U. S. Calm At News of Invasion

Turns to Altars to Pray for Peace, Victory

By The Associated Press
America received news of the invasion of Europe calmly today and turned to the altars of its faiths to pray for peace with victory.

In the nation's hamlets and great cities people went to churches, temples and synagogues to meditate and to participate in the services of prayer scheduled for D-day.

There were few demonstrations. Groups gathered at newstands and stood before radio loudspeakers. Comment generally reflected the combination of hope and trepidation which marked the end of the tense waiting period.

Moment of Silence
Thousands of men and women in war production plants observed a brief moment of silence, followed by an immediate resumption of the flow of materials of war. Plant officials announced uniformly and proudly that the announcement came without a slackening of output.

Some cities, such as Albuquerque, N. M., announced D-day and H-hour with sirens and whistles, summoning men and women to their places of worship.

Newspapers issued extras and radio broadcasting companies pushed all scheduled programs aside. The New York Daily News threw out its regular editorials and printed instead the Lord's prayer. Special prayers, previously made public by church leaders, were prominently displayed in all newspapers.

Blood Offered Red Cross
The New York stock exchange halted its activities for a two-minute prayer period.

Emergency orders for augmented personnel went out from the national telephone companies.

American Red Cross officials reported that their offices were flooded with telephone calls from prospective blood donors.

Winonans Meet 'D-Day' With Solemn Mien, Thoughts on Men 'Over There'

Invasion Prayers

Arranged by the Rev. Russell K. Johnson of St. Paul's Episcopal church

O Lord of Hosts, who art a strong tower of strength to all who put their trust in Thee; guard and guide our soldiers and sailors, our airmen and marines, and all enlisted in the service of our nation, especially those now engaged in battle for us and our cause. Strengthen them in danger and temptation; succor the wounded and receive the dying among both friend and foe.

Almighty God, accept the service of our nation and our stalwart allies in seeking to restore justice and truth upon earth; where our cause is right, establish it; where it is corrupt, purify it; where it is in error, direct it; where it is in anything amiss, reform it; that the nations of this world may become the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

O God of peace, who hast taught us that in returning and rest we shall be saved, in quietness and in confidence shall be our strength; by the might of thy Spirit lift us, we pray thee, to thy presence, where we may be still and know that thou art God; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Germans Hide Alarm Under False Reports

London—(P)—German propagandists asserted today that despite the invasion of western Europe life continued normal in Berlin with "no excitement, no extra editions, no special radio announcements."

But a part of these assertions obviously were false. From the time of the first landings a constant stream of broadcasts came from the German transmitters—many of them carrying more than an indication that Hitler's defenses along the western coast had been caught napping.

U. S. Flies Sink Jap Destroyer And Freighter

By William Phipps, Associated Press War Editor

Destruction of Japan's dwindling seapower mounted today with General Douglas MacArthur's announcement of the sinking of a destroyer and a freighter—losses which boosted the enemy's total to 20 ships reported in two days.

Liberator bombers, blasting the southern invasion road to the Philippines, potted the Japanese destroyer off Halmahera and the freighter was bagged by attack planes in New Guinea waters. Other planes from MacArthur's command left a second enemy destroyer or dead in the water and damaged two other supply ships.

In land fighting, meantime, six Japanese columns tightened on Changsha, key city on the Hankow-Canton railway in China's Hunan province. Hunan's governor, General Hsueh Yueh, said "the fate of the nation depends upon the outcome of the present battle."

In the southwest Pacific, American invaders of Black Island in the Schouten group off Dutch New Guinea outflanked the Japanese defenders and out in on the Mokmer atoll from two directions. Nineteen enemy planes were added to the 30 announced as destroyed in this theater yesterday.

Bitter fighting for Japan's North Borneo base on Myitkyina continued with Allies on their offensive inside and outside the town.

Markets Take News of Allied Invasion Calmly

New York—(P)—Financial markets today took the news of the big invasion with notable calmness. Stocks, bonds and commodities dipped under moderate selling at the start but purchasing orders soon appeared and initial losses were substantially reduced or converted into modest gains.

Dealings dwindled in the share list after a moderately active opening. While declines of a few cents were plentiful, a number of favorites came back to score advances running to $1 or so. The stock exchange observed two minutes of silence at 11 a. m. in tribute to the armed forces.

First Line of Defenses Silenced

New York—(P)—An NBC reporter who flew over 20 miles of the invasion coast this morning said "not a single German coastal gun was firing in the entire invasion zone," and NBC said this indicated "we have completely knocked out the initial line of defenses of the much-vaunted Atlantic wall."

Methodists Pray for Soldiers

Conference Opens Here; Thy to Speak This Evening

Prayers for American and Allied men and leadership in the invasion, a series of organizational measures, roll call and other business items came before Methodist ministerial and lay leaders of the southern half of Minnesota in Central Methodist church this afternoon at the opening of the 90th annual session of the Minnesota Conference of the Methodist church. The conference includes 150 Methodist ministers and a lay delegate.

Special Prayer
Bishop Ralph S. Cushman of St. Paul led a special service of prayer for the men and leadership of the Allied invasion forces at 9 a. m. today in Central Methodist church. Present were laymen and ministers gathered for the 90th session of the Minnesota Conference of the Methodist church which began at 2:30 p. m. today. Citizens of Winona also were present.

Channel Swept Of Enemy Mines

London—(P)—In the face of enemy shore batteries and aircraft, a gallant minesweeping force of 10,000 British and American guided D-boat minesweepers with great success swept the English Channel of enemy mines.

The great armada of little ships—converted fishing trawlers, coal burners which served in the last war, ships still on the secret list and recently launched in British and American yards—performed their task on a huge scale. The length of sweep wires used to tear loose moored mines stretched nearly 70 miles in all.

With the sweepers steamed other ships which dropped markers to guide the invasion fleet through the cleared seas.

The job had to be completed on a timetable despite gunfire, attacking aircraft and tricky tides. Doggedly the little craft kept perfect formation to make sure the sweep lanes went straight to the designated landing points.

F. D. R. Prays For Success Of Invasion

Washington—(P)—This is the invasion prayer which President Roosevelt wrote while Allied troops were landing on the coast of France and which he will read to the nation by radio at 10 p. m. (9 p. m. Winona time) tonight:

My fellow Americans:
In this poignant hour, I ask you to join me in prayer:
Almighty God: Our sons, pride of our nation, this day have set upon a mighty endeavor, a struggle to preserve our republic, our religion, and our civilization, and to set free a suffering humanity.

Lead them straight and true; give strength to their arms, stoutness to their hearts, steadfastness to their faith.
They will need Thy blessings. Their road will be long and hard. The enemy is strong. He may hurl back our forces. Success may not come with rushing speed, but we shall return again and again; and we know that by Thy grace, and by the righteousness of our cause, our sons will triumph.

They will be sore tried, by night and by day, without rest—till the victory is won. The darkness will be rent by light and time. Men's souls will be shaken by the violence of war.

These are men lately drawn from the ways of peace. They fight not for the lust of conquest. They fight to end conquest. They fight to liberate. They fight to let justice arise, and tolerance and goodwill among all Thy people. They yearn but for the end of battle, for their return to the haven of home.

Some will never return. Embrace these, Father, and receive them. Thy heroic servants, into Thy kingdom.

And for us at home—fathers, mothers, children, wives, sisters and brothers of brave men overseas, whose thoughts and prayers are ever with them—help us, Almighty God, to rededicate ourselves in renewed faith in Thee in this hour of great sacrifice.

Many people have urged that I call the nation into a single day of special prayer. But because the road is long and the desire is great, I ask that our people devote themselves in continuance of prayer. As we rise to each new day, and again when each day is spent, let words of prayer be on our lips, invoking Thy help to our efforts.

Give us strength, too—strength in our daily tasks, to redouble the contributions we make in the physical and material support of our armed forces.

And let our hearts be stout, to wait out the long travail, to bear sorrows that may come, to impart our courage unto our sons wherever they may be.

