www.community-impactauction.com where all the fun will start at 6 p.m.

But you don't have to wait til Feb. 20th to participate! We have more than 100 items in our silent auction, that will premier on that same website on Feb. 6. From your phone, computer or tablet you'll be able to visit community-impactauction.com and bid on incredible items from all over our community. Things like guided fishing trips, vacation packages, an incredible leather couch from Roby's Furniture, dinner parties, and the most amazing gift baskets you've ever seen. While the silent auction opens on Feb. 6th, we will be releasing new items each day leading up to the 20th so be sure to keep checking back and making your bids on these fabulous gifts. Whether you've participated in the Chamber's annual silent auction before or not, I think you'll be pleasantly surprised by the amount and scope of items up for bid. We were so jazzed to have an incredible outpour of support from our local community, and you will definitely want to check it out for yourself.

We are also seeking sponsors for the event that will not only help support the auction but also sponsor the Community Impact Awards video that will be released in early spring and will highlight the businesses, organizations, programs, and people who have made a positive and lasting impact on the community even through the pandemic. All of our sponsors will also be recognized in this video - but that's not all! Sponsors also receive 10 gift cards redeemable at any local restaurant that they can use the night of the Community Impact Celebration and Auction to buy dinner for their family, friends, or even employees and co-workers.

One of the things that makes the annual Chamber Banquet so unique is that it is catered by a variety of local restaurants in and around Tillamook. We wanted to bring that same flare to our virtual event, so we are giving out gift cards to those who choose to sponsor that can be redeemed at the restaurants of their choice. It's a fun way to bring home your own taste of Tillamook while you settle in for the live auction.

Speaking of which: the live auction portion will be co-hosted by Justin Aufdermauer and Brett Hurliman, who is always a blast to have at any event! And while the two of them are entertaining as it is, we will have special guests popping in throughout the evening so even if you aren't planning on bidding on any of the big-ticket items, it will still be an entertaining way to spend your Saturday night!

So mark your calendars and don't forget to join us on Feb. 20th for the Community Impact Celebration and Auction at communityimpactauction.com. Silent auction items go live Feb. 6th! If you're interested in sponsoring the event, call our office at 503.842.7525.

A huge thank you to all those who made a donation for your continued support of the Chamber. We couldn't do this without you.

TBCC CONNECTIONS

Looking ahead to 2021!

Ross Tomlin
President

Even though TBCC had many positive accomplishments in 2020, we are still glad to see it gone and are very excited about the possibilities for 2021. As the new year gets started, I want to share some of the things that make us feel good about the upcoming year. TBCC managed to keep enrollment losses down to a minimum in across Third Street from the main campus this past fall. It will now be called the TBCC Center for Industrial Technology and contain our manufacturing, machining, welding, and agricultural technology programs. We will be making improvements to the building this year to prepare it to offer classes, either by summer or fall.

TBCC will have its first reaccreditation visit from the Northwest Commission for Colleges and Universities on October 4-6 of this year. This means we are completing our first seven-year accreditation cycle since becoming an independent college in 2013. Then we will be formally reaccredited a year from now in January for another seven years.

Using some of the federal funds from the COVID CARES Act, TBCC has enhanced the technology in several classrooms to allow instructors to work with both remote and face to face students at the same time.

This will allow students to choose whether to attend the class remotely or be there in person. We are also starting to offer tutoring in math and writing where students can access tutors remotely from home on Zoom or be there in person. The need for this advanced technology will grow even when the pandemic is over.

Finally, TBCC will be celebrating its 40th anniversary in 2021. We are working to plan activities but much will rely on when the pandemic is more under control and we can meet in larger groups.

We are very excited to be reaching this milestone in serving Tillamook County residents with quality higher education and are committed to continued growth and offering relevant programs and courses that help improve the lives of our students. 2021 is going to be a great year for TBCC!

2020, and we even grew a bit over the summer and fall terms compared to last year. We are hoping to see an enrollment surge once the pandemic is under control and we get back to some level of normalcy, hopefully by next fall term. Other community colleges in Oregon and across the country have experienced large enrollment declines throughout the pandemic, so TBCC has been fortunate in that respect.

