Statewide plastic bag ban effective January

Hilary Dorsey

Effective January 1, 2020, single-use plastic bags will no longer be an option for retailers and restaurants in the state of Oregon.

During the last legislative session, the Oregon Legislature passed the “Sustainable Shopping Initiative” banning single use plastic bags by retail outlets and restaurants. This new law was supported by Oregon senators, representatives, Tillamook County Commissioners, Safeway, and Fred Meyer, as well as other local small businesses and restaurants in Tillamook County.

“This is a very important step and I’m glad the state is taking this action,” said David McCall, from the Master Recyclers in Tillamook.

In April, Tillamook County Commissioners passed a resolution noting, “Plastic waste degrades into smaller and smaller micro-particles that carry chemical toxins, much of which finds its way into the ocean. Eight million tons of plastic enter marine waters every year.”

According to McCall, plastic bags have a six to 12-minute life span and create lots of problems. Banning bags is an important active step.

Included in the ban are single use check out bags at grocery and other retail stores, including farmers markets, and single use carry out bags at restaurants.

Not included in the ban are: bags provided for produce, nuts, grain, greeting cards, and small hardware items; bags for unwrapped prepared food or bakery goods; bags containing frozen meat or fish, flowers, or other items to address dampness or

Area elk abundant

Manzanita Visitors Center shared on social media these photos by Paul Hughes of an elk herd on a fall morning.

The elk is the largest cervid in Oregon. These heavy-bodied, deer-like mammals have narrow faces tapering to a naked nose pad; relatively small, pointed ears; a heavily maned neck; a back slightly humped at the shoulders, a contrasting rump patch; and a small tail.

Adult females, their current offspring, and their female offspring of the previous year, form herds that tend to remain within relatively small and distinct areas. Leadership of these herds usually is provided by an older female with an offspring, but other females with offspring assume leadership duties at times.

Male elk, especially the larger ones, tend to be solitary most of the year; however, during May and June when antler growth is rapid, males, including larger ones, sometimes form herds. The antlers become polished in July, at which time activity increases as males com-

Rapid rise in youth vaping

Staff report

While overall use of marijuana among Oregon youth has remained flat, the primary way they are using the substance – vaping – has dramatically increased, an Oregon Health Authority (OHA) analysis has found.

This finding adds to evidence that vaping is subjecting many more youths to addiction. New data show one in four Oregon 11th graders reporting vaping a nicotine product, with youth use of e-cigarettes like Juul increasing nearly 80 percent between 2017 and 2019. Marijuana use changed dramatically as well, according to the data, with youth shifting from smoking marijuana to vaping.

Youth vaping of marijuana increased 295 percent — from 11 percent to 44 percent among 11th-graders using marijuana — between 2017 and 2019, even as 11th-grade overall marijuana use stayed constant at 20 percent. The data come from Oregon Healthy Teens (OHT), a survey of middle- and high-school students that OHA administers every two years.

“This is alarming,” said a press release from Dr. Dean Sidelinger, health officer and state epidemiologist at the OHA Public Health Division. “It confirms what we’ve long known: vaping is putting a new generation at risk for addiction. These products can get young people started on using nicotine and marijuana, and it is easy to get hooked.”

OHT and the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System, a survey the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention annually administers in partnership with states, both found that nicotine vaping products are most popular among children and young adults. Twenty percent of 11th-grade students and 13 percent of young adults, ages 18 to 24, use nicotine e-cigarettes versus just 3 percent of adults age 25 and older.

About half of Oregon high school students who currently use e-cigarettes report they never smoked conventional cigarettes – not even one time.

In Oregon, youth vaping overlaps with use of conventional tobacco and flavored tobacco products, the OHT analysis showed. More than half of Oregon eighth- and 11th-graders who use tobacco use flavored tobacco. Roughly half of all youth who currently use conventional tobacco products started with vape products. Nearly two in five Oregon 11th-grade vape

Sheriff discusses recent vehicle thefts

headlightnews@countrymedia.net

A pair of Tillamook men who were accused of stealing two trucks are among a number of recently reported vehicle thefts in the county. One suspect was arrested by authorities and the other turned himself in.

A press release from Tillamook County Sheriff’s Office said deputies were dispatched to a residence in the 36000 block of Big Trout Road on Thursday, Oct. 17, after Washington County Sheriff’s Office requested assistance regarding a stolen vehicle investigation that originated in Forest Grove.

Two stolen vehicles were reported – a 2019 Chevy Silverado and a 2004 Chevy Service Truck. One had a GPS tracking device that provided the vehicle’s current location. Authorities followed the GPS coordinates to the Big Trout Road residence and located the Silverado parked in the driveway. The keys to the vehicle were allegedly found in the possession of Tanner L. Turner, 20, of Tillamook.

Turner was arrested and taken to the Tillamook County Jail, charged with post-prison supervision violation and fraudulent use of a credit card (counterfeit/forgery) and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. During the investigation another suspect was identified as Jesse D. Merrill, 25, of Tillamook.

On Friday, Oct. 18, Merrill turned himself in at the Tillamook County Sheriff’s Office and was charged with a post-prison supervision violation, second-degree criminal trespass (unauthorized entry of a motor vehicle), first-degree theft, and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. The investigation is ongoing and there may be additional suspects as well as additional victims.

Tillamook County Sheriff Jim Horton was pleased with the arrests, saying the case strongly impacted some local businesses. He said deputies and detectives have had been working for some time on the labor-intensive investigations of these cases.

Horton said he understands the hardship that businesses and individuals experience when thefts of this nature occur, and the Sheriff’s Office staff is committed to conducting a complete and thorough investigation so offenders who perpetrate these crimes are held accountable for their actions.

“With regard to this recent event, the matter continues to be under investigation, so we are limited as to how much information can be released as this time,” Horton said. “We plan to release additional information to the public on this case as soon as we are able.”

Noting that in many cases criminal investigations take weeks, months or sometimes years to complete, Horton acknowledged the frustration felt by victims who are seeking a prompt resolution. He said criminal investigations are not always so straightforward and have significant complexities.

“It is not uncommon for the public to have critical information related to an investigation which could expedite the process and could identify key evidence or witnesses,” Horton said. “There is inherently some reluctance on the part of the public to forward information for fear of retaliation or retribution from those suspected to be involved in a criminal event.”

Horton said without all of the necessary information available, investigators must track down the missing elements, corroborate information, find witnesses and locate critical pieces of evidence. The time-consuming process can slow important investigations.

The sheriff encouraged the public to contact deputies and detectives when they have information regarding criminal activity. He said on many occasions, his staff will take information on an anonymous basis and communication could be on a confidential basis. However, every circumstance is a bit different.

“Based on my experience as a deputy, detective and detective sergeant, the public typically has information that investigators may not, which could lead to an immediate resolution to a criminal investigation,” Horton said.

“Members of the public may not know how critical these pieces of information may be to a criminal case,” he said. “Our ultimate goal is the reduction of crime, resolution to criminal cases and to enhance the safety in all of our communities.”

Ag Science program awarded Rural Community Grant

Northwest Farm Credit Services is proud to award the Tillamook High School FFA Program and Agricultural Science Program a $2,500 Northwest FCS Rural Community Grant.

"The Tillamook High School FFA Chapter and Agricultural Sciences Program would like to thank Northwest Farm Credit Services for the generous support of our new plasma torch," said Chapter Advisers Hayden and Brooklyn Bush. "This grant will be used to help install the torch and get it running so that our students can learn cutting-edge welding and metal science technology. This will prove to give our students the best educational opportunities possible."

