Amending Big Tax Bill Ok'd By Bloomquist

But Ways, Means Chief Thinks Measure Best If Left to Stand

By LESTER N. INSKIP Staff Correspondent PHOENIX, Jan. 14.—The ways and means committee of the Arizona house of representatives is willing to accept amendments to its 245-page income tax bill if necessary to continue revenue for their present level.

At the same time, however, it is his belief that the bill as presently written will result in even greater collections, despite more liberal exemption allowances.

The committee was scheduled to have reported today to the legislative post auditor and Don J. Green, head of the state tax division of the state tax commission, showing where the bill would be on taxpayers in several showing brackets.

Since neither of these officials have been able to complete their tabulations, and several committee members would not consent to delay further action on the bill until Monday.

The income tax legislation is the most important and controversial bill that has been introduced in regular session last Monday.

Many other bills have been introduced, but most have remained on the background during discussion of the income tax legislation.

Withholding Payment Bloomquist said the liberalized exemptions, which are patterned after the federal income tax law, substantially will result in savings to all present taxpayers, but that the committee believes the difference, and possibly more, will reach many people now escaping entirely.

The governor, relying on an amount furnished by Leo Lockwood, and checked by private accountants, fears a serious loss of revenue. He favors simple amendments to add better enforcement of the present law.

What the committee hopes to learn Monday is something more definite on the revenue question. Whether the information will be helpful, however, is uncertain.

The latter's balance sheet shows a net loss of $700,000. Moore lists assets of $27,454. His net worth is $26,754. Moore's net worth is $26,754. Moore's net worth is $26,754.

Among the more interesting points of legislation introduced today is a bill by Sen. J. P. Fox and Charles Orme, both of Yavapai county, establishing for entry, park maintenance, and conservation camps for juveniles and delinquents.

The camps would take some of the boys who now are sent to the industrial school at Fort Grant.

Original appropriation would be $75,000. The camps, each of which would be limited to about 30 boys, would be similar in nature to the Civilian Conservation Corps program of depression days.

Joe Kuykendall Found Innocent

OMAHA, Jan. 14.—A district court jury tonight found Arizona lieutenant Joseph Kuykendall innocent in the death of his mistress wife.

Some 50 persons on hand in the court-room broke into cheer as the verdict was announced and pushed into the counsel table where the 34-year-old Kuykendall sat with three of his four attorneys.

This was after the longest murder trial in the memory of Omaha court attendants—a duration of 31 court days spread over 7 1/2 weeks.

The jury of eight women and four men was out 20 hours before returning the verdict. Kuykendall was charged with first degree murder after his 30-year-old mistress was found dead and dying in their $5,700 home, 1000 W. 24th St., Omaha, Neb. home race meeting here.

Mr. Kuykendall was given an eight-times married best man at a mutual friends' party. Joseph, who she met at a mutual friends' party, was described by one witness as the best looking fellow in Arizona or New Mexico.

Thirteen days before Ardahl's death, she made out a will leaving the bulk of her estate to her husband.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Kuykendall appeared to have a hearing at the time she was found dying here but in the trial there developed testimony that she was drinking and the use of her car.

Expert testimony was brought out that she had been injured by falling, paralyzing her right arm.

Merle Moore, certified public accountant, yesterday told the city council should collect $98,222 in rent for the past year from the Tucson Airport Authority which operates municipal airport.

But the auditor, L. P. Herms, said last night that the "TAA" probably realized by imposition on the city.

Herms added that he is sure any amount agreement reached as to what payment should be made to the city.

Moore made a 27-page special report to the city council covering the year ending Sept. 30.

Washington, Jan. 14.—President Eisenhower urged Congress today to boost social security benefits quickly for America's older citizens and give 10 million more people protection from "the fear... of destitution."

Eisenhower also asked that the amount of income taxed for pension purposes be raised from $3,000 to $4,200, and that retired persons be allowed to earn more at part-time jobs without losing social security benefits.

Changing the tax base would mean that workers making more than $3,000 would find up to $12 more a year in social security deductions coming out of their paychecks.