Part of the reason for our enrollment stability has been the continued growth of new programs, especially in the career-technical education (CTE) area. We have greatly expanded our healthcare programs and offerings, and will continue to do so over the coming year.

Our Facilities Master Plan (FMP) that was completed in 2020 can help support this growth and we are continuing to evaluate if we can meet the anticipated needs with what we have planned. The request for capital construction funds from the Oregon State Legislature is under consideration in this upcoming session. If approved, this would provide $8M toward the cost of the new building and renovations in our FMP. We would then start work through our TBCC Foundation to raise the rest of the money needed.

TALES FROM THE LIBRARY

Bill Landau
*Extension Librarian
Tillamook County Library*

In this week’s column, I am enrolling all of you in a special library class called “How to Place a Hold 101”. Or you could call it “Yes! You Can Still Enjoy Library Items During a Pandemic”!

As you know, the library is only able to offer curbside pickup currently, and as a result, we are having lower than normal checkouts. I have heard lots of comments from library patrons who tell me they do not know how to place holds, so they are just waiting until we reopen to use the library. I am here to tell you there are other options.

The first option is actually the easiest. All you need to do is call the library and tell us what you are looking for. It is as easy as that! We would LOVE to help you with any request you can dream up. Just give us a call at 503-842-4792. There is absolutely no shame in using this method! Allow me to paraphrase the famous line from Jimmy Stewart’s holiday film, It’s a Wonderful Life. “Every time we find a book for a reader, an angel gets his wings!” That is how excited we are to help you with your reading needs!

In fact, one particular group of residents that are near and dear to my heart are the children who are missing out on all our wonderful new (and old) books. But never fear, we have a solution for that dilemma, too. Just give us a call and ask for a bundle of books for kids. All we need to know is your child’s age and their interests. If you want books about dinosaurs and robots, for instance, we can get you a pile of those lickety-split! No need to wait until we reopen our doors. Just call, give us a little time, and we will have your package ready for pickup.

The other way to get library items SOUNDS complicated, but it really is not that bad. Just go to our website at www.tillabook.org. Look for the little magnifying glass and enter the name of an item you would like. You will likely get a lot of different search results. Scroll around until you see the item you want. You can even filter the results with various checkboxes on the left side of the screen. Once you find what you want, click on “place hold”. This will bring up a box that requires you to enter three things. Your first name, your library card number (located on the back of your library card) and your PIN number.

What’s a PIN number? When you got your card, we set it up with the following formula. The first four letters of your last name (no caps) followed immediately by the last four digits of your phone number. Once you enter that information, it will ask you where you would like to pick up your hold. Select your favorite library, click OK, and you are done! Then you just have to wait for a notification that tells you your item is ready to pick up.

Wasn’t that easy? And honestly, if any of that sounds confusing at all, just give us a call. We will be glad to walk you through it, step by step. I can almost hear the angel getting its wings right now!

My husband, Dale, has been really enjoying the RB Little Store LLC at 1720 N Hwy 101. Whenever we walk by, his mouth starts watering for their delicious hamburgers. I don’t eat red meat, so I just watch him eat it.... Be sure to check them out!

One of our residents, Don Bell, has written a book titled ‘Barge Notes’ and it is available on Amazon! It is based on his journal that he kept as a Yukon River Deckhand. He wrote down his notes as they happened, so this is definitely a true story. So, I planned to read it during the wind/rain storm we had, but Dale started reading it. He finished it in one afternoon, and highly recommends you read it. I will read it on the next rainy day. Then I will share my opinion. The book is titled Barge Notes, by Don Bell and you will find it on Amazon.com for $11.95. Our town never ceases to amaze me. We have some really interesting and talented folks living here.

Don’t forget to donate your gently used and clean items to the Hope Chest while you finish up your holiday cleaning. Their hours have been shortened because of the pandemic, and donations are only on Friday. Just remember that this organization is 100% volunteer, and all the proceeds are given back to other charities in Tillamook County. If you don’t donate, be sure to shop there. They have really nice items! You will be helping all of Tillamook County with your purchases.

