PARENTS STUDY HOME ECONOMICS Associations of Two Schools to Unite EXPERT TO LECTURE ON COUSINE

THE Parent-Teachers' association of the High and Roskrug schools will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon, November 4, beginning promptly at 3:30 o'clock, in the high school auditorium.

These two associations have united their work on account of the transference of the many parents to other schools of the city which have been constructed during the year.

The meeting of Friday will be of special interest to parents from the standpoint of a presentation of the subject of the month, which is receiving the most attention by the associations over the state, that of home economics.

The program will be given over to Mrs. Jassamine Williams, of the home economics department of the University of Arizona, who has specialized on the correct food values, the care of the home and child welfare. Mrs. Williams has offered to teach local mothers the course at the university practice house, if they would arrange their classes.

Miss Grace Lamson will sing a group of songs and the guests of the afternoon will have the opportunity to hear this singer who has recently come to the city to make her home.

Miss Lamson is a sister of Mrs. A. J. Welchard of Speedway and has established her studio for the season at the Welchard home.

Mrs. J. L. Hedwell, soprano, well known in Tucson musical circles will sing the Scotch song, "It is na, Jean, Thy Bonnie Face," by Reginald Billin.

The business of the meeting will be unusually important at this time, as a new president will be elected to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. J. Caldwell, whose illness makes it necessary that she give up the work of the Parent-Teachers' association.

All parents and teachers and friends of the school are asked to attend the meeting and take an interest in the work of the Parent-Teachers' association of Tucson.

Tucson Artists Delight Guests When Chamber of Commerce Entertains at Banquet; Rare Musical Treat Enjoyed

FORTUNATE, indeed, were those who attended the chamber of commerce banquet at the Santa Rita hotel Monday evening, for as a musical treat there was nothing left to be desired.

The appearance of Miss Julia Tedlock, pianist, who returned in October from the Paris School of Music, was hailed with delight. Miss Tedlock played with splendid verve, yet retained that delicacy of touch and fine attention to technique that makes her art so perfect. It was the first time since her return from the European continent that Miss Tedlock has appeared in public and all music lovers in the city will look forward to her first recital, given under the auspices of the Saturday Morning Musical club this season.

Mrs. Weaver in Voice.

Mrs. Maude Derrling-Weaver sang with the most pleasing effect the popular numbers, "My Love, the Swallow," by Loehr. Mrs. Weaver's voice is a rich contralto with a placement of the higher tones that is a delight in the singing of the lovely English songs. To represent the Tucson chamber of commerce in the world of song, Mrs. Weaver was well chosen.

Mrs. Aros Sings of South.

As a singer of the songs of the southwest, the very quality of Mrs. Aros' voice in "The Soul of Sonora" made one think of the songs of the desert, the night skies and the trail of a bird. Her contribution to the program was typically of Arizona and the southwest.

Keddie Wins Applause.

Hamilton Keddie gave the Tucsonians a distinct treat in his singing of Scotch songs. Whatever else Mr. Keddie's voice may be suited for, the singing of Scotch songs are chief among his attainments. Of the purple heather is his singing, and he was recalled again and again.

Montijo Rare Artist.

The members of the chamber of commerce were especially well pleased with the violin numbers of M. Montijo. M. Montijo is a violinist of gifted ability. His playing of the Slavie number, "Mazurka," was beautiful in its shading and was received with much applause. All in all, the musical program, which was in charge of Mrs. Sam Heineman and Max Brodies, is merely a reflection of the musical art in the city as presented by a group of Tucson's most gifted musicians.

Tucson Kiddies Seek Bargains in Fairy Tales Modern Maiden of 12 Hunts Her Movie Magazine at Fair Bargain Rates

EVIDENTLY the sense of what constitutes a "good buy" comes early to the human consciousness, if we may believe the story the bright faces of the school children tell today on Congress street and Stone avenue.

Garbed for the schoolroom and the playground they are seen in eager droops scanning the shop windows, watching where they may purchase the books that delight their hearts at the least price.

Pennies Jingle merrily in their pockets, but do not find their way out until a real bargain is found, when with a wily eye to business this sturdy Tucsonian searches through the books, pamphlets and bats to find the cheapest, best looking and most interesting article for his pennies. He's a clever buyer, this 10-year-old!