Northwest FCS is committed to helping rural communities succeed. To date in 2019, Northwest FCS has committed over $183,000 to 153 projects in rural communities across Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington. Since the program's inception in 2007, it has awarded 1,145 grants totaling more than $1.94 million.

The next rural grant deadline is Feb. 1, 2020. If you think your rural project may be eligible for a grant, visit northwestfcs.com/Stewardship/Rural-Communities for more information and an application.

Northwest FCS is a $12 billion financial cooperative providing financing and related services to farmers, ranchers, agribusinesses, commercial fishermen, timber producers, rural homeowners and crop insurance customers in Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. Northwest FCS is a member of the nationwide Farm Credit System that supports agriculture and rural communities with reliable, consistent credit and financial services. to Tillamook High School Agricultural Sciences and Industrial Technology Program. The CHS Seeds for Stewardship Program matches cooperative contributions for projects in rural communities. The THS Agricultural Sciences and Industrial Technology Program was honored to receive funding through this program thanks to the local Tillamook CHS location. The funds will be used to help expand the Animal Sciences and Veterinary Sciences program by helping create opportunities related to a cost effective dog grooming service as well as opportunities related to dairy nutrition to help students gain technical skills that they can apply to their futures. The THS Agricultural Sciences and Industrial Technology Program serves about 95 percent of Tillamook High School's student body population and also middle school students. The program's goals are to help students become successful adults by helping them gain leadership and technical skills they can apply to their futures.

The Tillamook County Sheriff's Office Search and Rescue (SAR) team is holding its annual fundraising dinner and auction from 6-9 p.m. on Nov. 30 at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds. This year's theme is "A Light in the Dark" in memory of former SAR Coordinator Deputy Dean Burdick.

Tickets for the event are $25 and can be reserved and purchased online or at the door of the event. Dinner will be a tri-tip buffet provided by Papa Bear's Smoked Meats and dessert furnished by Megpie's Bakery in Pacific City. Beverages have been donated by The Fern Restaurant and Pelican Brewing Company.

There will be live music, silent and live auctions, guest speakers, and raffle events. The key-note speaker will be former Tillamook County Juvenile Department Director and friend of Deputy Burdick, Dan Krein. The evening will celebrate Deputy Burdick's passion and commitment to the Search and Rescue program and to the citizens of Tillamook County.

The Tillamook County Search and Rescue Team responds to up to 100 calls for service per year and is comprised of about 40 active volunteers. These volunteers assist the Sheriff's Office in responding to reports of lost or missing individuals, those in need of rescue or medical care and assisting with special projects and logistics during major events.

Volunteer SAR members are required to attend numerous mandatory trainings in evidence collection, first aid, map and GPS navigation, and recovery skills. The annual SAR fundraising dinner and auction provides much needed additional funding to support the Sheriff's Office Search and Rescue missions and to continue to train volunteer SAR members.

For more information or if you want to donate an auction item, contact Sydney Elliott, elliottsnyder98@gmail.com

Reserving your tickets is encouraged for this popular event. For reservations and tickets, go to: bit.ly/FB_SAR

Sheriff's Office issues road safety reminders

As the seasons change and the dangers on the road increase, Tillamook County Sheriff Jim Horton is reminding the community to be courteous and careful when driving, sharing his concerns specifically about aftermarket lighting and animals in the roadways.

Use of lighting:

Horton said the use of off-highway exterior vehicle lighting is prohibited on state highways and county roads that are open to the public. Aftermarket lighting, such as bright area lights attached to bumpers or roll bars are generally prohibited from being used on roadways open to the public.

Fog lights or other lighting mechanisms that are approved by Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) for use on public roadways should be used with caution and discretion. Typically, these aftermarket lights are LED or bright bulb systems which may be legal for highway use but may appear very bright to other drivers or oncoming traffic.

"I would encourage everyone to use discretion when using these systems and make sure any aftermarket lighting array complies with state statutes and the Oregon Vehicle Code," Horton said.

Road struck animals:

As most residents know, the local highways and county roads are frequented by large game animals such as deer or elk. Horton said every year, many of these game animals are killed or injured by motorists who do not see or cannot maneuver safely to avoid a collision.

If you become involved in a collision with a large game animal on a public roadway, you should call 911 immediately if you are injured or there is major property damage. Personal safety is the most important factor.

If the animal is killed and there is no personal injury the public should call the non-emergency number for Tillamook County Dispatch at 503-815-1911.

The dispatch center will forward the information about the deceased animal to either the County Road Department or to ODOT for removal.

6th annual Veterans Stand Down provides support

Hilary Dorsey
headlightreporter@countrymedia.net

The sixth annual Tillamook County Veterans Stand Down, sponsored by CARE, will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, at the Skating Rink & Convention Center at the Tillamook County Fairgrounds. This event is in partnership with Worksource and John Reed Veterans Foundation in Lincoln City.

This event is a time for the community to connect with Tillamook County's veteran population and provide a broad range of services, including food, clothing, medical, legal, and mental health assistance, job counseling and referral, and most importantly, companionship and camaraderie.

"There's a culture that makes veterans feel separate from the community," said Erin Skaar, executive director of CARE.

This event helps veterans thrive in their own culture and makes them feel comfortable asking for help, Skaar said.

"They can walk in the culture they are comfortable in," Skaar said.

Veterans experiencing homelessness can interact with VA benefits counselors, interact with employers and educators, claims experts, and more. They can get haircuts, flu shots, food, clothing, showers, personal care kits, camping, etc.

Veterans can ride Tillamook County buses free on this day by simply telling the driver they are a veteran.

"This event happens through so many partnerships," Skaar said.

Walmart, Pacific Restaurant, and many others make donations for this event.

CARE also has a grant that provides housing for homeless or those at risk of being homeless. One of their housing assistance programs is Supportive Services for Veteran Families, which is a short-term rental assistance program for veterans and their families who are experiencing homelessness or are at risk of being evicted. The program can pay up to six months of rent, as well as move-in costs for qualifying veterans.

Anyone can volunteer for this event by calling Workforce at (503) 842-4488.

Safety is in the air, says ODOT

Halloween is Thursday, Oct. 31, and the "fall back" one-hour time change is Sunday, Nov. 3. State officials warn that mix could make for some dangerous driving conditions – but not if you plan ahead, make good choices and look out for each other.

Pedestrians and bicyclists – and trick-or-treaters: See and be seen. Wear reflective gear or place retro reflective tape on costumes, backpacks, etc. Days are getting shorter, so now's the time to light up.

Party-goers: Make a plan for traveling safely so you aren't a danger on the road. Better to be safe than contribute to a tragedy when youngsters are out and about – and every other day of the year, too.

Drivers: Get 7- 9 hours of sleep per night. Studies show most Americans need that amount of sleep to reach peak performance – yet the Bureau of Labor Statistics shows 18 percent of adults in the U.S. sleep less than seven hours. Don't be that drowsy driver.

No matter what time of year, it's always good to "Look out for each other." Download the poster – hang it at work or at home to help create an atmosphere of safety year-round.

Lower Nehalem Watershed Council invites you to two presentations

The Lower Nehalem Watershed Council Speaker Series will feature Katie Voelke, Executive Director for the North Coast Land Conservancy, Thursday, Nov. 14, for a discussion titled "North Coast Ecology: A Picture of Diversity." Continuing this theme, Charlie Plybon will present "Life on the Rocks: Oregon's Rocky Shore Habitats" on Dec. 12. Plybon is the policy manager for Surfrider Foundation.