I have a few birthdays to share with you! Happy birthday to Fay Beller, Scott Fisher and Stan Bower. I am sure I missed a whole bunch, but these are the ones that I remember. Also, a very happy birthday to all that I missed.

Rhonda of ‘Get Fit With Rhonda’ has a beach clean up scheduled today. Next week, January 27, her group will be walking the 2nd St. hill. They meet up at 12pm. Follow her on Facebook for more information. “Get Fit With Rhonda & Friends.”

I have been having some issues with pain in my hip and currently am going to Tillamook for Physical Therapy. Thankfully Jonathan figured out exactly what is going on. Now I have lots of homework to do. So far I am still in pain, but with hard work it should improve. I can’t wait to get my life back and be pain free.

Helen Haas (Helen Reeder)
Nov. 29, 1941 - Dec. 28, 2020

Born in Portland, Oregon, Helen was the youngest daughter of Perry & Evelyn Reeder. Helen lost her life, over the holiday season, to long-time health challenges complicated by Covid.

Helen has resided most of her adult life in Dallas, Oregon, spending some of those years in Anchorage, Alaska. Her childhood was mainly rooted in the Bay Ocean/Cape Meares/Tillamook areas. Bay Ocean has always been near and dear to her heart; over the years reminiscing about her many beach adventures, family and life-long friends.

Helen, along with her husband of 47 years, George, have raised five children. An artist, she had a magical touch with oils, bringing to life a variety of subjects through her paintings. She loved a road trip; a scenic wander being one of her favorite past times. She also found much joy in cherishing her many pets over the years.

Helen has so often said, “Are you leaving already?”

If you were dear to her, no matter the span: days, hours, minutes; according to Helen, there was never enough time spent together. Her loved ones now echo back those words.

She is preceded in death by her parents: Perry & Evelyn Reeder

She is survived by:

Husband, George Haas of Dallas Oregon. Siblings: Bernice Balschweid, Dallas Oregon, Perry Reeder Jr., Oceanside, Oregon, and Harvey Reeder of Ridgefield, Washington. Her Children: Linda Melchert, Wasilla, Alaska, Mike Haas, Evening Shade, Arkansas, Kip Haas, Wasilla, Alaska, Lisa DeBaal, Bend, Oregon and Shannon Sargeant of Hillsboro, Oregon. Helen is also survived by: her beloved 22 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren, her many nieces, nephews and extended family.

A celebration of life will be announced at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, please consider giving to a charity of your choice in her name.

Merritt E. Tuttle
Feb. 27, 1940 - Dec. 30, 2020

Merritt Tuttle passed away December 30, 2020, in Tillamook, Oregon. He had suffered from Lewy Body dementia for several years but passed away after a brief illness. He was born in Bozeman Montana, attended Milwaukie High School and graduated from Oregon State University with a degree in Fishery Biology. During his 32 year career with National Marine Fisheries Service he worked throughout salmon habitat in the Pacific Northwest with much of his work spent on salmon restoration. He retired in 1995 where in his last two positions he served as a Fishery Administrator and Senior Policy Analyst. He loved to hunt, fish, was an avid photographer and wrote outdoor magazine articles. He served on several boards including as an advisory member for Oregon State Sea Grant. He and his wife Sally moved to Oceanside, Oregon in 1999 where they enjoyed walking the beach, hiking, spending time with friends and traveling the world. He is also survived by daughters Kris Taylor (Barry), Kelley Corona (Raphael), and Kerry Knox, and stepchildren Chris Anderson (Dina), Jill Redfern and Greg Anderson (Tosha) along with 12 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren. Merritt will be missed by his family and friends and remembered as a intelligent, kind and gentle man who loved nature.

A celebration of life will be held at a later date.

