Tillamook Headlight Herald Home & Garden Show & 2024 Bee Days

Cosponsored by Tillamook County Solid Waste

Dating back to the 1980s, the Tillamook Headlight Herald Home & Garden show is an annual spring-time tradition, hosted at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds.

Cosponsored by Tillamook County Solid Waste, the show takes place over two days and coincides with the Tillamook County Beekeepers' Association's Bee Days.

The beekeepers will be hosting a series of classes throughout the weekend to educate showgoers on honeybees, with classes scheduled for 9:30 and 11 a.m., and 12:30 and 2 p.m. on Saturday and 11:30 a.m. and 1 and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday. The association will also be showing off their demonstration hive, raffling off a Tillamook cheese block themed hive during the show and selling local honey and pollinator friendly plants raised at JAndy Nursery.

The Oregon Department of Forestry will be handing out seedlings during the show, while show Cosponsors Tillamook County Solid Waste will be educating attendees on their programs, with a special focus on recycling.

In addition to the beekeepers' raffle, the Tillamook Peoples' Utility District (TPUD), Marie Mills and Kiwanis Club of Tillamook will be holding raffles and the Tillamook County Democrats will have free drawings for prizes.

The TPUD raffle is free to enter, with a grand prize of a front loader washer and dryer set from Samsung, while Marie Mills will have gift baskets up for grabs.

The Kiwanis raffle is part of the KT Days Scholarship Drive, and all proceeds will go towards supporting the group's scholarship program.

Monkey Business 101 will be offering a wide variety of berry bushes, as well as grapes, currants, fruit trees and of course monkey trees, while Garden Witch Goods will be selling plant starts.

Handmade, wooden American flags will also be on sale, with all proceeds going to Tillamook's American Legion Post 47, which was revived last year.

A wide array of other vendors will be at the show, offering opportunities to spruce up all aspects of your home's exterior and selling a variety of goods from beads to sweets. See page four for a complete list of vendors and show map.

Food will be available from Pacific Restaurant and Sabor Autentico, with the former serving breakfast on Saturday and lunch both days, while the latter offers authentic Mexican food.

So, come on down to the fairgrounds for this family-friendly event between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 20, or 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 21, for all your spring gardening needs. Parking and admission are free.

Tillamook Beekeepers Association announces 2024 Bee Days

Do you have concerns about the plight of the honey bee? Are you interested in helping save the honey bee? Or, do you just want to know more about this remarkable insect? Did you know that the Tillamook Beekeepers Association will introduce roughly 125 new colonies, approximately 1.25 million honey bees, to our community during April 2024? These colonies, along with the hundreds already thriving in the Tillamook region will double before the summer is over. Of the 2 million species of insects on earth, the honey bee is the only insect that produces a product that humans consume. That product is honey, and who doesn't love honey? Honey has health benefits due to its anti-bacterial properties. Honey has been used for a variety of ills including cuts, burns, infections, stomach ulcers, and more. Honey is the only known food which has all the ingredients needed to keep you alive. It contains water, vitamins, minerals, and necessary enzymes to give the body energy.

Pinocembrin, an antioxidant, is also found in honey and is effective at improving the functioning of the human brain. Honey also has antioxidant levels similar to that of apples, spinach, strawberries, and oranges. Visit with the Tillamook Beekeepers Association at the 2024 Tillamook Headlight Herald Home and Garden

Show. Name one of thousands of bees in our observation hive to help raise funds for the cause. Purchase some local, raw, unfiltered honey for your own health and enjoyment. We are raffling off again this year, a beautiful Tillamook cheese block hive, with a $200 gift certificate for the Tillamook Creamery for 2nd place, a $100 gift certificate for the TCCA Farm Store as 3rd place, and a 4th place gift certificate for $50 for JAndy Acres Nurseries. Tickets may be purchased online at www.tillamookbeekeepers.org.

A message from Co-Sponsor, Tillamook County Solid Waste

By Justin Weiss
*Tillamook County
Interim Solid Waste
Program Manager*

Spring is here! A time of renewal and growth across many facets of life. A season filled with spring cleaning, budding fruits and veggies, and excitement for the warmer months to come. At this year's home & garden show, we hope to illuminate a new perspective on waste and recycling, furthermore, welcoming a time to plant seeds of sustainability for the coming seasons. Throughout the home & garden show, the Tillamook County Master Recyclers will be on hand to help:

- advise how you can develop at-home composting systems for your garden needs,
- quiz you on your knowledge of what can and cannot be recycled at any of the facilities located throughout the county,
- explain how plastic pollution in the ocean turns into microplastics on the beach, and how you can help tackle this problem before it poses a health risk to beachgoers or an economic backlash to our local economy,

- create upcycled items to enhance and beautify your at home garden ecosystem,
- learn about the

forthcoming revamped Tillamook County Master Recyclers Class,

- help you with your next painting job with some locally recycled latex paint, and
- inform you of upcoming changes to the list of materials the county can recycle.