These presentations are part of the Lower Nehalem Watershed Council's regular Speaker Series. All talks are held at the Pine Grove Community House in Manzanita. The program begins at 7 p.m.

Voelke's talk will focus on the terrestrial ecosystems of the northern Oregon coast. The varied habitats, from ocean beaches to 3,000 foot peaks, support a diverse set of species. This diversity is one reason scientists consider this region to be particularly resilient to the effects of climate change.

Plybon's talk will narrow that focus to the importance of rocky shore ecosystems. He will focus on the adaptations of organisms living in the rocky shore and historical protections for these areas. The talk will also include information about Oregon's current process to update the state's special rocky habitat designations and how the public can be involved.

A raffle will also be held. A $5 donations at the door gives attendees a chance to win a gift certificate to a local business and winners are drawn at the end of the presentation. "I The Nehalem River" bumper stickers will also be available by donation.

This presentation will be preceded by a meeting of Lower Nehalem Watershed Council's Board of Directors. Join them at 5 p.m. to get a glimpse behind the scenes of their work.

Upcoming speakers and topics:

Nov 14th – Katie Voelke – North Coast Ecology: A Picture of Diversity

Dec 12th – Charlie Plybon – Life on the Rocks: Oregon's Rocky Shore Habitats

Jan 9th – Zac Mallon - LNWC Annual Meeting and Year in Review

Feb 13th – Steve Trask – Beaver Dam Analogues

Mar 12th – Tiffany Garcia – Amphibian Response to Timber Harvest Practices

April 9th – Benjamin Clemens – Lamprey in Oregon (specific topic TBD)

This autumn may see more controlled burns in Oregon

Cool, rainy weather across much of the state has allowed the first controlled burns to be lit in parts of Oregon. New rules governing smoke may allow more of these burns than in the past. Oregon Department of Forestry officials believe increasing the amount of burning will help landowners reduce the public safety risk from the buildup of fuels in forests and improve forest health. Known as prescribed fires, these regulated burns are lit when weather conditions will minimize smoke getting into smoke-sensitive receptor areas (SSRAs) and Class I wilderness areas, such as Crater Lake National Park. According to ODF records, out of 2,964 units burned in 2018 only 18 – about half of one percent – resulted in smoke entering an SSRA.

Although forest landowners with permits may be burning in certain areas, the public should know that fire season may still be in effect where they live or camp, so check first before lighting backyard debris piles or making a campfire.

Yonker said, “The prescribed burns the public may see in coming weeks are done only when weather conditions are favorable for burning. We look to burn on days where air movement will disperse the smoke so public health is protected.”

New rules implemented this spring still require that burners not exceed federal air quality standards for particulate matter from smoke. But they no longer classify small sanitation; bags for prescription drugs; bags for garments or dry cleanings; bags sold in packages containing multiple bags for food storage, garbage, or pet waste.

To encourage using reusable bags, the new law requires that retail businesses and restaurants charge a five-cent fee for paper bags made from at least 40 percent post-consumer recycled paper, and durable plastic or fabric reusable bags. The reasons for the fees are to offset the cost of paper, which are more expensive than the plastic car-mence to search for untended females or those tended by less formidable males.

In Oregon, elk occur throughout the state but are most abundant in the Blue and Wallowa mountains and in the northern Coast Range, and least abundant in the southeastern High Desert region. Two of the six recognized races of elk occur in Oregon: Rocky Mountain elk east of the Cascade Range and Roosevelt elk west of the Cascade Range.

ryout bags, and because the goal is not to increase the use of paper bags but to encourage people to bring their own reusable bags.

“I hope citizens will realize that they can use reusable shopping bags,” McCall said.

According to the Oregon Public Health Authority, plastic absorbs dangerous toxins from the environment. Wildlife mistakes plastic for food and eats it. Studies have shown that wildlife can’t digest plastics, and that toxins from plastics are absorbed into animal and marine wildlife tissues.

“When fish and other animals mistake the plastic as food – and they frequently do – the toxic chemicals work their way up the food chain,” read a statement from the Surfrider Foundation. “This is not only potentially devastating to fish and wildlife, but to human health too.”

According to an article from the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ), data from various communities shows that a fee will lead many consumers to reduce their use of new bags. DEQ states that a fee (if equal to the cost of the bag) is fair to all consumers – only those consumers who choose to use new bags pay for them, rather than forcing all consumers (including those who choose to reuse) to pay for new bags.

City Sanitary Service reported that 479 people were surveyed in September of 2018. Responding to the question of support for a ban, 74 percent approved, 19 percent opposed, and 7 percent said maybe. On the question of using paper and reusable bags in lieu of plastics, 83 percent said yes, 8 percent said no, and 9 percent said maybe.

Asked by City Sanitary Service if people were willing to pay for a paper bag, 45 percent said no, 35 percent were willing to pay 5 cents, and 20 percent were willing to pay a dime. On the question of reusable bags, 53 percent said they bring reusable bags to the store most of the time (at least 75 percent of shopping trips), while 47 percent said they do not.

McCall said we underestimate the way people can change their habits and react. He believes Tillamook County will adjust to the ban. Master Recyclers will also engage with people about the ban.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The meat industry scares me

Dear Editor,
Halloween zombies, witches, ghosts and goblins lurking about don't scare me; what's really frightening is the meat industry. This is the industry that deprives, mutilates, cages, then butchers billions of cows, pigs, turkeys, chickens - animals who feel joy, affection, sadness, and pain, just like us...that exposes undocumented workers to chronic workplace injuries at slave wages, and exploits farmers and ranchers by dictating market prices... The industry that contributes more to our epidemic of diabetes, heart disease, stroke, and cancer than any other, then bullies health authorities to remove health warnings from dietary guidelines... The industry that sanctions world hunger by feeding nutritious corn and soybeans to animals, instead of people... The industry that generates more water pollution than all other human activities, that spews more greenhouse gases than all transportation, that destroys more wildlife habitats than all other industries. Fortunately, our local supermarkets offer a rich selection of plant-based meats, milks, cheeses, and ice creams, as well as a colorful display of fresh fruits and veggies. According to the meat industry publication Feedstuffs, sales of plant-based foods doubled from 2017 to 2018, jumping another 20% from 2018-19. That's what gives me my courage...and hope.

No jake brakes in town

I live on Highway 101 in Barview and have a request for the truckers that come through there (and all residential areas) daily. Turn off your jakes please. They scare my cat. I also happen to work graveyard and sleep during the day when you come through. Not asking the law to enforce the ordinance against them, asking the drivers to shut them off when they don't need them. From an old otr driver I can tell you, you don't need to sound cool to get respect, you have respect anyway for the job you do. #TimberUnity Respect gets both ways, please shut off the jakes when unnecessary, thanks. Keep the shiny side up!

Don't double dip on taxation

Fees for parking at county parks are double taxation. I've lived in Pacific City for right at 25 years and moved here because I enjoy the beach. I've never minded paying the county taxes to support the maintenance of the parks -- it's money well spent. But now there is a discussion of parking fees for county parks especially near the beaches. As a senior that lives too far away to walk driving and parking are necessary. The additional fee / tax seems like double jeopardy. I do think there should be parking fees for those tourists that add wear and tear to our roads and parks, that's only fair, but I don't think that Tillamook County residents should have to pay twice. My suggestion is that there should be a significant discount for annual passes for anyone who can establish that they pay taxes in Tillamook County. Not for the daily pass - my visiting relatives and friends can chip in to support the parks, but the county commissioners should take into account we locals are already paying for the services and find a way to make it fair to both locals and visitors.

