Coolidge and Congress Are Again at Odds on the Number of Ships

TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Treasury Department to Ask Funds for Rigid Work For Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (P).—President Coolidge and congress found themselves at odds again today when they started the newly authorized cruiser construction program.

Early in the day the president forwarded a budget recommendation of $12,370,000 for beginning work on five of the 15 cruisers and the airplane carrier during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Within a few hours the senate appropriations sub-committee considering the navy department appropriation bill voted to make $700,000 of this fund available for an immediate start on five of the cruisers during the current fiscal year.

This program follows the provisions of the time clause voted into the cruiser bill over the protest of Mr. Coolidge. It stipulated that five cruisers should be laid down this year, ending June 30; five the next, and five the following.

The program sent to congress today by the president could have provided for only five cruisers up to June 30, 1930, whereas the course voted by the senate sub-committee sticks by the terms of the bill to start ten cruisers during that period.

PLANS ARE MADE TO ENFORCE DRY LAWS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (P).—Plans for a more intensive enforcement of the national prohibition law were being prepared today by the bureau of prohibition and customs of the treasury department following the department's request to the house appropriations committee for $2,500,000 additional funds for the services.

The request which will be transmitted in the usual manner through the budget bureau will provide $1,500,000 more for the prohibition bureau and $1,000,000 additional for the customs service. A supplemental estimate for the money had been expected to go to the committee today but was not sent by the budget bureau.

COOLIDGE NOMINATES THREE AS JUSTICES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (P).—The nominations of three men—all prominent in public affairs in recent years—were transmitted to the senate today by President Coolidge.

The appointments recommended by the white house were:

Finis Garrett, of Tennessee, retiring Democratic leader of the house and Irvine L. Lenroot, former Republican senator from Wisconsin, to be associate justices on the court of customs appeals; and Henry H. Glasse, former Democratic member of the tariff commission, to be a member of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Chairman Norris, of the senate judiciary committee, said there had been rumors of opposition to some of the nominees but he knew of no formal protests. He said the nominations would be taken up in regular order by the committee on Monday.

CHRYSLER'S GRIPS NET "DAMP" CARGO

HONOLULU, Feb. 14 (P).—Eighty-three bottles of intoxicants, including whisky, gin, rum and champagne, were seized by customs officers yesterday when the valet of Walter P. Chrysler, automobile magnate, attempted to carry them in the steamship Malolo on arrival from San Francisco. Mrs. Jeanette Hyde, collector of customs, said the usual $5.00 per bottle would be levied.

Will Rogers Says ---

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—They are already claiming it's against "precedent" and that Hoover shouldn't enter Washington while Coolidge was "head man." Hoover fished all the way to South America and all the way back. Now they want him to fish till March. Any guy that can fish over a week and be satisfied is not the one we want for president. This busy man's vacation is a lot of "baloney" in show. The bigger he is the less he enjoys a vacation. It's always a bird that never does anything that enjoys a vacation. There is nothing in the world as hard as playing when you don't want to.

Yours,
WILL.

Gang War Breaks Out Again As Mob Slays Trapped Men

Wholesale Execution Brings Death To Seven Unarmed Men In Chicago Where Moran Gang Met; Police Commissioner Says "War, Without Mercy"

By H. W. MAGEE

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(P)—Chicago gangsters, posing as policemen, invaded the Northside stronghold of the George "Bugs" Moran gang, lined up seven helpless, unarmed victims with their faces to a white brick wall and mowed them down with automatic pistols and machine guns. The wholesale execution was carried out at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

With all the precision of an army firing squad. It was an innovation in Chicago gang history which brought the total gang victims to more than 135 in the past few years. Five men drove up to Moran's headquarters in a garage at 2122 North Clark street after putting through a telephone call inquiring whether certain members of the gang were there.

They rushed into the garage with drawn pistols and machine guns, informing the seven men they were police officers. Some of them flashed stars and others wore parts of police uniforms. Without ado they herded the victims to a courtyard in the rear.

Men Are Trapped
Overhead gleamed a powerful electric light to make the work of the firing squad easier. Whether the victims realized they had been trapped by a clever ruse will never be known. There was a word from the leader, and the clatter of machine guns and pistols and the massacre was completed.

A few minutes after, the firing squad, still carrying the pistols and machine guns, sauntered out, climbed into an automobile, stowed the weapons in the rear and drove away. Apparently few persons heard the firing.

