Why Winter Might Be Wine Country's Best Season

Winter in Wine Country has a magic all its own. As the vines rest and the crowds thin, Napa, Sonoma, and Lake counties reveal a quieter, more intimate side of themselves – one I cherish deeply and hope you'll experience for yourself. From January through early spring, the hillsides come alive with brilliant yellow mustard flowers, transforming vineyard rows into a painterly landscape that feels both fleeting and unforgettable. Crisp mornings give way to sun-splashed afternoons, fireplaces glow in tasting rooms, and winemakers have a little more time to linger in conversation.

In this issue, we set out to demystify one of wine's most often-mentioned (and misunderstood) topics: Pinot Noir clones. From the silky, berry-driven 777 to the spicy, structured 115 and the heritage Swan and Pommard selections, clones are not about superiority but about personality. Think of them as individual voices in a choir – each with its own tone, character, and flourish. When blended, they create the harmony that defines a winemaker's style. When bottled solo, they highlight the nuance of clone and site terroir.

And if you're someone who likes to plan ahead, 2026 is shaping up to be a blockbuster year for wine-related festivals. Mark your calendars early; several events are expected to expand in scope and sell out faster than ever.

As always, we're keeping an eye on what's new and up-and-coming in Wine Country, where evolution, creativity, and community are shaping what's next. The region continues to balance legacy with fresh perspective. New tasting rooms are opening on the Sonoma Plaza, a first-ever brand store is redefining culinary retail in downtown Napa, and producers are expanding their portfolios with sparkling wines, immersive tastings, and unexpected moments of joy.

Finally, don't miss our in-depth calendar of events, the most comprehensive seasonal guide in Wine Country where you'll find everything you need to plan the perfect winter getaway.

Here's to quieter roads, deeper conversations, and glasses raised to world-renowned wines and unforgettable food.

Pinot Noir Clones

The Hidden Genetics Behind its Many Personalities

BY MONTY PREISER

There are those who profess to hate baseball, believing that much of it is a waste of time. Realistically, these people never realized how many options are in play on almost every pitch, but if they did, they may well have garnered a finer appreciation for the game. Life, including the enjoyment of wine, is much the same, where the more one knows, the better the experience. Sometimes even important lessons can be quite esoteric, as with our subject here regarding Pinot Noir clones.

At the outset, I would opine that a mere wine writer/vintner like myself cannot accurately set out the nuances of clones and their modern usage. Thus, I asked questions of the noted overseer of the Pinot Noir program at Domaine Carneros, TJ Evans, who proved invaluable. Thanks, TJ.

A clone is essentially a genetic copy of a specific vine that has been selected for its exceptional characteristics. The differentiation occurs in two ways - through breeding and through genetic mutation in the field. Pinot Noir, a very old variety of vine, is very prone to genetic mutation. When you combine the two above factors together, you get the tremendous diversity of grape material within the Pinot Noir family. There are reportedly over 1000 types of Pinot Noir in the world, 300 that are commercially important, and over 50 in California.

While all Pinot Noir clones share the same basic DNA, subtle genetic variations create distinct differences in everything from berry size (affecting juice concentration), fertility (the number of seeds, which effect the strength of tannins), vigor (which has a profound impact on crop load), and skin thickness (impacting tannins, color, and flavor). Generally speaking, most winemakers blend a range of clones (sometimes only one) together, using them much like a chef would use a spice rack. Herein we examine the types primarily found in Sonoma, Napa, and Lake counties.

Domaine Cameros

Dijon Clones

- :: Dijon 115 is widely used. It shows red and black fruits and boasts silky tannins with a medium body. It is complex and ages well.
- :: Dijon 667 is arguably the most successful in the Dijon family. Hallmarks are firm tannins, good acidity, and dark color. Provides structure, foundation, depth, and concentration. It also comprises a stand-alone wine.
- :: Dijon 777 (commonly referred to as “trip 7”) is extremely popular and often used alone. It exhibits a perfumy nose followed by black fruits, violets, and exotic spices woven inside tannins of velvet and plush layered textures; adds complexity to the wine and in demand most everywhere.

Pommard Clone

- :: Pommard. Earthy with mushrooms is a common characteristic. It is rather thin-skinned, yet produces charming wines of noticeable fruit and spice. Due to its versatility, it is used in both still and sparkling wine (where too much color and intensity can be a liability).

