

Civil & Environmental Consultants, Inc.:

Dedicated to community engagement walk the walk.” Miller said she was also responsible for designing the T-shirts worn by the CEC group Monday, featuring an image of the CEC office dog Winston. “He’s just kind of been the face of CEC. He greets everyone who walks in the door and everyone loves him,” she said. “Everyone who comes in knows Winston, so I thought it would be fun, especially for a fun activity like volunteering, to market him and utilize him as our office mascot.”

From planning, to contributing financially, to putting their sweat behind projects, CEC engages with the communities they serve with the goal to make them better.

Civil & Environmental Consultants’ office is located at 120 Genesis Boulevard in Bridgeport.

For more information, call 304-933-3119 or visit www.cecinc.com.

DEVANNA CORLEY

Robinson is not alone in his efforts. There are many others within the Bridgeport office who are invested in their communities, churches and civic organizations like the United Way.

The CEC Bridgeport office is supportive both financially and physically in the initiatives they undertake.

Corley served as a previous president of the United Way Board, and she oversaw and helped lead the Marion and Taylor County United Way to an unprecedented fundraising goal, exceeding the $500,000 threshold to raise a whopping $520,489 in 2020 at the peak of the pandemic.

“CEC was pleased to support the campaign. The United Way is a vital organization to our communities, and we are proud of what Devanna, Brett White and the Board accomplished,” said Dennis Miller, Bridgeport office lead.

Corley is most proud of CEC’s commitment to not only provide monetary support but to encourage physical activities, including the recent Day of Action.

More than two dozen employees from CEC’s Bridgeport offices volunteered their time painting, doing landscaping and power washing in the Philippi area, helping to complete ongoing projects sponsored by the Tygart Valley Way.

“We really try to give back to counties where we not only work but live,” Corley said. “We aim to be contributors and partners with our clients and the residents.”

Maggie Miller, CEC intern, helped organize the company’s participation.

“It’s pretty evident that CEC values community involvement,” she said. “As a company we really do value helping people and getting out there. We don’t just talk the talk, we CEC employees pose in front of the company's Bridgeport offices before heading to Barbour County to participate in the United Way's Day of Action.

Civil & Environmental Consultants, Inc.

1. The CEC team helped Mayor Jim Rossi and others secure the much-needed funds to improve their water system. This picture was taken during the celebration and check presentation in Coalton.

2. Eli Gain and Devanna Corley presented the Doddridge County High School baseball boosters with a monetary donation to make their group a reality and to fund concession stand operations. Eli and his family reside in Doddridge County.

3. Maggie Miller and Devanna Corley pose with Senator Joe Manchin during a recent event in Morgantown discussing the American Rescue Plan funding.

4. Kayla Corley, Devanna Corley and Steve Cain proudly support WVU Medicine Children's Hospital.

5. Devanna Corley and Coach Bob Huggins have a long history going back to her days at WVU. She was happy to learn that CEC was also a large supporter of the Norma Mae Huggins Endowment.

6. Jim Christie presents Jeff Lusk and the staff at Hatfield McCoy trails with COVID-19 relief boxes earlier this year.

Civil & Environmental Consultants, Inc.

Community Focus

Employee Growth | Client Service | Expertise

Community focus

WE OWN IT.

“As a leader at CEC, and as campaign chair for the 2020–2021 United Way of Marion and Taylor Counties annual campaign, I understand how critical great leadership and support are for our communities. I believe in the generosity of our community, because I see it every day working at CEC. When people are in need, CEC is there to support them. It’s as much a part of our day as delivering great service to our clients. We’re all in this together.”

DEVANNA CORLEY, Principal

120 Genesis Boulevard, Bridgeport, WV 26330
304.933.3119
cecinc.com/wv

Civil & Environmental Consultants, Inc.