A woman told a policeman that some one had been hurt in the garage and he entered to verify this prosaic report.

Six victims he found lying where they fell, feet to the wall, their faces turned to the incandescent light overhead. A seventh victim mortally wounded, was found in another room. He lived for two hours but stoically maintained the gangland code of silence.

The garage conducted as a blind for the Northside liquor running syndicate, resembled a shambles. Blood splattered the walls, scores of bullet holes pockmarked the bricks. The victims killed by their merciless executioners without having a chance to escape, sprawled grotesquely on the floor, the hats of some of them still at the same cocky angle affected by gangsters and hoodlums.

Police quickly determined the main facts in the wholesale killing. Some of the victims were identified immediately. Two were Peter Gussenberg, notorious gunman and gangster, and his brother Frank, both involved in the Dearborn street mail robbery a few years ago. Al Weinschank, underworld roustabout and James Clark, Moran's brother-in-law, were two others. A fifth was John May, garage employee. The other two men were identified variously as Arthur Hayes, Arthur Davis, or Frank Foster, all known as Moran followers.

May Be Kidnapped
What happened to Moran no one knew. One report was that the elusive kidnaper two men after shooting the others. A boy said he saw them march two men to their car, both with hands in the air. Another man said he saw a man with blood streaming from his face enter the car with the gunmen. Whether this was Moran, one of his henchmen or one of the executioners wounded by a ricocheting bullet, no one was certain.

Less than two miles from the scene of today's slaughter, Dion O'Banion was executed in his flower store a few years ago and soon thereafter Hymie Weiss fell on the same corner when a machine gun nest belched death to him and his followers from an apartment building across the street from Holy Name cathedral. Moran gathered up the remnants of the gang headed by these two powerful leaders and constituted himself the new leader. Today's massacre left him virtually bereft of manpower if he still is alive.

The wholesale slaughter, unlike any killings ever before attempted in the gang war of annihilation, created a furore in official circles. William F. Russell, police commissioner, went to the scene as did Coroner Herman M. Bundesen and several assistant state's attorneys.

Russell, who a few weeks ago rounded up 3,000 persons in a drive against crime declared vehemently today's killings meant a war to death between gangs and police with no quarter asked or given. The wholesale raids will be as nothing to what is to follow, he added.

An examination of the victims tonight revealed each had been shot from six to ten times. All were well dressed and carried considerable money, more than $800 being found in one man's pockets and more than $1,100 in another's, besides expensive watches and jewelry.

PRISON NOT SO GOOD

In company with every other investigator who ever visited the prison, the committee made an adverse report. The women's ward is particularly condemned and a new building and a matron are suggested. The latter already has been granted. Single cells in the wards are urgently needed, but the greatest need of all, says the report, is employment for the men prisoners. The equipment to make the big prison farm produce the maximum should be placed on the work of building roads and the needed new prison buildings.

FORT GRANT BAD

Conditions at Fort Grant school for delinquents come in for a terrific scoring. Described as "designed and managed, not with the idea of a reformatory, but with the design of encouraging discontent and rebellion against authority," the institution is said to have "a shoe shop but makes no shoes, a carpenter shop but no tools, a printing shop but no type, a farm of fertile acres but no water."

Of the other institutions there is little of importance in the report.

UNIVERSITY IS PRAISED

Other State Units Approved After Inspection by House Committee

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 14.—(P)—Scoring the state prison at Florence and the state industrial school at Fort Grant, recommending an addition to the Pioneer's home at Prescott, and giving approval to the state university, the State Teachers' colleges at Tempe and Flagstaff, the state school for the deaf and blind and the state hospital for the insane, the report of the committee on public institutions of the Arizona house of representatives was made public today by Representative Thomas Maloney of Pima county, chairman.

While the report is silent regarding the use of the "bull whip" at the state industrial school, as reported by the individual members of the committee, it does point out deplorable conditions which it recommends be abolished.

Over-crowding and the need for an addition to accommodate a long waiting list who have applied for admission to the home, are the points stressed in the reports discussion of the Pioneer's home at Prescott.

All of the state's schools are commended by the committee, which pays a tribute to its report to the administration. Both houses of the legislature will reconvene tomorrow morning after having been in recess since yesterday in observance of Arizona's 15th birthday.