And the girls! Well, they simply follow their natural instincts of knowing a bargain when they see it, and merchants of today are not in ignorance of this fact. They cater to put this infantile patronage for that reason.

The pretty books of fairy lore, youthful adventure and moving picture "queens" that fill the local shops at this season are silent witnesses to innate bargain-hunting qualities of their patrons under 12 years of age.

Most of the literature displayed in the shops is in the attractive, paper-back books of Mother Goose rhymes, Grimm's Fairy Tales, and the old stories of Jack and the Beanstalk and Blue Beard.

In some of the shops are found small paper-back volumes at a moderate price, with the fair form of a movie hero or queen for its dashing cover. Inside, a scant number of leaves also bear the lineaments of this that particular star and a little text in large print sets forth the salient facts of his or her career. The principal figure of the volume is shown, sitting or standing, and clothed in the various costumes of every-day life, much to the delight of the small bargain hunter who wants a thrill for each penny.

Five little girls with bobbed heads bristling with new ribbons, were coming out a Congress street shop yesterday. "Just see," said one, "they're worth buying 'cause all that beautiful book cost was"—her voice drifted out in the Arizona sunshine.

B. P. O. E. PLANS BEAUTY SCENE FOR ANNUAL DANCE

Purple and White of the Hello Bills to Mingle With Halloween Colors

ELKS of the city will be present in large numbers at the annual ball of the season, Thursday evening, November 3, to be given in the Elks' hall.

Decorations in purple and white and Halloween colors will make the ballroom a fitting setting for the dancers of the evening.

Secluded punch corners, palms and ferns with the inspiring notes of an orchestra, under the direction of Tommy Brandt, promise to make the event one in the history of the Tucson Bills that will not soon be forgotten.

The committee in charge of the ball has promised to have plenty of entertainment for every Elk and his family and friends. J. H. Nugent, A. J. Collins and M. J. Shannon will see to this part of the program.

Today's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

The prognostications for this day, according to the rule of stellar influences, are of splendid promise. There is every prospect of success and growth along all lines of endeavor, with financial increase and gratifying return for all ambitious projects.

According to the stellar sages, new propositions should be kindly received, and those in the employment of others may ask for advancement if undeniably deserving. However, change, removal or travel are not under auspicious rule. Domestic affairs should prosper.

Those whose birthday it is have the forecast of a prosperous year, of growth, advancement and the opportunity to save money. Domestic affairs should flourish. Any but the most imperative changes, removals or journeys may well be postponed until a more propitious time. A child born on this day will be quick, talented and generally fortunate, despite a possibly restless and changeable disposition. It will be ambitious and much respected.

With long yellow rays in the form of streamers, and a yellow cap adorning her head.

There were tableaux, fortune telling, and Little Red Riding Hood carrying her basket of goodies to her grandmother, old men with canes and ghostly apparitions made it truly a Halloween scene.

All the students of the school received flyers at the luncheon served, with prophecies of their future lives written on cards which they may keep for future reference. Games and dancing made the hours fly by too quickly and the guests of the evening voted the teachers of the deaf school royal entertainers.

Teachers of the school arranged the party and received the guests.

POOR GIRL TO WED MILLIONAIRE

The secret romance of Herbert Melville Harriman, capitalist and cousin of the late E. H. Harriman, and Miss Sally Hunter, a Red Cross nurse, who lives with her parents in an East Side flat, was revealed by intimate friends. Mrs. Oliver Harriman, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, verified the engagement and said she had received Miss Hunter at her home just before the young woman left for French Lick Springs, Ind. Mr. Harriman has been at the Indiana resort for several weeks. Before her departure, Miss Hunter invited a few of her friends to the home of her parents. When Miss Hunter confided that she was about to start west to marry a millionaire, everyone thought it was a joke. The marriage, a real love match, had its inception in the war period. Harriman, an army captain, met Miss Hunter while she was serving as a Red Cross nurse. They met again on their return to this country, but only casually. Several months ago the young millionaire was taken ill. When the young woman assigned to care for him asked for a relief nurse Miss Hunter was given the position. Harriman was pleased with the selection and recovered health rapidly. When he was well again he went abroad, but before going he proposed marriage to Miss Hunter. She hesitated. On his return, several weeks ago he renewed his suit. She still refused a final answer, and he went to French Lick Springs. From this resort he kept up a constant stream of letters and telegrams to Miss Hunter, and she said "Yes." Although without wealth or social position, Miss Hunter has won many friends by her charm and beauty.