OBITUARIES

Steven William Kniss

Steven William Kniss, 59, of Tillamook, Oregon, passed away suddenly from cancer on October 6, 2019. He was born to parents Albert Wallace Kniss and Loretta Jean Kniss-Williams, on February 8, 1960 in Pittsburg, California. When Steve was nine years old, he lived in Japan with his family while his Father served in the U.S. Military. Steve then moved to Oregon where he attended Nestucca School District. After high school he joined the US Army where he served our Country honorably while in Germany.

Steve worked as both a farmer and a logger for a number of years in Tillamook, Oregon. Anyone who knows Steve knows that he was able to fix just about anything and was always willing to lend a helping hand to those in need. In his spare time, Steve enjoyed doing anything outdoors including, chopping wood, picking moss, working in the garden, and building things for the grandkids. Steve loved to spend time with his wife and grandchildren whether that was enjoying time outdoors together or watching a soccer game on tv. Steve met Tina Neste in 2005. They were married on January 12, 2007 in Tillamook, OR. Steve is survived by Wife Tina Kniss, Brother Daniel Kniss, Sister's Wallis Weger, Liz Ingram and Dawn Williams, Step-children April White, Andrea Kennedy and Jimmy Callister, Grandchildren Derryk, Adelina, Taylee, Abby, Kalysa, Alex, Adan and Aldo along with several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his father Albert Wallace Kniss, his mother Loretta Jean Kniss-Williams and brother David Kniss.

Please join us for a Celebration Of Life Nov. 3rd, 2019 at 3 p.m. at the Port of Tillamook Bay (conference room) 4000 Blimp Boulevard in Tillamook, Oregon. It will be a pot luck style celebration, so please bring a dish to share. Everyone knows that Steve loved to eat!

Rebecca (Becky) Lee Koontz Huntington

Rebecca (Becky) Lee Koontz Huntington was born December 30, 1952, in Albuquerque, New Mexico. She died of a sudden illness on October 23, 2019, in Albuquerque.

Becky's Family moved back to Brownsville, Oregon in 1954. The Koontz Family then moved to Tillamook, Oregon in 1963, where Becky grew up. She met her husband Dewayne in high school. They reconnected a couple of years later and were married in 1975.

They lived in Tillamook until 2016, when Becky and Dewayne moved to Albuquerque to be near their son Jamie and his family.

Becky was a loving Daughter, Mother, and Grandmother. She loved her family, cooking, and raising chihuahuas.

Becky is survived by husband Dewayne, son Jamie, mother Patricia Koontz, brother Kelly Koontz, four grandsons and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her father, Dick Koontz. She will be missed by all. No services at Becky's request.

Robert Earl Hart

AKA Bad Bob, born in Yakima Washington in 1939. Bob lived at Five Rivers for nearly five years and lost his battle with cancer. Married to his wife Phyllis of almost 40 years. They had a combined family of eight children. Bob had his own janitorial company in Yakima and Vancouver, a restaurant on the Seattle waterfront and he was a life time member of the Tillamook Masonic Lodge. He was a pilot and artistic glassblower. After retirement, he worked seven years at Rosenberg Hardware. There will not be a memorial service.

Myron 'Bud' Eugene Massey

Myron 'Bud' Eugene Massey, aged 89, of Garibaldi, Oregon, died on Tuesday, Oct 22, 2019. Bud is survived by his loving wife Elsie; daughters, LeeAnn Woodard and Shelly Massey; grandchildren, great grandchildren, nephews and nieces, and a favorite cousin, Clifford Burns.

Bud was a talented oil painting artist and musician. He spent many years playing music in the Tillamook county area along with his wife Elsie and 'jamming friends'. He played accordion, guitar, violin, and piano. Bud was a quiet man with a quick wit and a twinkle in his eye. He enjoyed creating and building things out of repurposed items. In his younger years he was an Arthur Murray dance instructor. Music was a big part of his life.

Bud served in the US Navy during the Korean War and managed to sail over most of the globe. He then worked and ultimately retired from the California State Highway department. He moved back to Oregon to care for his aging mother.

No services are planned at this time. Condolences may be sent to the Waud Funeral Home at 1414 3rd St., Tillamook Or, 97141. Their website is www.waudsfuneralhome.com

Myrtle Irene Swanson

A funeral mass will be held for Myrtle Irene Swanson, 87, of North Bend, Oregon, formerly of Tillamook, on Saturday, November 2, 2019 at 10 a.m. at the Holy Redeemer Catholic Church, 2250 16th Street in North Bend. Arrangements are under the care of North Bend Chapel, 541-756-0440.

Lorraine Vandecoevering

Lorraine Wilhelmina Vandecoevering, 88, was born to John and Rose Kottre on Sept. 16, 1931 in Glen Ullin, North Dakota and passed away peacefully on Oct. 23, 2019, in Bay City, Oregon with family by her side.

Memorial services will be held at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Tillamook, Oregon on Saturday, Nov. 2, 2019 at 10:30am. A reception to follow.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Garibaldi Maritime Museum or Garibaldi Fire Department.

Arrangements in care of Waud's Funeral Home.

amounts of smoke entering an SSRA as an intrusion.

"The old standard used to be zero visible smoke in an SSRA," said Yonker. "This made it difficult to burn brush near populated areas, the very places where burning built-up woody fuels would improve public safety the most."

Yonker expects that burners will now be more confident about starting burns when conditions are reasonable rather than only when they are perfect. "If the weather cooperates, a conservative estimate is that we might get from 10 percent to 20 percent more burning done than last fall."

Yonker added that ODF is also educating forest landowners about the benefits of covering debris piles. "Our research has shown that woody piles covered with polyethylene sheets produce far less smoke than uncovered wet piles, which tend to smolder. So burners can burn more piles without adding to the overall volume of smoke," he said. "An added benefit is that landowners can burn covered piles later into the rainy season, since they stay dry enough to burn compared to uncovered piles soaked by rain."

Last year, controlled fires were set on 185,702 acres out of Oregon's more than 30 million forested acres. That was about 16,000 acres above the 10-year annual average of 169,779 acres burned. Estimates are that those fires burned almost 1.3 million tons of woody debris. The weeks just before heavy fall rains set in are considered ideal for burning, since those rains and colder temperatures reduce the chance a burn will reignite and start a wildfire. To learn if a controlled burn is planned in your area, visit the Daily Burn Plans page on ODF's website at http://www.odf.state.or.us/DIVISIONS/protection/fire_protection/Daily/rptDailyPlans7A.pdf users also currently smoke conventional cigarettes.

A February 2019 study in the journal 'JAMA Network Open,' one of the first studies to track youth e-cigarette users over time, found that young people who vape e-cigarettes are nearly three times as likely to start smoking cigarettes as peers who don't vape.

OHA continues to participate in the investigation of a nationwide outbreak of respiratory injuries associated with use of vaping devices. It is working with local public health and health care partners to track related illnesses in Oregon, which now has numerous cases including two deaths.

Sen. Ron Wyden (D-

Oregon) released a statement following the passage of legislation out of Senate Ways & Means Committee that would tax e-cigarettes, seen as a possible strategy to combat nicotine use among young people. Wyden called e-cigarette use a growing public health crisis and said the devices should be taxed at the same rate as tobacco cigarettes.