GIL ASSURED OF CONGRESS' AID

Valenzuela, Candidate for President, Accused of Seeking Revolt

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—(P)—A subcommittee of the mixed congressional commission visited President Emilio Portes Gil today and advised him that congress was indignant over the attempt to assassinate him last Sunday and would support enthusiastically his measures to punish agitators against the government.

During a meeting of the commission last night Deputy Santos charged that Gilberto Valenzuela, former secretary of education under President Calles and more recently Mexican minister to London, was preparing a revolution. He submitted no facts to support this statement, which was in line with rumors current here for more than a week.

Valenzuela now is campaigning in the state of Sonora in behalf of his candidacy for the presidential nomination. El Universal Grafico tonight published a dispatch from its Hermosillo, Sonora, correspondent saying that Valenzuela has announced that when he is definitely named a candidate, probably on March 1, he will issue a manifesto setting forth his program. The presidential elections are to be held in November.

Besides Valenzuela, outstanding candidates for presidential nominations are Aaron Cazun, governor of Nuevo Leon; Pascual Ortiz Rubio, until recently minister to Brazil; Jose Vasconcelos, former secretary of education; and General Antonio Villarreal, former secretary of agriculture. Saez and Ortiz Rubio are candidates for the nomination on the national Revolutionary party which will hold its convention in the city of Queretaro beginning March 1. Vasconcelos and Villarreal are candidates for the nomination of the anti-Revolutionists party, the exact date of whose convention has not been announced.

MEXICAN OFFICER DISCOVERED DEAD

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—(P)—A dispatch to El Universal from the state of Coahuila says that Lieutenant-Colonel Villarreal of the local garrison was found dead today after going to a house to arrest a priest charged with violation of the religious law.

The dispatch said that Villarreal entered the house while a squad of his soldiers remained outside. When he did not return the men entered and found him dead.

Several women living in a nearby house were arrested while police began search for the priest who was stated to have disappeared. The priest's name was given as Maduro. The dispatch did not say how Villarreal was killed.

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Feb. 14.—(P)—Mrs. O. C. Parker, of Tucson was elected secretary of the Arizona New Mexico Division of the National Selected Morticians to succeed Lester Ruffner of this city when the organization met in a one-day convention here today.

Wilbur M. Kreiger of Chicago, executive secretary of the association, presided at the meeting which was attended by Roy Watroux of Philadelphia, first vice-president.

DONAVAN HEADS SANTE FE MEET

Representative of Coolidge Chosen Chairman; Ross Speaks for Arizona

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 14.—(P)—The Colorado river conference for settlement of the tri-state differences among California, Arizona and Nevada, elected Colonel William Donovan, representative of President Coolidge as permanent chairman today and then adjourned subject to call of the chair.

John Mason Ross, speaking for the Arizona delegation when it was suggested that the demands of that state be defined, said the Arizona statement could not be made until "the differences were defined."

After the meeting of the general conference the representatives of the upper basin states, New Mexico, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah, met to organize a steering committee of those observing states to be able to efficiently meet any problems arising with reference to their rights, under the Swing-Johnson bill and the Colorado compact.

Most of the meeting of the general conference which was opened with an address of welcome by Governor R. C. Dillon, was occupied in an argument over whether newspapermen should be admitted. The meeting adjourned, not taking any action to exclude the press. The idea proposed was to take the press inside the executive session. Senator A. B. Irvine, Utah, was elected chairman of the upper basin states' organization.

SIDEWALK ERUPTS IN STAIT BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb. 14 (P).—A series of gas explosions, which hurled manhole covers into the air and shattered plate glass windows in the downtown business district, injured a number of homebound commuters on their way to the south station tonight. Early police reports said more than 25 persons were hurt.

The explosions occurred in the vicinity of Summer and Chauncy streets, the former a main artery for traffic between the south station and the department store district.

A man who was standing on a manhole cover when the explosions occurred, was hurled through the plateglass window of a nearby lunch room. In all about a dozen manhole covers were blown off, several of them going over buildings many stories high.

After the first few explosions fire evidently started in the underground mains, causing additional explosions.

Traffic for many blocks was halted while firemen poured tons of water into the mains.

