Another Chapter in Drama of the Sullivans Ends as Genevieve Comes Home

Thorne Named City Editor of Courier

FLOT WOULD BE ‘THEATER FOR CONCERTS’

That Happy New Year Ahead Looks Like Just Another 12 Months of War and Wishing

DEERE & CO. PLANS TO ADD LARGE PLANT

Litchfield Co. Workers Vote on Bargainer Employees at the Litchfield Co. were given the opportunity to vote on a new labor agreement between the company and the workers. The agreement would cover wages, hours, and other working conditions.

No "Annual Edition"

Because of the severe wartime shortage of paper, the Courier this year necessarily omits the special Improvement and Review Edition which has long been a customary year-end feature.

VETERANS' AID CENTER SET UP FOR WATERFORD

A branch office of the Veterans' Aid Commission of Iowa will be established in Waterloo at 300 West Main Street. The office will be open every day and will provide information and assistance to veterans in the area. The opening of the office was announced by the commission. The new office will be staffed by trained personnel who will be available to assist veterans with their needs.

"Water Theater" Shown in Sketch

The above sketch of the Water Theater by Miss Frances Olson, 19th Illinois Street, shows what the theater will look like when completed. The structure will be built on the site of the old theater and will be equipped with the latest in sound and lighting equipment. The theater will be open to the public and will be available for various types of performances, including concerts, plays, and other events.

Any change in the natural text should be made with reference to the original document.