And, O Lord, give us faith. Give us faith in Thee; faith in our sons; faith in each other; faith in our united crusade. Let not the keenness of our spirit ever be dulled. Let not the impacts of temporary events, of temporal matters of but fleeting moment—let not these deter us in our unconquerable purpose.

With Thy blessing, we shall prevail over the unholy forces of our enemy. Help us to conquer the apostles of greed and racial arrogance. Lead us to the saving of our country, and with our sister nations into a world unity that will spell a sure peace—a peace invulnerable to the schemes of unworthy men. And a peace that will let all men live in freedom, reaping the just rewards of their honest toil.

Thy will be done, Almighty God.
Amen.

Opposition to Landings Less Than Expected

11,000 American and British Planes Supporting Invasion Maintain Full Control of Skies

By Wes Gallagher
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force—(P)—The Allies landed in the Normandy section of northwest France early today and by evening had smashed their way inland on a broad front, making good a gigantic air and sea invasion against unexpectedly slight German opposition.

Prime Minister Churchill said part of the record-shattering number of parachute and glider troops were fighting in Caen, nine miles inland, and had seized a number of important bridges in the invasion area.

Four thousand ships and thousands of smaller landing craft took the thousands of American, British and Canadian seaborne forces from England to France under protection of 11,000 Allied bombers and fighters who wrought gigantic havoc with the whole elaborate coastal defense system that the Nazis had spent four years building. Naval gunfire completed the job, and the beachheads were secured quickly.

Allied losses in every branch were declared to be far less than had been counted upon in advance.

100-Mile Front
The Germans said the landings took place from Cherbourg to Le Havre—a front of about 100 miles—and that a strong airborne force was fighting as far inland as Rouen, 41 miles east of Le Havre.

Churchill told Commons: "All this, of course, although very valuable as a first and vitally essential step, gives no indication whatever of what may be the course of the battle in the next days and weeks, because the enemy will now probably endeavor to concentrate on this area."

He and all other sources agreed that the operation was going according to plan. The air forces, to which he paid high tribute for their work in smashing coastal defenses, estimated that between midnight and 8 a. m. alone more than 31,000 airmen were over France, not counting parachute and glider troops.

The Paris radio broadcast a report that "a last-minute flash from the battlefield" early tonight announced "a vicious battle is raging north of Rouen between powerful Allied paratroop formations and German anti-invasion forces."

Rouen is 41 miles inland, east of Le Havre. An optimistic air pervaded this headquarters over the smooth manner in which was launched the great crusade to liberate Nazi-enslaved Europe, a crusade in which the supreme commander, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, told his men, "we will accept nothing less than full victory."

Postponed One Day
The grand assault—scheduled for yesterday but postponed until today because of bad weather—found the highly-vaunted German defenses much less formidable in every department than had been feared.

Airborne troops who led the assault before daylight on a history-making scale suffered "extremely small" losses in the air, headquarters disclosed tonight, even though the great plane fleets extended across 200 miles of sky and used navigation lights to keep formation.

Naval losses for the seaborne forces were described at headquarters as "very, very small," although 4,000 ships and several thousand smaller craft participated in taking the American, Canadian and British troops to France.

Coastal batteries were virtually silenced by the guns of the British, American and Allied fleets, including battleships, and the beachheads were speedily consolidated.

The German radio said the scene of the landings was a 100-mile stretch of coast from Cherbourg to Le Havre, around the Bay of the Seine and the northeast shore of the Normandy peninsula.

Prime Minister Churchill, in announcing the successful invasion to the House of Commons at noon—six hours after the first seaborne troops landed—said the landings were "the first of a series."

11,000 Planes Available
Churchill disclosed that 11,000 Allied planes were available as needed for the battle. The Allied bombers, climaxing 96 hours of steady pounding, lashed German coastal defenses this morning with 10,000 tons of explosives.

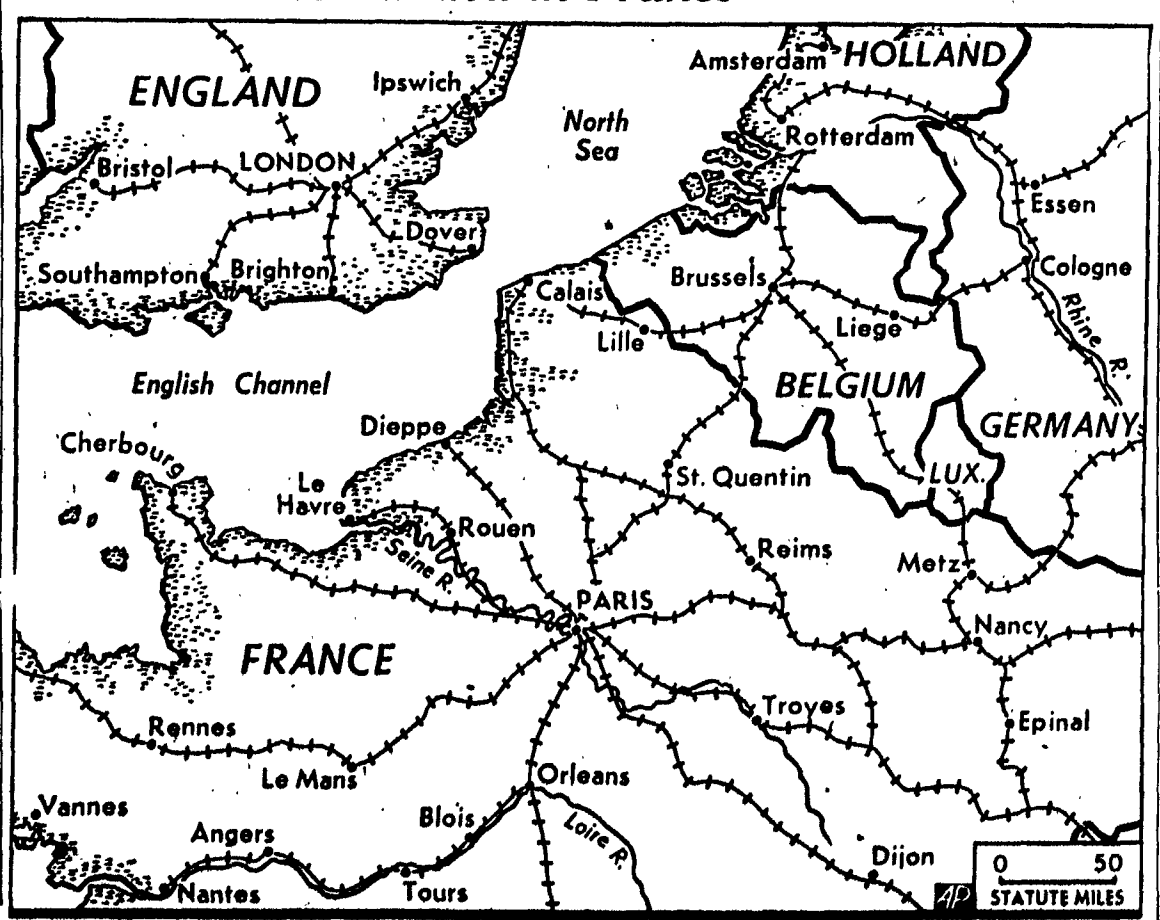

Fighters who went out to guard the beaches had little to do, however, as the German air force up till noon had flown only 50 sorties against the invading forces.

The Germans were known to have probably 1,750 fighters and 500 bombers to meet the attack, why they did not use them at the start was not apparent, but Allied airmen warned that a violent reaction might be expected soon, noting that Hermann Goering in an order of the day told his air forces, "The invasion must be beaten off even if the Luftwaffe perishes."

German broadcasts said the Allies penetrated several kilometers.

Where Allies Landed in France

Roosevelt Will Lead Nation in Invasion Prayer

Washington—(P)—Closeted in his bedroom, President Roosevelt spent the early morning hours of the invasion writing a prayer for victory for the Allied forces of liberation. The chief executive, who received reports of the invasion through its early phases, will go on the air at 9 o'clock tonight (C.W.T.), with the hope that the nation will join him in the prayer which he wrote.