It may interest you to learn that the volume of materials recycled here in Tillamook County has increased nearly 64% since 2019 – yes, 64%, that's not a misprint! And we continue to say: you can rest assured that every pound of recyclable material we collect in Tillamook County is truly recycled. We verify the practices in place at the locations to which we market our recyclables, so that we know the materials you so fastidiously separate for recycling are actually transformed into new products. With every truck load of materials we ship directly to recycling facilities, we know that:

- your cardboard is processed into pulp and then new cardboard boxes,
- your tin cans are smelted and made into rebar for the construction industry,
- your Styrofoam is compacted and then extruded into coat hangers or picture frames,
- your milk jugs are recycled into pellets used to make new buckets or composite lumber,
- your glass is melted and made into new wine bottles, beer bottles, or canning jars, and
- your computers and printers are disassembled and sent to smelters so that the valuable metals can be reclaimed and used in new electronics, and so on.

Don't leaf the earth a mess! Be sure to come celebrate Earth Day weekend, 2024, with the Tillamook County Solid Waste and Recycling Team.

Kiwanis Club of Tillamook helps local students

The Kiwanis Club of Tillamook, established in 1923, has held the KT Days Scholarship Drive since the 1960's. The Scholarship Drive raises money to provide college scholarships to graduating high school seniors across Tillamook County. We typically provide 6 to 12 students with scholarships annually.

For many years one of our fundraising activities is a raffle held at the Headlight Herald Home and Garden Show. We have a booth with raffle items provided by many businesses across Tillamook County.

Kiwanis members staff the booth where community members, and past scholarship recipients visit the booth every year to support the scholarship drive. This is a wonderful opportunity to remember the long history of the scholarship drive. The Headlight Herald Home and Garden Show has been an integral part of raising money for these scholarships.

The scholarships are presented at each high schools' senior awards night and the end of the school year. We also provide a scholarship specifically to a TBCC student annually.

Rick Stelzig building handcrafted wooden American flags for American Legion fundraiser

Rick Stelzig, the man who builds the bee hives for Tillamook Beekeepers that are raffled off at Bee Days each year will be featured at the 2024 Tillamook Headlight Herald Home and Garden Show selling American flags made of wood as a fundrasier for the American Legion Post 47 of Tillamook. In his own words, here is how he came to this project:

I've been asked why I'm involved with the American Legion.

As a marine veteran it was an easy choice. I joined the American Legion about three years ago and was assigned to a post in Portland, Oregon. Back in April I received word that the American Legion was going to reestablish the post 47 back here in Tillamook, So I switched my post to Tillamook.

Being a new member and never having been at an American Legion meeting, I learned that American Legion stood for a lot of good support for their community, also realizing the only funds they had would be the little bit they were able to keep from membership yearly dues.

I felt there was a need to come up with some kind of project that I could do to raise funds for our local American legion so they also could offer some of the same programs back to our community that is offered over the rest of our nation.

I came up with the plans to build 10 handcrafted American flags that could offer to be sold at our 2024 home and garden show.

Rick Stelzig in his shop with his beautifully designed flags crafted from wood that will be sold at this year's home and garden show.

If there is group or person with a noble idea that might need some help,

I'm more than happy to help what little I can.

Thanks, Rick Stelzig

Create your native plant garden

Gardening is a worthwhile endeavor that not only passes the time, but can be a form of exercise and relief from the daily grind. Gardens also provide ample opportunity to experiment, as individuals can produce everything from vegetables to bountiful blooms.

Recent years have witnessed a growing emphasis on eco-friendly gardening that aims to reduce reliance on chemical fertilizers and pesticides in an effort to protect the planet. One way to do so is to rely on native plants.

What are native plants?

Native plants are indigenous to particular regions. The National Wildlife Federation says native plants grow in habitats without human introduction or intervention. Native plants have formed symbiotic relationships with local wildlife over thousands of years, which the NWF notes makes them the most sustainable options. Native plants help the environment and thrive with little supplemental watering or chemical nutrients.

Start native planting

Gardeners can visit local gardening centers to select native plants. Small and independently owned centers often feature knowledgeable local staff whose expertise can prove invaluable to individuals seeking native varieties.

It's important to keep in mind that native varieties may look less cultivated than more exotic blooms and foliage designed to sell for their unique appearances. Wildflowers and native grasses may be the types of native plants found in abundance, which may grow up and out quickly. These other tips can help the process.

- Plan and prepare the site by removing weeds and turning over the soil. This will give seedlings an opportunity to take root without competition from weeds. Seedlings will give gardens a faster head-start than waiting around for seeds to germinate. However, gardeners can start seeds indoors and then move them outside once they are seedlings.

- Avoid planting native plants in rows, as that's not how they're likely to grow naturally. Vary the placement so the plants look like they sprouted up haphazardly.

ERIN SKAAR
Tillamook County Commissioner Position 1

Trusted Leadership at a Critical Time

Who is Erin Skaar?

Come to the home and garden show to meet her at booth 48 and find out more!

As a nonprofit leader and as your County Commissioner, I have dedicated my life to making our community better. I have a long record of public service across multiple sectors and have worked hard to bring a balanced, solutions-based approach to leading the county. Over the past four years, we've navigated a lot as a County.

Looking ahead, we still face big, systemic challenges like creating enough housing, addressing addiction, and creating more high-wage jobs. Successful leadership on those issues requires understanding both what is driving them and what tools we have at the County to address them. Experience matters, which is why I am running for reelection and why I am the right choice in this race.