California Heritage Clones:

- :: Martini is a full-bodied clone offering red cherries, firm tannins, and minerality. Great for aging. Its origin is a mystery, but ultimately the vine material was taken to the Louis Martini Winery in Napa where it was certified and earned its name.
- :: Swan was born in noted winemaker/vintner Joseph Swan’s vineyards. Though not widely planted, it is often favored by winemakers for its delicate nature and spicy/savory fruit profile.
- :: Mt. Eden (AKA Clone 37) was identified with the help of the iconic Merry Edwards. It is prized for its aromatic intensity, refined tannins, and ageability.
- :: Calera selections were first planted in San Benito County. They are quite in vogue and help bridge the gap between the older Heritage selections and newer ones from Dijon. Characterized by small berries and generally low yields, which result in intense color and good tannin structure suitable for aging.

As one might imagine, clonal selection is both an art and a science, and profoundly shapes what ends up in your glass. The finest of Pinot Noirs represent careful clonal selection, site-specific adaptation, and dedicated winemaking. Understanding which clones are in a wine, why clones matter, and specifically what each clone brings to the table, enriches appreciation for the complexity and craftsmanship behind every bottle.

Yet in the long run, clones are only one part of a vast matrix of elements that find their way into your glass. While the site determines a wine’s ultimate quality, the selected clones define the wine’s personality and style. Understanding them adds to the allure.

Butterfly Topiary

The beauty of nature and the artistry of winemaking combine in stunning fashion at Etude Wines. Etude has partnered with topiary artist Joe Kyte to create three butterfly topiary art installations that will live at Etude's Napa Valley property, celebrating Etude's leadership in wines that are grown, not made – meaning minimal intervention in the vineyards themselves – reduced emissions, and biodiversity, fostering species like the monarch butterflies that inspired these designs. Not only do these installations pay homage to Etude's commitment to sustainable winemaking practices, but it's also a beautiful family-friendly destination. Etude Wines, located in the Los Carneros region between Napa and Sonoma, is world renown for its outstanding Pinot Noir. In 1982, Etude was established in the cool-climate Carneros region with the aim of producing world-class Pinot Noir. Pinot Noir is the most appropriate vehicle with which to study wine growing, precisely because of its demanding nature but also because of its delicacy and transparency. When it's right, Pinot Noir is a glorious and moving thing. It is in the pursuit of that experience that the winemakers of Etude work.

Since its founding, Adversity has become one of Napa Valley's most coveted boutique brands, beloved for its vineyard transparency, textural depth, and unwavering following among collectors. While 2023 will mark the final vintage bottled under the Adversity Cellars name, the story continues: three of its most highly sought-after single-vineyard wines will live on within Bevan Cellars, beginning with the 2024 vintage. For the first time, the weekend will be hosted at Appellation Healdsburg, Chef Palmer's new flagship resort and dining destination in the heart of Sonoma County.

The 2026 edition embraces a meaningful father-and-son theme, honoring the evolution of culinary craftsmanship through mentorship, legacy, and innovation. Revered culinary icons will cook alongside the next generation of chefs shaping the future of American dining. Joining Chef Palmer and his son, Reed Palmer, chef de cuisine at Folia Bar & Kitchen at Appellation Healdsburg, are an extraordinary lineup of father-and-son duos: Wolfgang Puck and Byron Lazaroff-Puck; Emeril Lagasse and E. J. Lagasse; Jean-Georges Vongerichten and Cédric Vongerichten; and Dr. L Tim Ryan and Jackson Ryan. Together, they form a one-of-a-kind gathering rooted in tradition and forward-thinking creativity.

"For nearly two decades, Pigs & Pinot has brought people together through incredible food, wine, and a shared sense of purpose," says Chef Palmer. "Bringing the event to Appellation Healdsburg feels like a full-circle moment—honoring our roots while celebrating the next generation of hospitality leaders."

Complementing the culinary talent is an inspiring roster of trailblazing winemakers, highlighted by the event's first-ever all-female Gala lineup. Featured winemakers include Eva Dehlinger (Dehlinger Winery), Perri Haughwout (Perri Jaye Vineyards), Ashley Herzberg (Innumero Wines), Anne Moller-Racke (Blue Farm Wines), and Heidi von der Mehden (Merry Edwards). Together, these visionary women represent the depth, heritage, and innovation of Sonoma winemaking. The weekend is further elevated by emcee Mario Cantone, whose wit anchors the festivities, and Bob Cabral, Pigs & Pinot Wine Director and one of California's most iconic Pinot Noir authorities.