President Secretary Stephen Early, who described Mr. Roosevelt's activities to reporters, said the President went to his bedroom early last evening and began working on the prayer shortly after he delivered a nation-wide radio broadcast on the fall of Rome. Working behind blackout curtains which darkened the White House to night-time passers-by, Early said the chief executive received steady invasion reports—complete and in detail—from 10:30 p. m., (C.W.T.) on into the actual hours of the assault against the coast of France.

F. R. Kept Informed

"He knew when the first barges started across the channel and he knew when they landed," Early said. "He knew of other operations in just as great detail."

The reports came into the White House by telephone from the army's nerve center, the nearby Pentagon building. Early said he could not disclose from whom the President received his information because of security reasons, but he gave the impression Mr. Roosevelt was intimately abreast of the operations.

Early called his regular morning press conference 30 minutes earlier than usual, telling reporters he knew they were anxious to get invasion news.

"The President has known for some time what the world now knows about the invasion," Early said.

Studies Reports

The text of the prayer Mr. Roosevelt wrote was to be released for publication later in the day. Early added, so that the public can be familiar with it and join the President when he leads in a victory prayer tonight.

Early said Mr. Roosevelt, although intent on invasion reports within his bedroom much of the night, managed to get several hours of sleep, but, Early continued, the President was up late last night and early this morning.

"The fact that the White House was blacked out means nothing," Early said.

"The blackout shades were drawn. We have had them all along, and we were using them."

Early said he saw no likelihood that the President would address Congress early in the invasion.

Moves on the Fly

In The Southwest Pacific—(P)—Marines are movie conscious and often have to go to extreme ends to maintain nightly performances. On one occasion three theaters showed the same film in one night. One theater got a few reels ahead, rushed them by jeep to the second, which in turn ran them through and sped them off to the third theater.

Russians Ready To Attack From Eastern Front

By Henry C. Cassidy

Moscow—(P)—Russian armies were understood today to be massing and preparing to perform their part of the joint Allied task of crushing Germany with a blow from the east, combined with General Eisenhower's invasion from the west and General Alexander's thrust up the Italian peninsula.

The invasion of northwest France was the "second front" for which the Russians had called for three anxious years. But the "second front" already had ceased to be a political issue here before Eisenhower struck.

Russians who learned of the invasion today literally danced with glee.

For them it meant the end of three years of anxious waiting for the thrust from the west.

Peter Smollett, head of the Russian department of the British ministry of information, walked into the press department of the foreign commissariat at 12:30 p. m. holding up his thumb, and announced: "They're off." Then he went to notify Soviet officials.

Fresh German Attacks Repulsed

London—(P)—Fresh forces of Nazi infantry and tanks attacking in the week-long German offensive in the East sector in Romania were repulsed yesterday, while Red airmen hammered the Bessarabian railway junction of Chisinau, 70 miles east and a little south of Iasi, Moscow reported today.

The Germans were said to have used self-propelled midget tanks of the same type that gave only a mediocre performance on the Anzio beachhead. Most of the electrically-controlled and explosive-filled vehicles were knocked out before reaching forward positions, the broadcast communique from Moscow said.

In yesterday's fighting near Iasi the Nazis lost 41 tanks and 33 planes, Moscow said.

U. S. Navy in Landing Battle

By Lewis Hawkins

With Allied Naval Forces

The United States navy struck the beaches of western Europe today with torrents of shells in shepherding the army's invasion troops onto the hostile coast, seared and pitted by thousands of aerial bombs.

Warship guns fired an ear-splitting prelude before the swarms of home-ly hybrid landing craft broke away from the shelter of the convoys to begin the first critical showdown on the beaches.

This bombardment was a combined chorus from the cannon of several navies, but British warships spoke the loudest because there were more of them.

The immensely hazardous and complicated job of taking the soldiers across the last yards of the moat to Hitler's fortress found American soldiers and American landing craft by the hundreds carrying the foot-soldiers ashore.

Strange Craft

The untold hundreds of strange and wonderful craft would have caused the eyes of John Paul Jones to pop wide open.

In an amazingly ordered confusion came the whole flat-bottomed, electric family laden with fighting men, guns, tanks, shells, field rations, hypodermics, radio sets, bandages, trucks and the other bewildering baggage of combat.

This bizarre snub-nosed fleet did not confine itself to a transport job. It had its own firepower to supplement that of the orthodox warships.

In many American warships and in the vast "Elsie" fleet were seasoned sailors who had done this sort of job before—in the Mediterranean or the Pacific.

For many more who had come from desks and workbenches, barns and bars, stages and stores to lend a hand it was the first stark climax to grindingly weary months of rehearsals—rehearsals in which in a few short months non-naval men had to learn the mastery of the crantly keel-less landing craft that are headaches even to experienced seamen.

Clean Up Beaches

Nor was the navy's job confined to bombardment, to protecting the vast convoys from air, surface and undersea attack and to the landing of troops. Still other citizen-sailors tumbled out of the landing craft along with the first wave of troops in naval shore battalions integrated into the army's amphibious beach brigades.

Under fire or not, these beached sailors in army garb and gear had to do preliminary demolition of underwater obstacles, clear the channels for the landing craft, tend wounded and prisoners, direct the landings of incoming craft, bury the dead, repair or blow up disabled craft clogging the beach approaches, establish communications between the beachhead and the ships, establish emergency dressing stations dug into the sand.

MINNESOTA'S OWN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY INSURES ONLY PREFERRED RISKS—CHARGES ONLY ACTUAL COSTS

It's pleasant to do business with a neighbor . . . especially one who represents a Minnesota company. And, it's even more pleasant and profitable to do business with a neighbor who can show you how to save up to 40% on your insurance costs. That's what so many Minnesotans have discovered when they have bought fire insurance for their homes or business property from the neighbor who is the representative of Minnesota's own fire insurance company, Federated Hardware Mutuals of Owatonna, Minnesota.

By insuring only preferred risks, Federated Hardware Mutuals keep claim expenses low, and the net cost to its policyholders reflects this careful choice of risks.

AS PART OWNER OF YOUR OWN INSURANCE COMPANY, YOU GET CASH DIVIDENDS BACK

When you insure your property against fire loss with Federated Hardware Mutuals, you become one of the owners of your own insurance company. This means that the difference between the actual cost of doing business and the money you pay in as a premium is returned to you in the form of a dividend. There are no stockholders to take profits out of the company.

Federated Hardware Mutuals is careful about the type of fire underwriting it does, and this makes it possible for policyholders to save as much as 40% a year.

STANDARD NON-ASSESSABLE POLICIES

People Living on Invasion Coast Asked to Move Inland 22 Miles

London—(P)—A spokesman for General Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a London broadcast, told the people living on Europe's invasion coast today that "a new phase of the Allied air offensive has started" and warned them to move inland to a depth of 35 kilometers (about 22 miles).

In a special broadcast over the BBC, directed to France and other coastal countries, the spokesman said: "A new phase of the air offensive has started. It will affect the entire coastal zone situation not less than 35 kilometers inland from the French coast. People will be advised by special announcements dropped from Allied planes."

"The attack will take place less than one hour later. As soon as the warning has been given, the following orders are to be followed:

"First, leave the town at once.

"Second, choose such a route out of town as to avoid the main road."

"Third, leave on foot only carrying essentials."

"Fourth, go to the country at least two kilometers from town. Do not assemble in groups which might appear to be troop concentrations."

The broadcast advised the people to keep as far as possible away from roads and railroad lines and to take nothing with them they cannot carry personally.

The spokesman concluded with the advice that those able to leave the 35 kilometer coastal belt should do so at once, adding that those who cannot leave now must do so when the Allies give warning.

your country in the critical hour. Be patient. Prepare.

"As supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force, there is imposed on me the duty and responsibility of taking all measures necessary to the prosecution of the war. Prompt and willing obedience to the orders that I shall issue is essential. Effective civil administration of France must be provided by Frenchmen. All persons must continue in their present duties unless otherwise instructed. Those who have common cause with the enemy and so betrayed their country will be removed. As France is liberated from her oppressors, you yourselves will choose your representatives and the government under which you wish to live."

