ABOUT SUPER 25

SELECTION PROCESS

The 26th Star-Tribune Super 25 was spearheaded by sports editor Jack Nowlin and sports reporter Brady Oltmans. Statistics, staff observations from covering games, and input from high school coaches around the state are all factored into the process. Players were evaluated through the Wyoming State High School Football semifinals. The Star-Tribune thanks the Super 25 sponsors, coaches and former Star-Tribune high school sports coordinator and record-keeper Patrick Schmiedt (wyoming-football.com) for their help with this year's Super 25.

Favorite football moment

Grinding in the weight room and on the track every day of summer.

Most embarrassing football moment

After moving from Rapid City Central going into my sophomore year, I was pulled up to varsity during two-a-days. In our first defensive session I was at corner. So, wanting to test the new kid, Coach Shepherd, the WR coach, repeatedly put Talon Nelson and other senior receivers on my side, running double-move after double-move until I just gave up, which had to have been after what felt like 10 touchdowns.