TUCSON WOMEN ENTER LISTS IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Country Club Courts to See Best Players of Fair Sex in Action Saturday

THE SOCIAL EVENT of the season at the Country club will be the tennis tournament of Saturday and Sunday, when more than 10 young women of Tucson will meet for a try on the tennis courts of the club, with the pose in view of awakening a greater interest in this fascinating sport.

In charge of the affair are Miss Mary Romadka and Paul Rebell and it is their desire that the women tennis players of the city begin the sport with enthusiasm, since it is the best that has contributed more spectacular players to the courts in the championship matches than the east.

"Tennis is coming to the fore this season with a tremendous rush," said Miss Romadka and Mr. Rebell yesterday in speaking of the entries which they have had in the tournament.

"We would like to make this an annual event, locally, and have found that already a keen interest is showing among the young women of the city in getting into the game. Every day we have come new entries and by the time the tournament is ready Saturday we will have a full quota of players."

The preliminaries will begin promptly at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 5, on the courts of the Tucson Country club, and will run over into Sunday, when the finals will be played for trophies. The winners will receive prizes in the finals and semi-finals on Sunday. Some mixed doubles will be played and on Sunday the event will take on a social atmosphere, when tea will be served and a general hour or two of chatter about the sports of the year will take place.

Sportswomen of the city who are interested in the great game of tennis are invited to the matches of Saturday and Sunday at the Tucson Country club.

She will sing this evening at the reception which the members of the First Methodist church will give for their pastor, Rev. H. W. Ingham, and again on Friday at the High school auditorium at the Parent-Teachers' association meeting.

Steady Stream of Anonymous Correspondence Moves for Months In and Out of Gramercy Park and Central Park South Club Houses by Means of Fictitious Box Maintained for Sending Out Propaganda.

'GRAND GOBLIN' HOOPER, DISTRICT AGENT IS IN CHARGE OF ACTIVITIES IN NEW YORK

"Confidential Missive, Illustrated With Groups of Masked and Robed Men Bearing Fiery Crosses, Is Invitation to Join—Editorial by Kaufman, Who Could Not Quality Under Questionnaire, Circulated and One Appeal by Mistake Goes to Negro

WHAT IS THE KU KLUX KLAN?

How has it grown from a nucleus of thirty-four charter members to a membership of more than 500,000 within five years?

How have its "domains" and "realms" and "Klans" been extended until they embrace every State in the Union but Montana, Utah and New Hampshire?

What are the possibilities of an order that preaches racial and religious hatred of the Jew and the Roman Catholic, of the negro and the foreign-born citizen?

What are the possibilities of a secret organization that practises censorship of private conduct behind the midnight anonymity of mask and robe and with the weapons of whips and tar and feathers?

What ought to be done about an order whose members are not initiated but "naturalized," whose oaths bind them to obedience to an "Emperor" chosen for life?

What ought to be done about an organization with such objects when the salesmen of memberships in it work first among officers of the courts and police departments, following then with the officers on the reserve lists of the military and naval forces?

At the end of months of inquiry throughout the United States and in the performance of what it sincerely believes to be a public service, The Star this morning continues the publication of a series of articles in which answers to these questions will be offered, set out against the vivid background of an extraordinary movement as is to be found in recent history.

ARTICLE III

The Army and Navy club in New York City has been used as headquarters of agents of the Ku Klux Klan in their drive to secure new members at $10 apiece.

As was stated yesterday in the second article of this series, one of the salesmen employed by the propagation department of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., Capt. Henry P. Fry of Chattanooga, Tenn., has found himself compelled not only to resign his position as a Klansman, but to notify "Emperor" Simmons that he has withdrawn wholly from the organization and repudiated

Teachers of Deaf Give Hallowe'en Treat to Pupils

Bogies and Ghosts Walk in the Night and Witches Foretell Coming Events

THE school for the deaf was the scene of a gay party Monday evening, when the students there came trooping into the school to the number of 89, dressed as witches, goblins, the sun, the moon and the stars.

One little girl represented the sun.