"In the course of this campaign for the final defeat of the enemy you may sustain further loss and damage. Tragic though they may be, they are part of the price of victory. I assure you that I shall do all in my power to mitigate your of resistance movements, whether from being of maximum help to hardships. I know that I can count on your steadfastness now, no less than in the past. The heroic deeds of Frenchmen who have continued their struggle against the Nazis and their Vichy satellites, in France and throughout the French empire, have been an example and an inspiration to all of us.

"This landing is but the opening phase of the campaign in western Europe. Great battles lie ahead. I call upon all who love freedom to stand with us. Keep your faith staunch—our arms are resolute—together we shall achieve victory."

Bond Units Meet At Altura As Invasion Starts

Altura, Minn.—Unaware that as they met, American soldiers and their allies were embarked on the long-awaited invasion of Europe, more than 40 men of the six northern townships of Winona county gathered at the Gaymor dance hall here Monday evening to receive instructions and supplies for their participation in the fifth war loan campaign which will start next Monday.

The meeting was the first of a series of four scheduled in the county this week for township and village campaign committee chairmen, co-chairmen and committee members in preparation for the campaign.

Whitewater, Elba, Mt. Vernon, Norton, Rollingstone and Hillsdale townships were represented at last night's meeting, conducted under direction of H. J. Wood, Winona, chairman of the Winona county war finance committee which has charge of the campaign in the county.

Wednesday at Wilson. Tonight at 8 o'clock representatives of St. Charles, Saratoga, Fremont and Ulfia townships will meet at the town hall at Clyde for the southwestern part of the county.

Wednesday evening at the same hour Hart, Warren, Wiscow, Wilson, Winona and Homer townships will meet at the town hall at the Wilson town hall.

The final meeting will be held Thursday at the New Hartford town hall (Nodine)—for New Hartford, Pleasant Hill, Richmond and Dresbach townships and the villages of Dresbach and Dakota.

Almost 375 city of Winona solicitors will gather at the Central Junior High school Friday at 7:30 p. m. to obtain their supplies and instructions.

Full cooperation of the township committee men who will direct the work of the bond sales solicitors in their respective townships was asked by Mr. Wood Monday evening following his instruction by W. W. Gurney, county war finance chairman for the fourth war loan.

Mr. Wood spoke of the support being given and to be given the solicitors through the press in the way of news stories and advertising and over the radio, both in national and local programs.

Only Sun's Way. He urged the purchase of bonds from issuing agencies, banks, postoffices and theaters, within the county he stressed by the solicitors, pointing out that "this is the only sure way that Winona county will get credit for the purchases" in this connection he referred to outlying areas of the county that may have trading centers in adjoining counties.

The county chairman urged a "short, snappy" campaign and explained that in the city of Winona the goal is to complete the quota in five days. He added that though it may be more difficult in the rural areas to complete solicitation in so few days, "the longer you drag out the campaign the harder it becomes."

He explained how solicitors may obtain gasoline to replace that used for campaign purposes and pointed out that campaign headquarters for the county will be set up in the civilian defense room on the ground floor of the Winona city hall. A clerk will be on duty from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily, except during the noon hour.

John Ambrosen, representing W. F. Quieser, county banker representative on the committee, explained the various kinds of bonds which are available and their purposes from investment standpoints. Mr. Quieser was called to Chicago unexpectedly, Mr. Wood explained.

"If there is any doubt as to the best kind of bonds for a purchaser to take," suggested Mr. Gurney, "have the solicitor put down the amount of money involved and let the issuing agency give the advice."

Bonds for Babies. Mr. Wood mentioned the bonds for babies part of the campaign under direction of Mrs. Mary E. Swain, Winona, county women's and school division chairman, and the need for bond purchasers to turn in their pledge cards at the time of buying the bonds was stressed.

Guy Pierce, Ulfia, chairman of the rural Winona county branch of the war finance committee, urged that allotments be made by the solicitors for their respective "clients" and asserted that in the purchase of bonds "we are buying an interest in victory and in the welfare of our boys."

If New York city's school children and teachers were to march by in parade formation, it would take 90 hours for them to pass.

STUBBORN CASE OF CONSTIPATION GONE

"No more salts, oils, every day," writes ex-sufferer

Want to stop dosing—and yet keep regular? Then read this unsolicited letter from Mr. Lowe. "I am 71 years old. Today I'm in the best of health. But, for 15 years I had a stubborn case of constipation—had to rely on salts or castor oil every day. Got so weak I could hardly walk. Five months ago I read one of your ads and my wife advised me to try your ALL-BRAN. After first week my passage was normal. For 5 months I have been eating ALL-BRAN regularly and haven't taken a laxative. Thanks for ALL-BRAN, the 'real relief.' Frank Lowe, 4508 S. W. 9th St., Des Moines, Iowa.

You'll be interested in knowing exactly how KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN helps so many people—how this wholesome cereal gets at a common cause of constipation—lack of certain dietary elements. You see ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements—which help the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare wastes for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, it is a "regulating" food. If your constipation is this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly—and drink plenty of water. See if it doesn't help. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Whalan Man Asks Trial on Charge Of Drunk Driving

A plea of not guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was entered by James Ferguson, Whalan, when arraigned before Judge E. D. Libera in municipal court today. Trial was set for Friday.

Arrested at 8:45 p. m. Monday at the intersection of Second and Center streets, Ferguson furnished bond of $125 and was released.

Charged with two traffic violations, Lawrence Knutson, 1116 1/2 West Mark street, pleaded guilty to both.

On a charge of operating his car at an unreasonable rate of speed, he was sentenced by Judge Libera to pay a fine of $15 or serve five days in the county jail, sentence being suspended on condition he does not operate a motor vehicle for pleasure purposes within 30 days. A $10 fine, or three days in the city jail, was imposed on an illegal brakes charge and Knutson paid the fine.

Knutson was arrested at 12:50 a. m. today. Police said he drove on Main street from Broadway south to Mark street at a rate of 48 miles per hour. The charge of defective brakes was placed at the same time.

King of Italy Turns Rights Over to Son

Naples—(AP)—Italy's 74-year-old King Vittorio Emanuele III has made good his promise contingent on the liberation of Rome and stepped out of public life, turning over his "royal prerogatives" to his 39-year-old son, Crown Prince Umberto.

The king took this action yesterday in a decree countersigned by Premier-Marshal Pietro Badoglio which named Umberto "lieutenant general" of the realm.

Through his action the monarch remains a king without power and continues to head the House of Savoy. In effect, Umberto becomes the king's regent.

Italian political parties had been insisting since the Allied capture of Naples that the king step down.

Indians Win in Claims Court

Washington—(AP)—The U. S. court of claims has entered judgment for $1,761,282 in favor of the Menominee Indian tribe of Wisconsin and against the federal government as the value of swamp land claimed by the state of Wisconsin under an 1850 act of Congress.

The money will be used to carry out terms of legislation passed by Congress and signed last week by President Roosevelt under which the federal government will pay this amount to Wisconsin for swamp lands in ten townships on the Menominee reservation, to be held in trust for the Indians.

Wisconsin had been declared the legal holder of the land under the 1850 law which gave states title to such land within their boundaries.

The Indians claimed such action abrogated their treaty and the court of claims upheld them. Instead of a cash award the Indians desired that the money be used to obtain title again to the swamp land, much of it including valuable timber stands.

Sharks Held Tender Eating

Charleston, S. C.—(AP)—Native prejudice and superstition to the contrary, shark meat is edible, tasty—in fact a table delicacy, reports the state board of fisheries. Shark meat, when kippered or lightly smoked, resembles salmon and fresh shark steaks are sometimes compared to halibut, the board says.

Mussels and eels, plentiful along the Carolina coast but seldom used for food, are getting attention from commercial fishers. The mussel has been found to have a flavor like the "long-necked or soft clam," the board reports.

Britons Seek Escape From War in Poetry

London—(AP)—Britons are buying five times as much poetry as before the war. Publishers say they can fill only a third of the demand, much of which comes from men and women in the services.