Philanthropy Remains at the Heart of Pigs & Pinot

Since its inception, the event has raised more than $2 million to support scholarships and community programs benefiting the next generation of hospitality professionals. That mission continues through the Palmer Family Education Foundation, supporting institutions such as The Culinary Institute of America, Sonoma State University's Wine Business Program, and local arts and education initiatives.

Two Days of Signature Events

Over two immersive days, guests will enjoy a curated series of signature events. Highlights include the lively Taste of Pigs & Pinot, featuring more than 60 Pinot Noirs competing for the "Pinot Cup," paired with inspired pork dishes from celebrity chefs and local restaurants, along with a new VIP Reception offering early access. Napa Valley MUSTARD CELEBRATION

Here's to the season between the seasons, when Napa Valley welcomes you in with bold, vibrant color.

WINE COUNTRY
THIS MONTH

Watch Napa Valley bloom to life with the brilliance of our most anticipated season.

While the rest of the world is gloomily saying farewell to the last echoes of the holiday season, Napa Valley is already moving on to a time where the Valley is lush with new life. January through March means Mustard Season here in wine country, and visitors from all over arrive to marvel at the region's transformation into a brilliant display of color and artistry. It is as though the world has quietly, magically reset itself: winter becomes a distant memory, and everywhere you look, the valley teems with sunshine-yellow life.

Long before it became one of Wine Country's most beloved seasonal sights, Jesuit priests planted mustard between vineyard rows out of simple necessity. Early growers sowed it as a cover crop, valuing its ability to enrich the soil, prevent erosion, and attract beneficial insects during the dormant winter months. Over time, what began as practical farming wisdom evolved into a defining visual signature of the region. Each winter and early spring, the bright yellow blooms return, threading their way between bare vines and signaling both renewal and continuity – a living reminder that Wine Country's beauty is deeply rooted in thoughtful stewardship of the land.

All throughout the valley, festivities celebrating this spectacular season will cater to every sense, and incredible food, wine and art are here to pair perfectly with the vibrant backdrop. Indulge in expressive wines at lively celebrations, enjoy unforgettable culinary experiences brought to you by some of the best chefs in the world, and, thanks to Napa Valley Mustard Celebration founder Jessel Miller, some wonderful works of local art. Miller, an artist herself and owner of the longest-running art gallery in Napa (Jessel Gallery), has long been dedicated to uplifting and preserving Napa Valley's local art scene, so you can expect quite a few inspiring pieces to take center stage.

*Each year, the celebration includes a featured artist, responsible for designing the official Napa Valley Mustard Celebration poster. This year's featured artist is Paul Youngman, a Wisconsin-born Napa local who has been painting vivid oil renditions of wine country's stunning landscapes since 1976. He has a knack for capturing the true essence of the valley in rich, extraordinary bursts of color, and his work for this year's mustard season is no exception. Prints of the poster featuring Youngman's painting, Winter into Spring, are available for purchase both online and at a number of Mustard Celebration events.*

Mustard Season Celebrations & Events

The celebration begins on January 17th with the Napa Valley Mustard Celebration Kick-Off Event at Silverado Resort in Napa, where, for $40, guests are invited to enjoy a variety of local wines alongside meticulously prepared pairings, all with the spirit of mustard season in mind. You'll also be able to browse a wide variety of local vendors, each of which offer unique, exclusive goods, perfect for commemorating your mustard season visit. Each ticket holder will also receive a custom wine glass to mark the occasion.

Then, head up-valley on January 22nd for the Yountville Art & Mustard Celebration, hosted at the Steve Rogers Gallery and Community Hall. Tickets are $25, and the evening will be all about the incredible art that this colorful season inspires. Browse works by local artists as you enjoy splashes of unique wines and bites as artfully prepared as the art itself! This curated exhibit that captures the breathtaking beauty of Napa Valley's Wild Winter Mustard Season through the lens of talented photographers will continue through March 26 with The Photo Finale Closing Reception & People's Choice Award presentation.

February 7th-8th, Jessel Miller welcomes you to Jessel Gallery's NVMV Celebration, which will feature art by a wide variety of talented Napa Valley artists. This year's featured artist, Paul Youngman, will be there as well, so you'll have the opportunity to chat with him about his work and even take a signed print home. Miller will also be hosting a similar artist demonstration event on the weekend of March 7th-8th, so you'll have multiple chances to experience the artistry.

