

A1 Star

WILDCATS' BENCH IN BASEMENT

Lack of productivity hurts HANSEN IN SPORTS

CALIF. FREEZE =PRICIER CITRUS

Your trees might not have escaped, either BUSINESS

Arizona Daily Star

50¢

SERVING TUCSON SINCE 1877 · WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 2007

ILLEGAL DRIVERS LOSING THEIR WHEELS

Drive illegally and they'll take your car. These impounded vehicles languish in a lot at Frontier Tower at 3630 S. Dodge Blvd.

Impoundment law has owners, tow firms scrambling to adapt

By Dale Quinn
Each month Tucson police seize about 300 vehicles from drivers who are on the road illegally...

didn't impound vehicles driven by people violating the law, and they seized vehicles only for evidence, officials said.

person continued driving after the traffic stop, said Tucson Police Department traffic Sgt. Christopher Andreusola.

Lawmakers ask: Why did Guard retreat?

And will episode embolden armed drug smugglers?

By Brady McCombs
Questions still linger about what really happened two weeks ago when a National Guard observation team was forced by four armed men to retreat from its post east of Sasabe.

BORDER CONFRONTATION

On Jan. 3 National Guard troops working at an observation post east of Sasabe were apparently hit by four armed individuals and forced to retreat.

and what the Guard is allowed to do when confronted, he said. Border Patrol officials have scoffed at reports that the troops didn't have ammunition in their rifles.

At last, the missing link on parkway path is near

By Andrea Kelly
The last section of a bike and pedestrian path along Barrazo-Aviation Parkway will be ready to ride or walk in the next six months...

The bridge will be designed to look like a Tucson O'odham woven basket, with lizard and coyote paw-print representations.

Town's last copper relics to pass into history

By Richard Duceit
Decades of toil by thousands of workers produced billions in wealth at the former Magna Copper complex on the northeast flank of the Santa Catalinas.

Copper miners like these men put San Manuel on the map.

WEATHER, C6
Sunny and warm
High 63 / Low 37

COMING UP, DON'T MISS ...
CALIENTE: No chickens here - the great pot pie taste test. THURSDAY >>
CALIENTE: Arizona Trail - 800 miles of challenge and adventure. THURSDAY
SCHOOL SEARCH: Our list of private, charter schools can save legwork. SUNDAY

Win your share of January 15 - March 11 over $100,000! CASINO SUN CASINO DEL VOL