Come to the Aldrich Public Library to see the following exhibits currently on display: Vermont Sampler Initiative Exhibition in the Vermont Room
Visit the top floor of the Aldrich to view the Vermont Samplers Exhibition, part of a statewide driving tour organized by the Vermont Sampler Initiative in cooperation with the state's 250th Commemoration of the American Revolution. These 19th-century schoolgirl needlework pieces reflect the importance of girls' education in the post-Revolutionary War era and were often proudly displayed by families to signify literacy, citizenship, and social standing.

Treasures from the Aldrich Archives
Step into Barre's story with images, film, and voices from the past. Explore how work, play, and people shaped the city. Come view this interactive display at your own pace anytime the library is open.

AIDS Memorial Quilt
For the second year, the Aldrich is proud to display two panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt. The AIDS Memorial Quilt is a tapestry that honors the lives of people lost to HIV/AIDS and is considered the world's largest community arts project. This year, there are new partners joining the Aldrich in displaying the quilts. We encourage viewers to visit the Vermont Historical Society and the State House to view additional panels. Stop by to view the quilts anytime during our open hours.

Vermont Sampler Initiative Exhibition in the Vermont Room

Visit the top floor of the Aldrich to view the Vermont Samplers Exhibition, part of a statewide driving tour organized by the Vermont Sampler Initiative in cooperation with the state's 250th Commemoration of the American Revolution. These 19th-century schoolgirl needlework pieces reflect the importance of girls' education in the post-Revolutionary War era and were often proudly displayed by families to signify literacy, citizenship, and social standing.

Treasures from the Aldrich Archives

Step into Barre's story with images, film, and voices from the past. Explore how work, play, and people shaped the city. Come view this interactive display at your own pace anytime the library is open.

AIDS Memorial Quilt

For the second year, the Aldrich is proud to display two panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt. The AIDS Memorial Quilt is a tapestry that honors the lives of people lost to HIV/AIDS and is considered the world's largest community arts project. This year, there are new partners joining the Aldrich in displaying the quilts. We encourage viewers to visit the Vermont Historical Society and the State House to view additional panels. Stop by to view the quilts anytime during our open hours.

CITY HALL PARK STAGE

SPONSORED BY: TOWN FAIR TIRE, CODY CHEVROLET-CADILLAC & VERMONT FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

Come see Breanna & The Boys perform Heritage Fest. The band consists of Breanna Elaine on vocals and guitar, Justin Burgess on bass and Robert Fjeld on drums. They will be jamming through popular covers from a range of artists like Sublime, Chris Stapleton, Tom Petty, Fleetwood Mac and many more. They will also be performing their own original songs which have become local favorites. Breanna Elaine is a singer/songwriter based out of Vermont. Her debut album, "Seedlings" was released January 1st, 2023 with two singles to follow. "Generally classified on music sites as folk/rock, as the evening went on, it was clear she transcends definition. She's been compared to Jewel (though Breanna's covers of Jewel are in many ways superior to the originals), Alanis Morissette, and Janis Ian. Tack on an early Fiona Apple song and it's easy to understand just how diversely her talent runs."-Susan Johnson of the Brandon reporter