Stanley Clarence Hasbrouck
May 3, 1932 - Jan. 7, 2021

Stanley C. Hasbrouck loving father of 6 passed away on January 7, 2021 at the age of 88. Stan was born on May 3, 1932 to Fred and May Hasbrouck, he was the youngest of 5 children. He joined the army in 1952 and served his country during the Korean War. He was born and raised around Grayland Washington where he married Geraldine. He moved to Tillamook County Oregon in 1968, in 1969 he married Marie.

Stanley was a commercial fisherman most of his life, he was also a mechanic, heavy equipment operator and the airport manager in Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

He was an active volunteer with Habitat for Humanity in Tillamook County.

Stan was known for his

Donald Keith Troxel
1931 - Dec. 31, 2020

Donald Keith Troxel, 89, passed away at home on 12/31/2020 with his wife and daughter at his side. He was born in 1931 to Kristina Ronning Troxel and Frederick Troxel in Corvallis, Oregon at his Grandma Troxel’s house.

He is survived by his wife, Rosemary, daughter Janna Sondenaa of Wilsonville, Oregon, Son Leonard (Carol) Troxel of Yuma, Arizona, brother John Troxel of Milwaukie, Oregon, and 3 grandchildren: Brianna Skipper (Tommy), Seth Sondenaa, and Daniel Kai Troxel.

Growing up he lived in logging camps in the North Tillamook area as his dad was a logger and had his own logging company. He graduated from Nehalem High School in 1949 and worked in the woods for a couple of years before enrolling at Willamette University, ultimately transferring to University of Oregon before joining the Army. He was stationed in Germany during the Korean Conflict. Upon his discharge from the Army in 1957 he enrolled in Oregon State University (OSU) graduating in 1958 with a Degree in Business Administration with a minor in Forestry. In summer school 1957 while at OSU, he met Rosemary Ramsey who would become his wife in 1958.

After graduation, Don secured a job with the Boeing Company and they moved to Renton, Washington. In 1972 they moved to McMinnville Oregon and he began a position as a business manager in Willamina, Oregon. He was transferred to the Lebanon, OR Champion plant in 1980 and when that plant was closed, he served as Business Manager at the Eugene, Or. Georgia Pacific Plant, retiring in 1996. After his retirement, he and Rosemary moved to Woodburn, Oregon to be closer to their daughter and grandchildren. The next several years they enjoyed watching them in their many activities as they had faithfully done with their children’s activities.

Don was a true Christian man who lived his life with faith in God first and ensured that his family was brought up in the faith as well. He and Rosemary were charter members of Cross and Crown Lutheran Church in Renton, Washington and also belonged to ST. John Lutheran Church in McMinnville and Our Savior’s Lutheran Church in Lebanon, Oregon. At his passing, he belonged to Hope Lutheran Church in Woodburn, Oregon. and was a faithful Christian throughout his life.

Don was very generous, ever faithful to his family, and never shied away from his responsibility of loving husband, father, and grandfather. He cared deeply for his family and always put their needs above his own. He was very unselfish and did many family activities to ensure his family had a broad range of experiences whether he enjoyed them or not. He followed his dad’s motto: “Always give a day’s work for a day’s pay”.

He was selected as Optimist of the year in Lebanon, Oregon. He was a strong supporter or Lebanon High School sports, U of O sports, especially the track teams. He and Rosemary had season tickets to track and field for many years and thoroughly enjoyed attending.

Don liked old movies, especially those with Humphrey Bogart or Errol Flynn, and if the right music was playing, he could be seen doing the “old soft shoe routine.”

He was preceded in death by his parents. In lieu of flowers, please send contributions to Hope Lutheran Church of Woodburn, Oregon or Serenity Hospice of Salem, Oregon.

Deceased’s funeral arrangementsThe family had a private graveside service in Corvallis, Oregon and are planning a memorial at a later date.

Donald Fred Reynolds
June 6, 1940 - Jan. 7, 2021

Donald Fred Reynolds passed away on January 7, 2021, at the age of 80. At the time of his passing, he was surrounded by family in the house that he and his wife built. Don was born on June 6, 1940, in Lakeview, Oregon to Gail and Frances Reynolds. Don married Marilyn Woodford on June 16, 1961.