Of course, in February, the smell of mustard blossoms isn't the only thing in the air – love is, too. Celebrate Valentine's Day and Mustard Season at the Collings & Légère Art Gallery, where mustard-inspired beauty makes everything feel rosy. Enjoy complimentary hot chocolate with your sweetheart and discover the exquisite paintings of local impressionist artists Marta Collings and Thérèse Légère.

St. Helena is getting in on the mustard season excitement, too, with a special Mustard Celebration Day at the St. Helena Welcome Center on Friday, February 27th. Savor seasonally inspired food and wine as you browse local photographer Rob Watermeyer's works and soak in the lively atmosphere of this charming town coming to life.

March brings mustard season to a close, and will be ending on a high note. RD Winery is hosting its own American Canyon Mustard Celebration Event on March 21st, featuring a variety of vendors as well as special musical performances by local youth programs.

Then, as the final mustard season hurrah, the Culinary Institute of America at Copia in Downtown Napa is throwing a two-day Mustard Celebration Finale: A Festival of Wine, Food & Art on March 27th and 28th, where you will have the chance to try food, sip wines, and browse goodies from over 75 different artisans. Get your tickets now – this event is a must-attend, and space fills up fast!

As one of Napa Valley's most anticipated seasons, this is the perfect time to book a wine country getaway, so what are you waiting for? Watch the valley burst to life as we welcome these brilliant blooms with open arms.

Here's to golden days ahead.

A Toast to ZinEX Weekend

Where Zinfandel Shines and Community Thrives

There are wine events – and then there is ZinEX, the annual celebration that seems to bottle the very spirit of California Zinfandel – January 29-31, CIA at Copia, Napa

This year's festivities are poised to be especially memorable as Zinfandel Advocates & Producers (ZAP) marks its 35th anniversary with a full weekend of events culminating in the beloved Saturday Tasting. It's a three-day tribute to heritage, craftsmanship, and the people who have shaped Zinfandel into a defining California varietal.

The weekend begins with the Welcome Reception, an intimate gathering that sets a warm and convivial tone. Guests mingle with winemakers, taste small-production bottlings, and reconnect with fellow Zin enthusiasts who return year after year. The energy continues to build at Friday's hallmark event, the Winemakers Auction & Dinner, where rare lots, exclusive experiences, and library wines light up the room. It's a night of spirited bids, generous pours, and the shared goal of supporting ZAP's ongoing preservation and education efforts.

