

Tucson church adds to Summerhaven land holdings

Tucson Faith Christian, Inc., purchased six plots of vacant land in the Mt. Lemmon resort community between 2020 and 2022, bringing its portfolio to 14 properties, public records show. Six of the parcels, including two with custom-built log homes, receive Pima County property tax exemptions for religious use. The church has registered a homeowners association named after a nearby street, records show. Dozens of former members have described the church as a cult and six who recently left say the land acquisitions were not disclosed to the congregation.