Don’s career started with the US Forest Service at the age of 19 on the Fremont National Forest. Don, along with his wife Marilyn, lived on the Dog Mountain Lookout for seven summers where Marilyn manned the lookout and Don fought fires during the summer and served as Snow Ranger during the winter. Later he transferred to the Olympic National Forest and then to the Colville National Forest where he fought fires, served as a fuel management specialist, a fire boss and dispatcher. After retiring from the Forest Service, he worked various jobs before moving to the Bay City/Tillamook area where he worked for the Tillamook Estuaries Partnership (collecting and testing water quality) and became the Volunteer Fire Chief of the Bay City Fire Department.

Don loved being in nature, spending time with his family, cheering on his children and grandchildren from the stands or in his chair, and volunteering. Don’s indubitable volunteerism included memberships with Kiwanis, Lions Club, Toastmasters, National Ski Patrol, EMT/Fire, School Board, and WIAA board. He was also a Washington State Junior Miss Chairperson, CPR Trainer, Boy Scout Master, Little League Coach, and Basketball/Volleyball Referee. He assisted with church wedding receptions and construction at Camp Magruder.

In addition to the practical life lessons, Don taught his family and many others to hunt, fish, and ski (snow and water), and how to admire nature.

Don is survived by his wife Marilyn of 59 ½ years, daughters Jolyn (Jim) Wehner, Dawnelle (Steve) Davis, and son Geoff (Firmichie) Reynolds, and 8 grandchildren- Thad (Carly), Jordan (Sarah), Joshua, and Karalese Wehner, Malia (Ryan) Nielsen and Grady Hartmeier, and Sami and Zach Reynolds, and one great-granddaughter, Evelyn Wehner. He also leaves behind his brother, Gary (Sidney) Reynolds, Cousin Sara Ann (Jerry) Effenbeck, and numerous cousins, nieces, and nephews. Don was preceded in death by his parents Gail Reynolds, Frances and Oscar Kittredge, and an Aunt and Uncle.

One of Don’s favorite sayings was...

“Put the wet stuff, on the red stuff, and everyone returns home safely.”

A gathering of the family will be conducted later to memorialize his life with the spreading of his ashes. In honor of their father, the family encourages donations to the Bay City Volunteer Fire Department or your local fire department, local blood bank donations, and the Tillamook Estuaries Partnership. Don would have also encouraged all to volunteer in your community.

the July 4th activities, for traffic control and crowd control. “We supply roped off areas, signage and staff for events,” Rogers said. “From bomb threats to Halloween crowd control in Downtown Tillamook we have worked it all.” Rogers said, normally he employs about 38 people, he’s down in staffing right now due to the pandemic. He said that the course he teaches in traffic control, a requirement to become a flagger, takes four hours. The cost is $120 but gets you a three year certification in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. He also teaches these courses through the Oregon Department of Transportation and Chemeketa Community College. “I don’t guarantee a job when you take the course, but there is an opportunity to work for me when certified,” he added. To become a flagger, you have to be 18-years-old and have a valid drivers license and of course become certified. “We start our flaggers at $22 to $43 dollars per hour depending on the job and location. All this is worked into his bidding process.” Rogers listed just a few of the things his crews have worked locally to include, floods, landslides, community events, crowd, foot and traffic control as well as security. “We’re very professional and tactful, we have lots of signage and explanation to keep your event safe,” he added. So next time your are out driving around, see a flagger, slow down, follow the signs posted and give the flagger a friendly wave. They are there to keep you safe and help get you to your destination.

