FEARS VOICE OF THE PEOPLE. GERMANY DREADS USE AMERICAN NATION MAY FIND FOR EXPANDED NAVY.

Berlin, March 16.—German herald experts declare that the proposed increase of Uncle Sam's sea strength is a mark more serious matter for Germany than the establishment of a naval station on the east coast of England. This view is stated by the officials of the navy department, who cannot control from themselves, the fact that America's enlarged naval program is chiefly the result of the disappointing Venezuelan expedition.

Reading today a prominent naval strategist is close touch with official opinion said: "Germany's danger from the United States lies not in the expansion of the American fleet, but in the popular sentiment which has brought about that expansion. It is the sentiment which is the danger to which popular feeling may at any hour compel it to be put."

BUREAUCRACY OPPOSES CZAR FRIENDS OF RUSSIAN FREEDOM WILL COMBAT OFFICIAL OPINION.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—It is certain that the bureaucracy will do its best to nullify the czar's emancipatory intent to see that such efforts meet with as little success as possible. They purpose scattering his majority's influence throughout the country. The prohibition of the czar's activities is certain to produce a host of new boys in millions of people who will not only resist but will not accept any consequences in the direction of popular political action.

It is not pure abstract idealism that is the cause of these liberal impulses in the imperial palace. It is the realization of the czar's political and social policy. It is the realization of the czar's political and social policy. It is the realization of the czar's political and social policy.
