FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS COMMON TO ALL COUNTS

- 14. Plaintiffs, a married couple, are residents of the Town of Sahuarita.
- 15. On April 9, 2023, Plaintiffs were in bed at their home when Sahuarita officers Fruge and Woodrow approached their home and pulled Steve from his bed to answer the door.
- 16. As officers approached the house, the home was dark and the whole neighborhood was quiet.
- 17. Officers were dispatched to the Aiken home after a 911 caller reported a verbal argument going on inside the house.

- 18. The caller, who was reluctant to provide her call back information, claimed to live nearby and to have heard the disturbance while out walking.
- 19. In response to a question from the 911 dispatcher, the caller agreed that she had heard a crashing sound from inside the house.
- 20. When Steve Aiken came to the door, Sergeant Fruge shined his flashlight into the vertical window next to the Aikens' front door.
- 21. Steve assured Sergeant Fruge that everyone in the home was okay, that he and his wife had been upset earlier in the evening because their grandson was in the hospital with a serious medical condition.
- 22. Sergeant Fruge repeatedly asked Steve to come outside or to let him into the house, and Steve consistently refused.
- Steve asked Sergeant Fruge whether he had a warrant; Sergeant 23. Fruge did not.
- 24. Steve engaged with Sergeant Fruge through the window pane next to his front door but never opened the door.
- 25. Sergeant Fruge was able to see Steve through the window. He was also able to see past Steve into the Aikens' home, asking Steve at one point why the vacuum was on the floor. Steve simply responded that it had fallen over.
- 26. Sergeant Fruge asked Steve several times to talk with his wife. Steve said no, that his wife was in bed and that she was ill.
- 27. After several minutes of interacting with Sergeant Fruge and answering his questions, Steve asked Sergeant Fruge to leave so he (Steve could go back to bed).
  - 28. Sergeant Fruge refused to leave the Aikens' property.
- 29. Sergeant Fruge told Mr. Aiken that he could stay there (on the Aikens' porch) all night and that someone else could take over for him in the morning.
- 30. During the time that Sergeant Fruge interacted with Mr. Aiken through the windowpane, Sergeant Heath and Lieutenant Zamora arrived on scene.

- 31. Sergeant Fruge told Steve that if he could just talk to Deborah, the officers could leave.
- 32. Steve gave officers a phone number for Deborah, and Officer Woodrow contacted her over the phone.
- 33. Deborah assured Officer Woodrow that she was fine and did not need any help.
- 34. Officers asked Deborah to come to the front door, telling her that if they could just see her for 30 seconds, they would be able to leave.
- 35. Deborah came to the front door and interacted with Sergeant Fruge, again assuring him that she was okay. At that point, officers had been on the Aikens' property for 33 minutes.
- 36. Sergeant Fruge asked Deborah to step outside and talk with him, and Deborah refused. She told officers that her house was a mess and she'd been ill. She did not want to come out and did not want anyone to come in.
- 37. In the meantime, officers called the 911 caller and spoke with her in a conversation not captured by their body worn cameras.
  - 38. Officers also summoned a door breaching device to the Aikens' home.
- 39. 36 minutes after officers arrived, while Sergeant Fruge was speaking with Deborah, one of the officers told Fruge to tell her that if she did not open the door, they would "have to force entry to check welfare."
- 40. Sergeant Fruge threatened Deborah that if she did not open the door, "we're going to have to break it in."
- 41. Notably, during the time that officers talked with the Aikens, called the 911 caller, and waited for the door breaching device to be brought to the scene, they made no effort to obtain a warrant.
  - 42. After 38 minutes on the Aikens' property, and while Sergeant Fruge still had visual and verbal contact with both Aikens, officers broke down the Aikens' door with a breaching tool.

- 43. When the door flew open, it struck Deborah Aiken, the very person whose welfare officers were supposedly trying to protect.
- 44. Officers physically pulled Deborah from her home, though she was suspected of no crime, even pulling her hands from the door frame she tried to grab onto.
  - 45. Officers entered the Aikens' home and placed Steve in handcuffs.
- 46. Steve spent the next 22 minutes in handcuffs in his front yard under the watch of Officer Woodrow.
  - 47. During that time, one of Steve's neighbors arrived home, most certainly able to see him handcuffed in his own yard.
- 48. Deborah continued to assure officers she was fine and explain that Steve had been upset earlier in the evening over his grandson but that there had been no altercation.
- 49. Officers went through the Aikens' home, conducting a visual search of every room.
- 50. While being guestioned, Deborah asked officers several times to leave her home, and they refused, continuing to ask her questions about the state of her furniture and a broken glass.
- 51. Deborah explained that she had been sick and hadn't felt up to cleaning up the dropped glass that night, deciding to leave it until morning.
  - 52. Even once the house had been "cleared," Steve remained in handcuffs.
- 53. After 22 minutes, officers removed Steve's handcuffs and gave him the phone number for their Risk Management division.
- 54. Officers were on the Aikens' property for more than hour total, despite multiple requests from both Aikens to leave.
- 55. During that hour, officers did nothing to verify the veracity of the 911 caller's report.

- 59. No reasonable officer could have concluded, under the totality of the circumstances known at the time, that Steve had committed any crime.
- 60. No reasonable officer could have concluded, under the totality of the circumstances known at the time, that Steve posed a threat to officer safety or that he posed a risk of destroying evidence.
- Steve was calm and cooperative, and no exigent circumstances 61. warranted placing him in handcuffs.
- 62. Plaintiff was damaged as a result of Defendants' violation of his Constitutional rights.
- 63. To the extent that any policy or practice of the Town of Sahuarita was the moving force behind the violation, the Town is also liable under Monell v. Dep't of Social Services of the City of New York, 436 U.S. 658 (1978).

COUNT II: ILLEGAL SEARCH IN VIOLATION OF THE FOURTH AMENDMENT

- 64. Plaintiffs hereby incorporates by reference the allegations contained in paragraphs 1-63 as though set forth fully herein.

67. To the extent that any policy or practice of the Town of Sahuarita was the moving force behind the violation, the Town is also liable under Monell v. Dep't of Social Services of the City of New York, 436 U.S. 658 (1978).

- 72. Plaintiffs were damaged as a result of Defendants' violation of their Constitutional rights.
  - 73. Deborah Aiken was actually injured when the door was forced open.
- 74. To the extent that any policy or practice of the Town of Sahuarita was the moving force behind the violation, the Town is also liable under Monell v. Dep't of Social Services of the City of New York, 436 U.S. 658 (1978).

  - 77. Officers refused Deborah Aiken's request to leave even after they had conducted a visual search of the home.

circumstances made their repeated refusals to leave the property a violation of the Fourth Amendment.

- 79. Plaintiffs were further damaged as a result of Defendants' actions.
- 80. To the extent that any policy or practice of the Town of Sahuarita was the moving force behind the violation, the Town is also liable under Monell v. Dep't of Social Services of the City of New York, 436 U.S. 658 (1978).

  - 83. Plaintiffs suffered damages as a result of Zamora's conduct.
- 84. To the extent that any policy or practice of the Town of Sahuarita was the moving force behind the violation, the Town is also liable under Monell v. Dep't of Social Services of the City of New York, 436 U.S. 658 (1978).