More than 20,000 copies of the poems of Rupert Brooke have been sold during the last year. After Brooke, the leaders are Tennyson, Shelley, Keats, Browning and the moderns. French and Indian poetry also rates high.

A Diet of Snake Fillets

Chapel Hill, N. C.—(AP)—Lieutenant Don Kepler of the navy pre-flight school's survival class shows cadets how to catch snakes, skin cook and eat them as part of a demonstration that lost fliers can live off the country. The only trouble is that cadets have to see some one relish copperhead steak first before they will touch it and since classes change every two weeks, Kepler is getting more than his fill of snake fillets.

KWNO News Notes

With both the Senate and the House expected to start debate this week on the extension of the price control act which expires June 30, Moderator Theodore Granik has invited four members of the House of Representatives to discuss "Extending the Price Control Act" on Mutual's "American Forum of the Air" tonight from 8:30 to 9:15 o'clock.

Laura Newell, harpist, and George Drexler, flutist, will be guest soloists on tonight's edition of Mutual's concert series "Sinfonietta" at 10:30 o'clock.

The two guest artists will play Mozart's famous composition "Concerto for Flute and Harp."

The President will address the nation at 9 p. m. Central war time tonight, to discuss the invasion. His address will be carried by KWNO.

Escort Carrier Lost in Atlantic

Washington—(AP)—On the eve of the invasion, the navy has revealed for the first time the sinking of an aircraft carrier in the Atlantic. She was the escort carrier Block Island, the 158th navy ship lost during the war.

The Block Island was commanded by Captain Francis M. Hughes of Selma, Ala., a native of Charlottesville, Va.

The carrier was launched June 6, 1942. Escort carriers generally are converted vessels, with flight decks built on merchant ship type hulls.

One escort carrier, the Liscome Bay, has been sunk in the Pacific. She went down in action during the Gilbert Island landings last November. Four big carriers—the Lexington, Yorktown, Wasp and Hornet—have been lost in the Pacific war.

One battleship, the Arizona, was destroyed in the Pearl Harbor attack. The other ships include six heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, 41 destroyers, 23 submarines and 77 miscellaneous craft.

Eisenhower at Post on Channel

S.H.A.E.F.—(AP)—As the battle opening the western front raged in northern France, General Dwight D. Eisenhower occupied a lonely post on this side of the channel.

After inspecting parachute troops before they went into the fray, the director of history's greatest amphibious strike stood on the roof of a house watching the huge air armadas roar across the channel.

Treasury department receipts from amusement taxes were $168,746,225 in 1943.

Big Bombers Pave Way For Invasion

By W. W. Hercher

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force—(AP)—In a blast-herald to the invasion, the British bomber command sent more than 1,300 of its biggest ships roaring across the channel last night and early today in the heaviest aerial attack ever aimed at German batteries along the French coast.

Ten attacks were executed between 11:30 p. m. and sunrise, each with 100 or more of the heavy bombers.

Other British aircraft attacked the northwestern German railroad city of Osnabruck without loss.

The stunning aerial bombardment fell on the Normandy landing beaches as the first phases of the coordinate assault began.

There was a complete cloud cover over some of the R.A.F. coastal targets during the night, but the air ministry declared it was no obstacle to the well-trained Pathfinder crews.

The R.A.F. had begun to attack the coastal targets in earnest on May 7, in undertaking one of its most difficult assignments. The targets were very small and well-protected. They had to be hit at night.

Britons Anxious to Get It Over

By Barbara Wace

London—(AP)—A buxom barmaid's exclamation—"thank goodness" now we're beginning to get it over with"—typified the reaction of Londoners today to the news that the invasion of Europe had begun.

Although the BBC report of the German announcement that the long-awaited activity had begun was taken skeptically by those who heard it, quietly.

By 11 a. m. queues formed in front of newsstands for the first editions of evening newspapers which were sold out immediately.

The elderly verger of the famous church, St. Dunstan's in the West, which was struck recently by incendiaries, expressed the thought held by many in the midst of the quiet rejoicing.

"I'm glad it started," he said, "though you can't help thinking of them who won't come back."

Lafayette,
we are here...AGAIN!

"LAFAYETTE, WE ARE HERE!" . . . Remember Pershing's words in 1917? Remember the high resolve they bespoke, the eagerness to repay the old debt America always remembered?

Had you thought, Lafayette, that this time America would forget? . . . this time America would fail the most beloved of her sister nations, her benefactress, her friend?—that America would forget the cause of freedom, as sacred to herself as it is to you? Ah, no, Lafayette, you knew we could not stand idly by . . . that sooner or later our wrath would rise, that one day we would come roaring to your beaches, with flaming guns and Freedom's banner flying. . . . come as we have come today, determined that the oppressor shall pay dearly for every insult, every theft, every murder perpetrated against the beloved folk and upon the beloved soil of France; Denmark, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and all through the world.

Once more we come to restore to the unconquerables of Europe the laughter and the lights . . . the peace and security . . . the liberty and the self-respect of those who have lost all in the cause of Liberty.

It has been harder this time. We have had to fight our way. This time we know, too, what difficulties still lie ahead. But this time, with your help, we will finish the job.

Germans Believe Invasion Aimed At Paris Region

Stockholm—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Aftonbladet asserted in a dispatch today that the Allied invasion attack "seems directed against the most heavily defended section of the French coast and aimed directly at Paris."

The dispatch declared that "warships of all kinds, including battleships, threw tons of shells at the coast, covering the landings."

Berlin said newspapers were jammed with calls for word of the invasion spread through the Reich.

Other Stockholm dispatches from Berlin said the Allies landed at 12 points between the mouths of the Orne and Vire rivers on the Normandy coast, with the central assault directed at Caen.

Large forces of paratroopers, some of which were described as "dummies," were dropped simultaneously in areas about ten kilometers west of Boulogne and Cherbourg, the dispatches added.

Gliders Land Allied Troops

By Gladwin Hill
A Marauder Base in England—(AP)—From the cockpit of one of many hundreds of planes which supported the Allied landing in northern France early this morning I watched a battle royal rage on the sea and in the air.

The fields along the French channel coast were dotted with parachutes of Allied airborne forces who had landed a few minutes before, and interspersed among the parachutes were aircraft—probably gliders.

The first signs of battle were flashed from the channel below, which through the mist and a naval smoke screen gradually became distinguishable as gun detonations on warships shelling the coast.

The channel wasn't "jammed with shipping" as might have been expected. The channel is a big place, but on every hand there were forces of ships either battering the coast line or bringing up forces to take advantage of beaches.

The aircraft dotting the fields bore the distinctive Allied invasion black and white zebra stripes, which was hurriedly slapped on the aircraft late yesterday.

Great Contest Begun, German Observer Says

London—(AP)—The German news agency DNB commentator, Captain Ludwig Sertorius, declared in a broadcast early today that the "great contest between the Reich and the Anglo-Americans has begun."