"A new generation of nicotine users has been created virtually overnight, and we must take action," Wyden said. "The good news is that we know what works to get young people to stop using these products — increasing the price."

"Taxing these dangerous products is one of the most effective ways to address this threat to our children's health, and I will be working to pass my companion legislation in the Senate," he said.

OHA advises the public not to use e-cigarettes or vape products. Those who want to quit are urged to take advantage of free cessation resources, including:

Great Columbia Crossing brings Tillamook's Rotarians, among others

Brian Cameron

Earlier this month welcomed approximately 3,300 guests to the city of Astoria for the annual Great Columbia Crossing 10k race. Among the various runners and walkers there were a few Tillamook County residents who decided to brave the cold October morning to take part in all the fun. "It was my first time, but others have gone several years prior," said Brett Hurliman, President-Elect of the Tillamook Rotarians. "We got pledges from the community and are donating those funds to the Jr. High cross country team."

Hurliman was also joined by other Tillamook area Rotarians to run the 10k race which brought participants from south Washington across the Astoria-Megler Bridge, all the way to downtown Astoria itself. Runners (and walkers) started early by being bussed over the bridge to the Washington State scenic area, Dis-mal Nitch. Once there they waited as more and more participants began to come in by the busloads. Shortly after, at 8:45 a.m., the race began and everyone started their trek toward, and eventually across, the massive bridge that spans the Columbia River. Runners were greeted to ideal weather and the lack of breeze made for some great running conditions. The event started in 1982 and has run annually ever since, there was only one year where it was cancelled (2016) and that was due to a large storm front moving in off the ocean. Despite that one small setback the event has grown exponentially every year. "The management of the event has changed drastically over the years," said Kelsey Balensifer, Event Coordinator & Publication Editor. "Originally it was hosted by Nike, the Chamber and the Port of Astoria, however since then it has changed hands from the Oregon Road Runners Club, Columbia Memorial Hospital, and others, before the Chamber took it over for good in 2001." Serving as a general fundraiser for the Astoria Chamber of Commerce, the Great Columbia Crossing gives back to the local community by hiring Chamber members and businesses for event logistics, supplies and services. As well as giving donations to area nonprofits in exchange for services provided during the event. In addition the Chamber instituted their "Clam Bucks Program" in 2009 as a way to encourage participants to explore the local area by enjoying various shopping and dining options, as well as attractions. "Everything said we can't forget all of our volunteers," said Balensifer. "Without their help the event wouldn't happen. We're so grateful for the support we receive." The Tillamook Rotary Club was just a few of many participants, other Tillamook area residents joined in the fun as well. Others reported coming in from as far as Maine to take part in the unique experience of crossing the longest continuous truss bridge in North America. "It was my first time," said Hurliman. "I loved it! Checked that off my bucket list."

Runners and walkers started from the Washington side of the Columbia River and crossed the 4.1 mile stretch to Astoria. Photo by Brian Cameron

"WE'RE PAID BY THE HOUR – OUR CUSTOMERS DESERVE TO SEE ACTION."

Jason & Heather Geil seem to embody the American Dream: a stable and growing company, a home on a premier fishing river, and two successful children, with at least one of them planning to join the family business. What isn't apparent is how hard they've worked to make their dreams a reality.

Jason was born on the central coast and graduated from Nestucca Valley High School. Heather moved to the area at the age of ten and is also a proud alumnus of Nestucca Valley.

He began his electrical career installing fiber optic cable for Qwest Communications and then U.S.I. Tiring of life on the road and yearning for more time with his growing family, Jason returned to the coast in 2002 and began an electrical apprenticeship with Miami Cove Electric in Garibaldi.

Most people don't realize what an extensive process that is. In order to qualify to even take the test that the Oregon Building Codes Division administers to become an Electrical Supervisor, you must first work four to five years as an apprentice and then four to five more years as a journeyman. Jason also worked an additional seven years for EC Electrical before deciding to open his own firm.

G3 Electric is both an electrical contractor, serving families and businesses from Manzanita to Neskowin, and a plumbing contractor, ran by his cousin Tyler Geil, covering Pacific City to Yachats. The name G3 comes from Jason and Heather's last name, Geil, and their hopes that their sons might eventually join the family business.

"We handle everything from wiring a home to installing and maintaining complex motor controls for agricultural facilities, breweries and restaurants," explains Jason. On any given day Jason may install a hot tub, heat pump, or water heater, or even be called to service or fix a state-of-the-art canning line at a local brewery.

Heather is G3's office manager, handling scheduling, purchasing, quotes, billing and accounting systems. The company is currently a 4-person operation, including a fulltime plumber and plumber's assistant. Now with a stable customer base and consistent growth, G3 expects to add at least one electrical apprentice in the future.

How do they account for the company's success? "When we say we're going to do something we get it done," points out Heather. "We move quickly on the job. We're paid by the hour – our customers deserve to see action," adds Jason.

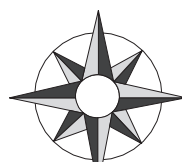

What spare time they have, Jason and Heather spend camping, hiking, hunting and fishing with their two sons. Their eldest, Noah is living in Corvallis and taking college classes to further his education. Marcus, a senior at Nestucca Valley, has already expressed an interest in joining the family business as a plumber.

Longtime customers of our Oregon Coast Bank Pacific City office for their family accounts, Jason and Heather naturally became Oregon Coast Bank business customers when they opened G3 Electric. "We know them, they know us and they really care," explains Heather. "You're not just another face at Oregon Coast Bank," adds Jason. That's a business principle that G3 Electric seems to practice also. All of us at the bank are honored to play a small part in their success.

Tillamook PUD office hours changing Dec. 30

The Tillamook PUD hours of operation will soon be changing.

Beginning Dec. 30, 2019, new office hours will be 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, closed on Fridays.

The extension of daily business hours will provide customers with more opportunities to engage with Tillamook PUD and complete important business transactions. By being closed an additional day during the week, the District will save on operating costs associated with fleet vehicles and facilities.

"It is important to us that we meet the needs of our ever growing and changing customer base" says General Manager Todd Simmons. "We look forward to implementing this change so we can fulfill a broader range of needs and continue to provide our customers and community members with high quality service."

Mooks Football still alive with play-in game against Elmira

The Tillamook Cheese-makers football season is still alive. Despite a 18-0 loss to Seaside last Friday evening on the road, Tillamook's ironclads season will not end just yet. The Mooks will face the Elmira Falcons in a play-in game as the Cheesemakers start their first playoff bid in a while. The Cheesemakers and Elmira are, on paper, evenly matched. Tillamook ended the season 5-3 overall and 2-3 in league play. The Falcons ended their season 4-4 overall and 2-2 in league play. Tillamook is ranked 89th in the state while Elmira is ranked 80th. Both teams are evenly matched up on offense, but the Cheesemakers have the edge on defense going into the Friday night's matchup allowing less points per game than the Falcons. Tillamook held Seaside to 18 points last Friday up north on the road, and could not get much offense going at all. The Mooks will have to find a way to move the ball against the Falcons as they begin their playoff bid. The Mooks only generated 57 total yards of offense off 29 plays in the contest against Seaside while giving up 344 yards to the Gulls. Chad Werner led all Mook offense with 44 rushing yards on the ground on 9 carries. Senior receiver, Kellen Shelley, had two catches