INCOME TAX RULING SEEK HIGHER COURT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 14.—(P)—A decision of Judge Fred C. Jacobs of the United States district court for the northern district of Arizona, effecting income tax payments, which was handed down this week, will be carried through the appellate court to the supreme court of the United States, according to contestants in the litigation. The decision should be sustained by the higher courts, would save hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in the state, now paid as income tax.

The contest, upon which the decision was rendered on demurrer, is that of L. B. Koch versus the internal revenue collector, in which the plaintiff contends that his wife has equal equity rights in the community property and that he and his wife should be amenable to the income tax act on that basis. The decision supports this contention.

Officer's Risk If He Has No Warrant, Says L. A. Ruling

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(P)—Officers who attempt search of a residence for liquor without a search warrant, do so at their own risk, Municipal Judge Russell declared today, in dismissing charges of assault with a deadly weapon, filed against Charles S. Dunscomb, 50, Negro.

Two policemen testified they were searching Dunscomb's yard when the Negro appeared with a revolver and ordered them off, despite their showing police badges.

In dismissing the charge the court declared that the search was illegal, that Dunscomb was within his constitutional rights and that the two officers were to be "congratulated" that they were not killed.

GAMBLING RAID BRINGS DEBATE

Governor Warns He Will Put Stop to Practice; Troops Are Called for Work

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (P).—Following a series of raids early this morning, a day after the close of New Orleans' festive Mardi Gras season, threats were hurled today between Governor Huey P. Long and proprietors and patrons of night clubs over the gambling campaigns of the state militia outside the city limits.

Several times in the last few weeks Governor Long has used troops in raiding alleged gambling houses on the edge of the city but a bitter controversy has arisen over the search of patrons found in the establishments.

Today's raids marked the first time the troops had seized money found on patrons and the authority for this has been challenged by both operators and guests.

Governor Long issued a defiant answer to his critics. "Gambling has got to stop," he said. "If they proceed, the gambling houses are going to be construed as gambling paraphernalia and may be closed by the courts. We are going to do worse than raid. We haven't started yet. They can't continue to openly defy the law around here."

"They can't grab money off the tables and put it in their pockets or have the women put it on their persons to keep the militia from getting it. In the raids last night the guardsmen obtained high class, cultivated ladies to search the women found in the houses raided. Women will continue to be searched when they are found in gambling houses."

INSURANCE RAN OUT BEFORE THE MURDER

GREELEY, Neb., Feb. 14.—(P)—If A. W. Emery, 22, is guilty as charged of killing Fred Helsner, 59-year-old homestead farmer, near here on the night of February 2, he was just 20 hours too late to collect Helsner's $20,000 life insurance policy which named Emery as the beneficiary.

County Attorney T. J. Howard today declared that the shooting of Helsner was a "cold-blooded insurance murder," and said he would demand the death penalty for Emery.

An inspector of the records today, however, of the $20,000 partnership insurance policy issued to Helsner and Emery revealed that both had expired before Helsner died.

Emery pleaded not guilty today when arraigned in court on a charge of first degree murder. His preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 26.

SON KILLS FATHER AND HIS BROTHER

TALOGA, Okla., Feb. 14.—(P)—A double slaying today ended what was to have been an attempt by a son to bring about a reconciliation between his estranged parents. During a quarrel that ensued, the son, Lloyd Hollingsworth, 27, a garage owner of Canton, Okla., shot and killed his father, William Hollingsworth and his brother William, Jr., at his father's farm home near here.

N. S. Corn, attorney for the slayer, said a companion whom he declined to name, accompanied Lloyd Hollingsworth to his father's farm and witnessed the quarrel that preceded the slaying. The companion, Corn said, declared that the older Hollingsworth had brandished two pistols and William, Jr., had reached for one of the guns before Lloyd opened fire with a double barreled shot gun.

HELD FOR PROBE
F. C. Williams, 32, of Jacksonville, Fla., was arrested last night by police and held for investigation. The driver of auto N. Y. 12-26 was cited for double parking on East Congress street.

Fort Huachuca POLO FOUR WINS STATE TOURNEY

Defeats Arizona Wildcats by Score of 8-5 in Fast Encounter

SPILL FEATURES GAME

Cups Presented to New Champions at Conclusion Of Last Tussle

By DAVE BRINEGAR

The Fort Huachuca Buffaloes and the University of Arizona Wildcats, cream of Arizona's 1928-29 polo crop, clashed today for the championship of the state, and the Buffaloes won after six breath taking chukkers by the score of 8 to 5.