No surprise Trump is denying responsibility for convergence on Capital

President Trump as we’ve come to expect is denying responsibility for the gang rape of our Capitol resulting in the desecration of a revered institution and deaths including a police officer. However had Trump graciously conceded the election like every other first term president who lost a second term - Gerold Ford, Jimmy Carter, HW Bush - would this have happened? Had Trump not again claimed the morning in question he had won by a landslide the election his own officials said was the “most secure in American history” would this have happened? Had Trump not thrown his lapdog Pence under the bus that morning would the rioters have built a gallows and yelled “hang Pence” as they raged? Had Trump been busy assisting the peaceful transfer of power for the benefit of the country rather than calling for a “wild” demonstration and urging the mob to march on congress would this have happened? (He promised to march with them but apparently his bone spur acted up.) If his surrogate Rudy Giuliani had not goaded the mob to engage in “trial by combat” would they have rioted? The answers to these questions are an emphatic NO. Trump owns this. His fawning supporters, Proud Boys, Ted Cruz, Oath Keepers, QAnon, and Josh Hawley did his dirty work for him while he cheered from a safe location. Reportedly he was disappointed in their appearance though! Clearly he wouldn’t want any of that motley assemblage within 100 feet of him or Mar-a-Lago or Trump Tower.

TILLAMOOK COUNTY WELLNESS

Staying well in the time of a pandemic

Leanna Coy
Family Nurse Practitioner
Rinehart Clinic

All our lives changed last year with the global pandemic. As members of the community and health care providers, we at the Rinehart Clinic are very concerned with keeping our healthy patients healthy – always, but especially during a pandemic. This includes the children and teens we care for. Unfortunately, the number of Well Child visits across the country have fallen due to concerns parents and caregivers have around the pandemic. These Well Child exams help health care providers monitor children’s health. It is especially important to maintain regularly scheduled appointments and to stay up to date on immunizations despite the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

During the first two years of life, we give children much needed vaccines that help prevent diseases like measles, mumps, and polio, among others. Both the Centers for Disease Control and the Oregon Health Authority have found vaccine rates across all ages have dropped significantly this year. The World Health Organization has data showing a substantial drop in the number of children completing the vaccines against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis. For those who don’t know, pertussis is whooping cough. This is the first time in 28 years that the world could see a reduction in this coverage, which puts children at increased risk for outbreaks of these preventable diseases. Whooping cough was already increasing in many communities before the COVID-19 pandemic.

Along with vaccines, Well Child visits are also a time when we screen for important growth and developmental milestones. Well Child visits are a good time to focus on the general wellness of the child, even if the child is healthy. The visits allow the provider to talk about ways to keep your child healthy and prevent future problems. Providers can give guidance on sleep, safety, childhood diseases, and what to expect as your child grows. Each visit includes a complete physical exam that allows the provider to check the child’s growth by measuring height and weight. Physical development is also assessed. Hearing, vision, and developmental screening tests are part of some visits. Parents are typically asked ahead of time to fill out paperwork that can help with the review of a young child’s development. Immunizations are reviewed and updated as needed.

Infancy and early childhood are a time of rapid growth and change. Because of this, children need more frequent exams. Exams are every few months for infants and toddlers to try to catch any developmental issues quickly. After age three, exams are recommended once a year all the way through the teen years.

We know everyone is concerned about the COVID-19 pandemic. Health care centers, like the Rinehart Clinic, have made many changes to keep patients safe during this time.

- Paperwork is sent out ahead of time for parents to fill out in order to reduce time waiting at the clinic.
- Patients are checking in from the parking lot over the phone so they are not waiting in the clinic with other patients.
- The number of visitors who come in with each patient is limited.
- Sick patients are separated from healthy patients, and we encourage telehealth (video visits) for all visits that can be done virtually.
- Everyone who enters the clinic is required to wear a mask.
- Staff are screened routinely for symptoms of COVID-19.

It is important to keep our healthy children and teens healthy while monitoring for any issues that arise. At the Rinehart Clinic, we encourage families to schedule over-due and upcoming visits right away. Well-child visits are very important for ALL kids, especially those 24 months and younger. Our best advice...keep those appointments.

“IF YOUR WIFE WON’T LET YOU HANG IT AT HOME, WE’LL PUT IT UP IN THE STORE.”

It may house one of the most impressive displays of wildlife trophies in the northwest, but L&L Equipment in Dallas isn’t a museum of taxidermy, it’s one of the biggest power equipment dealers in the Willamette Valley, with thousands of devoted customers including loggers, firefighting crews, Christmas tree growers, and landscapers.