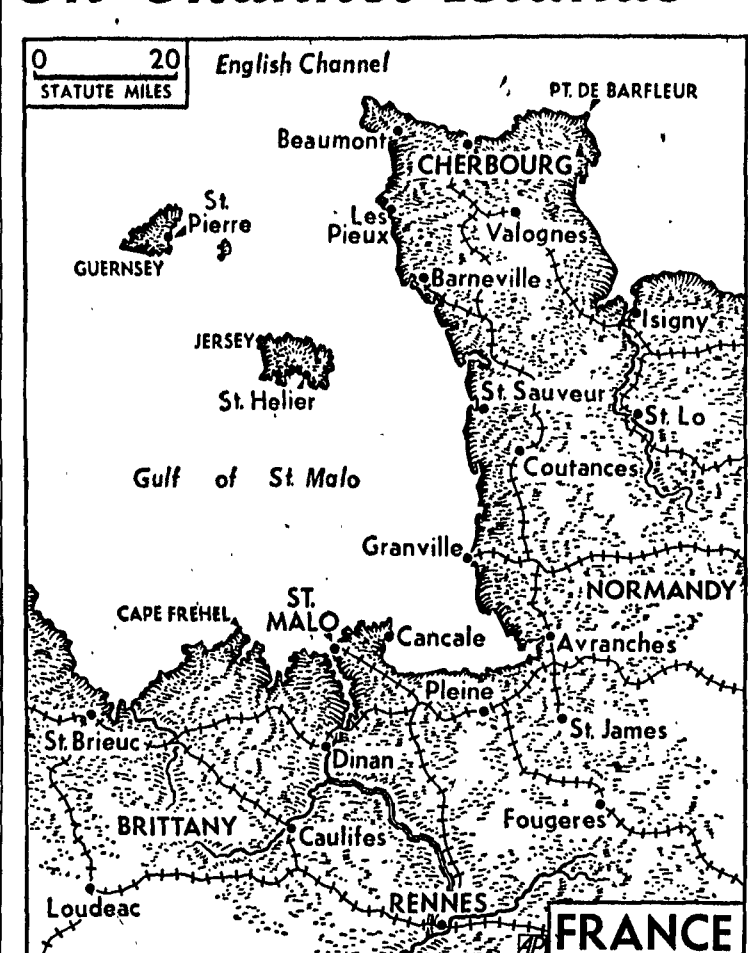

"The Allied landings in the west today has put the German armed forces in the mood which they express with a laconic 'they are coming.'"

"At the present moment when the Allied invasion of Western Europe still is in its very beginning nothing can be said yet about the tactical and operational developments."

"We can only stress the single-mindedness with which the German Wehrmacht is facing the enemy's onslaught, for in war ethical values are at least as important as the number of soldiers and the quantity of their equipment."

If you are invited to an informal gathering and are not sure if you will be able to attend, tell your would-be hostess so, giving her the reason for your partial refusal. Her answer should be, "Come if you can."

Allied Forces Land On Channel Islands

London—(AP)—Allied troops have landed on the channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey, the German agency Transocean said.

Allied tanks have landed in the Arromanches area, midway between Cherbourg and Le Havre, the agency added, but it said the greatest concentrations of landing craft were observed off Cherbourg and Le Havre.

"The enemy who had thrown in mainly parachute troops in the small hours of the morning, is now incessantly employing assault boats off Cystreham," Transocean continued.

War Department Asks for 69 New Cemeteries

By William F. Arbores
Washington—(AP)—The War department, on the "hypothetical assumption" that 100,000 American fighting men will die in this war, wants 69 new national cemeteries.

This was disclosed today by a report by the department to the House military committee in support of a bill to establish a national cemetery in every state.

The department emphasized that the 100,000 is just a round figure, settled on for purposes of calculation, that there is no telling how many may be killed before peace comes.

Records show 20,176 overseas deaths of American military personnel between December 7, 1941, and November 17, 1943, New York topped the list with 1,746, followed by Pennsylvania with 1,478, California with 1,276, Illinois with 1,200, Ohio with 1,034, and Texas with 1,011.

The department plans to return all overseas dead after the war, if the next of kin request. Others will be interred in national cemeteries abroad. In only three cases so far have the next of kin requested burial abroad.

Newfoundland's annual total catch averages 1,500,000 cwt.

Underground Workers Asked to Wait Orders

New York—(AP)—The London radio, in a Dutch language broadcast recorded by NBC, warned European underground workers today to report to their leaders with all speed and to "be prepared for anything."

"Keep away from military installations," the broadcast said. "Underground members report to your trusted leaders. Act with speed. Be prepared for anything. There is bombardment in the port of Le Havre."

'Admiral' 17, Enlists As Apprentice Seaman

Albuquerque, N. M.—(AP)—Louis Ray "Pat" O'Grady, Jr., 17, is giving up command of a 246-ship "two-ocean fleet" to enlist in the navy as an apprentice seaman.

His fleet consists of models, representing 16 nations, ranging from a three-inch model of a Turkish destroyer to a nine-inch model of the U. S. carrier Saratoga. His pride is the new battleship South Dakota which he copied so minutely that the big guns can be elevated or depressed in realistic manner.

A high school junior, O'Grady builds on a scale of one inch to 100 feet, using balsa wood for the most part. He started his hobby five years ago when he and his parents lived in Long Beach, Calif.

Audrey Myers, Sgt. L. T. Smith Exchange Vows

A lace handkerchief carried by her mother at her wedding was also carried by Miss Audrey Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orley V. Myers, 609 Main street, when she became the bride of Master Technical Sergeant Lloyd T. Smith, U. S. marine corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith, Cleburne, Texas, at St. Paul's Episcopal parish house Monday at 8 p. m. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Russell K. Johnson.

White peonies and tall candelabra holding white tapers were used in the guild parlor as a background for the ceremony. A program of music was played by Horace G. Seaton, organist and choirmaster at the church, who also played the processional.

The bride's gown of white slipper satin was made on princess lines, its rounded net yoke being edged with shirred satin to form a sweetheart neckline. Long fitted sleeves ended in points over the hand and the skirt extended in a long train. A coronet of orange blossoms held a veil on her head, panels of lace extending the length of the veil. The bride carried a cluster of Brandywine roses and a prayerbook.

Carried Candles—Departing from the custom of carrying flowers, the bridesmaids, the Misses Colleen Fish and Jeanne Lohse carried lighted candles. The former wore yellow net over taffeta. Her shoulder-length veil held by a cluster of matching flowers, was in yellow and her candle in an old-fashioned holder also was yellow. A shower of ribbon in the same tint fell from the candle. Miss Lohse wore a pink jersey frock and pink veil and flowers. Her candle and the streamers of ribbon also were in pink.

Miss Mary Louise Dean, maid of honor, wore a gown of blue net over taffeta, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. She wore a cluster of the same flowers in her hair. Each attendant wore a gold bracelet, the gift of the bride.

Jack Myers, brother of the bride, was best man and Lloyd S. Belville, Dr. N. A. Roettiger and Herbert Lohse were ushers.

The Misses Marion and Barbara Grams and Gladys Anderson, in pastel formal, assisted at the reception which followed. The Misses Grams stretched white satin ribbon to form an aisle for the entrance of the bride party. They were assisted by Mr. Belville and Dr. Roettiger.

In Shape of Cross—The wedding cake in the shape of a cross centered the bridal table at which Mrs. Fred Gehler presided. Candelabra held lighted white candles and silver vases were filled with sweetheart roses. A tiny marine corps bride and bridegroom were on the cake.

Honored Queen

Martha MacDonald (above) was installed as honored queen of Bethel No. 8, Order of Job's Daughters, Monday at 8 p. m. at the Masonic temple. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. MacDonald, 212 West Sanborn street, and was graduated from the Winona Senior High school Wednesday. She plans to enter the Winona Teachers college this fall. She has been active in committee work in the Bethel, and has held a number of other Bethel offices previous to her election as honored queen.

were on the cake, the bride being a corporal in the women's reserve of the U. S. marine corps. An out-of-town guest was Mrs. Jess Ball, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Master Technical Sergeant Smith and his bride are returning to Santa Barbara, Calif., where they are stationed and where they will make their home at present. They are making the trip by car. Mr. and Mrs. Myers entertained at a bridal dinner at their home following the wedding rehearsal Sunday evening.

IN DANCE ENGAGEMENT—Marc Patten, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Paulson, 157 West Fourth street, and his wife, Paula, are filling their first dance engagement in Chicago where they are dancing in the Walnut room of the Bismarck hotel, starting in the new summer revue there with Benny Strong and his orchestra. They are receiving high praise in reviews. Mrs. Patten was born in England and her husband and she became a dance team eight years ago at the instigation of Ned Wayburn. They have filled engagements in Nassau, Havana, New York, Winona and other places in the United States, and Canada.

DEMOLAY MEETING—Winona chapter, Order of Demolay, will meet at the Masonic temple at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Wabasha Bride, Husband on Wedding Trip

Wabasha, Minn.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robert Jones, the latter the former Lois Elizabeth Waterbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Waterbury, Wabasha, are now on a wedding trip in Chicago. They will reside in La Crosse upon their return. Mr. Jones is the son of Mrs. Louise Jones, Waseca.