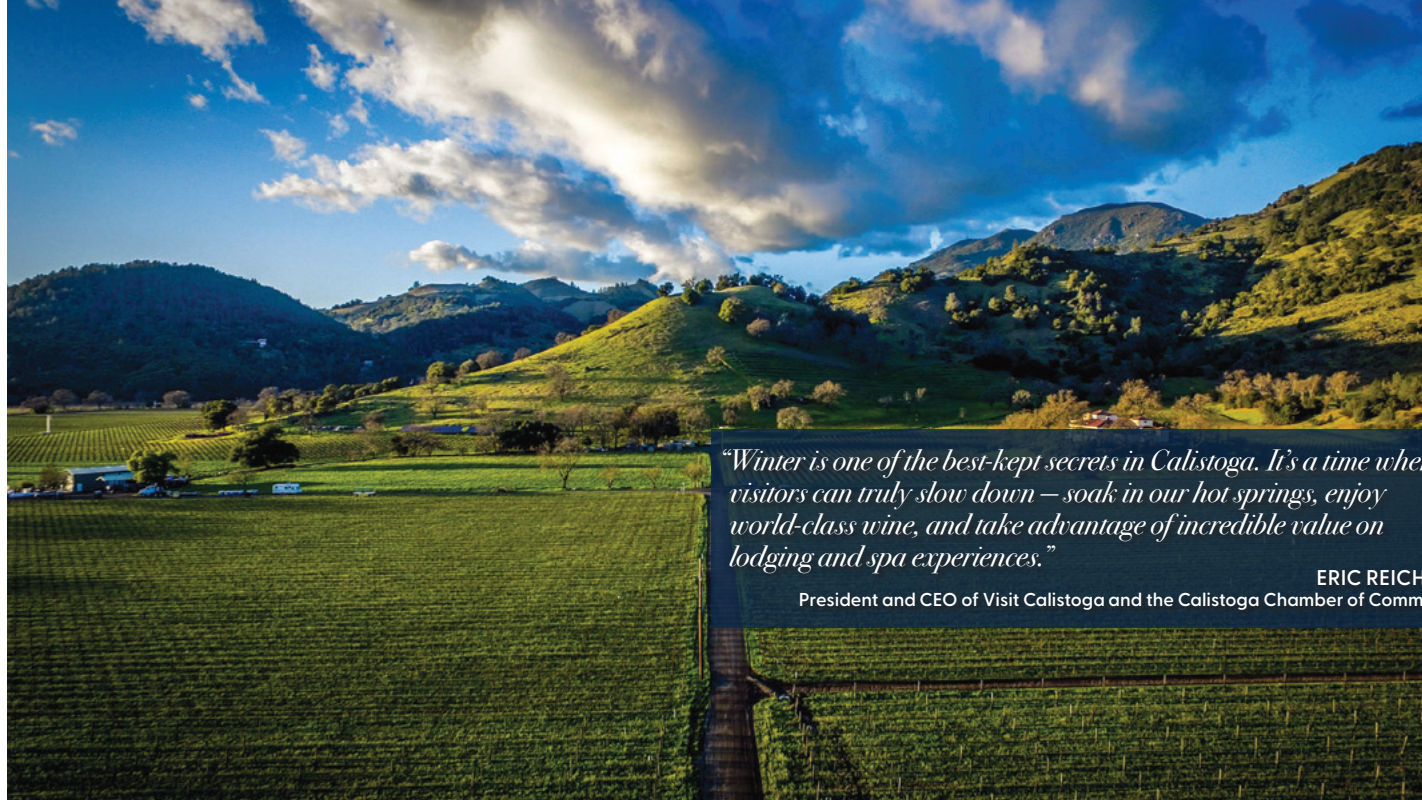

But the heart of the weekend – the moment Zin lovers eagerly await – is the ZinEX Saturday Tasting. For longtime fans, the invitation alone sparks anticipation: an entire afternoon devoted to exploring an extraordinary lineup of Zinfandels from producers spanning every corner of California. From the rugged, old-vine vineyards of Amador and Lodi to the coastal elegance of Sonoma and the bold expressions of Paso Robles, the tasting showcases the grape's astonishing range.

Wineries will be pouring some of your favorite bottlings – wines that reflect the vineyards you know best – alongside special selections reserved just for this event. Newcomers are invited to discover what sets your style apart. It's a chance to savor what's familiar, explore something new, and talk directly with the people who guide each wine from vine to bottle.

ZinEX is more than a tasting; it's a reunion of a passionate community. Throughout the weekend, you'll meet the artisans behind the wines, hear the stories that shape each vintage, and soak in the lively camaraderie that only Zinfandel seems to inspire.

So here's your invitation to the full weekend of Zinfandel discovery. Join us – raise a glass, stop by our table, and toast to 35 years of heritage, community, and the craft that continues to inspire us all. Cheers to an unforgettable ZinEX.

Purchase tickets at zinfandalexperience.com.

"Winter is one of the best-kept secrets in Calistoga. It's a time when visitors can truly slow down — soak in our hot springs, enjoy world-class wine, and take advantage of incredible value on lodging and spa experiences."

ERIC REICHERT

President and CEO of Visit Calistoga and the Calistoga Chamber of Commerce

Winter in the Wineries Passport Program in Calistoga

Visit Calistoga invites travelers to experience the quiet magic of Napa Valley's winter season with the return of its popular Winter in the Wineries Passport. This year the Passport features exclusive offers from Calistoga's boutique hotels, resorts, and spas in addition to the complimentary wine tastings that are the foundation of the Winter in the Wineries program.

Now on sale, the $80 Passport provides guests with access to complimentary one-time tastings at 21 participating Calistoga-area wineries through March 1, 2026, and special deals and upgrades on local lodging, dining, and spa experiences — a savings of over $1,000. Additionally, many Calistoga restaurants are waiving corkage fees for wines purchased from the participating wineries. The program encourages visitors to unwind in charming Calistoga at the top of the Napa Valley during the serene off-season — when the mineral pools are warm, the tasting rooms are relaxed, and the scenery shines in soft winter light.

Featured Lodging Offers Include:

Calistoga Spa Hot Springs: 20% off room rates, spa treatments, and products when you mention the Passport.

