

UPMC WELLSBORO: IMPROVING HEALTH BEYOND HOSPITAL WALLS

UPMC
LIFE CHANGING MEDICINE

At UPMC Wellsboro, health care is about more than treating illness—it's about partnering with our communities to improve wellness, expand access to care, and build a healthier future for the people of Tioga County and the northern tier.

Improving access to preventive care remains a key priority. Through our expanding skin screening program via our UPMC Mobile Health Center, we're bringing free skin cancer screenings directly to rural communities where access to care and transportation can be challenging. By meeting patients where they are, we're making it easier to detect potential concerns early and connect individuals with the care they need—close to home.

Supporting community health also means addressing the everyday challenges that impact well-being. Through our Fill A Trunk, Feed A Family food distribution, we've provided nutritious food to hundreds of families throughout the Wellsboro and Cole service areas. By helping reduce food insecurity, we're improving health beyond the clinical setting and strengthening the communities we serve.

We're equally committed to investing in the future health care workforce. Through collaborations with Wellsboro High School's Health Occupations program, UPMC Rural Family Medicine Residency program, and other community partners, students gain hands-on exposure to health care careers through classroom experiences, career fairs, and mock interviews. These initiatives support UPMC's broader commitment to recruiting and developing the next generation of health care professionals in rural Pennsylvania.

Whether expanding preventive services, supporting families through community outreach, investing in future health care professionals, or building strong regional partnerships, UPMC Wellsboro remains dedicated to improving lives and ensuring high-quality, compassionate care is available close to home for generations to come.