NKN volleyball ends season with loss of 3-0 by Portland Christian

Mike Weber
The Neah-Kah-Nie lady Pirates volleyball team desperately needed a win in order to stay alive in the Class 2A Northwest League District volleyball playoffs. The Pirates had a chance to extend their season if they could just get an upset win over the Portland Christian Royals. In the David versus Goliath type of matchup though, it was the number four ranked Royals (13-0 NWL, 23-3 overall) who recorded a 3-0 win Tuesday at Portland Christian High School. The Pirates concluded the season with 2-9 NWL mark and 3-14 overall won/lost record. The contest marked the final game of their Neah-Kah-Nie High School volleyball career for seniors Clover O'Connor and Grace Miller. Despite the lopsided season-ending loss to the Royals, Coach Jenna Archibald's Pirates displayed the kind of upbeat attitude and inspirational team spirit that is seen often in playoff teams. "Oh my goodness, I just can't say enough good things about Clover and Grace," said Archibald, the Pirates sixth year coach. "They've both done a great job of providing leadership and displaying their positive attitude. They're both team captains, they show up and set a good example by working hard at every practice. Portland Christian has a very good team, they hit hard and they're fun to watch. They're going to continue in the state playoffs and do some very good things. I think they definitely have a chance to win the state championship." From the beginning to the end of the match, the Pirates smiled, they laughed, and they constantly gave each other high-fives to show support for a teammate's good play. The impressive sportsmanship that the Pirates displayed certainly wasn't indicative of a team that had won only three games all year. The Pirates, guided by the coach, were tied 1-1 in the first set and trailed by only one point during the early portion of Game 1 at 3-2. Portland Christian, the defending Class 2A state champion, went on an 11-2 run to build a double digit 14-4 advantage and force a Pirates timeout. The Royals' momentum continued as they went on another impressive

Bobcats lose to Knappa 66-26

The Nestucca Bobcats lost in the Oct. 25 home conference game against Knappa by a score of 66-26.

The loss brings Nestucca to 3-2 in league and 3-5 overall this season. The Bobcats are ranked No. 19 in the 2A-1 Northwest League by Oregon School Activities Association (OSAA).

Nestucca has an away conference game at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1 at Warrenton. The Warrenton Warriors are 4-1 in the league and 5-2 overall. They are ranked No. 10 by OSAA.

Stats
Ben Hurliman had three completions, 30 passing yards, one carry, two rushing yards, 1 reception, 10 receiving yards.

Skyler Wallace had one completion, eight passing yards, 15 carries, 41 rushing yards, 1 reception, 10 receiving yards.

Tyler Hagerty had one carry, two rushing yards, one reception, 10 yards from that reception.

Mitchell Richwine had 19 carries, 128 rushing yards, one touchdown, 1 reception, 10 receiving yards.

Kaden Barham had two carries, one rushing yard.

run, outscoring the Pirates 11-1 for a 25-5 first set victory.

Neah-Kah-Nie had a strong start in the second set and led 1-0 when O'Connor served an ace. Sophomore defensive specialist Emma Stanley pounded a kill over the net to knot the score at 2-2. Sophomore outside hitter Emma Miller then served an ace, lifting Neah-Kah-Nie in front at 3-2.

"It wasn't a fun season and it was kind of up and down for sure," O'Connor said. "They [Royals] are a very good team and they seemed to play even better than the last time we played them (a 3-0 loss Sept. 24). Some parts of the season were fun, and some parts were not so fun, but I still love playing volleyball."

Following two deadlocks at 3-3 and 4-4, the Royals then took control with a 10-1 run to take a 14-5 lead and force a timeout by coach Archibald. The highly regarded Royals, led by senior outside hitter Josie Ernst (12 kills), then outscored the Pirates 11-0 for another 25-5 second set victory.

The third set was knotted 4-4 and then Portland Christian scored seven straight to build an 11-4 lead. After Neah-Kah-Nie trimmed it to 11-6, Portland Christian went on a 9-1 run to take a 20-7. The Royals then followed with 5-1 rally for a 25-8 third set win.

"I came into this game knowing that it was probably going to be a tough loss, but we still had fun and I had a good time actually," Miller said. "The hardest thing for me to do this season was to keep having a positive attitude. I knew that this was probably going to be my last game and I just tried to make it as enjoyable as I possibly could."

Neah-Kah-Nie actually had three seniors on its squad, including Trinity Brown. However, Brown suffered an early season injury and was unable to compete for the second half of the year.

"We're a very young team and we have a large group of eighth graders that will move up to our program and I'm very excited to see how well they develop next year," said Archibald.

It was obvious that the Royals were indeed the better squad and they clearly demonstrated that they are a legitimate contender for the 2019 state championship. Portland Christian has won 21 straight games and has a 23-1 record against Class 2A teams. Their only loss was 2-0 against the number one ranked Kennedy Trojans earlier this season.

Portland Christian has won all but one of its 12 NWL contests by a 3-0 sweep. The only time the Royals didn't sweep was when they won 3-2 over the No. 6 ranked Vernonia Loggers on Oct. 10.

Pirates keelhaul Loggers at homecoming

Neah-Kah-Nie blasted Vernonia out of the water at homecoming this past Friday, Oct. 25, with a 48-7 final score for the Pirates. The Loggers have yet to pick up a win this season, losing eight straight games, five in league play.

The win brings Neah-Kah-Nie to 4-2 in league play with a 4-3 overall record. The Pirates are currently ranked No. 18 in their division by Oregon School Activities Association, and are slated for a Friday, Nov. 1, non-league home game against the No. 24-ranked Gervais Cougars, who are winless in league play this season and 2-6 overall.

The Pirates suffered their second league loss this past

Friday, falling to the Warrenton Warriors in a 41-6 road game. In previous game on home turf, Neah-Kah-Nie dropped a 58-38 battle with the Knappa Loggers. With the score at 50-6 at the half, Head Coach Chris Bennett shared concerns about his run defense. The Pirates rallied in the third quarter when the Loggers pulled their varsity.

‘Sky: An evening of Flamenco’ is set for Nov. 10 in Manzanita

Seattle-based Flamenco dancer, Savannah Fuentes, brings her latest show, “Sky: An evening on Flamenco,” at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 10, to the Pine Grove Community Center in Manzanita. Joining her will be singer/percussionist, direct from Spain, Diego Amador Jr. and guitarist Pedro Cortes. Admission is $23, VIP reserved seating is $35, student $15, and child $9.

Diego Amador Jr. From Seville, he was born into flamenco royalty. His father is the celebrated flamenco pianist Diego Amador and his uncles are Rafael and Raimundo Amador (Pata Negra). From a very young age he began performing and touring with some of Spain’s top flamenco artists, including Remedios Amaya, La Susi, Lole Montoya, Farruquito and Joaquín Cortés. Known mainly as a percussionist, he also sings, plays guitar and piano and recently launched a solo project as a singer/songwriter, with the track “Y me siento tan bien”.

Savannah Fuentes, born in Seattle to parents of Puerto Rican and Irish ancestry, is one of the only touring artists in the Pacific Northwest region with strong links to Flamenco culture. She studies both baile (flamenco dance) and cante (flamenco singing) and has toured throughout the states of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Colorado, and Arizona. She has independently produced over 300 performances and workshops featuring internationally recognized Spanish Flamenco artists such as Jose Anillo, Saray Munoz, Jesus Montoya, and Juanarito. She has studied with artists such as Guadiana, Joaquín Grilo, Eva Yerbabuena, El Farru, and Isabel Bayon. She attributes her formation as an artist to her most significant mentor, Maestra Sara de Luis. She continues to evolve as an innovator and performance artist.