Doctor Wilkinson's Backyard Resort & Mineral Spa: Breakfast for two each morning, bottle of wine upon arrival, and two tastings with a wine partner. 25% off mud and mineral bath experience.

Roman Spa Hot Springs: 25% off the best available rate for a two-night stay, plus a complimentary mud bath for two and early pool access.

Solage, Auberge Resorts Collection: 25% off 60- or 90-minute spa treatments with complimentary bathhouse access Monday through Wednesday.

The Bungalows at Calistoga: Book two nights and receive the third night free, plus a complimentary bottle of wine.

Check the Hotel and Resort Offers page for restrictions, more details as well as complete list lodging offers from all 15 participating properties.

DESTINATION: LAKE COUNTY

Barrels & Verticals Returns February 28

Held at the height of winter wine country, Lake County Barrels & Verticals returns on February 28, inviting wine lovers to experience the region in a way that goes far beyond a typical tasting. Organized by the Lake County Winery Association, this much-anticipated annual event offers an inside look at how Lake County wines are made, how they evolve over time, and what makes this high-elevation region so distinctive.

Rather than taking place at a single venue, Barrels & Verticals unfolds across participating wineries throughout Lake County, encouraging guests to explore the area's scenic backroads, vineyard views, and welcoming tasting rooms. Each stop delivers something a little different, but all share a common focus on education, access, and meaningful interaction with the people behind the wines.

Barrel tastings allow guests to sample wines still in the aging process, drawn straight from the barrel before bottling. These unfinished wines offer a fascinating glimpse into how oak, time, and winemaking choices shape the final product. It's a rare opportunity to taste what's ahead and to better understand the craftsmanship that happens long before a label is applied.

In addition to barrel tastings, wineries will also be pouring multiple vintages of the same wine side by side. Sampling wines across different years highlights how vintage conditions, aging, and cellar decisions influence flavor, texture, and structure. For both casual drinkers and seasoned enthusiasts, verticals provide an eye-opening lesson in how wines mature and develop character over time.

Because Barrels & Verticals takes place in late February, it also showcases Lake County during a quieter, more relaxed season. With fewer crowds and a slower pace, guests can linger, ask questions, and enjoy more personal conversations with winemakers and tasting room staff. The atmosphere is friendly and informal, making the event as approachable as it is informative.

Each participating winery brings its own style, varietals, and perspective, collectively highlighting the diversity of Lake County's terroir. From bold reds to elegant whites, the event underscores why the region continues to gain attention among California wine lovers.

Tickets for Lake County Barrels & Verticals on February 28, 2026 are limited and typically sell in advance, making early planning worthwhile. For anyone curious about how wine evolves from barrel to bottle – and from vintage to vintage – this winter celebration offers a memorable and rewarding way to experience Lake County wine country.

Winter Magic: Wine Tasting in the Off Season

When most visitors think of Sonoma Valley, they picture sun-soaked vineyards in the heart of harvest season. But winter offers its own unique allure – quieter tasting rooms, sweeping vineyard vistas dusted with frost, and a slower pace that invites true indulgence. This is the season to savor every sip, linger over conversation, and connect with winemakers in a way that’s nearly impossible during the summer crowds. From the communal tasting experiences at Passaggio Wines to the castle-like grandeur of Ledson Winery & Vineyards, Sonoma’s wineries take on a cozy, intimate charm in winter.

Passaggio Wines, nestled in Glen Ellen’s historic Jack London Village, is the perfect first stop. This shared tasting space highlights a rotating selection of local Sonoma producers, allowing visitors to sample wines by the glass or bottle in a relaxed, inviting setting. Whether enjoying crisp whites or bold reds, guests can take their time, savoring both the wine and the conversation around them.

For a more personalized experience, Dane Cellars offers handcrafted small-lot wines with the added benefit of one-on-one interaction with the winemakers. Winter’s slower pace means you can dive deeper into the story behind each varietal while enjoying the intimate charm of this boutique winery.

Wellington Cellars, also in Glen Ellen, captures the essence of winter in Sonoma with small-lot wines and a welcoming tasting room. The boutique experience here exemplifies what makes off-season wine tasting so special: relaxed, engaging, and rich with flavor.

VJB Cellars in Kenwood combines wine with culinary delights. Its on-site Italian kitchen lets guests pair hearty seasonal dishes or rustic pizzas with approachable, fruit-forward wines – a comforting combination on a crisp winter day.