Only one mishap marred the contest, and that was when Capt. Eddie Shannon, of the Wildcats, had his horse fall under him in the second chukker. Shannon was unhurt, but the horse suffered a broken left foreleg and had to be taken from the field and shot. The Wildcats were even with the Huachuca as far as playing was concerned in the entire last half of the game, but faster horses and more accurate hitting told the story sufficiently for the cavalrymen.

The game was played before an official box full of notables, including Col. and Mrs. Douglas McCaskey, of Fort Huachuca. The larger trophy, given by the Tucson chamber of commerce, was presented by Frank J. Rucker, of the winter sports committee. The five small trophies were presented by Mrs. Homer Lefroy Shantz, wife of Dr. Shantz, president of the university, and went to Captains Hurt and Gibbs, and Lieutenants True, Scherer, and Curtis. Captain Gibbs was team captain of the victors, while Lt. True, as the fifth man and the team substitute, took the cup which would have ordinarily gone to the coach had there been one.

The contest, from a spectator's point of view, resembled a multitude of streaks of dust followed by streaks of horses and riders. The field was dusty and the riding was fast and furious, with but one possible result. At times the willow ball was totally obscured from not only the gallery but also the riders themselves. The large size of the field and the fact that a great share of it is grassed, prevented the dustiness from being disagreeable other than by temporarily obscuring play.

Hopper opened the stickwork early in chukker number one when he swooped down on the Huachuca goal, and when he had finished his little swooping act, the first tally of the game was marked up. He repeated the scoring a few minutes later, while Captain Hurt put one between the goals for the cavalrymen, leaving the Wildcats with a one point advantage as the two teams entered the second chukker. From then on until the fourth chukker things looked dark, as Huachuca scored twice in both the second and third periods, while Arizona was unable to gain a single point.

The fourth period, preceded by three fast chukkers of polo anyone could bear to watch and like it, was the fastest, hottest, and probably the most thrilling seven and a half minutes of play in the entire game. The Varsity, riding at top speed and playing together in a rare manner, swung into action and rushed the ball up and down the field time after time. Two scores resulted, though only fast work on the part of Captain Gibbs, back on the cavalry team, prevented the Wildcats from ringing up two more scores. Gibbs twice saved goals that half the fans thought had already gone between the posts.

The difference between the cavalry and the university horses was noticeable during the entire game. With one or two exceptions, the officers from the post rode superior mounts. It might almost be said that, Arizona lost yesterday afternoon's polo game and consequently the championship of the state because of one thing—the lack of a string of really fast mounts. The cavalrymen were good matches for the excellent horses they rode, and richly deserved every point they made.

The fifth chukker was a hard fight, too. And in the sixth, with Fort Huachuca leading by a three goal margin, 7 to 4, Arizona went into the last minute and a quarter of play with every bit of the pep that characterized the entire rest of the game, and managed to score in one wild rush. Huachuca retaliated a moment later by adding another goal to their total and the margin of victory remained the same.

Many fouls were called, most of them on Arizona. The conventional foul in vogue seemed to be riding across in front of the player who was about to hit the ball, and penalty two was invoked by the referee on a number of occasions.

Lt. Col. H. C. Tatum, who has been host to the tournament, reported yesterday that the tournament had in every way but a financial one been a success. Large crowds the last three days of play did not fill the coffers sufficiently to make up for a poor attendance the first three days. All players who have been here were enthusiastic over the series.

The lineups were:

North Powder, Ore., Feb. 14 (P).—For the third time within nine years the Bank of Haines, at Haines, Ore., was robbed late this afternoon. Two unidentified men, after covering the cashier and assistant with revolvers, seized $3,000 and escaped.

RUSSIAN ASKS HIS CITIZEN'S PAPERS

A petition for naturalization was filed yesterday in United States district court here by Marna Davydovitch Strauss, 2123 East Mabel street, a native of Russia. This petition brings to nine the total number of applications for citizenship which will be heard in the May term of the federal court.

According to his petition, Strauss landed in the United States at New York Oct. 17, 1913. His witnesses are Richard McAlpin and T. D. Sullivan.

In addition to this, petitions of natives of Greece, Germany, Armenia, Mexico, Austria, Canada and Ireland will be heard in the May term.

ROBBED AGAIN