Pedro Cortes Guitarist Pedro Cortes comes from a family of Spanish gypsy guitarists and began his studies with his father and the esteemed Flamenco guitarist Sabicas. Having toured professionally since the age of 17, he is gaining international recognition as a soloist and composer. He has premiered his work En la oscuridad de las minas at the Teatro Albeniz in Madrid, he had works premiered by the Carlota Santana Spanish Dance Company at the Joyce Theater in New York. He has two books on Flamenco, El Dron del Faraon and Cruzando el Charco, published by the American Institute of Guitar. Cortes, was commissioned by the Cohen Brothers to compose music for the film Paris Je T'Aime. He also wrote music for a childrens program on H B O called Fairy tale for Every Child. He has toured with Jose Greco and Maria Benitez, La Conja and has performed with such artists as Farrucita, La Tati, Merche Esmeralda, Manolete and the late Lola Flores. He has been guest artist with the St. Louis Opera and the New York Grand Opera, and has been commissioned by and performed as musical director with the Guthrie Theater In Garcia Lorcas Bodas De Sangre Cortes is artistic director of his own Flamenco group, and also Musical Director of Palo Seco. Cortes is a third generation Flamenco guitarists and uses the experience passed down to him by his family to maintain the purity of Flamenco while creating new compositions.

Education through interaction at the Tillamook Air Museum

Changes are afoot at the Tillamook Air Museum as they embark on an era of exciting new exhibits. These exhibits are quite different in style and substance than you’ve seen from organizers at the museum in the past, as our focus has changed. Prepare to enter a world of hands-on and immersive exhibits. Displays that take the visitor into a world not quite our own. We like to call it “Education Through Interaction.”

One exhibit opening soon that exemplifies our new participatory philosophy is our 1960 TWA (Trans-World Airlines) Convair 880 forward fuselage. This iconic aircraft was developed in part by businessman Howard Hughes, who wanted a jet that would be faster than any of its competition (still one of the fastest commercial jets that flew to this day!) Once open, visitors will be able to board, walk through the lounge, galley and view the cockpit to experience the glamor and style of commercial jet aviation at the dawn of the jet age.

Another exhibit actively being built that allows visitors to take a step back in time, is a recreation of life at the former Mt. Hebo Air Force Station, once located south of Tillamook. A radar facility that would detect enemy craft, Mt. Hebo Air Force Station was active in our community for over 20 years, from 1957 to 1979. This exhibit will feature a near exact replica of one of the many corrugated “tunnels” that connected buildings at the station and protected personnel from severe inclement weather. This “tunnel” can be walked through and will lead visitors into a beautifully crafted circular display; telling the story of Mt. Hebo Air Force Station.

Along with new and unique interactive displays being introduced at the Tillamook Air Museum, we are also working on exhibits that move our visitors. In partnership with the World Holocaust Remembrance Center (Vad Yashem), we are introducing an exhibit titled “Stars Without a Heaven.” This exhibit will tell the heartbreaking story of children involved in the Holocaust, how their lives were so dramatically upended, their innocence lost. Despite this loss, we also tell the story of the amazing resilience of these children, how their imagination endured and shined for all to see.

As we discuss the museum, let’s not forget upgrades. This past summer we worked with the Tillamook PUD and their rebate program to upgrade our antiquated lighting. We installed brighter, more energy efficient, LED lighting. Helping to preserve and protect museum objects entrusted to us, and to improve the experience of our visitors.

If you haven’t been to the museum in some time, you may also notice some significant changes in pricing and additions to the museum’s access passes. First off, we have lowered the cost of our “Annual Pass” by nearly half. This pass when purchased allows the purchaser and a guest into the museum for an entire year from date of purchase. At just $35.00, this is a bargain! Second, the museum for the first time has introduced an “Annual Family Pass” that allows two named adults and four kids into the museum for a year from date of purchase, all for just $65. And of course, there are aircraft. We are currently working through the certification process with the United States Air Force to acquire help us additional airplanes to add to the museum’s growing collection of military craft. Keep a lookout for new aircraft coming down the pike.

With all of this going on, we are always looking for help from you. We have a variety of volunteer opportunities available here at the museum, and would love it if you worked with us. Contact us for more information. info@tillamookair.com

These are but just a few of the exciting changes that are happening here at the Tillamook Air Museum. As we grow, expand, and change, be on the lookout for even more dynamic exhibits from us as we work to serve you, our visitor. We look forward to seeing you at the Museum soon.

Sip and Shop features local writer

Local non-profit, Art Accelerated invites you to join their Sip and Shop event Friday, Nov. 8 from 5-7 p.m., at the Gallery, 1906 Third Street in downtown Tillamook, when local writer, Brad Ayers, will read from his latest work.

Brad moved to Cape Meares, Oregon, in 2015 after living 40-years in Colorado, preceded by Illinois and growing up in California. Brad worked in private business for three major US corporations, then founded his own venture capital and consulting companies, and taught concurrently as an adjunct professor in the University of Phoenix MBA program. Brad’s undergraduate degree was in fine arts from California State University, Long Beach, and graduate MBA degree from the University of Denver. He thought the inspiration of the Pacific Northwest would rekindle his fine arts interests. But instead, inspired by a writing class his daughter-in-law, Lana Ayers encouraged him to take, Brad discovered writing as a creative outlet that motivated him to complete his memoir, “A Life’s Journey.”

During one writing prompt with Dana Cunningham Anderson, he discovered telling short stories with non-human subjects doing all of the talking. For the Sip and Shop event, Brad will read and discuss selections from his first series of “Beach Voices” and from six other series he has written.

Come enjoy a sip or two and some shopping at the Gallery November 8th, 5-7pm and listen to Ayers

Mary Jane and Rod Pelson have returned to Cape Meares from a colorful biking trip in Vermont. Rod is part of a group called "The Hikin' Guys" who met at University of Washington and, in 1970, started taking annual hikes together; this trip was their 49th. Some years they take their wives along and 2019 was one of those. They traveled to Vermont to join others in their group and a few strangers for a trip with Vermont Biking Tours. They biked, using e-bikes, 20-30 miles a day and saw the most beautiful fall foliage; MJ took some gorgeous pictures. They also had side tours to a winery and a glass-blowing shop, and feasted on gourmet food at country inns along the way. Everyone in the group did the morning bike ride; in the afternoons, some continued physical activities with kayaking or another bike ride while others rested up at the inn, reading a good book or visiting. All in all, the Pelsons thought this was one of the most enjoyable group adventures they had been on in years. Now it's back to work on updating their house in Cape Meares. Pete Steen, Seaview neighborhood captain in Cape Meares, reported on the Oct. 17 Great American Shakeout, an exercise where people pretend that a big earthquake has occurred. Eighteen individuals and two dogs showed up at the Seaview assembly site on Third Street NW; all arrived within the first 10 minutes, including two volunteer firefighters and three members of the Cape Meares CERT team. Radio contact was made among three assembly areas: Third Street. NW, Fifth Street NW, and the water tower. Nine individuals were at Fifth St. and two at the water tower. There were also four individuals at the 7th St. NW assembly site. Wherever you were on Oct. 17 at 10:17 a.m., we hope you participated in this drill. The Big One really is coming one of these days and, for us, a tsunami, too. Just as a reminder that disaster can strike at any time, power was out in Cape Meares for roughly four hours early on Oct. 19. A tree fell across Bayocean Road, one-half mile east of the dike road, and took out a power line. Helena Fagan, Butch Freedman, Sally McGee and Lana Ayers all have poems or essays coming out in the next issue of the "Northwest Squid;" in fact, one of Helena's poems recently won first place in a poetry contest. Both Butch and Sally will be reading excerpts of their pieces at the Squid launch party at 7 p.m. on Nov. 2 at the Hoffman Gallery in Manzanita. Drive on up the road and take it in! Cape Meares resident Brad Ayers will be the featured speaker at Art Accelerated in Tillamook on Nov. 8 from 5-7 p.m. Brad will be reading from his recently completed memoir, "A Life's Journey: the First 80 Years," plus selections from his many fiction short stories, including "Beach Voices," "Doors We Go Through," and "Food Talks Back." Wine and snacks will be served.