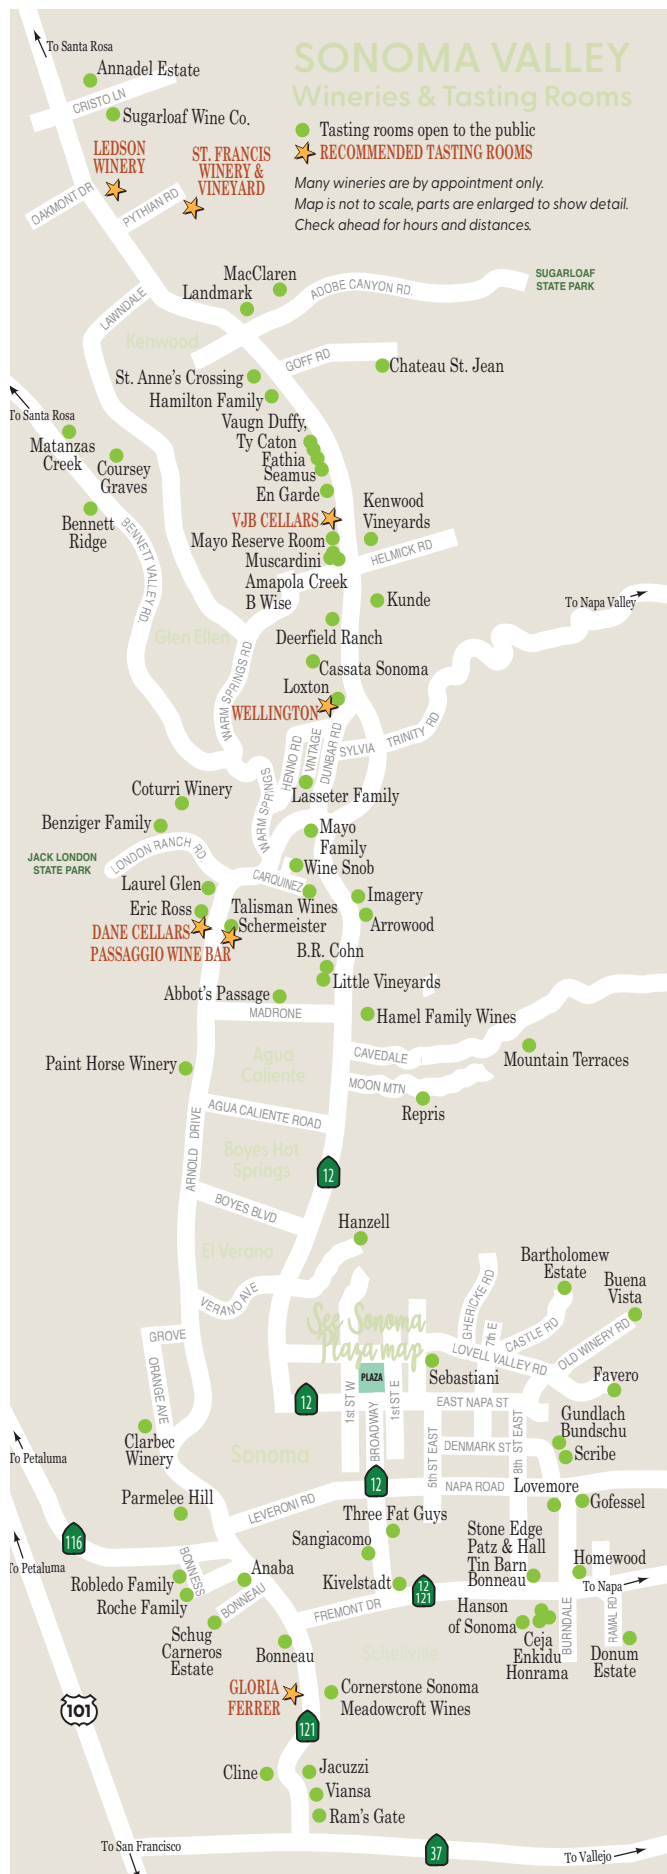

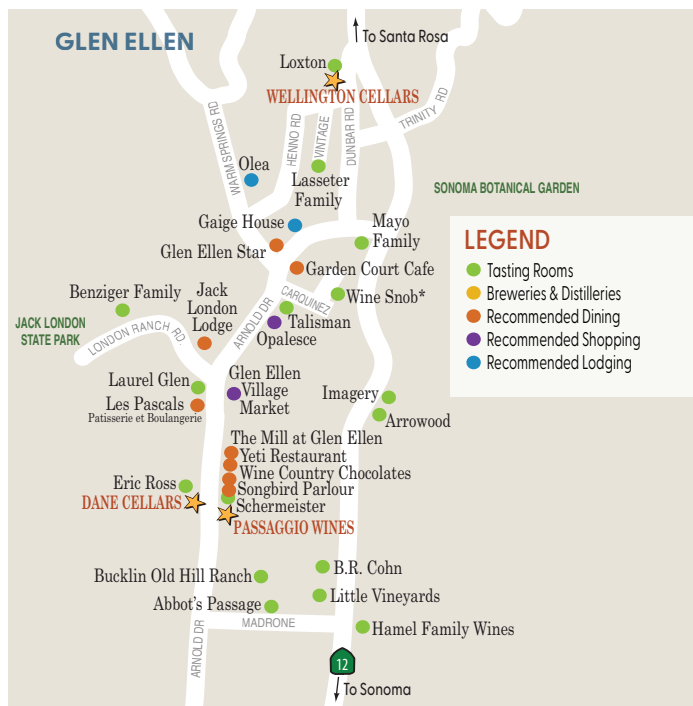

Ledson Winery & Vineyards, affectionately known as the “Wine Castle,” is especially enchanting in the colder months. Its dramatic stone architecture and warm tasting rooms create the perfect backdrop for sampling robust Cabernet Sauvignons or elegantly balanced Chardonnays. Pairing your tasting with a cheese or charcuterie plate while taking in vineyard views turns a simple visit into a memorable experience.

Up in Santa Rosa, St. Francis Winery & Vineyards provides a serene and luxurious winter experience. Guests can enjoy thoughtfully curated wine and food pairings against peaceful vineyard scenery, with attentive staff ensuring a personal, immersive tasting. Zinfandels, Sauvignon Blancs, and other Sonoma classics shine in this intimate setting.

Winter wine tasting in Sonoma Valley is all about tranquility, personalized experiences, and discovering new favorites without the summer crowds. With cozy tasting rooms, spectacular scenery, and world-class wines, this season invites visitors to slow down, savor every sip, and experience the region in a whole new light.

Visit Glen Ellen

The small and charming town of Glen Ellen offers visitors a perfect blend of history, wine, and natural beauty. While sometimes overshadowed by its more famous neighbors, this laid-back destination provides an authentic wine country experience without the crowds. A day in Glen Ellen is best spent exploring its scenic landscapes, discovering its vibrant local businesses, and, of course, sampling world-class wines.

Platt Vineyard Opens Tasting Salon

Platt Vineyard, celebrated for its elegant Pinot Noir and Chardonnay grown along the West Sonoma Coast, has opened a brand-new tasting salon on the Plaza in Sonoma. This new location represents a major step for the newly launched brand. The vineyard has been farmed for 20+ years supplying grapes to top producers and supplying them to top producers before stepping into the spotlight with its own estate wines.

