

Lake Delton disaster

Rising waters in Lake Delton breached a segment of land draining most of the lake into the Wisconsin River and washing away a segment of Highway A. While the Dell Creek Dam did not fail, water did crest its top.