They were married by Dr. Samuel Ray McCarthy at 8 p. m. Saturday at the Congregational church here. Baskets of June flowers, ferns and tall white tapers in candelabra decorated the church. Mrs. Harry Briggs, organist, played preceding the ceremony and Miss Jeanette Curdus played the accompaniments for Miss Agnes Jacobson, vocal soloist.

The bride wore a white faille frock made with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline edged with narrow pleated net. A double skirt of net worn over the faille extended in a train. Her three-quarter-length veil was arranged beneath a halo of net and she carried white rosebuds and gardenias. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Philip Pfeilsticker, St. Paul, sister of the bride, as matron of honor wore a white formal of nixon and lace and carried an arm bouquet of red rosebuds tied with white satin. Her half hat was made of white velvet and net ornamented with a gardenia. Miss Joyce Waterbury, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a white organza frock and carried red and white rosebuds tied with white satin. She also wore a half hat of white velvet, net and roses. Katherine Ann Hilt, flower girl, was dressed in a floor-length frock trimmed with embroidered organza and satin streamers. She wore a halo of white roses and carried a nosegay of white roses, encircled with red roses.

Orlando Sewald, Waseca, was best man and Philip Pfeilsticker, St. Paul, and Roy Powell, Waseca, ushers.

TOO MUCH WIND

The cross-wind which caused plenty of whitecaps on the pools Sunday and forced the barge line towboats to tie up for the day reduced fishing to near a minimum. The few fishermen who ventured onto the river did so fishing in the backwaters and sloughs.

Here water conditions were muddy, worse than in the channel itself, and the catches were limited largely to panfish. Only occasionally did a fisherman get a pike.

Rain over the weekend will continue to keep the river muddy. A new flood is coming down the Chippewa. By midweek there will be slight rise here. So the prospects for midweek fishing are not so good.

FISH FRY

Tonight members of the Lewiston Sportsmen's club gather for their annual fish fry at Farmers Community park. It is the big sportsmen's pow-wow of the year in that part of the county.

Opening with a trapshoot this afternoon, the party will run well into the night. The fish dinner will come about 8 o'clock, followed by short talks by several of the visiting notables, who will include V. E. Joslin, head of the game and fish division.

Each year this club has a contest among its members, which are divided into two teams. Points are given for crows and foxes killed, new members secured, conservation projects, and so forth. There is a reckoning day. The losing team puts on the party, fries the fish, and does the work.

COON AND FOX CHASE

Cards have been mailed out announcing that the Associated Raccoon club of Winona will hold its spring field trial and picnic Sunday, June 11, at the Albert Sobek farm in East Burns valley.

The first event of the chase will get under way at 10 a. m. with the finals late in the afternoon. Entry fee will be a dollar. There will be the usual trophies.

BACK FROM ST. LOUIS

Superintendent Ray C. Steele of the Wild Life refuge returned Saturday from attending the hearing on the 12-foot channel proposal held by the army engineers at St. Louis.

The hearing was a preliminary one at which testimony for and against the plan, to be submitted to the board of engineers, Washington, D. C., was taken. The board will make the recommendations to Congress.

About 200 attended the hearing. The oral testimony, Mr. Steele stated, was largely opposed to any deepening of the channel that would result in any greater impoundment of waters. There was not much objection to deepening by dredging.

Sentiment as to the benefits was quite divided. The consensus, as gathered by Steele, was that the project was a long way off in the future and that changing economic conditions can materially affect it in the years ahead before it will be built. It is merely a postwar idea that is being given a bit of thought now in engineering circles.

Official Invasion Announcement Made at 2:32 A.M. (CST)

By The Associated Press
A dramatic ten-second interval preceded the official announcement today that the invasion has begun. Over a transatlantic radiotelephone hookup direct from Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, to all major press services and broadcasting networks in the United States came the voice of Colonel R. Ernest Dupuy, General Eisenhower's public relations officer.

"This is Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force," Dupuy said. "The text of communique No. 1 will be released to the press and radio of the United Nations in ten seconds."

Then the seconds were counted off—one, two, three . . . and finally ten.

Under the command of General Eisenhower, slowly read Colonel Dupuy, "Allied naval forces supported by strong air forces began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France."

Thus officially, the world was told the news which it had been awaiting for months.

Dupuy began reading in Britain at exactly 7:32 a. m., Greenwich meridian time (2:32 a. m. C.W.T.). He read the 26-word communique twice.

The American news services and broadcasting chains had been advised some 15 minutes before that an important announcement was forthcoming. Earlier German broadcasts of Allied landings indicated what the announcement would be.

Famed Liberty Bell Is Struck for Invasion

Philadelphia—(AP)—The Liberty bell, which heralded the nation's independence, rang out today as the liberation of Europe began.

Striking the great bell six times on a broadcast heard throughout the United States and Britain Mayor Bernard Samuel quipped its inscription—"proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof"—and commented: "Let it indeed proclaim liberty throughout the land and the return of liberty throughout the world."

Boys in New York city's public schools have made more than 7,000 model airplanes for the army and navy.

Eisenhower's Order Of Day to His Men

London—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower issued the following order of the day to his invasion troops today:

"Soldiers, sailors and airmen of the Allied expeditionary force: You are about to embark on a great crusade. The eyes of the world are upon you and the hopes and prayers of all liberty loving peoples go with you.

"In company with our brave allies and brothers, in arms on other fronts you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world.

"Your task will not be an easy one. Your enemy is well trained, well equipped and battle hardened. He will fight savagely. But in this noble undertaking," year of 1944 much has happened since the Nazi triumphs of 1940 and 1941.

"The United Nations have inflicted upon the Germans great defeats in open battle, man to man. Our air offensive has seriously reduced their strength in the air and their capacity to wage war on the ground, our home fronts have given us overwhelming superiority in weapons and munitions of war, and have placed at our disposal great reserves of trained fighting men. The tide has turned and free men of the world are marching together to victory.

"I have full confidence in your courage, devotion to duty and skill in battle. We will accept nothing less than full victory. Good luck and let us all beseech the blessing of Almighty God upon this great and noble undertaking."

Hard supply necessities and the

Luck With Eisenhower On D-Day

By Wes Gallagher
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force—(AP)—In this military Shangri-La, cleverly hidden from snooping German spy planes, the war's greatest secret was hatched early this year.

Adolf Hitler would have squandered the lives of ten divisions and much of his wealth to have learned it, even up to a few hours ago. But today he was given it "free of charge." And it may cost him his life and power eventually. The secret naturally was "D-day and H-hour."

D-day was military terminology for the day of the great Allied attack. H-hour was the exact hour British, Canadian and American soldiers were expected to set foot on the soil of western Europe.

Hard supply necessities and the complications of modern amphibious warfare made it necessary that these two factors be known months in advance.

All Dates Set
The dates were set for the arrival of troops, guns and tanks. The dates for air attacks on specific objectives. Dates for establishing bases. Dates for the capture of key ports.

Dates are not figures on the calendar. They are scheduled in terminology like this: D-plus-five, or D-minus-six. The first means five days after the troops land. The second means six days before the day for attack.

Hundreds of thousands of lives depended on a successful D-day choice. If the weather was bad and the water rough thousands of soldiers might be drowned in the treacherous surfs of the European coast. If it was too light at night the convoys might be broken up and the soldiers landed on the wrong beaches. If the tides were wrong the ships might be stranded. Any one of a hundred things might go amiss.

Every aid of military science hiding under a cloak of camouflage there was brought forth to aid the supreme commander in his difficult choice.

Clark Designated 'Father of Year'

New York—(AP)—Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark, whose Fifth army troops took Rome, was designated "father of the year" Monday, the national Fathers' day committee announced.

General Clark was notified of the honor by a cable sent to Rome signed by Alvin Austin, executive director of the Fathers' day committee. Father's day will be observed June 18.

British and American weather experts studied reports for the last quarter of a century over every foot of coast. They figured the exact hours of darkness and light.

Canadian, British and American air force chiefs were given specified objectives and estimated how long it was going to take to beat the German air force to a pulp.