The tasting salon, which opened its doors in November, occupies a charming, recently renovated space. The design strikes a balance between sophistication and comfort, creating a welcoming environment where visitors can enjoy intimate tastings while learning about the wines and the coastal terroir that shapes them. Its location makes it easy for locals and tourists alike to experience the brand's offerings without needing to venture out to the coast.

Platt Vineyard's estate lies just a few miles from the Pacific Ocean, where cool coastal breezes, morning fog, and the region's distinctive Goldridge soils create ideal conditions for crafting nuanced, expressive wines. The downtown tasting salon brings these coastal flavors to the Sonoma Plaza, giving visitors a chance to savor the unique characteristics of West Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir and Chardonnay alongside other local wine offerings in a vibrant, walkable setting.

Guests at Platt's tasting salon can enjoy guided flights designed to highlight the winery's signature style, often featuring the latest estate vintages and limited releases. Tastings are structured to be both educational and relaxed, offering insights into the vineyard's climate, soil, and winemaking philosophy. While reservations are required to guarantee a tasting experience, the team is happy to accommodate walk-ins when possible. They welcome the opportunity to host people strolling around the Plaza and discovering along the way.

The Tasting Salon is located at 383 1st Street West. For reservations, or more information, call 707-732-4860 or email info@plattvineyard.com