Hats off to Pat Patterson, of Sandlake for at least a dozen phone calls to inform Fencepost Readers about a Totem Pole in the works on his son's land in Hemlock. Unfortunately, Mr. Patterson's phone reception is poor and despite two calls back to request information in writing or by mail, the undecipherable voicemails continue. A call to Sand Lake Grocery as we go to press verified that there is a Totem Pole in progress. It's viewable "across a field from the Hemlock end of Sandlake Road." Perhaps more details will follow; my contact information is provided near my photo in this space. Hebo Women's Book Club met for October last week of Neskowin on Winema Road. Don't forget Nestucca High School's Fall Concert. It's slated for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, November 5 and will include several numbers that honor America's Veterans. Happy Halloween dear readers. Happy birthday this week to: Ember Black, Richard Baumgartner, Kathryn Brunmeier, Ashley Caspell, Nichole Caspell, Randy Haltiner, Norman Loveland, Brandy Lynn, Blain McConkey, Diane Nelson, Kycie Richwine, Joey Sigman, Tori Slavens, Julie Spencer, Dareld Summers, Sam Thurman, Miles Twigg, Lacey Woods and Bradley Zeller.

The monsters may alarm you in the pale moonlight, The nightmares in October occur on shadowy nights. There will be goblins and zombies for all to enjoy, You may even see a superhero or a princess, the dream of every girl and boy. Don't trip on a broomstick or a child masquerading as a witch, Look for the Neahkanie Pirate; he has an eyeball with a twitch. Have a great time all, but kids, watch for approaching car lights, And be in by midnight or there may be a gruesome fright! Halloween... It brings back wonderful memories. I was so sad when people started telling me I was getting to big to trick or treat. To all, have fun and be careful. The Lions Club is honoring our community veterans at South Tillamook County Library. We set aside a few minutes to discuss the ending of our September read, "Trask" by Don Berry. Many of us were still finishing the September book at meeting time. The ending is a real page turner. We discussed "Sisters in Law," about Sandra Day O'Connor and Ruth Bader Ginsberg for this month. The book chronicles and compares the careers of the first two women appointed to the United States Supreme Court; I loved it. Attending were Ginger Allen, Joan Wilke and me. We took up a collection, which was enriched by absentees later, towards a wedding gift for our own Rachel Petit who married her Jake last weekend in Neskowin. We know that she hand knitted the dress she wore for the occasion and we wish the newlyweds every happiness. Free events at South Tillamook County Library this week include a lantern craft for After School Club at 4 p.m. on October 30. Legos are in store when the group meets on November 6. Woven Wednesdays, a chance to make progress on sewing or needlecrafts (bring your project), happens those same evenings at 6. Mother Goose on the Loose, story time for babies and toddlers through age three, happens there at 9 a.m. on Saturdays. Teens will enjoy Casino Night (card games galore) starting at 1 p.m. on Saturday, November 2. South Tillamook County Library is located off of Brooten Road on Camp Street in Pacific City. Thanks to Cyndie Dietz for word that a Veteran's Stand Down is planned from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Friday, November 1 at Sitka Marsh on Tohl Road in Nehalem, and organized by the Explore Nature Tillamook Coast. If you ever get a chance to go on one of these hikes, do it. It was really cool. I know more about mushrooms than I ever thought I needed to know, but it was amazingly interesting! Thanks for the tickets Kristin. The Rockaway Beach Library has a storytime for children every Tuesday at 3pm. This storytime will include 'silly songs and fun stories' with Mathew. After that, your children can check out books, with your family library card, to take home with them to help their love if reading continue to grow!

Isn't our library phenomenal? The Mookulele Group will be jamming in Manzanita at the library on November 2nd at 1pm. And Christmas practice has begun with the Salty Strings Ukulele Group of Rockaway Beach each Wednesday evening at 6pm at the Rockaway Beach City Hall. You will enjoy the leadership of Steve Tackett at this jam. And, for those who would like to keep up with us, check out our Facebook page. We have a few simple questions to answer, and then you are in. All are welcome at both of these groups and we even have ukuleles for you to borrow! Last but not least! A hilarious comedy 'Moon Over Buffalo' opens on November 1st at the NCRD Performing Arts Center in Nehalem. The dates of the performances are November 1, 2, 8, and 9th at 7pm and November 3 and 10th at 2pm. You can save $3 per ticket if you purchase online at www.tickettomato.com. At the November 3rd, 2pm matinee, you can stay after the performance and meet the director, cast and crew. This event is included with the purchase of a ticket! "There is magic in the night when pumpkins glow by moonlight." Happy Halloween! That's Rockaway Beach, "Sugar Coated!"

with a Veterans Spaghetti Dinner on Sunday, November 10th. All are invited, and the veterans will enjoy a free meal, all the others guests enjoy their dinner by donation. The menu includes spaghetti, garlic bread, salad and dessert. Best of all, we will have the opportunity to thank all the veterans in our community. The Rockaway Lions Club is located at 286 South Anchor Street, right behind our city hall.

Drop them off at the Lions Club. We stopped by Four Paws on the Beach in Manzanita and bought our Golden Retriever pup, Koa, a new toy that will last longer than a week. We were pleasantly surprised that we received a discount because we live in the area. We thank you and Koa thanks you. They are at 144 Laneda Ave. I recommend them! place in class over the first three weeks of December. A huge thank you to all our science coach volunteers who were able to help out in October. For the 4th grade Geology and Energy we had Josh Blackburn, Chrissy Smith, Megan Deane McKenna, Bruce Cardin, Jim Young and Rob Russell. For 5th Grade Cells to Ecosystems we had Chrissy Smith, Bruce Cardin, Slade Sapora and High School students for the first day. Unfortunately, we had to cancel the next two days due to half of our big canopy frame being taken over night and having rain and high winds. We were able to go to East on that Friday and bring the field trip to the students and do four of the field trip activities. Thank you to Chrissy Smith and Alix Lee for jumping in at the last minute to make this work. Josh Blackburn an amazing job help us out both days last week for the fourth grade rock cutting.

Sixth Grade Wet Cells/ Dry Cells/Electronics Activity: The 6th grade activity wet cells, dry cells and electronics coming up November 18th through the 22nd and the 25th and 26th. This will take place at East Elementary in the classrooms.

Unscramble these twelve letter strings to form each into an ordinary word (ex. HAGNEC becomes CHANGE). Prepare to use only ONE word from any marked (♥) letter string as each unscrambles into more than one word (ex. ♥RATHE becomes HATER or EARTH or HEART). Fit each string's word either across or down to knot all twelve strings together.