Then these men walked down the long corridors, heavily guarded by M.P.'s, and presented their invasion date to Eisenhower.

Allied supply chiefs estimated how many guns and tanks were required and by what date they could be assembled at designated points.

Navy men made their estimates. In Moscow, Russians studied their problems and how best to correlate operations on both east and west fronts. In the Mediterranean, the Allied staff there sent in their data.

With all this before him, the supreme commander spent long hours in his office selecting and rejecting—finally hitting on one date. It probably didn't coincide exactly with any submitted but was the best possible compromise.

A Lucky General

"A general needs 'luck,'" Eisenhower once said in North Africa. And Eisenhower is a "lucky" general. He picked D-day for the African invasion 60 days ahead of time, with the scientific odds nine-to-one against him that French Morocco's iron coast would be swept by tides and waves that would make landings impossible except for three days of the month. But D-day found the waters fairly calm.

He picked the Sicily invasion date more than a month in advance and except for a high wind early in the night the time was almost perfect. The same happened at Salerno.

Eisenhower cannot be called superstitious, but he carries a small purse on "tough" days. It contains his "lucky" coins which he rubbed before the African, Sicilian and Italian invasions. And there was no doubt he was rubbing them last night.

Women's Votes Could Outnumber Men's

Washington—(AP)—Women's votes, for the first time, could outnumber the men's votes in the presidential election next fall.

There are nearly 600,000 more potential women voters—citizens of 21 and over—than men of voting age, the Census bureau says.

It gives these estimates as of January 1: Women of voting age 44,622,886. Men of voting age 44,042,668. An estimated 7,860,000 of the men are in the armed forces.

A Ball Game

Tootsie and Wootsie, who were on a June walk with Uncle Wiggly, held tighter to his paws when they heard those loud shouts of: "Hit it hard! Wham it!"

"Oh, Daddies," whispered Tootsie. "Are some bad chaps going to hit us hard?"

"Nothing of the sort, my dears," said Uncle Wiggly with a laugh. "There are no bad chaps. Those shouts are from some of my rabbits, and other animal boys, playing ball in this lovely, flowery lot. Oh, I love a ball game!" said Uncle Wiggly. "In the merry month of June," he sang, "a ball game cannot come too soon."

"Well, never mind the ball game, Daddies," said Wootsie. "Let's go on our June walk."

Home Run

Uncle Wiggly wasn't paying much attention to his two little rabbit girls. He hopped up and down for joy as the animal boys playing ball in a field. "A home run! Oh, what a loo-loo!" A home run! shouted Mr. Longears. He jumped up and down for joy as Buster, one of his little rabbit boys, hit the ball hard.

"Do you mean we have to run home, Daddies?" asked Tootsie. "Oh, no, my dear," answered her father, twinkling his punks nose fast. "You and Wootsie may pick flowers."

"What are you going to do, Daddies?" asked Wootsie.

Madame Fashion says "Have curves where curves should be, and head on the level. Clasp your hands together, fingers pointing downward. Bend at the hips. Touch the toes with the finger-tips, keeping the mind and sicken the soul. The tape measure records an extra half inch, the bathroom scales jump up another pound."

Should one bear with these figure changes, take them as a slap from the hand of fate? One should not. There's no reason why the youthful figure should not survive through the years; it will, if a woman is mindful of eating habits and makes it a daily practice to have a certain amount of exercise. Here is an exercise that will tighten up the muscles that inter-lace from the line of the ribs down to the thighs. It is fun to do. Ten minutes every morning before your bath and, in course of time, you'll be taking in the seams of your dresses.

THE WORLD AND ALL

By CHARLES S. DRISCOLL

New York — George Ade's recent death highlights for the audience the rapid passing of an era in American letters. Hendrik Willem Van Loon, Irvin Cobb and Humphrey Cobb, all figures in the same picture of American writing, have only just stepped over the border. William Allen White passed on a little earlier, and F. Scott Fitzgerald, wonder boy of the postwar period, went still earlier. Albert Payson Terhune left a big gap in the picture, then already depleted by the loss of Will Rogers and O. O. McIntyre. Alexander Woolcott was a very different kind of person from the others, but he had a place in the literary scene that nobody has even attempted to fill.

I had a short visit with busy, husky, fast-talking John Reed King, whose master of ceremonies job on a Friday night quiz program, "Double or Nothing," long has interested me. When I hear a man managing such a fast show with apparent ease, I always want to see what kind of person he is.

King doesn't talk so rapidly in conversation. He is a Princeton man, but shows no sign of what is often called the Princeton language. His speech is clear-cut American, without regional coloring. He has the build of a matured football player. I learned that he actually was interested in football in school. He made his living broadcasting the college games. He has done more than 450 of these quiz broadcasts, and doesn't get tired. That's because he enjoys the job.

One of the largest meat markets I've seen in operation sells only beef, kidneys, livers, lungs and hearts. It's in the East Forties, off First Avenue, and is operated in connection with a big slaughter house.

The market caters to butchers, mostly from Brooklyn, where there is a steady demand for these organs in the regular trade. Beef

Nutritional Value of Ice Cream High

The first reaction of the average dietitian to anything new or strange in the way of food is — "It's bad for you." Especially if it tastes good. By the average dietitian I include not only the professors of biologic chemistry, but also mother and grandma and the cook.

If something new to eat tastes and looks like hay or the brim of an old left hat comes along then Professor Svoboda, the vitamin expert, and Miss Dish, the dietitian for the board of education, and the lady who is fourth cousin to the famous author of a cook book all say it is swell. Oh my, it is very healthy, according to them and loaded with vitamins and minerals and the nutritional factor and biotin and they don't see how the human race survived as all before they began to eat spinach and carrots and rutabaga and kale and broccoli and barsez and casava roots. But let something really good and yum-yum come along and their immediate reaction is — "You will undermine your whole nutritional mechanism if you keep on eating that stuff!"

Opposition to Ice Cream. Dolly Madison, according to legend, invented it and it immediately caught on. But it had plenty of opposition. The sour pussers said it froze the stomach and stopped the flow of gastric juice. I have a pamphlet issued by a Philadelphia physician in 1887 which shows that ice cream is ruinful for the digestion and undermining the stamina of the American people. Well, since then, we have fought and won three wars from the peoples of non-ice-cream-eating countries, so if it is undermining our stamina it is doing so by a very slow and pleasant process.

In the meantime the best scientific and dietetic opinion has veered around and now they say ice cream has splendid nutritional qualities. Dr. B. Rice, health commissioner of Indiana, for instance, says: "Try as hard as I will I can not think of anything that has a more complete set of vitamins than strawberries and ice cream." So in these early summer days you can sit down to that kindly dish with a clear conscience.

Well, the American people by disregarding the dietetic advice of the early days have performed a mass experiment which proves in itself that kindly dish can be anything but healthy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. H.:—What should a person's blood count be for an indoor worker? Mine is 71 per cent hemoglobin, 3,500,000 red cells and 11,000 white cells. What does the large number of white cells mean?

Answer: If you ever saw a blood count done you would realize that there is a natural margin of variability due to the care or rapidity with which it is done. The report above on the white cells does not mean more than that — 1 e. it is within the range of allowable technical error. Your hemoglobin and red count are a little low for the normal range of variability, but the whole thing looks like an inaccurate count.

Restraining the Waistline

Madame Fashion says "Have up, hips back, backbone extended, curves where curves should be, and head on the level. Clasp your hands together, fingers pointing downward. Bend at the hips. Touch the toes with the finger-tips, keeping the mind and sicken the soul. The tape measure records an extra half inch, the bathroom scales jump up another pound."

Should one bear with these figure changes, take them as a slap from the hand of fate? One should not. There's no reason why the youthful figure should not survive through the years; it will, if a woman is mindful of eating habits and makes it a daily practice to have a certain amount of exercise. Here is an exercise that will tighten up the muscles that inter-lace from the line of the ribs down to the thighs. It is fun to do. Ten minutes every morning before your bath and, in course of time, you'll be taking in the seams of your dresses.
