

What percentage of Tucson's 911 calls are noncompliant?

Last October, Tucson's 911 "ring times" dipped below the national standard — which says 95% of calls need to be answered within 20 seconds — and has mostly stayed below the mark since then. March had the lowest rate of compliance at 79%.