Some of the trophies came from family, most are from customers. Each has a story. Listen to a few and you start to understand how much L&L means to the community.

2021 marks L&L Equipment’s 50th anniversary. About 32 years ago, George Lefever, who founded the company, turned over the operation to his grandson, Ted Johnson, a STIHL Master Mechanic who had been coming to the shop since he was just nine years old. George’s son, George Jr., served as the company’s business consultant.

Ted’s wife, Star Johnson, also grew up in Dallas. After a career building circuit boards and working in a lumber mill, she decided to retire, until Ted convinced her to do L&L’s bookkeeping. “As you can see, I’m still here,” laughs Star, who took over management of the business after Ted’s death and purchased the remaining shares of the company from Ted’s uncle, George Jr., about a year ago.

Star has a refreshing business philosophy. “We’re a mom and pa shop and proud of it,” she says. “We run off of our reputation and treat everyone’s equipment like it was our own. The best part about owning a family business is the freedom to take care of customers right.” Ask the pros about L&L, who all seem to swear by the place, and they use words like “dependable”, “reliable” and “loyal.”

L&L stocks an enormous array of chainsaws, blowers, mowers, weed eaters, log splitters, generators, tools, parts, workwear and boots, representing lines including STIHL, Husqvarna, Honda, Briggs & Stratton, Carhartt, Georgia Boot, Danner, and Hoffman’s Boots. L&L Master Mechanics service everything the company sells. Customers include municipalities, businesses, government agencies, as well as local families.

When the pandemic hit, L&L introduced contactless service, including pickup and delivery, for customers who wanted it. When business slowed, Star cut back the hours of the 6-person staff somewhat, first taking herself off the payroll, saying “my employees have people to support.” But when congress rolled out Economic Impact Payments in April, a lot of folks bought power equipment with their stimulus checks and business at L&L gradually picked back up.

What also helped is that Jake Postlewait, L&L’s banker at Oregon Coast Bank, called Star and said that he would submit an application for a Paycheck Protection Program loan. Within just a few days L&L received the funds, which Star used to keep her employees working. When PPP loan forgiveness became available, Jake took care of that too.

So why does a business in Dallas do all their banking at the coast? Star had initially contacted Jake on the recommendation of several of her customers. She loves the service that she receives and the fact that she can talk directly to a bank decision-maker whenever she has banking questions. In fact, she’s now referred several of her friends to Oregon Coast Bank, saying “they do business the way we do.”

So what’s on the horizon for L&L Equipment? “When I finally really retire, my son, Eric Bufka, will take over, then hopefully my grandkids,” explains Star. In the meantime, she has plenty of customers to tend to, stories to be shared, and trophies to be hung. And when it comes to taxidermy, Star tells everyone: “If your wife won’t let you hang it at home, we’ll put it up in the store.”

DON'T YOU WANT TO TAKE ME HOME?

We here at United Paws try very hard to match our adopters with that special kitten they are looking for. In George's case this was not a bad adoption with a bad adopter or a bad kitten, this adoption was not a good fit for one another and we here at UP are grateful that his adopter recognized this and called us for help in finding the right match between George and his furrever home, we all know how fickle a cat can be and they usually choose us... Please help us spread the word about George his special somebody is out there...

George says "Hi again, you didn't think you'd see me again, did ya? It didn't work out with my adopter, so I'm looking for a new furever home. I don't know if you remember, but I came from Garibaldi where I got really sick for an entire month with my brothers and sisters. But I'm better now, way better in fact! I'm 6 months old and such a playful rugrat. But, I do love to curl up and nap still, can I come do that next to you in your home?"

Here's the online adoption app if you're interested.
<https://unitedpaws.wordpress.com/online-adoption-application/>

Adoption fees range from $75-100. United Paws is not a shelter, and most of our cats and kittens are in foster homes getting ready to be in your home!

Visit our facebook Page: <https://www.facebook.com/unitedpaws>.
Watch for adoption events held in Tillamook, and Petsmart on 185th in Hillsboro.
